IN MEMORIAM

FRANK L. FERGUSON

The relatives and friends of Frank L. Ferguson of Hampton were deeply saddened and shocked when on the evening of Nov. 14th, they learned of his sudden and unexpected passing. He was in his sixty-first year.

He had been ill for a number of days with the flu, but it was not considered serious. He had been twice visited by a doctor who was again summoned when he took a sudden bad turn, but had passed away before the doctor arrived.

He was a son of the late Marcus Ferguson and Barbara Ellen Bell and lived his whole life in Hampton.

Frank was of a happy and quiet disposition and was ever ready to give a helping hand when the occasion arose where help was needed. He was deeply interested in his home and it is there where he will be greatly missed.

He is survived by three sisters and three brothers namely: Mrs. Edwin Boyce (Margaret) of Bonshaw; Mrs. John Peters, (Ada), of Toronto; and Myrtle of Boston, Mass.; John of Green Road, Milton of Hampton and Victoria, with whom he resided.

He will be fondly remembered for his patience and devotion for six nephews and a niece who were brought up in the home with him.

His funeral was held on Nov. 17th from Hampton United Church. The service was conducted by Rev. M.K. Charnen. They hymns sung were "Abide With Me" and "In the Sweet Bye and Bye".

The pallbearers were Melville Bell, Elmer Inman, Earl Inman Gordon Villett, William Farrar, and Arthur Gamble.

SAFE AGAIN

BRACEBRIDGE, Ont. — Thirteen-year-old Douglas McCoy is held by his father after being found with two others in dense Muskoka woods where they spent two nights in 10-below-zero temperatures. Two others on the ill-fated hunting trip were killed. (C.P. Wirephoto)

University Students On 16 Day Liquid Diet Test

KINGSTON, Ont. (CP) — A group of Queen's University students are eating laboratory-cooked liquid meals for 16 days and although they are prepared with the greatest of care, there is no consideration for their tastes.

The 71 students are guinea pigs in a dietary research project under Dr. James M. R. Beveridge, head of the department of biochemistry, and Dr. W. Forbes Connell, head of the department of medicine.

Purpose of the experiments is to shed more light on the connection between coronary thrombosis and human diet. It is based on the theory that coronary thrombosis strikes persons with a high fat content in their blood.

Leaders of the dietary research project are trying to correlate the amount of fat in the blood and the amounts of animal fats and vegetable fats consumed.

Butter and some other animal fats increase fat in the blood. Corn oil and some other vegetable oils reduce it, they say.

Dr. Beveridge feeds himself and others who can stomach his fat-free diet for the first eight days. The meals contain skim milk powder, casein—a milk protein, dextri-maltose—partly broken-down starch and a little bit of sugar, all mixed in water. SOME DIETS SAME

About half the students continue the same diet for the next eight days and the others get corn fat added in varying degrees.

The present group of students is the 16th. About 450 so far have lived on the diet, which, incidentally, saves them about $25 in food bills. Some take the concoction straight, others mix it with tea or coffee.

They can drink tea and coffee to their stomachs' content as long as they don't add sugar or milk. They have blood tests once every four days.

The 16-day sessions cost $8,000 and if the current Canadian Heart Fund Campaign is successful Queen's University will finance a further three years' experimentation.

Queen's football co-captain and fullback, Karl Quinn, 21, of Wrentham, Mass., a first year medical student, says he doesn't mind his formula as long as it is mixed with tea "except when I see a jar of peanut butter or get thinking of steak or chicken."

They were "a surge of newly-awakened nationalism, and a quest for a position of their own between the two ideological camps into which the world is divided."

Addressing a churchmen's seminar on international relations organized by the Canadian Council of Churches, Mr. Smith said the development was caused by two "significant and powerful trends among the peoples of Asia and Africa."

CMHA Western Heads Appointed

OTTAWA (CP) — Appointments of two regional supervisors for the western provinces were announced Tuesday by Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation.

T. B. Pickersgill, 50, of Vancouver, supervisor of the British Columbia region, has been transferred to Winnipeg as prairie regional supervisor.

Mr. Pickersgill, a brother of J. W. Pickersgill, former Liberal immigration minister, succeeds J. D. Ritchie, who is returning to private business.

Succeeding him at Vancouver is R. G. Clauson, 45, former assistant to Mr. Pickersgill.

Spirits Haunt Local Factory

BOLTON, England (Reuters)—Ghosts have finally caught up with the industrial age. At least one has stopped haunting England's stately old homes in favor of a local factory — so the factory employees say.

F. E. Geogre, manager of a tool design office of the factory, opened an inquiry after two designers complained of being bombarded with brushes.

The ghost then took to smashing tea mugs belonging to the workers. A heavy glass vase crashed into pieces one day in full view of everyone present.

The factory's chief inspector turned up one day to put an end to the strange happenings. He arrived just in time to see a heavy metal pencil sharpener whirl all by itself from one corner of the room to another and smash to the floor.

When the firm's sales manager stationed himself at a spot with a full view of the whole room, the ghost broke a bottle of red ink.

50 ARE KNIGHTED

LONDON (Reuters)—Fifty persons were knighted Tuesday by the Queen in a ceremony at Buckingham Palace. Most of the new knights were among those on the New Year's honors list.

Should Negotiate Tunis Dispute

WASHINGTON (AP) — United States said Wednesday French - Tunisian dispute should be settled by negotiations between the two governments.

The state department affirmed its serious concern expressed readiness to "use every way we can" to help France and Tunisia to find amicable and just solution.

A department spokesman said the Tunisians mean business and their demand that French evacuate the key naval base Bizerte.

Withdrawal of these forces and shutting down of half dozen small French air bases in Tunisia, it is feared, will complicate the Atlantic task of guarding the Mediterranean.
