LETTER FROM MR. JOHN ANDERSON.

Sir,—In justice to the Alliance and myself, I wish to refer to your editorial of Saturday last regarding the recently passed Prohibition Act. The move for legislation began with the Alliance by instructing their Executive Committee to wait on the Government and urge the repeal of the License Law and the enactment of a law to prohibit the sale of liquor in the city. Accordingly a committee of the alliance waited on the Government in May last and urged the wishes and views of the Alliance. The Government expressed their expectation that we should have a bill all ready prepared; but we took the ground that our duty was to press for the legislation we wanted and for them to provide it. Finally after much discussion we were offered legal assistance to prepare a bill. We withdrew to consult over the matter, and returned agreeing to accept the legal assistance promised and prepare a bill. We stipulated, however, emphatically, that should our bill be changed in any essential principle by the Government or the House it would no longer be our bill.

Therefore taking that as our position we have to claim that although the bill was prepared by us the alterations made since we handed it over relieve us entirely from any responsibility for its defects. The principal changes were as follows:

1. Our bill defined that any beverage containing two per cent or more of alcohol should be considered an intoxicating beverage within the meaning of the act. That was struck out so that under the act as passed proof that any beer, for instance, is intoxicating must be, in every case, proved by the evidence of persons buying such, as under the C. T. A., a very difficult, now almost impossible, evidence to get.
2. We had a clause making the sale in clubs illegal. That also was struck out, which leaves doors wide open for the defeat of the very intention of the act.
3. We provided that the vendors should be salaried officers, etc. That was changed and the defective plan of the C. T. A. substituted. At present the vendor has to pay $150 license and provide the place and outfit for business which cannot easily be done without depending on illegal sales for profit. Hence the vendors in many instances were only licensed rum-sellers and did much to render the C. T. A. a comparative failure in some places.
4. We provided for fines for first and second offences. The first offence, $100 fine or a term of imprisonment with or without hard labor, and all subsequent offences imprisonment with or without hard labor without the option of a money fine.

That was struck out and the defective plan of the C. T. A. substituted. The present act is open to be used as a revenue act where the enforcement can be worked that way. For example, in the case of Summerside a regular system of first offences, very often without expenses, has been in vogue for years, and the act applied purely to put revenue into the town treasury,—and throughout the country the same plan is followed. A fine of $50 is imposed, and in very few instances pressed in such a way as to be effective in curtailing illicit sales. The act as passed is a prohibitive act without effect, and can be used for revenue purposes even worse than the C. T. A. However, it is a gain for us inasmuch as it rips all the obnoxious license law now in force. And although it does not come into force in December next, as we had provided, it will come into force next June.

We have also gained another point which is most important, viz., committing our local parties to such legislation, and if the contention continues we shall finally get a more perfect act. One party has passed the act as it is; the other has unhesitatingly committed itself to the bill with the very amendments we want. Our course now is clear: to press for these and other necessary changes in the act at the next session of the Legislature, and not allow it to go into force and be ineffective from the very start.

JOHN ANDERSON,
Kensington, June 20th, 1900.

Horse Notes

In travelling through the country I notice a very decided improvement in the horses raised on P. E. Island, particularly the carriage class. And as the Government has awakened to the fact that an annual exhibition is essential to the general improvement of stock-raising, I expect the display this autumn will outshine that of any previous exhibition held in Charlottetown. In the carriage class, I might mention some excellent colts I saw owned by Messrs D. McEachern and T. Garland, of Lot 48, sired by the famous imported stallion "Home Rule." These youngsters will compare favorably with any of their class in the Maritime Provinces. P. E. I., is excellently adapted for horse raising. And it is to be regretted that the farmers do not pay more attention to raising the class of horses best suited to the foreign market. The energy of Mr McLean in importing such a splendid horse as "Home Rule" is truly commendable, and if a few more horses of this class were imported to the Province, it would be a great boon to the stock raising community.

AN OLD COIN.—While digging post holes last week, Mr. John Arthur of Cavendish Road, found a French coin dated 1703.

IN MEMORIAM—CAROLINE STEWART

News has been received of the death of Caroline, widow of the late Rev. William Stewart, B. A., (King's College, Windsor, N. S.), priest and formerly rector of Southport and Cherry Valley.

Mrs. Stewart lived in recent years and died at Collingwood, Canton, New Jersey, U. S. A., where she was a prominent member of Holy Trinity Church, and one of the most highly regarded and best beloved in the congregation and vicinity. Amid all the storms of a life of many vicissitudes and severe trials, from her girlhood at Antigonish, N. S., to her last days in the adopted country of her maturer years, she preserved and exemplified a true type of womanly grace and simple faith, uniting in modest use of unusual gifts of heart and head with unassuming charity and benevolence and with unconscious powers of rare tact.

Several sons and one daughter survive her. She lies buried at Waterford, New Jersey, beside her husband, who died there as rector of the parish thirty years ago. R. I. P.

Kelly's Cross Notes.

The country in this vicinity, with its hills and dales, is without doubt the most picturesque on the Island. The beautiful new church which was completed last summer, the many winding brooks, the neat and spacious farm residences tend to make Kelly's Cross an ideal summer resort for tourists from the city. Already several young ladies from Charlottetown are spending a few holidays with their friends, and in connection with their arrival your correspondent notices a competitive emulation among the young men in dress, attitude and language. It will, without doubt, be interesting to report progress on this social drama as the summer advances.

Rev. Dr. Monaghan, of the cathedral staff, is spending a few days at his home. His numerous friends are pleased to see him looking so well.

Mr. James D. McGuigan has returned home from Montreal, having passed a successful first year medical course in McGill College.

A deputation of City Fathers held a meeting in a well-known grocery store a few evenings ago, and decided to impose a higher rate of taxes on some few citizens for parochial or district needs. This new tax act, if enforced, will rival any of the obnoxious tax acts passed by the dying Liberal Administration.

The dwelling house of Mr. James H. D. veraux, principal of Kelly's Cross school, was totally destroyed by fire. It is thought the fire originated from a defective flue in the upper part of the house. The loss is a heavy one as there is no insurance.

It is reported that some metroly citizen has caught that disease, viz., "chew the rag." So boys beware! "A stitch in time saves nine." Otherwise seek consolation in the lines of the well known poet, "The hand that rocks the cradle is the hand that rules the world." ROBERTS.

BISHOP OF ALGOMA CHOSEN.

The Election of a Coadjutor Bishop at Kingston

The Kingston, Ont., correspondent of the Mail and Empire says: The incorporated Synod of the Diocese of Ontario proceeded to elect their coadjutor bishop yesterday (Wednesday) afternoon at three o'clock. The race for the office was between the Rev. Professor Roper, formerly of Trinity College, Toronto, on the part of the clergy, and the Rev. Prof. Worrell, Kingston, on the part of the laity. After taking six tallies and coming out nearly even every time, His Honor Judge McDonald suggested that the Synod, both clerical and lay, meet and form some plan to come to an agreement.

The Rev. C. H. H. Hutcheon suggested that the clergy and laymen meet separately and each appoint a committee of seven to hold a conference. It was past midnight when Judge McDonald made the suggestion and at 1 o'clock this morning the committees came together.

The deadlock became so intense that it was decided to drop both candidates. The late wanted Bishop Thorndale of Algoma, and at 2 30 a. m. the clergy agreed on the Bishop of Algoma.

The significance of his election is made apparent when it is remembered that eventually it involves the succession to the Metropolitan See of the Ecclesiastical Province of Canada. The present Archbishop, His Grace, the Rev. J. Lewis, D. D., L. L. D., D. C. L., was consecrated Bishop of Ontario in the year 1862. Bishop Thorndale was elected to the jurisdiction of Algoma in 1897; and the youngest member of the Canadian House of Bishops thus becomes the Coadjutor and heir prospective of the order.

North Rustico Notes.

Mackerel are very plentiful along shores and the fishermen are busy preparing their seines and boats.

Lobsters are very scarce and some of the factories intend shutting up soon.

Messrs. Joseph Gallant and Peter Gauthier, two of our most enterprising young men, who have been attending St. Dunstan's College during the past year, have returned home to spend their summer holidays.

A number of our young men have organized a baseball club here. Mr. A. J. Steele has been appointed captain. The Portland Packing Co's cannery has done well in the lobster business

Swifts Animal High Grade Fertilizers

In introducing the above Fertilizers we quote what the manufacturers say about them:—

"Knowing full well that Animal Matter, which originally comes from the soil, is the most complete and natural plant-food to return to Mother Earth, we have concluded to place within reach of the public a line of fertilizers (made from the products of our numerous Slaughtering and Rendering Houses, properly manufactured with High Grade Potash added) fully believing that all intelligent farmers would much rather have such materials unadulterated than to buy of those who merely use enough of these materials for a foundation, and adulterate with Mineral and other inferior articles so as to get the bulk and diminish the price; and the success of our goods has proven the wisdom of our reasoning beyond our most sanguine expectations. Our goods once in the field, our trade is assured.

Animal products are a lasting benefit to the soil, whilst Phosphate Rock and chemicals are a detriment as soon as the chemical substance is leached away. The animal materials from which our fertilizers are made are by nature the most powerful crop producers known."

We are selling the above Fertilizers at a small advance on cost and would be pleased to have you favor us with your order.

CHEESE BOARD.—The first meeting of the Cheese Board was held on Friday, 15th inst., in the Legislative chamber. Officers were elected as follows:

President—John Anderson, Kensington
Vice-President—Fongald Currie, New Dominion.
Secretary-Treasurer—Robert Jenkins, Mount Albion.
Auditor—A B Dickieson, New Glasgow.

The number of cheese boarded was 2,150, mostly colored. The price offered for all was 9 1/2 cents. Mr. Biffin and Dillon & Spillet bought all that was sold. The Dairy Association held a meeting and decided to have printed copies of dairy bulletins distributed by means of the factory inspectors, the factory manager to distribute them to the patrons. It is desired that the instructions in the bulletins be strictly followed, thus conducing to greater excellence in dairy-produce. The Association recommended that the steam turbine Babcock tester for milk be placed in every factory.
