Application Is Surprise

NEW YORK, June 28 (CP)—A surprise application from Indianapolis, Ind. for an International American Hockey League franchise for the 1939-40 season crumbled the agenda of a league governor's meeting today and a decision on the matter was postponed for two weeks. The Int-Am moguls were ready to draft a schedule for the present light-team two-section league when the Indianapolis application was tossed into the arena. It was backed by James Norris, Louis Biffels and Arthur Worth, owners of Detroit Red Wings in the National Hockey League, with which the new team would be affiliated. A preliminary survey of the application indicates a strong possibility the franchise will be granted, said Maurice Podoloff of New Haven, Int-Am President, after the meeting.

TONY GALENTO BEATEN INTO SUBMISSION IN 4 ROUNDS

Louis Pays Tribute To "Tough" Foe

YANKEE STADIUM, New York, June 28 (AP)—They called Joe Louis a dead panned sphinx, but in his dressing room tonight just after he had defended his title for the seventh time, he looked a lot more like a tired kid who had just been in a tiff with a truck. Sweat pouring off his kinky head, Joe regained his composure that was rudely shattered some few minutes earlier when he had to pick himself up off the resined floor, to pay a nice compliment to the "toughest" foe he has ever fought—tough, rugged Tony Galento. "Boy, he sure hits hard," the Champion breathed as a crowd of newspapermen put on a tussle of their own to edge close enough in the steaming hot quarters to gather the Champion's words. Joe averred with some prompting, that this was probably the hardest fight of his career and that "it was just the kind of a fight I knowed it would be. And he thought that the belt he took in the first round—sweeping left hook—was harder than the left that floored him in the third. He excused that slip by saying that it was a good blow, but that he would have grazed places on his cheekbones and a slight beef against some of Tony's late round barroom tactics to show. Never could the Bomber remember when he had taken more concentrated bombing to drop a foe. "I musta hit him a hundred times," he estimated. He said he guessed Referee Arthur Donovan "knew his business" when he stopped the fight.

Round By Round

Round One: Galento came out in a crouch and both sparred. Galento landed a light left to the ear as he charged in and Louis tapped Tony twice. Galento landed three hard lefts to Louis' chin in a neutral corner and the champion held on. Tony rocked Joe with a right to the head. Galento moved in but missed two left hooks. Louis bounced a right off the challenger's forehead. Galento connected with lefts to the body and eye. Joe missed a hard right hook. Galento clipped Joe with a left to the side of the face. Louis seemed afraid to open up. Another Galento left smashed on the champion's mouth. They both connected with lefts. Louis shook Tony with a hard right and then both mixed punches in close. Galento landed three short lefts. Galento's round. Round Two: Between rounds Galento's handlers administered to a cut on Tony's upper lip. Louis shot a straight left and took a left to the face. The champion smashed Tony with a hard right to the ear. A left hook staggered Tony. Louis banged left and right to the body in close quarters. Louis backed off from Tony's rush and landed left and right. Another right slowed Tony down. The champion hit Galento with a smashing right to the eye and then hit him at will. Tony, however, kept coming in close. Louis was the aggressor now and Tony's face was bloody from the punishment. Tony hung around Joe's neck as they moved around the ring. Louis smashed a left to the body. Tony was floored from a right and left to the face but was up with no count and hung on. As Louis tried to finish him. They fought in a neutral corner at the bell. Louis's round. Round Three: Between rounds Tony's handlers worked overtime to close his wounds. Louis bounced a straight left off the mouth and right to the chin, meantime staying out of reach of Tony's lefts. They clinched and Tony's head banged against Joe's jaw. Each landed a left to the face. Joe sent Galento's head back with a hard left. A right hook to the inside floored Louis but he was up with no count on him. Tony was on him and landed a left hook to the head. Joe then hung on momentarily. Tony landed a left to the face and took a right to the jaw in return. Tony missed with a left and Joe's left landed flush on the chin. Tony mauled Joe with both hands in a neutral corner and Joe hung on momentarily at the bell. Galento's round. Round Four: It appeared that Tony had landed both left and right in flooring Louis in the third round. Tony changed in and the champion clinched. Louis landed two light lefts. Tony smashed a left to the side of the face and in close mauling the champion. Louis landed a left but was short with a right. A short left hand hit Tony on the mouth and another opened a cut there. Joe shot left and right to the face and Tony was hurt. Tony landed a light left and then caught three rights to his face which had him staggering badly. Louis backed Tony against the ropes and hit him with both hands at will. He shot lefts and right to the face and Galento fell away from the ropes and dropped to his knees helpless hanging on to the referee in his own corner as Louis won by a technical knockout in two minutes, 29 seconds of the fourth round.

Beaten But Game Tony Dissatisfied

(By Bill Boni, Associated Press Sports Writer) YANKEE STADIUM, New York, June 28—Tony Galento, looking all of two tons and very sad besides, sat hunched forward on a dressing room table tonight, an ice pack to his right eye and his thick, blood-smear lips muttering. "If they'd only let me fight my kinda fight, he never woulda cut me. Ruah him, wear him down, punch for punch—he couldn't take a punch. Rough and tumble, that's my kinda fight." Outside, in the ball park, some 35,000 customers still were insisting that the Orange (N. J.) bar-keep had put up a whale of a fight for four rounds against Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis. Manager Joe Jacobs, too, disagreed with Tony. "You fought the right fight, Tony, only you should have stayed in the fight longer. When you straightened up, that's when he nailed you," said Joe. "Who nailed me?" roared Galento. "He just pushed me, that's all. I punched me when I was off balance." "I got somethin' in my eyes, I couldn't see," muttered Tony, hiding his eyes, the left one with a sharp gasp on the upper eye lid. The right puff, from the glare of exploding flash-light bulbs. "He's good, all right, but he isn't all they say he is," the tubby challenger went on, as Whitley Bimstein continued to clean his cuts. "Hell, K. O. Christner hit me harder. And that punch I knocked him down with, that was just a light left hook. There wasn't much on it. But I got something in my eyes. I took more punches than I should have. I want a fight him again." "Sure we do," chimed in Yussel the Muscle. "We'll fight him again in September. We'll take that Nova (Lou Nova, California, contender) too. Why, Tony will break him in half." Galento had had the crowd with him from the moment he launched that looping left hook in the first round that had sent the champion staggering. When it was over and he was led from the ring, he still had one satisfaction. He was the first beer barrel who ever tapped a man.

"Brown Bomber" Knocked To Canvas In Third In Furious, Wild-slugging Match

(By Sid Feder, Associated Press Sports Writer) YANKEE STADIUM, New York, June 28—A wild assortment of fistic bombs burst on this ball park tonight, but as usual Joe Louis' were the more explosive and the Brown Bomber defended his world heavyweight championship by smashing pudgy Tony Galento into bloody helplessness in four rounds. Although floored himself in the third round of this scheduled 15 rounder, after having put the roly-poly pounder down in the second, Louis came on with an amazing assault of punching fury in the fourth. Referee Arthur Donovan finally had to stop the proceedings at 2:29 of that heat. He intervened as Galento, no longer the shouting, blasting law-keeper, fell to his knees and wrapped his arms around the referee's knees, his face beaten to a pulp, and blood streaming from eyes and mouth. "It was the wildest slugging and toughest battles the champion has had since he won the title from old Jim Braddock two years ago this month. Unafraid of the vaunted Louis' dynamic left, squat Galento rushed in with his tree-like left arm flailing, and actually had the champion hanging on from two fearful smashes to the chin the first round. Galento weighed 233 3-4 pounds to 200 3-4 for the champion. In the second, Louis, who seemed to be extremely cautious of Galento's famed portside fist in the early going, opened up momentarily and put the burly bar-keep down with a left and right, delivered as Galento charged. But Tony turned the tables in the third, charged in, and shot a short right uppercut to the chin and a left to the midsection which suddenly and amazingly dropped Galento to the seat of his pants in mid-ring. The champion got up and managed to shove off the Galento rush the rest of the round. With that Tony's hopes came to an end. At that point, Galento was within one punch of the world heavyweight championship. Had he been able to land one solid smash when the tan terror came up off the floor, he would have been able to charge in an connect with Louis in his dazed condition, he would have climaxed one of the most amazing rises fistic has ever seen. But he just didn't have it. So Joe came out in the fourth round ready to toss his thunder. For a few seconds, they fought on even terms. Then Louis proved his ring greatness. He moved in with the grace and rhythm of a perfect machine, and opened up. In just a moment, he had Galento back against the ropes. He smashed over left, right, left and right again to Tony's jaw and head. Each punch seemed to open a new stream of blood from Tony's face. Momentarily Referee Donovan separated them, but Louis charged forward again. This time he backed the challenger against the ropes on another side of the ring, but still near the Galento corner. Joe pumped both death-dealing fists into Tony's face more times than an adding machine could tally them and this blood-and-thunder war proved too much for the game Galento. He staggered out of the milling, half-blinded and bleeding. Finally he slumped to his knees, making a vain effort to keep himself upright by wrapping his shot. Fat arms around Donovan. He was completely helpless and done in.

Big Wrestling Card Slated For Tonight

Wrestling's "Mystery Man" makes his first appearance in a Charlottetown ring at the Sporting Club tonight when he tangles with Jack Hagan in the main bout on the Club's all-star wrestling card. Both big men, weighing in the vicinity of 200 lbs. each, the fans are looking forward to a bristling bout all the way. The Mystery Man is considered one of the smartest grunt and groaners in the ring today and also, when the occasion warrants it, one of the most rugged. Hagan, another clever mat artist also has taken on good-looking Larry Kasaboski in the semi-final event. This pair are certain to put up a whale of a scrap. They fought here about two weeks ago and after each had taken a fall the bout was awarded to Kasaboski on a foul. Conley hasn't forgotten that turn of events and will be out with his full repertoire of tricks ready to atone for his previous loss. The wrestlers will have to be on their good behavior, however, for refereeing will be Len "Cowboy" Hughes, himself a well-known mat artist who has been seen here on several appearances. Hughes very often runs into trouble with one of the performers in carrying out his exacting duties, so if the going is real close tonight those in attendance may get an unscheduled bout if the wrestlers should happen to take exception to any of the "Cowboy's" rulings. The first bout will start at 9 o'clock sharp.

Ladies' Golf At Belvedere Golf Links

There is keen interest being taken in golfing activities by the ladies this year mainly on account of the Maritime Ladies' Links, held in Charlottetown the latter part of August. A number of matches have been played with competition very close. Mrs. N. H. DeBlais was declared winner of the Lady-Pre's Match with Mrs. W. E. Cotton runner-up. Play for the Longworth Trophy is now down to the semi-finals. Mrs. O. W. MacGregor meets Mrs. H. S. Henderson in one bracket while Mrs. W. E. Cotton plays Mrs. George Buntain in the other. Upsets Mark Tourney At Wimbledon

WIMBLEDON, England, June 28—(AP)—Gene Smith, California English teacher who came over here to look at cathedral-biased Germany's gigantic Roderich Knebel, the seventh-ranking player in the world, off Wimbledon's rain-soaked turf today in one of the biggest upsets of this international tennis season. Entered somewhat obscurely as "E. Smith, U. S. A.," the Californian produced a magnificent, kicking service which had the German missing all afternoon. Smith won by 6-1, 3-5, 6-3, 7-5 to go into the third round of the all-England tournament. But the Europeans got back at the Americans when Frans Kukuljevic of Yugoslavia beat Don McNeill of Oklahoma City in straight sets, 6-4, 7-5, 6-1. McNeill, recent winner of the French Championship and seeded third, had been expected to go far in the men's singles. Then H. W. (Bunny) Austin, seeded no. 1 and favored to take the title Don Budge relinquished by turning to the money game, personally contacted another American, Owen Anderson of Los Angeles, out of the tournament, 6-3, 6-4, 6-4. Gracy Wheeler of Santa Monica scored an upset by defeating Mrs. Ronald Ellis, 6-3, 7-5. Gracy had her drop shot working to perfection and she left Mrs. Ellis, who as Anita-Lizana won the United States title in 1937, stranded in the back court. Mrs. D. L. Little, the former Dorothy Round who once held the Wimbledon title, beat Mrs. Dorothy Andrus of Stamford, Conn., 6-3, 6-0.
