THE STANLEY IS STILL AT GEORGETOWN.

THE CAPES ROUTE.—Instructions have been given to open up the capes route on Friday.

IT HAS BEEN ARRANGED THAT NO PARTIES take place on the 5th, as everybody is going to the carnival.

COURT OF APPEAL.—The Court of Appeal in Equity, which was to have met today, has been postponed until 11 o'clock tomorrow.

L. O. A.—Regular monthly meeting of St. George's Lodge will be held tomorrow night in Kingston Street Hall. Important business.

STAMENERS LAID OFF.—The Black Diamond steamer, Cape Breton, Bonaville, Cacoma, Leinster and Colman are laid off for a few months at Dartmouth, N. S., Sydney Reporter.

ALTHOUGH THE WEATHER IS STORMY, THE carnival promises to be a great success. Messrs. Dault and Whittell are doing their best at the decorations, which is a guarantee that it will be done right.

SALE OF STOCK.—Attention is directed to the sale of Bank, Masonic Temple and Driving Park Stock to take place at Robert Beattie's auction room tomorrow (Thursday) at eleven o'clock.

SHOWING.—This is the snowshoos' harvest. Many today enjoyed the old Canadian sport, and report the "tramping" good, with indications of it better when the drifting settles and the snow packs.

ADDRESS OF SHAKESPEARE.—Ex-Mayor Haviland delivered an interesting and highly instructive address on the poet Shakespeare at Prince Street School on Monday. The address was greatly appreciated by all who heard it.

MEETING POSTPONED.—The annual general meeting of the Diocesan Church Society, which was to have been held in St. Paul's schoolroom this evening, has been postponed till Wednesday, 13th February, at the same hour and place.

HE STILL LIVES.—Alexander Bown, of North Sydney, about 40 years of age, attempted to kill himself on Saturday morning by shooting himself in the head. The bullet instead of going through the skull bone went round and down still lives.

Y. M. C. A.—The regular monthly meeting of the Executive Committee of the Y. M. C. A. will be held in St. George's Church, Thursday, 7th inst., at 4 p. m. All members of the Committee are requested to attend. By order H. D. Johnson, Secy.

PIE SOCIAL.—The Presbyterians of Lower Montague intend having a pie social and entertainment in the hall on Tuesday, Feb. 12. Should the weather prove unfavorable it will be held on the following evening. Proceeds in aid of the Manse debt.

MILK SCARC.—As the milkmen are unable to get into the city on account of the storm, those of our citizens who are depending upon them for milk have to go without it, unless some kind neighbor, "with a cow of his own," comes to their assistance.

MAILS.—There are no mails moving today on account of the storm. Should the storm be able to make a return trip tomorrow, she will take over the mails at Georgetown and Pictou. The rest of the mail matter will probably be despatched by the Cape route.

ALMOST A CENTENARIAN.—The Pioneer reports that old Mrs. Crossman died at Freetown Station on Saturday evening, 26th ult., at the very advanced age of 99 years. She slipped and broke her leg some time ago, and never recovered from the effects of the mishap.

NOMINATION DAY.—This is nomination day for the vacancy in the Water Commission. The time for receiving nominations is from twelve to four o'clock. P. Halloran, the retiring commissioner, nominated at five minutes after twelve. There was no other nomination up to the time THE EXAMINER was sent to press.

POLICE COURT.—This forenoon, a young man named George Waters, for annoying Thomas Williams, Bayfield Street, in his dwelling, was fined $1 without costs. In imposing the fine His Honor promised that the next time Waters or anyone else annoyed Williams in this way they would be punished to the fullest extent of the law.

THE BEST MEATS FOR CHILDREN.—The following represents the best meats for children in the order of their digestibility: Cold mutton, mutton chops, venison, turkeys, sirloin steak, lamb chops, roast beef, rabbit meat, and chicken. Veal, pork, turkey, goose and duck should be excluded from the children's bill of fare.

KEEPER LUNGE.—The officers of Keefe Lodge, I. O. G. T., of Lower Montague, for the ensuing quarter are—C. T. George Phillips; V. T. Minnie Cameron; V. C. T. G. A. Peters; Secretary, A. E. Dams; Treasurer, Carrie McClure; Chaplain, Nettie Archibald; Marshal, Arthur Aitken; Deputy Marshal, Orman Poole; Guard, Albert McFarlane; Sentinel, Howard Aitken.

THE STORM IS STILL IN PROGRESS. There is very little business being done in the stores, and only those whose occupations compel them to move about are to be seen on the streets. There is very little snow falling this afternoon, but what fell yesterday and last evening has drifted considerably, forming high banks. And the end is not yet. Almost as fast as the sidewalks are cleared the track is filled up by the drifting snow. What teams are moving about make use of the sidewalks. The roads leading into the city are impassable for teams, and persons living in the suburbs can only reach the city by the aid of snowshoes. The trains are unable to move over, as soon as the storm moderates a force of men sufficient to open up communication in the shortest possible time will be put at work.

ONLY ONCE IN A LONG WHILE have we such a storm. Such a combination of snow, wind and cold storms like this are rare as the display we are making at our Annual White Sale. But no matter what the weather, we add daily to the great attractions now filling our counters and shelves.

Have you seen our Toweling at 3c., 4c. and 5c.?

Have you seen the Ladies' Corset Covers at 14c.?

Have you seen the Lawn Aprons at 19c.?

Have you seen the pretty Blouses at 49c.?

Have you seen our Heavy Twill Sheet at 20c.?

THE "GUARDIAN" READERS LAMENT.

(With apologies to Thomas Moore.)

When first I met thee, warm and young, There shone a truth about thee, And on thy lips such promise hung, I did not dare to doubt thee. I saw thee change, yet still I loved, Still clinging with hope the fonder, And thought, though false to all beside, To grins thou couldst not wander.

But go, deceiver! go— The heart whose hopes could make it Trust one so false, so low, Deserves that thou shouldst break it.

When every tongue thy follies named, I fled the unwelcome story, Or found, in even the faults they blamed, Some gleams of future glory.

I still was true, when nearer friends, Combined to wrong, to slight thee; The heart that now the falsehood reads Would then have bled to right thee.

Go! go! 'tis vain to curse, 'Tis weakness to sigh for thee; Hate cannot wish thee worse Than grins and shame have made thee.

SHE ESCAPED IN THE STANLEY.

Constable Daniel Martin, of Montague Bridge, had a unique experience about ten days or so ago, and which illustrates the difficulties worthy citizens have to contend with in their efforts to enforce the Scott Act. There is a female who has been convicted upon her trial for selling rum in the neighborhood of Montague Bridge, and it was determined by the temperance reformers to have her committed to jail—she neither desired from her unkind and baneful occupation, nor pitied her. But Constable Martin always found the door of the shanty locked in his face. It appears some sailors boarded at this house, and the name of any applicant had always to be given to one of them before admittance would be allowed. Constable Martin therefore determined upon a ruse. He got a Mr. Joseph Kennedy to assist him and he got a third person, who was in the habit of drinking and who frequented the place, to act as entrance. The door being opened, all three quickly went in, and the constable, almost naked and then again shamefully presented herself and defied Constable Martin to take her. "Dan" was nonplussed and had to effect a reluctant retreat. Early next morning before the light could be renewed this unfortunates female was driven to the Stanley and crossed over to the mainland—Pioneer.

WEST RIVER RACES.

On Saturday last a great many gathered to witness the race on West River. Owing to the storm there was only one race, in which four horses entered, viz: Grey Boy, Pilot, Joe and Millie. Grey Boy won the first two heats, the third heat was then trotted by the other three and won by Millie. The owner of Pilot protested, claiming that Millie had been tampered with before the race. The judges then decided in a very peculiar and hasty manner. Care should be taken to settle the dispute at home. Curious decision for illustrious horsemen of W. R. However, after some hot words Mr. R. Match, the owner of Millie got second money to which he was justly entitled. SECRETARY.

WEST RIVER, Feb 4th, 1895.

COST OF FEEDING A COW.—The cost of feeding a cow has now come down to $16 per year. This low cost has been made possible by the most successful dairyman whose income from each cow is never less than $60 a year. This low cost of feeding is due to the size, and the high value of the product of the cow is due to liberal good management and the high quality of the product. And it is generally the case that the man who succeeds in making a valuable product is the most economical year. In his business management—he makes at least ten cents, in fact—Exchange.

KEEP CHILDREN BUSY.—Children should be furnished with employment, which is sometimes difficult to provide. What we call a natural love of mischief is nothing more than activity. Children are restless for employment. They must have something to do, and if they are not furnished they will do mischief. Do not blame them; it is their nature, and should be encouraged rather than checked. In furnishing little employments you can form the habits and cultivate the tastes. What is begun in childhood is never forgotten. Do not let whatever is done, and neatness should be encouraged.

SCOTT ACT FINES.—Mrs. Chas. Martin of Summerside was fined $50 and costs by Stipendiary Magistrate on Thursday last for a first offence violation of the Canada Temperance Act. Five convictions were also made by Stipendiary Magistrate for the same offence on the 29th ult., and on the 31st. These were: About Thomson, Bloomfield, Edward Finnan, Hill's River (two cases); Mrs. Mary Walsh, Tignish, and Michael Lynch, also of Tignish, this latter being the conviction on the 30th—Pioneer.

L. O. A.—The County Lodge meeting to be held at Crapanid is postponed till Wednesday, Feb. 13th, at same time and place as advertised.

THERE ARE OVER ONE HUNDRED and forty names included in an intending skaters at the carnival.

LITERARY NOTES.

A flying machine that actually flew— not wisely but too well, or rather, not exactly when, but distinctly before, it was required to fly—is described by Hiram S. Maxin in Harper's Young People for January 27th. A weight of eight thousand pounds, lifted from the ground and carried along through the air, in opposition to the will of the designer, and in spite of the mechanical restraints which he had contrived, ponderously emphasizes the claims of this invention to be seriously regarded—and no longer lightly dismissed as a mere mechanical toy. Professor Maxin's failure in the instance now described is the sort of failure that proves strength and promises future success.

An evening cloak, engraved by Baudé, several beautiful finger, evening and reception gowns, and other attractive fashions distinguish Harper's Bazar for January 26th. Among the literary features may be mentioned the first of a series of articles on house plants and their culture by Eben E. Rexford. This is entitled "The Window Garden in Winter." "The Sports on the Shrewsbury," by Adelia K. Brainard, is timely and entertaining.

The forthcoming book, "Miss Dixie," a romance of the "Provinces," which was first noticed in the columns of THE EXAMINER, takes its name from the heroine, Miss Dexter Sherwood, who has decided objections to hearing her name pronounced in full. The manner in which it was pronounced upon her at her christening she considers an outrage, and those who remind her of it are apt to repeat when too late to avert consequences. The scheming American duke, who may be called the villain of the story of "Miss Dixie," this well-known character of former years figures quite conspicuously, and is made useful while being graphically described. Be sure and read about it.

Under the title "Personal Recollections of Joan of Arc," a new historical romance will begin in the April number of Harper's Magazine, and will continue through the remaining numbers of the year. The name of the author, a conspicuous figure in contemporary American literature, is for the present withheld. Illustrations from historic material and sketches made amid the scenes of Joan's career will be contributed by F. V. du Mond.

THE NEW DIPHTHERIA CURE.—The medical faculty of England and Germany have warmly approved of the blood serum cure for diphtheria invented by Professor Behring, of Halle. The results are reported as wonderful, for, while under the regular treatment one patient in three died, under this only one in 40 has so far died, and it is estimated that the discovery will save 100,000 lives per year in Germany and Austria alone. The system is to inoculate the blood of animals by slow degrees, the goat being the best subject, till the animal's system generates an antitoxin, and then the blood is injected into the veins of the patient.

AERIAL NAVIGATION.—The world is destined to be forced into giving aerial navigation a respectful consideration, and to advance a step or two beyond kite flying. There is to be a gathering in Vienna of the aviators of all nations, who are earnestly endeavoring to work out the problem of aerial navigation. Herr Kress, who has distinguished himself by his clever inventions, has succeeded in producing a flying machine, which he exhibited in a large hall. Immediately after he had placed the machine on a table it rose "like a bird," and flew to the end of the hall, amidst the rapturous applause of the spectators. It was said that such machines might be made to exactly resemble birds, in order to be shot at by sportsmen who desire to improve their shooting capacity.—Court Journal.

A CHAPTER OF ACCIDENTS.—A few days ago while Mr. Abraham Jackson, of Lower Montague, was cutting in the woods, the axe slipped and made a deep cut in his left wrist, and while Mr. John Sloan, of the same place, was returning home from the woods, he slipped and fell, the axe making a deep gash just above the knee of left leg.

On Wednesday last a son of Mr. Wm. Howard of Margate had the misfortune to break his foot at the instep. He fell on his face, and a number of other lads, was coasting, when the sleigh struck a bridge, throwing them against it.

A painful accident happened to the six year old son of Mr. Thomas Compton, of St. Eleanors, Saturday. He was climbing across a hay loft when he slipped between the poles, falling a distance of 16 feet, nearly striking his father, who was standing on the hay. He fell on his face, but fortunately no bones were broken. He was badly shaken and bruised about the face.—Guardian.
