Progress of Toronto.
Twenty-seven years ago, Sir Thos. Brassy remarked to a friend, "I do not see what it is that supports Toronto; she has no manufacturers and only a limited wholesale trade." If he could come back to-day and see what is going on, the mystery would be cleared up. More than to anything else, Toronto owes her present rapid progress to the planting and growth of new manufactures. The increase of population, for the last two years, has been at the rate of five thousand a year; this year, if we count the suburbs, which form part of the city in everything but in name, these figures will be far exceeded. The new population is industrial, a very large part of it being engaged in the work of reproduction. This is not so exclusively a manufacturing city as Hamilton, the Birmingham of Canada, from which, however, the wholesale dry goods business, for example, has nearly gone. But the manufactures of the latter city give her a surer source of prosperity. Toronto's commerce has expanded equally with her manufactures. She is a centre for banks, loan and insurance companies. Hither come a very large proportion of all the wealthy men who have retired from the active pursuits of business, in various parts of the country. With all these sources to draw upon, the city rapidly increases in wealth, as might be expected.—Monetary Times.

It is proposed in New York to excavate under Broadway a street of equal width to the present one, and of a height sufficient to admit of its free use by pedestrians and by two lines of cars to be moved by electric engines. The underground street will be lighted by electricity. Arrangements will be made so that the basements of the stores can be used just as the first stories now are.
The sewers, the gas, water and telegraphic pipes will be placed under the new street in a subterranean gallery, which will make them accessible at all times.

Forty-five millions of dollars have been spent on the Panama Canal, and not a foot of it yet cut. That is like Mr. Mackenzie's management of the Georgian Bay Branch, when $109,000 were spent on contract before a survey had been made.—Exchange.
ONE HUNDRED Barrels Apples, in prime order, at Bacon & Ours's.

CURRENT NOTES.
The Malagasy are arming, and express a determination to resist French invasion.
Advices from Cairo contain the alarming intelligence that the False Prophet, El Mehdi, has succeeded in capturing the Khartoum, the capital of the Soudan.
The Emperor and Empress will reach Moscow on May 21st, and the coronation takes place on the 27th. The state entry into the city of St. Petersburg will be made on June 10th.
News has been received at Victoria, B.
C. from the Northwest Coast, of the drowning of Messrs. Chapman and Penny, two missionaries attached to the Presbyterian Mission, by the upsetting of a boat.
From statistics it is gathered that for the year ending June 30th last there was an increase in the mileage of Canadian railroads of 269. The total nominal capital invested was $415,611,810, as compared with $389,285,700 at the corresponding period of the previous year. Upwards of nine and a quarter million passengers were carried, and thirteen and a half million tons of freight handled. The total earnings of all the roads were twenty-nine million dollars, the expenses twenty-two millions, leaving a net profit of $6,637,000.
If ever Lord Salisbury should become Premier, the Canadian cattle trade will be one of the first things he will strike. This is the only opinion to be formed after reading his Birmingham speech. Speaking of the present laws regulating the live stock traffic, he said:—"If it were possible by any increase in the stringency of those laws to add to that security, I am sure the slight inconvenience of converting the live-meat trade into a dead meat trade from one particular country for a limited time would be enormously outweighed by a rapid growth in the pastoral industry." Among the many wreaths of flowers placed upon the coffin of the late John Brown were two contributed by the Queen and the Empress Eugenie. To the memorial wreath from the Queen there was affixed a large mourning card bearing the following words in her own handwriting: "A tribute of loving, grateful, and everlasting friendship and affection from his truest beloved, and most faithful friend, Victoria, R.
I." It is noted that the wreath sent for Lord Beaconsfield bore the words, "A mark of true affection, friendship, and regret" that for Dean Stanley, "A mark of sincere affection and high esteem." In the case of Mrs. Adelia Curran against William M. Fay to recover $10,000 damages for killing her husband, in the superior court, New Haven, Conn., on the 20th, the jury were out an hour and brought in a verdict for the defendant. Judge Beardsley refused to accept the verdict, and sent them back to their room to deliberate, stating that they should have found some damages for the plaintiff. The judge told them that the defendant had failed to establish a legal justification for shooting, and their verdict was not in accordance with the evidence. They returned in about an hour with a verdict for the plaintiff of $50 and costs. Fay had previously been tried for the murder of Curran and acquitted. Nothing of the kind has occured in New Haven courts before for years.
The greatest loss sustained by the burning of the Quebec Parliament Building is that of the library. The Chronicle says of it:—"It contained 30,000 volumes, carefully selected, many of them quite rare, and not a few relating solely to the early history of the country. The amount expended for books up to 1st July, 1882, was $58,000. It also contained some $5,000 worth of books taken from the Department of Public Instruction and a collection of maps and books received in exchange from foreign governments and scientific societies, so that the library was worth at least $70,000. Mr. Lemay hopes that most of the more valuable Canadian works have been saved, though it is said, on the other hand, that the greater portion of the very valuable Fairbairn collection of scarce Canadian MSS., etc., are missing." In the report of the Marine and Fisheries Department for 1882, reference is made to the advantage which the Meteorological Service is now occasioning to the people of the Maritime Provinces. The forecast of the weather being now made at midnight, a recognizable improvement, they are issued to the public in the early morning where under previous conditions they could not reach this province till noon or later. Mr. Carpmal, the Superintendent of the service, in his report, pays a complement to the Telegraph service in his connection as under: "My thanks are justly due to Mr. Dwight, General Manager of the G. N. W. Telegraph Co., for the liberality which he has shown in making the arrangements; but for which I should have been unable, with the grant at my disposal, to have increased the usefulness of the service in this direction."
SHEEP AND CATTLE RAISING.—It is understood that the memorandum of incorporation of the New Brunswick Joint Stock Cattle and Sheep Raising Company (limited) has been forwarded to Fredericton. The company is to have a capital of $25,000 in 2,500 shares of $10 each, with the privilege of increasing $50,000. It is the intention of the company to rent or purchase from the Provincial Government sixteen square miles of unimproved land and also to lease or buy partly improved land and farm it on the best known principles. It is estimated that 10,400 acres, the quantity of land in sixteen square miles, will support 30,000 sheep, but as it is not proposed to cultivate in the whole area at the start, but to bring the land in gradually, the company will commence with about 3,000 sheep, and between 200 and 300 head of cattle. It is also understood that several capitalists and others who have examined the prospectus, have spoken very favorably of it and signified their willingness to invest.
