PROVINCIAL LEGISLATURE. FRIDAY, April 13. House met at 11. Hon. Mr. Gordon asked the Commissioner of Public Works to table a statement showing in detail the amounts paid for inspection on public contracts in the financial year ending December 31st, 1893, and up to this date, specifying the several contracts on which inspection was paid, the amount agreed to be paid for each contract, and the total amount paid for each contract separately, and the persons to whom the several amounts were paid. Hon. Mr. Peters, in the absence of the Commissioner of Public Works, said the information asked for would be given so far as it possibly could. Hon. Mr. Peters, in reply to a question by Mr. Gordon, said the report of the Commissioner of Crown Lands would probably be tabled on Monday and the other information promised by the Government would be submitted as soon as it could be got ready. Mr. Shaw then resumed the debate on the motion made by the Leader of the Opposition regarding the third reading of the succession tax bill. He began by criticizing the discounts in the Land Office, and pointing out that one of the Government candidates (Mr. Matheson) had used the Land Office to further his election by giving the people to understand that he was to be the Commissioner of Crown Lands. Mr. Shaw gave several instances showing wherein large discounts were allowed persons in the English district on consideration of their supporting the Government candidate, and showed that when the bribery oath was put to one of these persons he refused to take it. Proceeding, he showed in what way enormous legal expenses would follow the carrying out of the succession act, asserting that when the bribery oath was put to one of these persons he refused to take it. HAIRY PEOPLE OF AINU, JAPAN. Fresh and important information on the Ainu, the strange, hair people who inhabit the island of Yezo, in the Japan Empire, is given in the modest volume lately published by John Murray. It is written by A. H. Savage, a landowner, a geologist, a poet, and a clever artist. He travelled all over the island, and lived among the Ainu for five months. He has illustrated his book with drawings of animals, houses and landscapes, and with portraits of the people. He believes that the pure Ainu do not number more than 8,000, though the population, including half-breeds, is estimated by the Japanese to be from 15,000 to 17,000. Mr. Landon, made his observations in a scientific manner, taking measurements of both men and women. He found the average height of ten pure Ainu, five men and five women, to be 62 1/2 inches for the men and 58 1/2 inches for the women; with the arms outstretched, the men measured 65 1/2 inches from finger tip to finger tip, the women 61 1/2 inches. He makes quite clear the total dissimilarity between the Ainu and the Mongolian. The eye is Caucasian in its form and position; the iris is light brown or gray. The complexion is a light reddish brown; the hair is generally black and curly in adults, though in one section of the island were noticed who had hair and beard of reddish color. This he describes the typical face: "When seen in profile the forehead is narrow and sharply sloped backward, the cheek bones are prominent, and the nose hooked, slightly flattened, and broad, with wide, strong nostrils. The mouth is generally large, with thick, firm lips, and the under lip well developed. The space from the nose to the mouth is extremely long, while the chin, which is rather round, is comparatively short and not very prominent. Thus the face has the shape of a short oval. The profile is concave, and the mouth and eyebrows are prominent. In the supra-orbital region the central boss is extremely well marked; also the brow ridge, which, however, is slightly less conspicuous than the central boss. The ears are usually large, flat, and simply developed. The sense of hearing is extremely acute, as is also that of smell. They know a Japanese from an Englishman by his clothing, and yet they seem to notice the faint odors of their own persons and dwellings, where filth and vermin prevail. The Ainu women do the hand work and the men are generally engaged in riding on their ponies. They always pull a heavy object toward them, rather than push it from them, and they use teeth, feet, and toes to help the fingers, preferring to pull with the teeth. They are very strong when a load is heavy. In all these movements they are like the anthropoid apes. They show little evidence of emotion. Under ordinary circumstances they are very calm and self-controlled, but they never show any sign of fear. On the whole, Mr. Landon's observations lead him to believe that the Ainu are the most primitive of the northern Asiatic races, and that they may have originated from the same stock as did the northern Europeans.

Nearly everybody needs a good medicine. The impurities which have accumulated in the blood during the cold months must be expelled, or when the mild days come, and the effect of bracing air is lost, the body is liable to be overcome by debility or some serious disease. The remarkable success achieved by Hood's Sarsaparilla, and the many words of praise it has received, make it worthy of our confidence. We ask you to give this medicine a trial. We are sure it will do you good. Read the testimonials published in behalf of Hood's Sarsaparilla, all from reliable, grateful people. They tell the story. In the Spring. The past guarantees the future. It is not what we say, but what Hood's Sarsaparilla does, that tells the story. Remember HOOD'S CURES. A Perfect Cure for Cold in the Head. "It cured me of a severe cold in the head," is what Mr. A. D. McDonald of Franconia, C. B., says of Hawker's Catarrh Cure. Sold everywhere, only 50c. Puttner's Emulsion has a delightful flavor, and agrees with the most delicate stomachs—free from dangerous minerals and narcotics—and works wonders in restoring the sick to health. USE SKODA'S DISCOVERY, the great Blood and Nerve Remedy.
