

Paddy Plans A Vacation

Strange though it seems you'll find it true. That doing nothing's hard to do. -Paddy the Beaver.

He had taken vacations in other years and had felt better for doing it. It was fun to see other parts of the Green Forest. It was fun to find out for himself how other people lived and why. Everybody needs a vacation now and then.

the children all alone." said Paddy. This wasn't quite true. It would be a relief not to have the children around. He knew that Mrs. Paddy could look after them as well as he could and perhaps better. Mrs. Paddy knew it too. The truth was, she would be disappointed if he did not go.

For two or three days Paddy talked about going but didn't decide. You know sometimes much of the pleasure of a vacation comes from talking about it before hand. It doesn't always prove to be as good as you think it is going to be.

Five Years For Killing Wife

LONDON (Reuters) - A man who strangled his nagging wife was found not guilty of murder Monday but was sentenced to five years for manslaughter.

Baghdad Pact Allies Meet In London To Chart New Moves

By ARTHUR GAVSHON. LONDON (AP) - The Baghdad Pact allies began charting new moves Monday to head off anti-Western thrusts in the Middle East. Delegates from the five pact countries and the U.S. considered secret intelligence reports assessing Soviet penetration in Syria, Egypt, Yemen and other Arab trouble spots.

Want Excise On Autos Removed

OTTAWA (CP) - The Canadian Automobile Association has pressed Finance Minister Fleming to remove the 10 per cent federal excise tax on autos. In a statement Monday the association said it mailed a brief to the minister last week and hopes that his budget will announce "the complete elimination of this unjust and indefensible excise tax."

American Thinks Canadians Becoming "Unduly Alarmed"

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) - The U.S. assistant secretary of commerce for international affairs said Monday Canada has become "unduly alarmed" about economic relations between the two countries. The official, Henry Kearns, was answering a recent speech by Prime Minister Diefenbaker at Dartmouth College, N.H. Diefenbaker said Canada is concerned about U.S. disposal of surplus wheat, the influence of American capital in Canada and the imbalance of trade between the two countries.
