Mrs. B. Earle MacDonald Made IODE Life Member

Mrs. B. Earle MacDonald, immediate past president of the Provincial Chapter of the IODE was presented with a life membership in the Provincial Chapter at a coffee party at the Charlottetown Curling Club on Saturday morning.

Making the presentation on Mrs. MacDonald, was Mrs. D.W. MacGibbon, Toronto, national president of the IODE. Mrs. MacGibbon is in the province to attend the Dominion Drama Festival.

Mrs. MacDonald, who has been a member of the IODE for over 20 years, served on two occasions as president of her own chapter, Royal Edward and also held various convenorship in the chapter. She served as organizing secretary for the province for sometime and during this time, organized four new chapters, Lady's Slipper and the junior chapter, Ames of Green Gables. Mrs. MacDonald was also the provincial chapter, which received its charter two years ago and she served as provincial president of the newly founded chapter until a short time ago.

MORE

Miss Wanda Wyatt, provincial president, who acted as chairman during the brief ceremony told members that the life membership was being presented to Mrs. MacDonald for the outstanding contribution she has made to IODE in the province, especially for the work she did in organizing the provincial chapter and getting it established.

Mrs. MacGibbon, in a brief address, told members that Mrs. MacDonald was highly thought of at the national level and that she had made a valuable contribution to IODE in service and loyalty. She told primary chapter members that they must not fail to realize that they are also part of the national chapter of IODE and that without the primary chapters there would be no national. She said that too often the primary chapters feel national is a far distant thing not associated with the chapter.

Mrs. J. A. MacMillan read a citation to Mrs. MacDonald, who was presented with the life membership badge and a bouquet of roses.

Mrs. E. M. Phillips, first vice regent of the provincial chapter and Mrs. Arthur Roper, second vice regent, poured, and members of the various chapters served.

Mrs. Gordon Avard, Mrs. Lloyd Cox and Mrs. Arthur Love were the members of the committee that arranged the coffee party.

HAPPENINGS

Mrs. J. W. Sheen returned to her home at Kensington on Friday from Toronto where she spent the past two weeks with her sister, Mrs. R. M. Owen. Mrs. Sheen who spent the winter in Toronto, had returned home earlier this spring, and left again for that city after learning of the illness of her sister who is now improved in health.

Mrs. J. G. Townsend is expected to return this week to Kensington from Toronto where she spent the winter with her son, Rev. Dr. T. R. Millman and Mrs. Millman. Dr. Millman is expected to accompany his mother to Kensington.

Pt Ralph Gardiner with the Canadian Army stationed at Camp Gagetown, N.B., was a visitor to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Gardiner of Cardigan for the holiday weekend. Mr. and Mrs. Howard Gardiner and three daughters of Gagetown were also guests of their parents during the weekend.

Mrs. Gertrude Jack has returned to her home in Tyne Valley, having spent the winter in New York City.

Five Alberton residents have returned from a brief visit to the British Isles.

Mrs. Lebert Pridham and little daughter Vicky Lee visited members of their family in North London, and Mrs. Robert Profit visited her family in North Allerton, Yorkshire.

Both of these young women came as brides to Alberton 18 years ago.

Mrs. Pridham made a trip home 18 years ago, but for Mrs. Profit, this was the first one.

Stephen Murphy, a veteran of World War Two, was another passenger on the chartered flight from Halifax to London. He visited his daughter Olive, Mrs. James Corman of Quarring Hill, Durham. This was Mr. Murphy's first visit to England and he was delighted with the beauty of the country and by the friendliness of the people. Unaccustomed to the English custom of walking, Mr. Murphy admits that he had difficulty in keeping up with the others at first but before long he was able to cover four or five miles as well as anyone else.

Before leaving Alberton Mrs. Pridham and Mrs. Profit were presented with tickets by the Legion Auxiliary and Mr. Murphy was presented with a gift by the Legion.

Also on the flight were Margaret Fitzpatrick of Tracadie Cross and Ellen Percy of St. Louis, both nurse's aides at the Western Hospital.

Visiting Murray Harbor recently were Cpl. and Mrs. Clarence White and family of Oromocto, N.B.

Plans are nearly completed for the holding of Souris' first Fashion Show. This show is to be held at the Regional High School on May 20th, and is a project of the domestic science class, under the direction of Sister St. Augustine.

At the same time, the adult sewing class will also demonstrate their talents. Both the students and adults will model articles of clothing made by them during the past year. The evening's program will include Stars of the Music Festival under the direction of Sister St. Felix.

Marion Clark has returned from Acadia University to spend the summer with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Keir Clark, Montague.

Mr. and Mrs. Rudy Lanigan of Halifax, N.S., spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Artemas MacDonald, Alliston, P.E.I.

The sound of sirens signalled the arrival of the wives of the Managing Editors from across Canada to tea at Government House. Inside to greet the women were Lt.-Gov. and Mrs. W. J. MacDonald. From the line receiving line the wives were ushered into the Wedgwood-blue and white dining-room for tea. The tea table was centered with a bouquet of creamy-white spray mums and white feathery ferns, in a silver vase. At both ends of the table were silver candelabra with flickering blue candles. Tea honors were performed by Mrs. W. Hancox, wife of the Publisher of the Guardian and Patriot and Mrs. Burton Lewis, wife of the Executive Editor of the Guardian-Patriot newspapers. Serving for the occasion were: Mrs. A. Flynn, Mrs. E.G. MacLeod, Mrs. Eleanor Blanchard, Mrs. John Hodgson, Mrs. J. C. Sinnott and Val MacDonald.

Following tea the wives of the Managing Editors of Canada's newspapers were shown through Government House by Mrs. J. Kelly and Mrs. J. Hodgson. The highlight of this tour was to see where the Queen and Prince Phillip would be staying when they visit the city of Charlottetown later this year. The Queen will be sleeping in a high four-poster canoped bed in one of the front rooms which is done in her favorite color of blue. The walls of the Duke's room have been decorated in a hunting scene pattern.

The 25th (Silver) Anniversary of the P.E.I. Hospital Nurse's Alumnae Association is being observed June 2nd with a dinner at the Legion Home. This was announced at a recent meeting of the Alumnae Assn. and it was the hope of members that all graduates of the School of Nursing would attend.

Mrs. Albert Aitken presided at the April session which was held at the Cundall Home and attended by 14 members.

Also discussed were plans for the annual graduation dance at the Charlottetown Hotel June 6. Money was voted to the nurse's scholarship fund and nursing magazines were re-ordered for the Nursing School Library.

A film on "Parliamentary Procedure" led to much discussion. Refreshments were served.

Life membership in the WMS of the Summerside Presbyterian Church was presented to Mrs. Wyman Birch on behalf of Mrs. Alfred Simpson on Tuesday afternoon in the church parlor. The worship period was in charge of the president, Mrs. Vernon Campbell assisted by JeanMacFadyen who read the scripture lesson and Mrs. Birch who offered prayer. The study period entitled "Christain Mission in Southern Asia" was presented by Mrs. Ernest Walker and several of the members.

Mrs. Susan Newson, widow of the late Hammond Newson of Westmoreland, who resides with her daughter, Mrs. Cuyler Matheson of Bradalbane, will celebrate her 98th birthday on May 22. Mrs. Newson has three daughters, seven sons (one is deceased), twenty grandchildren and seventeen great grandchildren. Mrs. Newson's sister, Mrs. S. Good lives in Charlottetown.

Rev. Ralph B. and Mrs. MacCaull of Sheet Harbour, N.S., have been visiting relatives in Carleton, Bedeque and North Bedeque.

Dr. Thompson Wright of Chicago has been the guest of relatives in Middleton.

Mrs. Malcolm A. MacPhee of Heatherdale, who is in her 99th year had as Mother's Day guests, her daughters, Mrs. Angus Matheson of Murray River and Mrs. James Shawn Montague; and her sons Bruce of Montague, and Fulton. Phone calls were received from her daughter, Mrs. Norman Smith of Dorchester, and her son, Sinclair MacPhee, Oakland, Calif. (Mrs. MacPhee's other son, Jack resides in England.)

Exotic India Delights Booked For A Cooking

HUNDREDS of cookbooks have been published this past year on all phases of cookery some by "experts," many by "un-experts!" If looking for cookbooks, better browse in a good bookstore to look them over to be sure the book or books you select will be really helpful.

The Art of India's Cooking you will find authentic, the recipes practical, easy to use, and the dishes spicy. If you are interested in curries and many little - known Indian specialities. It was written by a qualified twosome — William Kaufaman of the United States and Saraswathi Laksmanan of India.

Today, by special permission, we are giving three delightful recipes from the book that produce interesting reading and happy eating.

Measurements level; recipes for 6.

BROILED INDIAN SHRIMP

1 lb. raw shrimp
½ c. boiling water
1 tsp. salt
1 tsp. ground coriander
½ tsp. instant minced onion
12 black peppercorns
½ c. vegetable shortening
1½ tsp. salt
½ tsp. ground coriander
½ tsp. ground cumin seed
1 tsp. ground turmeric
2 tsp. fresh lemon or lime juice
8 wedges fresh lemon or lime

Peel and devein raw shrimp; set aside. Pour boiling water, 1 tsp. salt, ½ tsp. coriander, instant minced onion and black peppercorns in saucepan. Bring to boiling point.

Add peeled shrimp and boil 2 min. or until they begin to turn pink. Remove from heat and drain off water and peppercorns.

Melt vegetable shortening. Add 1½ tsp. salt, remaining spices and lemon or lime juice. Mix well. Stir in shrimp. Turn into a shallow pan, spread over surface. Broil 5 min. or until shrimp are slightly browned around edges.

Serve with wedges of fresh lime or lemon.

PEANUT SAUCE

¼ c. peanut butter
¼ tsp. hot - pepper sauce (Tabasco)
2 tbsp. tomato puree
¼ tsp. salt
1 tsp. lime juice

Combine all ingredients. Mix until smooth.

Serve over sauteed chicken livers.

NUT-AND-RAISIN PUDDING

(In India farina is a favorite dessert ingredient.)

¼ c. sweet butter
¼ c. chopped unsalted cashew nuts
¼ c. raisins
2 c. farina
½ tsp. salt
3 c. milk
½ c. sugar
1 tsp. ground chardamom
1 tsp. saffron, soaked in 2 tbsp. warm milk

Heat butter in skillet. Add cashew nuts and raisins. Fry 3 or 4 min. Pour off excess butter and reserve. Shake in farina and salt. Fry until farina begins to brown.

Pour milk in saucepan. Boil. Add sugar and cardamom. Add this sugar - milk to farina when sugar has dissolved. Cover. Simmer until milk is completely absorbed and farina is dry.

Sprinkle saffron over farina. Add reserved butter. Stir lightly.

THE CHEF EXPLAINS LIME RICE

To do: Heat ¼ c. vegetable oil in large skillet; drain and add 1 (1 lb.) can chick peas; saute until crisp. Combine ½ c. lime juice, ½ tbsp. ground turmeric, 1 tsp. ground ginger, ½ tsp. cayenne, 1 tsp. sugar and 1 tsp. salt.

Pour this mixture over chick peas. Heat; add 4 c. half - cooked rice and mix. Steam over boiling water about 20 min. It is good with fish or poultry.

Pin Presented By Legion Aux.

BORDEN: Mrs. Mary Sutherland of the Royal Canadian Legion Ladies Auxiliary, Borden was presented with a past presidents pin (1962-63) at the May meeting.

With Mrs. Edith Burke presiding, executive, finance and committee reports were heard. Ten members were present.

Mrs. Sutherland and Mrs. Morro Ness were appointed to attend the provincial convention in Charlottetown, June 3rd.

A pantry sale and tea will be sponsored at the Home on May 30. Recent projects of the Auxiliary include catering to Legion dances and collecting books for the Riverside Hospital Library.

Refreshments were served to both Legion and Auxiliary members.

ELLEN'S DIARY

Green Meadow Carpets Are Unrolled In May

We go back in mind now, to piece together the items of our day. We see in this afternoon the nice pattern into which the bits and pieces of our living has fallen to make for us in the overall, a pleasing design.

We remember among other niceties, how happily Peter, the baby - one, of the house across the lane, and more or less lost when his older brothers are in school, played this afternoon in the sandpile beneath the old birch tree, obviously much engrossed in the pastime. A little wind came down from up the creek touched lightly his hair. The sun smiled on him. And all the time, the May - month was unrolling lengths of green carpet here and there, on pasture and meadow about.

Lilac buds greened. Hyacinths bloomed their varied shades so bright in the border, we should, we said to Alex, our under - gardener, plant a whole bed of them, when comes the bulb - planting season again.

Swallows dipped and soared on light wing, carrying the makings of their abode houses to high rafter or eaves sites ... And how sweet that robin, a handsome fellow, vest new and bright, sang in his coffee-break, from a branch!

"I declare now my affection ... I promise to be the best, the most faithful mate in the whole wide world that ever a sweetheart had." So the trill ran. And where did the notes fall? On mellow ground, surely!

"Man - go 'long with you!" she answered from a higher bough, so pleased to hear the lyrics. "I like — I jes' love yo' words. But let's get on with our nest - building. Mind yo' the summer is short!"

Peter interrupted his play at a sound. He listened a moment to determine its source. Then caught sight of a passing road - machine.

"What is it doing?" he questioned.

"Smoothing our clay road."

He watched it come to the Public Bridge, and lost it around a bend of way beyond.

"We never see any snowplows now, do we?" he remarked.

"Would you like to see them again?"

"No" he replied returning to his play. "I like it better this way... I like the summer" he smiled.

"What luck are you having with lambs?" a visiting farmer inquired today.

"Oh, not bad" the younger farmer said. "In a flock of any size, there are usually losses. Lambs soon chill. And sometimes too they don't come too easily to the world. If the ewe hasn't assistance in good time, well that's that!" he nodded. "So, in spite of care, we lose the odd one."

"It won't be long now before the kittens have their eyes open" Alex offered, picking up one of those housed in the wood - box this morning. "They're pretty things, aren't they? Their fur is like velvet, isn't it?" he queried, feeling the texture soft against a young cheek. Velvet - like the night is. James looks at the clock, and surprised, rises from the old armchair, and goes toward the stairway.

"This won't do, Ellen — these late hours" he says, "with you may say, everybody but us, now into the cropping!"

Until tomorrow — Diary — Good - night.....
