Remedy for the Horn Fly.

O. B. WADMAN, of Crapaud, writes: "After trying many experiments this summer on my own cow, I have at last discovered a cheap and substantial remedy for the horn fly, and, should not be used, as they are injurious to the cattle, and it is a fact that farmers who have used those remedies which I have mentioned, find a great improvement in their stock. One application of twenty cents will be sufficient quantity for ten or twelve days. One application will last for ten or twelve days. Will mail receipt free on receipt of price, per box $2.50.

THE MASQUERADE.

"Three girls dined in the next room! There's an end of my writing for one month, at least!"

Kenneth Ross pushed his paper into a confused heap, shut his desk with a vindictive snap, and lighted a cigar.
"Three chattering, noisy girls, each with a tongue three times its proper length—There's my cousin Flora, Alice Aymer and Rosa Ferrall—blue eyes, black eyes, and molting gray, by the way, that little monkey Rosa, isn't bad looking. I rather fancy that peculiar shade of brown hair. She would make a tolerable stud for my next holiday.
"Three what's her name? I don't know purpose. Hello! I think Aunt Meg was crazy to invite all these girls here at once."

It passed a moment, as the merry peal of girlish laughter echoed in the adjoining apartment.
"They're laughing at me. Girls always take a bachelor for game." Tap! tap! tap! sounded softly on the floor. The door was ajar. He had just time to take his feet off the table before Flora Edgeworth put her head into the room.

"Cousin Kenneth, are you there?"
"Three what's her name?"
"May we come in?"
"I may as well say yes."

"I just wanted the girls to see what black eyes you got in the hall." Flora threw open the door, and admitted her two companions.
"Here he is, the old bachelor, as he appears in his native wilds."
"Now, young fella," said Mr. Ross, throwing his legs up on the chair, "I don't like to see you in the window."
"I'm sorry to see you in the window," said Rosa, "but I'm glad to see you in a little less unbecoming way."
"For Alice and Flora had pounced on his sheets of loose manuscripts like honey bees on a hive of heliotrope, and were laughing over the rather illegible chirography. Miss Ferrall stood near the door, a little confused and very proud, in her rich and uncertainly "Don't be cross, Kenneth," said Flora. "We are going down to the post office now. Rosa Ferrall has written a twelve-page letter to her sweetheart in Canada."
"Flora," exclaimed Rosa,
"And," pursued the relentless Flora,
"we're going to get it. Come girls."
And Mr. Ross was left alone with the heavy musk roses nodding at the open case, and the dreamy murmur of maple bouqs and far-off bees in his ear.

"A 12-page letter to her sweetheart!" he pondered. "She must have had something very interesting to write Canada, eh? I wish it was Van Die-men's Land!"

Mr. Ross rose from his easy-chair, and began to walk up and down the floor.

"It's too confounded hot to breathe here!" he said, impatiently taking up his hat. "I'll go and take a tramp in the woods."
Flora Edgeworth had succeeded in planting a ranking thorn in her cousin's heart, all unconscious though she had been.

The sun was low in the sky when Kenneth returned from his abstracted ramble in the woods, and the wide, old-fashioned house was very still, as he ascended toward his own apartment.

"Hello!" Mr. Ross gazed vacantly round the room with something of the bewildered feeling that might have belonged to the Eastern Prince, when he found himself transported from pole to pole in an enchanted dream.

"I'm in the wrong room, I believe—for there is Flora Edgeworth's light wrap on the bed, and Rosa's hat and no end of ribbons and gloves and lace collars on the bureau." He balanced the coquetish little "hat" on his hand.

"So this is the fashionable style of chapeau, eh? I wonder now whether Rosa's hat wouldn't fit me." Mr. Ross adjusted the article jauntily on one side of his curls and viewed himself in the mirror.

"Upon my word, it don't look so bad!
And now where's the saque? A little light in the sleeves, but otherwise quite a decent fit. If a fellow holds his arms well back, there's Alice's blue muslin dress. I've two minds and a half to put it on, just for the joke of the thing."

A momentary silence ensued, broken by the rustling of the muslin.

"Don't meet round the waist by a good six inches, but I can hold it up.
I wonder what the thing does for on the floor and cling round one's legs so? Oh, I know—the crinoline ought to go under!"

"I'm not certain but what I should like to see you in that crinoline," mused Kenneth, strutting backward and forward before the mirror. "On the whole—Tombs of the Prophet! It is that the girls?"

Mr. Ross gave a blindly desperate jerk at his "saque," and a pull at the crinoline; but all in vain. The gay voicer, intermingled here and there with a ringing laugh or a snatch of song drew nearer and nearer. For an instant Mr. Ross wildly contemplated a rush through the hall to his own door, but a moment's reflection convinced him that such a retreat would be impossible.

"I must stay and face it out!" he thought; "but hold on! there's the closet. It's just possible they will find a minute or two of quiet." And totally oblivious of the "majesty of man," he fled precipitately into the closet.

"Why the deuce didn't I think to secure the key?" he thought, as the girls streamed into the room. "However, I can hold on to the door handle, if any one attempts to get in. By Jove, if the girls should see me in this rig, I should never leave the last of it." He leaned against the shelves and breathlessly awaited the progress of events.

"Why?" ejaculated a soft voice—
"How's our dearer's nay hat?"
"I care less enough to have it down stairs? I don't, you have hidden it." "I wonder what you'll accuse me of next?" said Flora, in an injured voice.
"You told Mr. Ross that Cousin Kenneth's letter was to—"
"Your sweetheart! Well, he ought to be in Paris. He is the handsomest young man in the town."
"Oh, Flora! he don't compare with Mr. Ross."

DAUGHTER'S CONSOLATION.

All Right in a Day or Two, But the Day Never Came.

"All right in a day or two" is the thought that consoles every one who is suffering from any indisposition that does not protrude him. In the case of a per-on be-ridden for months with disease of the Kidneys being asked, "Did you not have any warning of this condition you are now in?"
"Yes, I was bothered at first with backache, occasional headaches, but did not consider myself sick or the necessity of medicine further than a plaster on my back or rubbing with my favorite liniment.
It was months before I began to realize that it was useless to further force myself to ignore my condition. The backache had become a pain in the high and sides, weak and tired feeling, high-colored urine with obstructions and stoppage pain in the bladder, palpitation of the heart, poor appetite, indigestion, and a dull, languid feeling, with entire lack of energy." Had the signal of distress from the Kidneys—Backache—received the assistance of Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, the after state of misery and suffering would have been avoided. A few doses dispel first symptoms; delay results in liver, heart and stomach becoming affected. It is useless to expect to obtain good results from any other persistent and regular use of Chase's L. Pills. Price 25c, sold by all dealers, Edw. Johnson, Dates & Co., Toronto.

CASTORIA
for Infants and Children.

MOTHERS, Do You Know that Paregoric, Batesman's Drops, Godfrey's Cordial, many so-called Soothing Syrup, and most remedies for children are composed of opium or morphine?

Do You Know that opium and morphine are stupefying narcotic poisons?

Do You Know that in most countries druggists are not permitted to sell narcotics without labeling them poisons?

Do You Know that you should not permit any medicine to be given your child unless you or your physician know of what it is composed?

Do You Know that Castoria is a purely vegetable preparation, and that a list of its ingredients is published with every bottle?

Do You Know that Castoria is the prescription of the famous Dr. Samuel Pierce that it has been in use for nearly thirty years, and that more Castoria is now sold than of all other remedies for children combined?

Do You Know that the Patent Office Department of the United States, and of other countries, have issued exclusive right to Dr. P. Fitcher and his assigns to use the word
"Castoria" and its formula, and that to imitate them is a state prison offense?

Do You Know that one of the reasons for granting this government protection was because Castoria had been proven to be absolutely harmless?

Do You Know that 35 average doses of Castoria are furnished for 35 cents, or one cent a dose?

Do You Know that when possessed of this perfect preparation, your children may be kept well, and that you may have unbroken rest?

Well, these things are worth knowing. They are facts.

The fac-simile signature of Dr. J. C. Fitcher is on every wrapper.

Did a larger business in Canada in 1894 than any other Company.

Since its organization in 1881 has paid its policy holder for death claims over a twenty-two million dollars.

It is now paying at the rate of over a quarter of a million each month.
$8,000 policies, and $300,000,000 of Insurance in force, attest the popularity of the Company, its system and the confidence of the public.

IT IS THE PEOPLE'S INSURANCE, and is sold at about half the rates charged by old system companies. During the first three months of 1895 it was thoroughly examined by the Insurance Departments of New York, Illinois, Ohio, Texas
