TORONTO

TORONTO (CP) - Profit-taking Thursday almost turned the stock market to the downside after it had attempted to carry Wednesday's sharp advance into a second straight session. The market opened with a burst of rising prices but before noon the upward motion had stopped and selling for profit quickly receded the early gains.

General opinion after Wednesday's rise, the strongest in the Toronto Stock Exchange's history, was that there would be plenty of selling for profit Thursday and the pattern ran true to form. Gains in industrials and western oils held a narrow edge over losses but the mining had about as many declines as advances. The base metal index nearly 1/4 point and western oils had a gain of slightly more than one-half point. Gains were a shade higher.

High-priced mines moved down in a 1/4-point range with a majority of senior base metals losing about a point. Uranium was mixed with some strong gains and a few heavy losses. The base metal index was a shade higher. High-priced mines moved down in a 1/4-point range with a majority of senior base metals losing about a point.
