THE DAILY EXAMINER.

MAY 8, 1880.

VERY important if true is the account given by the Halifax "Herald" of the results of the latest borings for oil at Lake Ainslee, Cape Breton. Oil of the best quality has, it is said, been struck, and it is held that the signs indicate an abundant supply. It really appears, as we have often pointed out, that that strangely neglected Island, Cape Breton, has marvellously rich natural resources.

FIRE IN BOSTON.—A fire in Beebe's block, Otis street, on the 16th, caused the following losses: Whitten, Burdett & Young, wholesale clothiers, estimated $275,000—insurance $400,000. Charles Lord, a manufacturer of cloth, insured partly. Damage to building, $8,000. Simons, Hatch and Whitten, gent's furnishing good, had a stock valued at $2,000,000, half of which was probably injured by water. The total loss is roughly figured at $375,900.

It is currently reported that the Rev. Jas. Christie, of this town, and Mr. John Ross, formerly publisher and proprietor of "Ross's Weekly," Charlottetown, P. E. Island, purpose issuing at Truro, early in July next, a fortnightly journal, entitled "The Illuminator," at $1 per annum, setting forth the claims of the British nation to be the Lost Tribes of Israel. Mr. Christie's standing as a scholar and reputation as a lecturer, with Mr. Ross's long experience as a publisher, furnishes a guarantee that the publication will be one of merit, deserving the support of all whose sympathies are in favor of this great question. They have our best wishes for success in their undertaking, and the hope that it may be as remunerative as they can desire.—Truro Sun.

FIRST ARRIVAL OF THE SEASON.—On Sunday afternoon the iron steamer "Lady Bertha," Prescott, Master, arrived here from Swansea. Owing to a large field of ice which completely blocked the mouth of the harbor, the "Lady Bertha" was obliged to remain some time outside before she made an effort to get in the harbor. After laboring one day in the ice she made the harbor, and was moored safely at the Railway Wharf at half past six in the evening. A large number of citizens assembled on the wharf to witness the arrival of the first foreign vessel in a P. E. Island port this year. The Captain reports that he had a very rough passage out, and encountered very large fields of ice. He was forty eight hours in one of those ice fields off the Banks of Newfoundland. He got clear of this ice field only sustaining the injury of starting a piece of plating close to the bow. The "Lady Bertha," notwithstanding the rough passage out, was only 14 days from Swansea. She left two days after the steamship "Prince Edward," and this vessel has not yet arrived. The "Lady Bertha's" cargo consisted of 50 tons patent fuel and general merchandise. She carries about 1,000 tons, is owned by Richards, Power & Co., Swansea, and will be loaded at this port with potatoes for the old country, by Hon. William Richards, of Bedford.—S. J.

The Birch Tree.

BY VICH DROMNUL NAN ORD.

I. Where the Hills of the North, rising high o'er the vale,
Are torn by the Tempest, and swept by the gale,
Small time have the flowerets of summer to grow,
Ere winter returns, with its mantle of snow.

II. While sturdy old oaks from the contest retire,
The pine trees, more hardy, climb fearlessly higher;
But the Tempest contending is conqueror still,
And leaves the sweet Birch Tree alone on the Hill.

III. Imbedded in Moss, not a span from the ground,
This hardy vidette of the forest is found;
And bold is the footstep that daringly wends
To explore the wild bounds where its Empire extends.

IV. The Birch Tree not only is lovely and gay
When summer's green garb clothes its feathery spray;
But jewels of ice, when its verdure is lost,
Adorn it with all the bright splendor of frost.

V. From the hills of the north, to the vale let us fly;
From the heart-chilling mist to a warm southern sky!
Through gardens of roses in vain we may search
For a perfume more sweet than the scent of the Birch.

VI. If the oak in his grandeur be King of the scene,
The elegant Birch is its Lady and Queen!
Let her mantle of silver enliven the glade,
And the spirit of Claude may repose in it's shade.

OTTAWA, May 5.

Many of the members, including both Blake and Mackenzie, have left for home. The Senate have thrown out Boulton's amendment to the Canada Temperance Act.

Mr. Colby called attention to the attitude of the United States about the Panama Canal, and spoke forcibly against the position assumed by the Republic respecting that matter. He called attention to the Clayton Bulwer Treaty, and the remarkable contradiction of that Treaty in the recent Presidential utterances.

Sir John said he thought the United States, having several railways across the Continent, did not really desire the construction of the Canal. Canada had a large interest in the Canal. Supposing the Munroe doctrine was admitted as international law, it would not affect Canada, as the Queen was as much an American power as the United States. He believed the final result would be an open channel, open to all nations under the international guarantee.

Mr. Pope made a personal explanation respecting a petition from Prince Edward Island. He explained that it had no significance except to show that the Government was stronger there than ever.

TORONTO, May 6.
Hon. George Brown is still conscious, but continues very low. His physicians continue extremely doubtful of his recovery.

ST. JOHN, N. B., May 6.
Robert Campbell, of Penfield, while laboring under a temporary fit of insanity, a few days ago, committed suicide by cutting his throat.

PARIS, May 6.
A London correspondent says, at his first official reception, Earl Granville, Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, declared that the new British Cabinet frankly adopts the maintenance of the Treaty of Berlin, and that it will enter no continental alliance. It will continue the present cordial relations with France; will support the Greeks even beyond the demands urged by the French Cabinet; and will endeavor to maintain the existing harmony in Anglo-French control in Egypt.

LONDON, May 6.
Sir Chas. Dilke, the newly appointed Under Secretary for Foreign Affairs, has permitted himself to be interviewed by a correspondent of a French paper and his utterances create much surprise and no little indignation here. Speaking of the Foreign policy of the Liberals, Sir Charles treated grave subjects with considerable frankness. He said we have succeeded to the political estate of Lord Beaconsfield, and we have made an inventory of the importance of carrying out the policy bequeathed to us. We are compelled to make some reservations. The Afghan question puzzles us a good deal, and it is to be hoped that it will be settled in accordance with our own interests. There is the Zulu King Cetewayo, he would like to be released, but it is out of our power. We may grant the Boers the privilege of semi-independence and thus dispose of the African problem.

Correspondent.—How about the Eastern question, will you cease to uphold the interest of Turkey if she fails to carry out the reforms which she has so repeatedly promised?

Sir Charles Dilke.—Depend upon it that Turkey shall carry out these reforms. We will compel her to execute all claims of the Treaty of Berlin even in spite of Prince Bismarck.

Correspondent.—But then your foreign policy will be precisely the same as that of Lord Salisbury?

Sir Charles Dilke.—Exactly, you have said it. Those who fancy that we mean to pursue a feeble policy abroad, are very much mistaken. We shall not hold aloof from European politics; our voice shall be heard and shall command respect in the Council of nations; we will be careful, however, to raise it only in behalf of liberty, and will promote the welfare of all alike, in concert with Republican France and free Italy. We shall endeavor to cut the gordian knot of the Eastern question, by establishing a confederation of free States between the Danube and the Adriatic and Grecian Seas.

Correspondent.—Then you are opposed to encroachments of great powers?

Sir Chas.—Decidedly; we shall not tolerate encroachments of either Austria or Russia. Neither Bosnia nor Herzegovina must belong to Austria, Turkey or Russia. They must be free, self-governing powers. Our programme is unrelenting hostility against oppression of every kind. As for the power of Russia, let me tell you one thing, it would be far easier for us to raise Central Asia against Russia than for her to array India against us. If slaves are barbarians, whose fault is it, if not that of the foreign office at St. Petersburg? (A hit at Russia.) The Russian foreign ministry is a department in which Germany is principally spoken of and in which the foreign policy for the last forty years has been mostly manipulated by two Prussians and one Swiss. They are Messrs. Westman and Hamberg and Baron Jomaine. We detest the powers which oppressed Poland, and handed Hungary over to Austria. However, we hold in high esteem the young Russian party which at Prague and Moscow has resuscitated the patriotism and generosity of the Slavonic race.
