WORLD'S RECORD BROKEN—George R. Gray, of Coldwater, Ont., a member of the N. Y. A. C., at the Scottish games at Ottawa a few days ago, put the 16 pound shot 48 feet 5 inches, breaking the world's record of 47 feet, made by himself. He also put the 14-pound shot 52 feet 10 inches, breaking the world's record of 49 feet 3 inches, also made by himself.

WHERE IS THE STATUE—The statue of General Wolfe has mysteriously disappeared from its accustomed place in Quebec, and no one seems to know what has become of it. Years ago some British midwives with odd ideas as to "larks" carried off the queer old wooden memoria for a voyage to the West Indies, but it was subsequently returned.

A LATE CONFESSION—A Regina despatch says that one Kennamola, a man serving a month at that place for drunkenness, has confessed to murdering a person in the United States just at the close of the civil war. The man's story is not credited, and he is believed to be insane. The American Consul at Winnipeg has been communicated with. The supposed crime was committed in Cedar City, Georgia.

BRAVE ACTS

On Jubilee day, which commemorated the discovery of gold in California in 1849, a squad of Battery I of the regular army was firing a salute at Lime Point fort, near San Francisco. One load—the charge was 50 pounds of powder inclosed in a woolen bag—did not go off, and the officer in command ordered it to be pulled out of the cannon. The charge was withdrawn, and as it dropped to the ground it was seen that one corner of the woolen bag was on fire. In an instant the powder would have caught and the seven men with their officer would have been killed. Private John M. Jones jumped toward the smoldering bag, rolled it in the mud and with his bare hands plastered the singed edges with damp earth. It was a quick, brave deed, and had the hero been a British soldier it would have brought him a Victoria cross to wear on his breast. During the sepoy war a young captain of artillery saw an ignited shell fall near his battery. Instantly he lifted it up, carried it to a distance and flung it away. Just then it burst, shattering his left forearm. In the Crimean war Captain Peel of the royal navy, son of the former prime minister, Sir Robert Peel, commanded a naval battery in front of Sevastopol. One day a large shell, its fuse burning, fell into the battery near where Peel was standing. Picking it up, he carried it to the rampart and tossed it over. It exploded before it reached the ground.—Exchange.
