

NEW CITY COUNCILLORS INSPECT FIRE EQUIPMENT

Two new members of the Charlottetown City Council enjoyed an impromptu tour of machinery and equipment at the fire hall last night. Councillor L. D. Johnston, Chief Engineer A. H. Frizel, Councillor John Morrison and Fire Chief H. H. Jewell inspect one of the department's pumper trucks. Mr. Johnston and Mr. Morrison had recently been appointed to the council fire committee. Chairman of the inspection was Dr. Douglas MacDonald.

Johnston, Morrison Elected As Storm Cuts Voting Numbers

SUMMERSIDE BUREAU OF THE GUARDIAN

A newcomer to civic affairs, and a veteran of five years' experience on the town council, recorded victories in the town's civic elections here yesterday.

Eric Johnston, 34, president and owner of Johnston's Ltd., a heating and sheet metal contracting business here, and J. Ernest Morrison, president of P.E.I. Concrete Products, will serve the next two years on the council.

Mr. Johnston, defeated incumbent Leo Wood by 60 votes to win the West Ward seat. Mr. Morrison, a councillor for three years and a mayor for two before being ousted by present Mayor W.E. Jenkins in the 1964 elections, defeated rookie Peter Pope, 31, by 103 votes in the contest for the Center Ward seat left vacant by Garnet Ross.

A snow storm which struck Prince County early Monday afternoon, increasing in intensity overnight and throughout most of the day and virtually paralyzing all traffic in the area, kept many of the voters away from the polls.

658 cast their ballots, leaving a total of 802 not voting. It was the same story at the Center Ward polling station with 477 out of a possible total of 781 eligible voters turning out.

Out of the 1,135 votes cast there were eight spoiled ballots, four in each polling station. The votes trickled in slowly throughout the day and at the Center Ward polling station three hours after it had opened its doors only 81 voters had cast their ballots.

Prior to Leo Wood's ouster yesterday he had represented the West Ward for eight years without a setback and also served as deputy-mayor on the 1964 council under present Mayor Jenkins.

Councillor-elect Johnston will now team with Coun. Frances Perry in representing the West Ward on the council.

POLLUTION PROBLEM
When interviewed after the election results had been announced last evening, Councillor-elect Johnston said "it was one of the biggest surprises I ever had in my life". Asked if he thought the blustery weather had anything to do with the way the election had gone, Johnston answered "I would have to think the storm was in my favor."

Asked if he was looking forward to his two years on the council he replied "not half as much as looking to clean up the harbor pollution problem".

MARVIN HACKETT Dies Suddenly
TIGNISH — The death of Marvin Hackett occurred suddenly yesterday afternoon at the home of Vernon McCarthy, Sea Cow Pond.

Owing to snow-blocked highways further details were not available last night. A snow plow was dispatched from Alberton about seven o'clock to open the road for Rooney's Ambulance and the RCMP.

About 45 years of age the deceased is a son of Mrs. Edward Hackett. Also surviving are three sisters and four brothers, Mrs. Edward Gavin (Viola) Tignish; Mrs. Atwood Gavin (Helen) Sea Cow Pond; Dorothy at home; Raymond, Marquis, and Clifford, Sea Cow Pond and Gerald in Halifax.

A description of activities of the Canadian Parliamentary Association in the province was given by Mr. Grindlay. He said a resolution was passed authorizing the association to present a message to the Legislature. He said it was hoped that the message

Money, Law And Marriage Discussed
ALBERTON — The course of preparation for marriage held in Alberton on Sunday night had as guests Mr. and Mrs. William Jay and Mr. and Mrs. George McMahon, Summerside.

Mr. Jay spoke on the role of money in marriage. Stressing its importance he prefaced his remarks by saying that problems arising from money are the greatest single cause of unhappiness in marriages. He developed the necessity of proper attitudes toward money. Other aspects treated were buying, consumer credit, budgeting and sales contracts.

Mr. McMahon, a practicing lawyer and crown prosecutor for Prince County, answered questions on the legal aspects of marriage and dealt with ownership and holding of property, making of wills and the financial security of the wife.

Next Sunday Rev. Clare Macdonald of Tignish will speak on ecclesiastical law and marriage.

Fight To Clear Roads Continues As Wind, Drifting Snow Persist

Prince Edward Island's latest storm, termed the worst of the season, is still making itself felt today with continuing high winds of up to 45 mph scattering the approximate eight inches of snow which fell during the past two days.

Charlottetown Radio Rang reported westerly winds of 25 miles per hour last night with gusts up to 45 causing continuous ground drifting. The low last night was expected to be two degrees below zero. Skies are expected to clear today with winds gusting to 40 miles per hour and diminishing to 15 miles per hour later in the day. Temperatures will be milder. City plows were working round the clock, but the government plows were called in as it was felt useless to keep them out when wind filled cuttings behind them and the trucks could not operate. However, all plows were to be back out at 5 a.m. this morning.

LITTLE DIFFICULTY

No particular difficulty was encountered by the MV Abegweit when she made her crossing from Tormentine last evening but the Borden train arrived in Charlottetown 45 minutes late.

Eastern Provincial Airways reported flights from Moncton and Halifax on schedule. Flights were halted yesterday but are expected to make their runs as usual today.

Maritime Electric and the Island Telephone Company did not experience any storm troubles.

Mail trucks did not make their runs yesterday. A lone mail truck en route to Summerside got as far as Albany and returned to Charlottetown aided by a plow.

SUMMERSIDE AREA

Summerside reported the highway to Borden opened early last evening. Drifting was heavy and visibility extremely poor. Motorists were advised to remain off highways. Plows went to Abraham's Village and Lot 16 but had to return due to low visibility and cuttings filled in as fast as plows plowed.

Night classes at the Prince County Vocational School were cancelled and a curling team travelling from Charlottetown to Summerside got stranded in Tryon at 10 a.m.

Winds decreased slightly during the day and at 8 p.m. were blowing from a northwesterly direction at 30 mph, gusting to 45.

The Cliff "Jiggs" MacDonald rink headed for the mixed curling championships finally arrived at 7:30; another Charlottetown team skipped by Bill Boyles was expected later in the night and the MacDonald rink of Montague and Gallant rink of Souris were expected to arrive in the early hours of the morning.

EASTERN SECTION
Montague reported three calls of a minor nature occurred Monday evening when a plow was called to Cardigan to allow a child from that area through to hospital. A plow was also dispatched to Pembroke to permit another child to be taken to hospital. Names of the two children were not available, however their conditions were not reported serious.

Montague reported weather to be clear and cold at 10 last evening with drifting in the country.

Denis Suspects Hal Dornan Showed Confidential Report

By DAVE McINTOSH

OTTAWA (CP) — Raymond Denis testified Tuesday he "suspected" Hal Dornan, executive officer and speech-writer for Prime Minister Pearson, gave away the contents of a confidential immigration department report on Harry Stonehill to Al Williamson, a Vancouver public relations man.

Denis said he was "quite sure" that Dornan had given the report to Williamson. He said he had seen Williamson at a hotel meeting attended by Denis, Dornan, Stonehill and Williamson. A second meeting of Dornan, Williamson and Denis had been arranged by Dornan about July 3.

Mr. Pearson has said Dornan acted with "perfect propriety" in the Stonehill case.

Denis said he suspected Dornan had disclosed to Williamson the contents of a preliminary departmental report opposing Stonehill's admittance to Canada as a permanent resident.

KNEW OF CONTENTS
He said Williamson, named in the British Columbia legislature as author of a letter purporting to bear the signature of Premier W. A. C. Bennett, was "very, very well aware" of the contents of the confidential report.

Williamson had told him he hadn't seen Senator Gelinas, the only other person to whom Denis had divulged the report.

The former executive assistant to the immigration minister told the Dornan inquiry that he gave the contents of the report — based on a police investigation into Stonehill — to Dornan and Senator Louis P. Gelinas, treasurer of the Liberal party in Quebec. Such action was "quite normal and done all the time."

Stonehill, an American millionaire, has been ordered to leave Canada and faces fraud charges in the United States.

Denis said Dornan came to him last year and asked him to look up the Stonehill file. They had gone over it together.

Later, Dornan had arranged a hotel meeting attended by Denis, Dornan, Stonehill and Williamson. A second meeting of Dornan, Williamson and Denis had been arranged by Dornan about July 3.

Mr. Pearson has said Dornan acted with "perfect propriety" in the Stonehill case.

Denis said he suspected Dornan had disclosed to Williamson the contents of a preliminary departmental report opposing Stonehill's admittance to Canada as a permanent resident.

TV Officials Defend CBS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Top officials of two rival television networks defended Tuesday the purchase of New York Yankee by the Columbia Broadcasting System.

Both Thomas W. Moore, president of the American Broadcasting Company and Julian Goodman, a vice president of the National Broadcasting Company gave much the same answers at a Senate anti-trust and monopoly subcommittee hearing.

Grathey said that was an unworthy and unnecessary personal remark and "if the lady can't act like a lady, perhaps her parliamentary secretary (John Munro) can take her place."

Miss LaMarsh said that anyone who can't qualify under the contributory pension plan because he earns less than $600 a year will on retirement receive the standard old age pension of $75 a month, or $900 a year. This is 50 per cent more than his annual income, she added.

S.J. Enns (PC-Portage-Neepawa) said the Canada Pension plan is misnamed because it does not cover all Canadians, only those who earn enough to contribute to it.

It is inequitable, he added, because a person retired after only 10 years at the maximum rate of contribution will have put in $800 but will receive $1,040 a year.

O. W. Wetzel (PC-Waterloo North) said the pension plan also is inequitable because it will give a windfall to those retiring 10 years from now, while many of those retiring now will receive little or no benefit.

Mentioning the report of the Royal Commission on Higher Education, Mr. Driscoll said he hoped government deliberations on changes that may come in the province's education system will "not be influenced by political expediency or religious tradition."

families of four living on less than $4,000 a year.

The Canada Pension Plan, he said, will make the semi-affluent affluent, and the rich richer, but "completely forgets the poor." One-fifth of Canadians live on fixed incomes and actually become poorer as the gross national product rises, while the other four-fifths have incomes geared to production and prices.

Mr. Grathey said there were many people in his riding living on low incomes. He asked what proportion of them would be covered by the Canada Pension Plan.

ALMOST ALL COVERED
Health Minister Judy LaMarsh, piloting the bill, said that everyone on salaries or wages of $600 a year or more — or $800 a year if self-employed — would be covered.

She said she realized many in Brome-Missisquoi did not have "what the honorable member has a pool in his yard." Mr.

was closed all day yesterday and the Georgetown-Montague bus did not run. A CNR wing now arrived in Georgetown late Monday night and two government snow plows arrived Tuesday morning and cleared streets so the funeral of John Howard MacDonald could be held.

Work was cut to a minimum at both Bathurst Marine Limited and construction of the Gulf Garden Food Plant as workmen from outside the town were unable to report for work as well as resident workers. A government plow arrived in Georgetown at 7 a.m. Tuesday and one or more cars followed it back to Charlottetown. Western Prince County and O'Leary reported all traffic at a stand still. Tignish and Alberton Regional High Schools were closed Monday along with most elementary schools. Plows were called back Monday afternoon owing to continued heavy drifting and poor visibility. Work of clearing roads was resumed this morning.

In Souris schools were closed and bus and train traffic was halted. Schools were also closed in Charlottetown yesterday, except for St. Dunstan's University which is in the midst of exams.
