A "Growlery." "Please don't go in there. That's the growlery, and it's occupied." It was a young West Philadelphia matron who made the remark as she was showing a friend through her new home. "The growlery!" repeated the other. "What's that? Not where you rush the growler, I hope?" This was said in a jocular spirit, and the visitor was rather staggered by the reply. "That's it exactly; where we rush the growler, although perhaps not in the way you fancy. You see, my husband is an occasional sufferer from indigestion, which doesn't improve his temper, and there are also times when my own temper—I tell you this in confidence—is not of the best. Well, when we moved out here and had more rooms in the house than we actually needed I hit upon the plan of setting aside one as a place of solitary retirement, where we could go and be alone when either of us felt our temper getting the best of us. I have called it the growlery because we can lock ourselves in there and growl to our hearts' content until we have quite recovered. We both avail ourselves of it, and I think it's a very good idea. George is in there now, and I wouldn't disturb him for the world."—Philadelphia Record.

Frances Willard's Empty Purse. It was characteristic of the late Frances Willard that she never had any money. Miss Gordon attended to her finances, and it was found on the whole best to leave Miss Willard's purse empty, because if she started out in the morning with a full pocket-book she came back penniless in the evening. One night she told in her inevitable way of having gone to Chicago and reached Rest Cottage again on the capital of a postage stamp. At the station she turned her pockets out, but not a bit of change was to be found. She had forgotten all about it. "What am I to do about it?" she asked the agent perplexedly. "Anna is out, I think, and I haven't a cent of money." "I'll give you a ticket, Miss Willard," said the clerk. "When I got into the bus I remembered again," she said, "and told the driver, 'I think I'll have to walk, for I haven't any money.'" "Oh, that's all right, Miss Willard," said the driver. And so all day, greatly to her amusement, she went on getting in debt to the railroads, cabmen and restaurants.—Chicago Inter Ocean.

A MATTER OF DUTY.

Wm. A. Brown, of Boiestown. Recommends Dodd's Kidney Pills for Sciatica.

He Himself was Cured by the Agency of Dodd's Kidney Pills—Less Than Three Boxes—Thinks They are a Wonderful Remedy.

BOIESTOWN, M. B., Jan. 8.—Sciatica is one of the severest forms of Rheumatism. It is the name applied to Rheumatism when that disease occurs in the thigh. It is exceedingly painful, completely disabling the victim, often laying him up for weeks. Like all forms of Rheumatism, Sciatica is cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills. Sciatica is a kidney disease—that is the result of kidney disease. Uric acid is the cause of all forms of Rheumatism, and Sciatica is no exception.

The responsibility for uric acid being in the system, rests directly on the kidneys. Their work is to strain all impurities and harmful acids out of the system. If they don't do this, they themselves are unheathy, and the rest of the body soon suffers from unfiltered state of the blood.

In like manner, many other diseases are caused, including Heart Disease, Lumbago, Gout, Dropsy, Bladder and Urinary complaints, Women's Weakness and Blood disorders. Dodd's Kidney Pills cure all these by restoring perfect health to the kidneys. They cure those dreadful local Kidney Disease, Bright's Disease and Diabetes, which, remember, were not so long ago considered absolutely incurable.

As regards Sciatica, Mr. William A. Brown, of Boiestown, Northumberland Co., N. B., says: "Having used Dodd's Kidney Pills for Sciatica, I feel it my duty to let the public know how they affected me.

"I had sciatica so bad in my back and hip that at times I could not walk without suffering awful agony. Pain would shoot through my back with a sensation similar to running a knife through it. I began taking Dodd's Kidney Pills and before I was done using the first box the pains had nearly all left me. When done with the third box I was completely cured and have had no return of the trouble since. I think Dodd's Kidney Pills are a wonderful remedy and have recommended them to a number of other sufferers and have yet to hear of their failure to give relief, where used according to directions.

A Delusion and a Snare.

"Friends? I should say so. Never suspected that I had so many. Have to let them in one door and out the other. Best lot of fellows you ever saw. Give 'em a big stag party tonight." Then the misguided youth sat down and drew a check against the generous legacy he had received within the month and resented an insinuation that his finish was visible.—Detroit Free Press.

He Did; a Cat.

In a rural community in one of the middle states dwelt a man who made a vow in 1856 that he would wear his hair and beard untrimmed until John C. Fremont should be elected president of the United States.

He kept that vow for 40 years, at the end of which time he had nearly a half bushel of hair on his head and face. Then, coming to the conclusion, toward which his mind had been gradually working for a long time, that General Fremont's death in the interval had practically absolved him from his vow, he decided to have his hair cut and his beard shaved off clean. On his next visit to the county seat he went to a barber shop and was soon relieved of the hirsute burden he had carried for four decades.

"How much?" he asked. "Have to charge you half a dollar for that job," said the barber, looking at the mass that lay on the floor. "Half a dollar?" he gasped. "Don't I get anything for the hair?"—Youth's Companion.

"He did?" "Dat what he done! En he say, 'W'en yo' sells yo' cotton, tek yo' money en dig a hole in de ground en bury it.'" "En yo' done lak he say?" "I did, fer sho'! En what yo' reckon? Br'er Williams gone ter bed dat night, en, please God, he see money in his dream, en whilst he wuz in a trance en walkin in his sleep de spirit whar dat money wuz, en 'fo' he knowed it he had done digged it up en lef' de state wid it!"—Atlanta Constitution.

When Henry Irving Was Hissed.

"I was hissed every night for a week when I was playing the provinces about 35 years ago," said Henry Irving to a writer in Ainslee's. "I was given an engagement as leading man in a very small theater, and before I made my bow to the audience I learned that the man whose place I had taken was very popular in the vicinity and that the people strongly disapproved of the way in which the management had forced him to retire, so that when I made my appearance the audience showed their disapproval of the manager by strongly hissing the successor to their favorite, and they kept it up for a week. It was a very unhappy week for me."

FRIED ONIONS.

Indirectly Caused the Death of the World's Greatest General.

It is a matter of history that Napoleon was a gourmand, an inordinate lover of the good things of the table, and history further records that his favorite dish was fried onions; his death from cancer of stomach it is claimed also was probably caused from excessive indulgence of this fondness for the odoriferous vegetable.

The onion is undoubtedly a wholesome article of food, in fact has many medicinal qualities of value, but it would be difficult to find a more indigestible article than fried onions, and to many people they are simply poison, but the onion does not stand alone in this respect. Any article of food that is not thoroughly digested becomes a source of disease and discomfort whether it be fried onions or beef steak.

The reason why any wholesome food is not properly digested is because the stomach lacks some important element of digestion, some stomachs lack pepsone, others are deficient in gastric juice, still others lack Hydro chloric acid.

The only thing necessary to do in any case of poor digestion is to supply those elements of digestion which the stomach lacks, and nothing does this so thoroughly and safely as Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Dr. Richardson in writing a thesis on treatment of dyspepsia and indigestion, closes his remarks by saying: "for those suffering from acid dyspepsia, shown by sour, watery risings, or flatulent dyspepsia shown by gas on stomach, causing heart trouble and difficult breathing, as well as for all other forms of stomach trouble, the safest treatment is to take one or two of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after each meal. I advise them because they contain no harmful drugs, but are composed of valuable digestives, which act promptly upon the food eaten. I never knew a case of indigestion or even chronic dyspepsia which Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets would not reach."

Cheap cathartic medicines claiming to cure dyspepsia and indigestion can have no effect whatever in actively digesting the food and to sell any cathartic medicine a cure for indigestion is a misnomer.

Every druggist in the United States and Canada sells Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and they are not only the safest and most successful but the most scientific of any treatment for indigestion and stomach troubles.
