

A Hymn of Praise.

BY THE REV. FREDERICK GODFREY THIRING.

"Praise the Lord, O my soul, praise the Lord."—Ps. cix. 35.

Raise the song, ye people raise, Raise the song of prayer and praise, Prayer—that we may every be Thankful, O our God, to Thee; Praise—that Thou, O God, has given Life on earth, and life in heaven; May we then our voices raise in mingled prayer and praise.

Dumb indeed the tongue must be, Mute the lips that hymn not Thee, Dull the voice that doth not rise, Mingling with Heaven's harmonies, Whilst to Thee creation brings All its lowly offerings, Thee, the King that reigns on high, through all eternity.

Myriad worlds that gem the skies, Mountains that on mountains rise, Birds that tremble in the air, All that liveth everywhere, Heaven, and earth, and sky, and sea, All pour forth their minstrelsy— Why doth silence reign so long, when earth is filled with song.

Praise the Lord, then, O my soul, Who doth make the waters roll, Circling round the fruitful land, In the hollow of His Hand, Praise the Lord, ye people, praise, Praise him to the end of days; Let not man be silent when the earth resounds again.

Praise Him, ye of higher race, Born again, redeemed by Grace, Grace of Him who dying gave All—on life—"His own" to save. Now, O Lord, no longer dumb, With a song of praise we come, And with joy fall down before Thy foot-stool.

Brilliant.

Expect nothing from him who promises a great deal.

A pleasing countenance is a silent commendation.

Have not the cloak to make when it begins to rain.

The most manifest sign of wisdom is continued cheerfulness.

Love like honesty—is much talked about but little understood.

No degree of knowledge attainable by man is able to set him above the want of hourly assistance.

You may shrink from the far reaching solitudes of your heart, but no other foot than yours can tread them.

One who is content with what he has done will never become famous from what he will do, he has laid down to die.

Plato will have disciples, but Socrates will have adorers; because if the one knew how to think, the other knew how to die.

The Winter's frost must rend the burr of the nut before the nut is seen. So adversity tempers the human heart to discover the real worth.

Those who, without knowing us, think or speak evil of us, do us no harm; it is not us they attack, but the phantom of their own imagination.

Politeness may prevent the want of wit and talents from being observed, but wit and talents cannot prevent the discovery of want of politeness.

The beginning of hardships is like the first taste of bitter food—it seems for a moment unbearable; yet, if there is nothing else to satisfy our hunger, we take another bite and find it possible to go on.

Faithful Unto the End.

Richard Baxter, after he had spent many years in the advancement of the glory of God, by laborious and constant preaching, unceasing pastoral labors, and numerous publications from the press, was yet unwilling to give himself ease, even amidst the infirmities of disease and age. An old gentleman who heard him preach related that when he ascended the pulpit, with a man following him to prevent his falling backwards, and to support him if needful in the pulpit, many persons would be ready to say he was more fit for the coffin than for labor; but all this he would soon forget, and manifested the fervor and energy of youth in his labors. It was feared the last time he preached, that he would have died in the pulpit. And yet such was his humility, that when reminded of his labors on his death bed, he replied: "I was but a pen in God's hand, and what praise is due to a pen!"

A MARVELOUS STORY

TOLD IN TWO LETTERS.

FROM THE SON: "28 Cedar St., New York, Oct. 29, 1882. 'Gentlemen: My father resides at Glover, Vt. He has been a great sufferer from Scrofula, and the enclosed letter will tell you what a marvelous effect has had in his case. I think his blood must have contained the humor for at least ten years; but it did not show, except in the form of a scrofulous sore on the wrist, until about five years ago. From a few spots which appeared at that time, it gradually spread so as to cover his entire body. I assure you he was terribly afflicted, and an object of pity, when he began using your medicine. Now, there are few men of his age who enjoy as good health as he has. I could easily name fifty persons who would testify to the facts in his case. Yours truly, W. M. PHILLIPS."

FROM THE FATHER: "It is both a pleasure and a duty for me to state to you the benefit I have derived from the use of

Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

Six months ago I was completely covered with a terrible humor and scrofulous sores. The humor caused an incessant and intolerable itching, and the skin cracked so as to cause the blood to flow in many places whenever I moved. My sufferings were great, and my life a burden. I commenced the use of the Sarsaparilla in April last, and have used it regularly since that time. My condition began to improve at once. The sores have all healed, and I feel perfectly well in every respect—being now able to do a good day's work, although 73 years of age. Many inquire what has wrought such a cure in my case, and I tell them, as I have here tried to tell you, AYER'S SARSAPARILLA. Glover, Vt., Oct. 21, 1882. Yours gratefully, HIRAM PHILLIPS."

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA cures Scrofula and all Scrofulous Complaints, Erysipelas, Eczema, Ringworm, Blisters, Sores, Bolls, Tumors, and Eruptions of the Skin. It clears the blood of all impurities, aids digestion, stimulates the action of the bowels, and thus restores vitality and strengthens the whole system. PREPARED BY Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass. Sold by all Druggists; $1.50 six bottles for $5. SUBSCRIBE FOR THE WEEKLY EXAMINER, the best paper on the island. CH'town, May 23—2aw wkly
