

Drunk Dead!

[A man named Robertson, who was arrested in Chelsea recently, charged with being drunk and disorderly, was found dead in a cell at Westminster from the effects of drink.]

"Dead drunk, we fear," the gazers said, as on that prostrate form they look; "This worse; and in the record book They have to write this note, "Drunk dead."

Alas! for those who, so misled, Refuse of higher life to think, And, finding happiness (?) in drink, Earn but this epitaph, "Drunk dead."

God give us grace, with heart and head To fight the foe of drunkenness, And through all English land repress That ghastly verdict "Found drunk dead."

Saved By Her Wit

HOW A WOMAN OUTWITTED A BURGALAR AND CAUSED HIS CAPTURE.

A striking instance of woman's courage and presence of mind occurred in Philadelphia recently. A lady residing in that city retired to her room as usual the other night, after having locked the front door of the house and placed the key on the bureau in her bedroom, as was her invariable custom.

She was standing before a mirror preparing for bed, when she saw reflected in it the form of a man crouching under the bed. She was alone in the house, and was naturally terribly startled, but her presence of mind did not desert her. She reasoned that if she cried out or gave the slightest sign that she was aware of the intruder's presence in the house he would overpower her before help could come, and with a wonderful self-control she went quietly on with her toilet, giving no outward indication of the terrible mental torture she was suffering.

The door key on the bureau suggested an idea to her. She picked it up and walked over to the window, which was open, and without showing any signs of alarm sat there looking out until help should arrive. Fortunately she did not have long to wait, or she could not have endured the strain. A policeman walked slowly by the house, and without attracting the attention of the man under the bed she dropped the key directly in front of him, and signed to him to unlock the door and come up.

He did so, and pulled a burly and brutal looking negro from under the bed. It was not until he had been taken away and all danger was over that the reaction came, but the tremendous and long-continued strain on her nervous system proved too much for her, and she was completely prostrated by her adventure.

The Best Time for a Girl to Marry.

Probably the best time for the average civilized woman to marry would be any age between 24 and 36. It is not said that no woman should marry earlier or later than either of these ages; but youth and health and vigor are ordinarily at their highest perfection between these two periods. Very early marriages are seldom desirable for girls, and that for many reasons. The brain is immature, the reason is feeble, and the character is unformed. The considerations which would prompt a girl to marry at 17 would in many cases have very little weight with her at 24. At 17 she is a child, at 24 a woman. Where a girl has intelligent parents, the seven years between 17 and 24 are the period when both mind and body are most amenable to wise discipline, and best repay the thought and toil devoted to their development. Before 17 few girls have learnt to understand what life is, what discipline is, what duty is. They cannot value what is best, either in the father's wisdom or in the mother's tenderness. When married at that childish period they are like young recruits taken fresh from the farm and the workshop, and hurried off to a long campaign without any period of preliminary drill and training; or like a schoolboy removed from school to a curacy without being sent to the university or to a theological hall. Who can help grieving over a child-wife, especially if she have children, and a husband who is an inexperienced, and, possibly, exacting boy-man? The ardor of his love soon cools; the visionary bliss of her poetical imagination vanishes like the summer mist; there is nothing left but disappointment and wonder that what promised to be so beautiful and long a day should have clouded over almost before sunrise.—Hospital.

A Skeleton Found.

Thirty-five years ago Thos. Gorman, foreman of the late Nicholas Sparks, lumberman, Ottawa, received a large sum of money with which to pay hands, and disappeared mysteriously, without getting into the house of one Matthew Collins, a carpenter, and about a year after the disappearance of Gorman, Collins sold his property and left for the United States. Three Collins was sentenced to several years in the penitentiary, but before his term of imprisonment expired he died, first confessing that he had murdered a man in Canada for his money. These facts are recalled by the turning up of a large hearth stone by a farmer's plough on the site of Collins' residence in the township March and the finding of a skeleton beneath it. The belief is that Gorman met his death at the hands of Collins and that this is his skeleton.

Odds and Ends.

It appears from the society columns of a St. Louis morning paper that "a popular young lady" is going to "visit her kins-lady."

An idea of the hardness of the times in Persia may be gained from the fact that men who had a dozen wives have had to reduce the number of three or four.

$500 REWARD is offered by the manufacturer of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, for a case of Chronic Nasal Catarrh which they cannot cure. SYMPTOMS OF CATARRH.—Dull, heavy headache, obstruction of the nasal passages, discharges falling from the head into the throat, sometimes profuse, watery, and acrid at others, thick, tenacious, mucous, purulent, bloody and putrid; the eyes are weak, watery, and inflamed; there is ringing in the ears, deafness, and a hoarse, husky voice; the throat, expectation of offensive matter, together with scabs from ulcers; the breath is offensive; smell and taste are impaired; there is a sensation of dizziness, with mental depression, a hacking cough and general debility. Only a few of the above-named symptoms are likely to be present in any case. Thousands of cases annually, without manifesting half of the above symptoms, result in consumption, and end in the grave. No disease is so common, more deceptive and dangerous, or less understood by physicians. By its mild, soothing, and healing properties, Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy cures the worst cases of Catarrh, "cold in the head," Coryza, and Catarrhal Headache. Sold by druggists everywhere; 50 cents. "Untold Agony," from Catarrh. Prof. W. HAUSNER, the famous member of Rhode, N. Y., writes: "Some ten years ago I suffered untold agony from chronic nasal catarrh. My family physician gave me up as incurable, and said I must die. My case was such a bad one, that every day, towards sunset, my voice would become so hoarse, I could scarcely speak above a whisper. In the morning my coughing and clearing of my throat would almost strangle me. By the use of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, in three months, I was a well man, and the cure has been permanent." "Constantly Hawking and Spitting." THOMAS J. BRIDGING, Esq., 200 Pine Street, St. Louis, Mo., writes: "I was a great sufferer from catarrh for three years. At times I could hardly breathe, and was constantly hawking and spitting, and for the last eight months I could not breathe through the nose. I had thought nothing could be done for me. I bought a bottle for her, and soon saw that it would be the only sure remedy for my case. I was advised to try Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, and I am now a well man. I have never had a return of the disease, and I feel it to be the only sure remedy for my case. I would be fair to let you experience astounding results and a permanent cure." Three Bottles Cure Catarrh. ELI ROBBINS, Rungin P. O., Columbia Co., Pa., says: "My daughter had catarrh of the nose for several years. I procured a bottle of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, and she was five years old, very delicate, and procured a bottle for her, and soon saw that it would be the only sure remedy for my case. I was advised to try Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, and I am now a well man. I have never had a return of the disease, and I feel it to be the only sure remedy for my case. I would be fair to let you experience astounding results and a permanent cure." Sold by druggists everywhere; 50 cents.
