THE DAILY EXAMINER

FEBRUARY 2, 1900

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

—The Ontario Legislature will meet for the despatch of business on the 14th inst.

—"McCall's Magazine," for February—all for the ladies is to hand, and is "up to date" in every respect.

—They have had a heat wave in Australia, the consequences of which have been serious. Many deaths have been caused by heat and appoplexy.

—The government of New Zealand now sends communications by carrier pigeons between Auckland and Great Barrier Island, a distance across the water of 20 miles. The service is controlled by the post-office department, and the fee for a single message is one shilling.

—Mr. I. N. Ford says that the British Ministers are "not dispirited by the feeble double-blank attack of the leaders of the opposition in parliament, based upon the alleged injustice of the war and neglect of military safe-guards, but the ministers themselves are ineffective in defence, because they cannot tell the simple truth that the British army has been badly led by Aldershot generals, who were unequal to the requirements of the situation.

—The London Times severely reproaches the Opposition for "opening the floodgates of controversy," by the Fitz maurice amendment, which it declares, can do no good at the present juncture." It says: "We hope it is not too late for the Opposition to reconsider this decision. No national benefit of any kind can possibly balance the mischief to be done by such a display of division of council in the face of the countries enemies. There is much in the conduct of the Government calling for criticism, but this is not the proper time."

—Professor Goldwin Smith writes to the Speaker, of London, a strange letter. It commences: "I suppose the donors of the Maine thought they were paying a compliment to America in calling it that name, but really they were pricking the American conscience, as there are few things more certain than that the Maine was blown up by the ignition of coal in her bunkers. The same accident has happened to three American vessels since, one of them commanded by the same captain of the Maine, though in these case the vessels were saved. Nothing is more certain than that the Maine was not blown up by the Spaniards.

—The Spectator in the course of an important article arguing that it is entirely to the advantage of Great Britain that the Nicaragua Canal should be cut, urges the Government to anticipate the possibility of the Washington administration, raising the problem of the abrogation of the Clayton-Bulwer treaty in an offensive form by voluntarily offering to abrogate the treaty. "We should thus avoid," says the Spectator, "being put into a ridiculous position by seeming unwilling to yield to pressure when pressure was being exerted in regard to something which it was to our interest to do. We do not want in fact to quarrel with America over not doing something which would be greatly to the advantage of the British empire. If the canal is to be made and cannot be under the control, it is immensely important that it should be in the hands of a strong, friendly neutral power; and, God be thanked, there is less fear of our being at war with America than with any other power in the world. We do not believe Canada would block the way in a matter concerning the welfare of the whole empire.

The Queen and Mr. Phelps.

LONDON, Feb. 1.—The Queen to day sent to the American embassy to inquire as to the condition of former United States Minister Phelps. A cable message from Mrs. Phelps was communicated to Osborn House this afternoon, informing her majesty that Mr. Phelps was recovering slowly, but was still very weak.
