U. K. Scouter Has High Praise For N. B. Gilwell Camp

SAINT JOHN, July 27—Praise for the Scouting ability of leaders at the Maritime Gilwell Camp at Hammond River was expressed here Wednesday by John Thurman, chief of staff at Gilwell Park, England, who is visiting the campsite in company with Major-General D. C. Spry, Ottawa, chief executive commissioner of the Boy Scouts in Canada.

Mr. Thurman, who has already visited Gilwell camps in various parts of the world, said "I am very pleased with what I am seeing here. The quality of the men taking the course is very high."

The normal pattern of the Gilwell course is the same throughout the world, Mr. Thurman said, and has two objects: To train potential Scoutmasters, through a system of applying basic Scouting skills by practical experience in the field and to provide the unifying influence for Scouting throughout the world.

Included among the staff of the camp is Gordon Kerr, Charlottetown, Executive Commissioner for P.E.I. Other Islanders attending are Doug Hardy, O'Leary, and Eric Tanton, Summerside.

Shrinking of deep cancers with 20,000-volt X-rays was described by Dr. Roger Harvey, University of Illinois. These rays come from a betatron, a doughnut shaped atom-smashing machine.

In 190 patients treated since last October, the cancers have shrunk each time, and some are still shrinking, Dr. Trump said. These include cancers of the head, neck, breast, lung and pelvic organs.

Some good results against cancers of the bladder, lung and brain—all difficult spots to hit with X-rays—by using betatron X-rays were reported by Drs. T. A. Watson and C. C. Burckell of the University of Saskatchewan, Saskatoon.

SMASH INTO

divisions at the centre battlefield. The build-up for the big North Korean kickoff came during an ominous lull in the central front fighting. Gen. MacArthur's headquarters early this morning reported no major action in the preceding 24-hours but pointed out indications of Red regrouping and reorganizing for a major offensive. Constant pressure was exerted along the whole defensive arc, but it was particularly strong in the vicinity of Yongdong.

Red dispatches spoke of the American defenders in this sector as outnumbered five to one. The Red Koreans with two full divisions in the line would muster 12,000 or more men.

After a flying visit by Gen. MacArthur to the front Thursday, there was a dispatch from Tokyo that he had reached new decisions with his top field commanders on how to hold what's left of South Korea until United Nations forces can be built up for a counter-offensive.

It was considered likely that they decided whether to "MacArthur line" for hold-on operations and preservation of a beachhead could be drawn.

Before returning to Tokyo without incident, MacArthur told war correspondents in Korea he was never more confident of victory than he is now. He added, rather than an immediate turn of the Red tide.

The supreme commander of United Nations forces conferred at field headquarters with his eighth army commander, Lt. Gen. Walton H. Walker.

The early morning war summary said MacArthur's headquarters said aggressive patrons moving westward from Chinju on the southern front forced elements of the North Korean fourth division back two miles to the vicinity of Hadong, some 65 miles due west of Pusan.

Chinju is 52 miles west of Pusan and 70 miles south and east of the Yongdong front, scene of heaviest pressure. One Red column threw the North Koreans' right hook in the wide area between Chinju and Yongdong and aimed it at the American flank probably in the vicinity of Kumsong, south of Yongdong on the route to Pusan.

The identity of the "aggressive patrols" out of Chinju was not disclosed but this is where relatively small units of fresh American forces were reported in action Thursday.

The North Korean radio at Pyongyang claimed Thursday night that Red forces in the southern fighting had captured Suncheon, west of Hadong. The broadcast further claimed North Koreans took the southern seaport of Yosu and sunk an American warship there. There was no allied confirmation of these claims.

At the other extreme of the long curving front, allied naval forces continued long-gun bombardment of ruined Yongdok port on the Sea of Japan, 95 miles north of Pusan.

MacArthur's headquarters announced the Red-held port also was under attack by United Nations ground forces, presumably elements of the U. S. 25th Division and South Koreans.

North Korean reinforcements for the drive aimed down the east coast have been observed swarming into the Yongdok area.

Commonwealth Division May Be Formed In Korea

(Special to The Guardian, by Ross Munro)

TOKYO, July 28—(Friday)—Possibility is seen here that a Commonwealth Division or small Army Corps will be created to fight alongside Americans in Korea by the time the U. N. offensive is mounted.

With Britain, Australia and New Zealand deciding to send ground troops this idea is finding support in high quarters in Tokyo, as the best method of coordinating Commonwealth effort and giving it distinctive character in campaign.

I talked with senior officers and diplomats about this when the news broke about decisions of three Commonwealth countries and there is no question that Canadian contribution of volunteer battalions or battalions will be enthusiastically welcomed to give strongest Commonwealth representation.

Canada's Part—One leading Commonwealth official who had served Ottawa said, "I doubt very much if Canada will stay out of this ground forces effort."

MacArthur's staff officers make it clear that Canadian units will be received with open arms. It is pointed out that the United States cannot commit much more and that ultimate offensive will require strong support from other U. N. members.

There is an administrative base and training facilities here to handle coordination of Commonwealth units into a strong single force.

These facilities were built up for Commonwealth occupation force under Lieutenant General Sir Horace Robertson, rugged Australian soldier with the highest reputation.

Big Base Available—This force which at one time numbered forty thousand has now been reduced to an Australian battalion but the big base in southern Japan could be made ready immediately to handle Commonwealth units. The idea will be for volunteers to receive initial training in three or four months before units will be ready for Korea.

Commonwealth units could use present British type weapons in a project like this. Senior officers here don't see too many difficulties in keeping such a Commonwealth force supplied. On small scale it will be like the Italian campaign with Commonwealth in one part of the line and Americans in the other," said one General.

Own Air Squadrons—A Commonwealth force would probably be supported by its own air squadrons. Likeliest choice as commander of such a force would be Robertson who knows the whole picture here and works closely with MacArthur's staff.

The frank view here is that the situation in Korea is critical with the possibility that hardpressed Americans may be forced back a good deal further. Next week will be a tense and anxious one but the supply picture is steadily improving with the airlift from North America building up and more ship convoys arriving. So far no one has a clue as to when the R. C. A. F. is arriving.

Plans To Avert Price Collapse

VANCOUVER, July 27—(CP)—Plans to avert future farm price collapse and unemployment were advocated today by M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. national leader.

He proposed tariff cuts and Canadian dollar investments in sterling countries. Imports should be encouraged by reducing tariffs on United Kingdom goods and those of such other countries as would take more Canadian commodities.

"As a temporary solution we could accept payment of our surplus exports in sterling, which could be invested in sterling colonial areas or used subsequently for the purchase of Canadian machinery or equipment to aid in their development."

In his report to the biennial convention, Mr. Coldwell also recommended re-drafting of the Regina manifesto—based on C. F. Charter—adopted in 1932.

The manifesto was based on economic and social conditions as they were 20 years ago. The Second World War had brought the democratic world and its economy into new relationships.

"We should re-define our philosophy and program in the light of new development."

Poultry Club Tours—A group of young sightseers from the Baldwin's Road Poultry Club visited places of interest in and around Charlottetown on Wednesday afternoon, July 26th.

The group was scheduled to make their first stop at Ralph Raynor's R. O. P. Flock, Mt. Herbert, but Mr. Raynor was not visited due to delays in getting underway and the first stop was made at Swift's Hatchery, Charlottetown. Here Mr. George Buntin very clearly and calmly explained the set-up of the hatchery and operation of the incubators. An enjoyable treat of ice cream and cakes was also provided for the group by Swift's.

At the Experimental Farm, where the tour proceeded from Swift's, Mr. Lorne Ramsay showed the group around the poultry houses of the farm and told the members of the work being done there and of the experiments being conducted with the co-called "Jungle Fowl."

Next port of call was Wheatley Bros., Royalty, where thousands of pullets on the range made a vast impression on the minds of the youthful poultrymen.

Upon leaving Wheatley's the members toured the city and were shown various points of interest, spending a short while at Victoria Park. On the way home they stopped for a short while at the "Village Remedy" in Southport where everyone had a treat—as well as lots of fun.

Mr. Joe Trainor, adult director of the club, attended the tour which was arranged and conducted by H. M. MacLean, assisted in transportation by Emeric Holland and Cliff McIsaac.

The second poultry club tour was held on July 25th when the Kingsboro-Red Point group accompanied by Mr. E. S. Rose, adult director and Mrs. John Robertson visited the following places:

W. W. Anderson's, St. Peter's. Here the group saw some 16 hundred laying hens, prize Ayreshires, and a well kept farm home, before leaving the group 22 in all, were treated to ice cream.

Previous to visiting at W. W. Anderson's a group driven by Mr. Emeric Holland, Dominion Dept. of Agriculture, had the privilege of being shown through the Registered Egg-grading Station at St. Peter's.

The entire group then left for Charlottetown and arrived at the Experimental Farm at noon, had lunch at the recently completed Rest Room and after lunch were shown around the farm.

The group then visited points of interest around Charlottetown including 2 p.m. at which time they arrived at Swift Canadian Co. Hatchery.

Many questions were asked and keen interest was shown by everyone. Continuing on from here the group visited Stanhope and Dalva.

Conducting the tour were Mr. E. Holland, C. Scranton, H. MacLean, Dept. of Agriculture.

The club members wish to thank all the owners of places visited and members of the Dept. of Agriculture for a very educational and enjoyable tour.

MONCTON, N. B., July 27—(CP)—R. C. M. P. today issued a warning to rural localities in this area to be on the lookout for salesmen driving cars with Ontario license plates and offering what they claim to be Persian rugs for sale.

One resident of nearby Petticoat bought three of the rugs for $100 each. When he had them inspected a dealer said they were "very cheap" and no relation to the valuable Persian rug. Victims had been warned not to notify police as the rugs were smuggled by a "Persian sailor" and they would be liable to court charges.

Montague Legion Lays Plans For Island Meeting

A special meeting was held in the Legion Hall this week of the convention committee of the Canadian Legion, Montague branch, to decide on further plans regarding the holding of the P. E. I. provincial convention here in September.

It was decided to hold the convention at Yeo's Theatre, and the banquet at the Beaver Club Hall.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Legion have indicated that they would organize all arrangements for the supper, at which there will be an expected attendance of two hundred. Hon. M. F. Gregg, V.C., Minister of Veterans Affairs, has notified the committee that he will be present. The committee has decided to ask the navy, army and air force to send detachments to add to the festivities of the day. The Reece Band will also be in attendance. It has been learned.

One of the main features of the day will be the unveiling of a plaque at the King's County Memorial Hospital in honour of those who gave their lives in the two world wars. There will also be a parade in which all veterans, Legion members and non-members, will take part. The general public have already been urged to decorate their houses with flags so as to lend a festive air to the occasion. The committee has been putting forth every effort during the past three months to make the convention a success, and with the cooperation of all will make this a convention to be spotlighted.

New Record For P. E. I. Holstein

Prince Edward Island Holstein cows continue to establish new records. River Belle Shirley, owned by Kimball LeLachur of Murray Harbor, has established a new record for a cow two years and seven days old.

This feat was noted in the July issue of the Holstein Journal, which says:

"River Belle Shirley No. 738887, owned by Kimball LeLachur, Murray Harbor, P. E. I. has a 2x record of 737 lbs. fat in 1513 lbs. of 4.87 per cent milk after freshening at 2 years and 7 days old."

"This is the seventh highest butterfat record ever reported in her class in Canada. She was bred by B. Compton, Ltd., Belle River, P. E. I. She is one of seven tested daughters of Riveria Pontiac Pathfinder, son of Count Pathfinder, from a grand-daughter of the former Canadian champion, Frau Abbecker Pontiac. Her dam, like her sire, has Montvic Pathfinder as paternal grandsire and is from a daughter of Abegweit Harbour Buoy. He is a son of Abegweit Maximus."

A leading Island Holstein breeder says River Belle Shirley's record surpasses any for a two-year-old heifer in the Maritimes, and possibly Quebec.

Here Mr. G. Buntin was on hand and the group was shown through the hatchery and treated to cakes and ice cream.

Next stop was at Wheatley Bros., where the group saw the rather spectacular sight of 12,000 pullets on one range.

From here the group started back towards home stopping off at Mr. Wilfred MacDonald's, Core head. Here the group saw one of the finest R. O. P. poultry establishments on Prince Edward Island. Mr. MacDonald described in detail the housing, feeding and general operation of his R. O. P. establishment.

Many questions were asked and keen interest was shown by everyone. Continuing on from here the group visited Stanhope and Dalva.

Conducting the tour were Mr. E. Holland, C. Scranton, H. MacLean, Dept. of Agriculture.

The club members wish to thank all the owners of places visited and members of the Dept. of Agriculture for a very educational and enjoyable tour.
