Bankers' Grievances Are Aired At Hearing

By DON HANRIGHT

OTTAWA (CP) — Central bankers the world over feel they are being saddled with too heavy a load in the battle against inflation while getting little or no help from governments, Lord Cobbold said here.

The ex-governor of the Bank of England expressed this grievance to the royal commission on banking and finance as he underlined the need for constant interlocking of monetary and government fiscal policies.

Avoiding specific reference to any country, Lord Cobbold said monetary and fiscal policies—the taxing, spending and borrowing actions at all levels of government—must be complementary, or at least not contradictory. Too often they were at odds.

It makes no sense to drive along a highway with one foot on the accelerator and the other on the brake, he said. Yet that was what happened when monetary policy is restrictive and fiscal policy expansionist.

Lord Cobbold, who retired as Britain's chief central banker last year and is due to become lord chamberlain Jan. 1 next, was the first witness to appear as the commission renewed its public hearings for a three-week run.

STUDY CAPITAL MARKET

Headed by Chief Justice Dana Porter of Ontario, the commission has been asked to study the entire Canadian capital market in time for Parliament's 1964 decennial review of Canadian banking legislation.

The commission will hold another three weeks of hearings in October and then adjourn until early January, when it will hear Louis Rasminsky, governor of the Bank of Canada, officials of the Canadian Bankers' Association and the finance department.

Lord Cobbold, emphasizing he was speaking only from his British experience up to mid-1961 and declining to comment on Canadian affairs — in fact, refusing a commissioner's invitation to do so at one point —made these among other remarks:

Governments should have the "final word" on monetary policy and be responsible for it. But the central bank still must be kept separate, capable of forming its own views and offering independent advice without concerning itself with political or parliamentary questions.

HAVE NO CONTROLS

One of the greatest unsolved problems in central banking was that of the "near banks"—institutions which accept deposits and make loans like banks, yet are not classed as banks and so do not come under direct credit controls.

The answer may lie in legislation to bring the near banks under the central bank "umbrella."

Russia Charges U.S. Threatens Astronaut Lives

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — The Soviet Union has accused the United States of threatening the security and lives of astronauts by the U.S. high altitude nuclear tests over the Pacific.

Platon D. Morozov, the Soviet delegate, delivered the accusation at the opening session here of the 28-nation UN committee on peaceful uses of outer space.

The meeting was marked also by a procedural debate between the United States and the Soviet Union. Delegates met to draft a report to the General Assembly opening next Tuesday on work by the committee's experts on scientific and legal aspects of outer space prepared in Geneva during the summer.

Morozov opened the meeting with a demand that the order of business be changed to permit immediate debate on the report of the legal experts on which no agreement was reached in Geneva.

U.S. delegate Francis T. P. Plimpton said it would be better to take up first scientific and technical reports on which agreement was reached.

British Tailors Criticize Leaders For Dress Habits

LONDON (AP) — Tailor and Cutter—the mouthpiece of British tailors—calls U.S. President Kennedy a sartorial isolationist.

The trade magazine takes the chief executive to task for deciding not to buy any more British suits.

"He now offsets his international responsibilities with a sartorial philosophy which is strictly local boy and isolationist," it says.

The article calls Soviet Premier Khrushchev's appearance baggy and saggy.

And it says Konrad Adenauer "would be wise to break away from the traditional tails and morning coats which inevitably remind the world of Germany's international behavior during the last 60 or 70 years."

U.S. To Resume Bomb Testing

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Atomic Energy Commission has announced the United States will resume its nuclear test-series in the atmosphere over the Pacific sometime after Sept. 22.

The announcement came in an AEC - defence department statement saying the restricted area around the Johnston Island test site would be re-established effective Sept. 22.

There was no word from the commission on exactly when tests would be resumed.

But the AEC said "the tests will include a few high-altitude events and a few in which the devices will be dropped from an airplane."

3 Reporters Are Missing On Cuba Trip

HAVANA (AP)—Three reporters representing Western press organizations failed to return home Monday and there were fears they may have been picked up by Cuban security officials.

Missing were John Bland of Reuters; Raul Casanas, a New York Times representative in Cuba, and Casanas' wife, Sarita Valdes, who works for the National Broadcasting Company.

They left Sunday morning for a brief motor trip to the outskirts of Havana. Bland, a British citizen, left word they would be back for lunch. They had not returned to their homes Monday morning.

Some concern also was expressed for John Barnes, a British citizen who works for Newsweek magazine. Barnes has not been seen for three days. He planned a trip to central Cuba but was not seen leaving Havana. The British embassy said it is investigating.

Brothers Learn Must Serve Term

TORONTO (CP)—Twin brothers Ben and Harry Smith, whose trial on stock theft charges was the longest criminal jury trial on record in Ontario, have learned they must serve the sentences imposed on them in 1960.

The brothers, 48-year-old lumbermen, were taken into custody as soon as the Ontario Court of Appeal announced its decision. They had been free on bail of $50,000 each since assize court judge Mr. Justice G. A. Gale sentenced them to two years less a day each following a 2½-month hearing.

They are expected to appeal again.

JEWELS STOLEN

SOUTHAMPTON, N.Y. (AP) thieves struck twice this weekend at homes on Suffolk County's fashionable south shore and made off with more than $80,000 in jewels and cash. The "millionaire's row" estate of Mr. and Mrs. Francesco Zara in Southampton was burglarized of an estimated $73,000 in jewelry and $150 in cash and in West Babylon burglars removed a two-foot square safe containing $7,000 in cash from the bedroom of Vincent Zito.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1♠	Pass	1♠	Pass
3NT	Pass	3NT

Opening lead—five of hearts.

This hand was played in a team of four match.

At the first table, the bidding went as shown. West led a heart. East winning with the king. East returned a heart, taken with the queen, and West then led a third heart, forcing out the ace.

Declarer next cashed the A-K of clubs, dropping the queen, and then led a spade and finessed the nine when West played low. East took the queen and returned a diamond.

South went up with the ace and took another spade finesse, which succeeded. When he then cashed the ace of spades and caught the king, he was able to claim the rest and wound up making four notrump.

At the second table, the same contract was reached on identical bidding. Here, also, three rounds of hearts were followed by the A-K of clubs and a spade play by South.

At this point came a parting of the ways. West put up the king of spades, taken with the ace. South now had a difficult problem as to how to continue. If he had led another spade, he would have made ten tricks, just as at the first table.

But South was afraid that the reason West had played the king on spades became he had the K-Q originally. If this was the case, thought South, leading another spade would be fatal, since West would take the queen and cash his hearts to defeat the contract.

So South decided to pin his hopes instead on East's having the diamond king. When he led a diamond and finessed the queen, West took the king, cashed two hearts, and then returned a spade to defeat the hand two tricks.

We offer no opinion on the merits of South's choice of plays, but we do have to credit West for his imaginative defense. He had nothing to lose by the king play, since the king was dead if South had the queen, but his play had the advantage of creating a position where the declarer had a chance to go wrong.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.
