—JUNIOR CLUBS HOLD FAIR—There was a very happy gathering of junior farmers at the farm of Mr. Heath Casely near Kensington on Friday afternoon when the annual fair of Kensington, Indian River and Kelvin Club Clubs, as well as the Poultry Clubs, was held. In all there were about fifty present and the picturesque landscape of the Casely farm made a perfect setting for the parade of excellent calves from the different clubs. Mr. Guy Reid of Brackley, who judged the calves, a calf of the Kensington Club was delighted with the showing. He considered that this club had made rapid strides in breeding and raising calves. The Poultry Clubs had a good showing of 20 animals showing. 11 calves, 5 yearlings and 4 two year olds. Taking 1st prize in each class was Lewis Gorman Calf Class. Their MacDonald yearling class and Eddie Penderast in two year class. Kelvins Juniors showed Sorthern, ten members each bringing a calf. This was their first year and deserved credit for their splendid turnout. Elmer Cotton took first prize in the Kelvin showing. The eleven Avshire calves from the Indian River showed great promise and the club received four trophies from Mr. Reid who judged this class. Rupert MacCallan carried off the prize in this class. The Poultry Clubs had a good turnout. Barred Rocks and New Hampshire Reds were shown and Mr. P. M. Nash of the Dominion Marketing Department who judged the birds, was pleased with the exhibit. Kensington Poultry Club had 21 members and Indian River five members. Owing to some of the Indian River members the membership has been considerably reduced. A very interesting judging competition was conducted each member in the order of merit four prizes and four trophies. Winners in Kensington Club were Gladys Mease and Elmer Cotton. Indian River winners were Alvinus and Mrs. J. W. King. There clubs will compete in the Interclub competition which will be held in Charlottetown on October 6th. Excellent addresses were given by the speakers and the evening was a most enjoyable one. L. W. Brown, Dominion Department of Agriculture and Mr. W. J. Brennan, who spoke of the problems of Dairy farming, were the possible speakers on the various aspects of showmanship, and business aspects of the fair. A pleasant feature of the fair was the gift of a box of chocolates from R. S. Bendleton, the farmland, Kensington, who presided and who takes a great interest in the Poultry Clubs. Needless to say the treat was much enjoyed.

WAR SPREADS

France vs U.S.S.R. Soviets 'Neutral'

Poland, to the western front facing France.
Premier Daladier cut short a week-end inspection tour of the front lines and returned to Paris to assume charge of diplomatic activity resulting from the Soviet invasion of Poland.

Before arrival of the Premier, who acted as his own Foreign Minister, Undersecretary Auguste Champetier de Ribes held a long discussion with United States Ambassador William Bullitt. The French and British Governments were understood to be in almost continuous consultation on the new situation created by Russia's invasion of Poland.

The Polish Embassy declared that Poles were "resisting the Russian invasion" but admitted there was no precise indication yet of the extent of Polish resistance.
Informed French said that if a major conflict developed between Poland and Russia, France might be faced with a state of war between Poland and the Soviet Union since France has pledged to aid Poland against any threat to Polish independence.

Armistice Proposal Likely
Moscow diplomatic quarters expressed belief that either the Soviet or Russian side would propose an armistice as soon as the fate of Poland had been settled by Germany and Russia.

Neutral sources were of the opinion, however, that the Soviet Union would be rejected by Great Britain and France.
Molotov in his broadcast laid stress on the plight of Byelorussians (White Russians) and Ukrainians who were incorporated in Poland 20 years ago.

Molotov said the Red armies had been instructed to take under their protection the lives and property of these minorities promising "to deliver the Polish people from the disastrous war into which they have been plunged by their unwise leaders."

Red Food Supplies
The Soviet Government at the same time sought to reassure its own citizens through a statement declaring that food rationing would not be instituted "if measures of state necessitated by foreign events should be prolonged for some time."

Workers' groups in many sections of the Soviet Union held meetings this afternoon to voice approval of the Government's decision. Molotov's speech was read and cheered.
Occupation of sections of Poland would give the Soviet Union more extensive frontiers with Lithuania and Rumania, both of which the former Russian territory Lithuania would also be brought into direct contact with Russia.

Probable Partition of Poland
(Canadian Press)
A partition of Poland between Germany and Russia, as envisaged in Russian dispatches Sunday, would presumably be based to some extent on distribution of Poland's minority populations of Ukrainian and White Russians.

Polish Fighting Energetically
In London the Polish Embassy said that Polish troops were fighting energetically against the Russian forces.
Havas News Agency dispatches from the capital said that Polish resistance to the Russians' (The Polish Embassy in Paris said Polish forces were resisting the Soviet invasion in northeast Poland.)

The regular monthly meeting of the Kensington Home and School Association was held in the town hall on Thursday evening, Sept. 14th. The President opened the meeting by reading the Home and School Creed.
The minutes of the previous meeting were read and accepted.
The Treasurer presented her report which was adopted as read.
Mr. Saunders in a few well chosen words explained the extra trucks to take care of transportation to and from the annual School Picnic. Under the heading of New Business, a lively discussion took place regarding securing books by Home and School Association for school children.

ONE COMPLICATION FORESEEN
Unofficial but informed quarters professed to see one complication to Britain's pledge to Poland which said they had reports the Lithuanian army might join in administering what Berlin hoped to be Poland's "knockout blow."
According to their outline, the Lithuanians would march into Wilno and re-take their capital last Oct. 10, 1920. Wilno, the birthplace of marshal Pilsudski, Poland's late general and hero, has been a constant source of dispute since Poland took it 19 years ago. The Lithuanian-Polish frontier has never been settled from the Lithuanian viewpoint.
More than 250,000 White Russians whom Moscow has proclaimed it would "protect" as an underprivileged Polish minority, live in this disputed area.

TRYSTS WITH GHOSTS
LONDON.—(CP)—Edward Groves keeps daily vigil by doors that never open and a telephone that never rings—in the Galety Theatre where he is watchman. The theatre is soon to be razed.

MONTREAL WOMEN WANT TO SERVE
(Canadian Press)
MONTREAL, Sept. 15.—Singly and in groups numbering up to the thousands, women are offering their services for wartime work. Red Cross headquarters report close to 2,800 individual registrations. No count of the groups is available at present.
Classes of 20 each in home nursing and car or ambulance driving are under way. Additional groups of 20 will be given instruction as soon as necessary arrangements can be made. Knitting and sewing classes are also being planned.
Organization is still far from complete, and officials were unable to say definitely what other work would be undertaken.
Among groups that have volunteered to co-operate with the Red Cross are: Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire, who report "every member in the province interested and ready to help in any capacity for which she is qualified"; Catholic Women's League, also fully interested; Young Women's Christian Association; Junior League of Montreal; Head-shah Organization; Montreal Women's Club, and the Non-Pensioned Veterans' Widows Association.
