

lecture recently, called it the "pearl of the northern seas." He trusted that this would be the last time that Prince Edward Island would be unrepresented in exhibitions at Ottawa. He then spoke of the English farmers' delegation, which was now visiting the Dominion Exhibition. They represent a most desirable class of intending emigrants, and what report could they give to those emigrants regarding this Province when they would find its space a blank at the Dominion Exhibition. Referring to our crops, he said that he believed this autumn we would have good market for our cereals and vegetables in the markets of Great Britain and other European countries. He spoke of the crops of the greater portion of Europe being a failure, and concluded by saying that Providence, in His kindness, has blessed us with good crops of every kind of produce, and we ought to be thankful for the blessings which He showered on us. He again thanked them for their complimentary address.

Three cheers were then given for Lieut. Governor Haviland, and three more for King's County.

INSPECTION OF EXHIBITS.

At the conclusion of the Lieut. Governor's reply, a tour of inspection was made of the exhibition. Not the least noticeable, was the exhibit of LADIES' WORK.

Here textile fabrics of wool, in grey and black full-dressed cloth, fancy shirting, twilled flannels (various descriptions), wool carpeting, ladies' shawls, house rugs, blankets, counterpanes, door mats, etc., were shown in great variety. One counterpane exhibited, contained three thousand four hundred and thirty-five pieces, without border. It was a magnificent piece of work and its maker deserves great praise for industry, skill and perseverance. The flannels were superior, while the fancy shirting was much admired. Carpeting and druggery was also an important part of the industrious ladies' exhibit. The display of knit goods was large and the competition very brisk. We were pleased to notice many excellent samples of linen towels, which were in our opinion superior to any at present imported. The exhibit of fancy work and painting was not so large as we would wish, although some well executed pieces of needle work were to be seen.

MECHANICS' DISPLAY.

The mechanics' display, in every branch, was small. The carriages exhibited were every one from the same factory. But one sleigh stood by, in order, as it were, to keep up appearances. They were elaborately painted; the woodwork was neatly finished, and they were all apparently quite substantial. We were sorry to see such a lack in the exhibition of farming implements. But five specimens of this branch of local industry were to be seen. They did not appear attractive, although they were critically examined by a large number of inquisitive farmers. The exhibit of boots, shoes, harness and leather, was also small. The harness presented a neat, stylish appearance, and the leather which was manufactured by Mr. Cogswell, was a very superior article. It would compare very favorably with any manufactured in the Province.

ROOTS, VEGETABLES AND FRUIT.

We were surprised to find this branch of the Exhibition to be one of its leading features. Seldom did we see competition so keen in roots, vegetables and fruit, as yesterday. The onions, beets, parsnips and carrots, exhibited were of extraordinary size. Mr. John Hamilton of New Perth, exhibited a splendid selection of horticulture which did not fail to take a prize. The competition in potatoes was also very sharp. Better samples than those exhibited yesterday, are seldom to be seen in any country.

CEREALS.

The competition in cereals was not very brisk. The samples exhibited were few, and some of them were not of the best quality. The prize oats, wheat, and barley, however, were excellent.

HORSES, CATTLE, SHEEP AND PIGS.

The cattle show was held on the spacious square in the centre of the town. It is said to be the best show of horse flesh ever held in Georgetown. The draft horses were very superior animals; and the carriage-horses, on an average, were very good. Many fine bulls were exhibited. The show of milch cows was poor. Farmers say that the premiums were so small that they would not trouble to bring their cows to the exhibition. The exhibit of calves, sheep and pigs were creditable.

BRICK.

Among the miscellaneous articles on exhibition were a number of pressed brick, manufactured at the Parish brick yard, St. Peter's. They are very clean and well made. We are informed that the brick made at the Parish brick yard are equal to any imported into the Province.

STOCK SOLD.

The following stock, belonging to the Stock Farm, were sold at auction at King's County Exhibition:—
