Province Geared For Vacationers

Tourist record operators and Islanders with vacation in mind are currently scanning the skies, with fingers crossed for fine weather this weekend.

The long weekend occasioned by "Canada's national day" is traditionally one which tourists flock to the Island in large numbers.

In anticipation of the great migration, the Borden and Good Islands ferries have swung into their summer schedules which allow for an increase in the number of daily crossings.

Both the Motor Transport and Maritime Central Airways expect a greater number of passengers than usual this weekend, but feel their regular trips will be fully capable of handling the influx.

Any way you slice it, there will be a lot of people on the Island for the next few days. A lot of people, piloting a lot of cars.

City police and the RCMP warn motorists to exercise extreme caution in driving this weekend.

Chief of Police, Steve Webster, issued a "common sense, particularly among pedestrians." The increased flow of traffic will necessitate extra careful driving for all motorists he says.

L. M. Tedford, of the Charlottetown detachment of RCMP, points out that not only will there be an increase in highway traffic, but that since the schools are now closed, many children will be walking along the roads. He says that at this time, motorists should pay particular attention to speed signs, and comments that the force will be on heavy traffic duty this weekend, using unmarked cars and radar, as well as the regular cars.

HAS 'REALISTIC' APPEARANCE

Hospital Staff Conducts Disaster Exercise Panel

By GEORGE CONDON

The worst "disaster" that Charlotteville may ever see occurred last night at 7:30 when some 30 casualties suffering from all types of injuries from minor cuts, to broken bones, to gouged eyes were admitted to the P.E.I. Hospital for treatment.

The simulated disaster was an exercise to test the facilities and staff of the hospital. However, the "casualties" were only made-up by experts. However, the staff believe injuries were so realistic that to the untrained eye it seemed that a catastrophe must have occurred in the area.

Casualties began to arrive at the hospital shortly before 7 p.m. when their injuries were diagnosed and the persons sent to the proper section of the hospital for treatment.

Of the staff was forced to deal with protruding bones, third degree burns, glass under the skin, lacerations, and even a few psychiatric cases. One casualty even had an eye out.

The simulated disaster was done by Sinclair Cutcliffe, a trained casualty simulator, with several assistants trained for the specific purpose of testing, and giving practice to hospital personnel. The making-up was done at Queen Charlotte High School and the casualties were rushed from there by Civil Defence trucks to the P.E.I. Hospital.

Deputy Min. Urges Increase In Production

Speaking at a Maritime Veterinary Association dinner in Sackville, N.B., Deputy Agriculture Minister, for P.E.I., R. C. Wright called for increased production of agricultural products and stated there is a market for all the meat products we can produce.

He warned that producers could not expect any more for food produced in the Maritimes than what is brought in from other places.

Dr. R. Ansley, Halifax, revealed that during the last 20 years the number of draft horses in the Maritimes had declined, but on the other hand the number of race horses, ponies and saddle horses has increased.

The slack economy has been taken up by the new classes, he said.

Dr. J. D. Campbell, Ontario Veterinary College, stated that the performances of horses in the Maritimes has fallen below par due to the restrictions on horses, which is a real problem.

A three-man committee was named to organize and direct the event. It is Dr. Thomas R. Cullen, Midgell, Joseph Lewis and Robert Pratt, both of St. Peter's.

As a feature of the centennial celebrations of the Town of Alberton, it is planned to re-enact the landing of Jacques Cartier on Prince Edward Island.

The Centennial Committee is planning for 1964, during the past months a large number of towns and villages all across the Island have submitted proposals for re-enactments, which range from dinner parties to full dress parades.

Several areas are planning beach growing contests, yacht races, cattle exhibitions and strawberry festivals.

Agriculture Minister Sees Year Successful

With the wholesale participation by those involved in cattle production and the proposed livestock marketing yard can be made successful. Agriculture Minister Andrew MacRae told the Maritime Breeders Association here.

The government is expecting federal participation—approximately 10 per cent of the CADA program—but the report presented is so reasonable that we've decided we will go ahead with it anyway, Mr. MacRae stated.

The report was presented here a week ago by Alan Hudson, a veteran of 50 years with the Toronto stockyards before he retired this year. He suggested yards offer the only feasible way of bringing livestock marketing here to the desired standard.

Mr. Hudson estimated the cost would be $72,000 plus the cost of the five acres of land that will be needed.

Mr. Hudson also stressed the need of assured participation by a large majority of farmers already the P.E.I. Beef Producers executive has moved to generate province-wide interest.

President Daniel Gass, Cornwall expressed delight last night which will be followed by a general meeting later. And this plan, apparently, will be carried across the province.
