57 Water St. Dial 4222

The new Cosy Corner Restaurant at North Rustico will open its doors to the public Sunday making available to all who like fine foods one of the most modern and most pleasant eating houses in Province. The old Cosy Corner Restaurant, which gained an enviable reputation for its fine food and hospitable services, has been replaced by a new building which is completely equipped with all the finest in the restaurant business. Home cooking is the speciality of the restaurant. The owners, Mrs. Georgina Blacquiere and Mrs. Minnie Doiron, have become widely known for the fine home cooked meals they provide and their restaurant has become the eating headquarters for many tourists and island residents while travelling in the Rustico area of the National Park. The new restaurant has a seating capacity for 76 persons at one time. There are nine booths and four tables each with a seating capacity of four. The fountain is surrounded by 24 stools. The interior of the dining room is of flamingo color with the lower sections of the walls being of bleached Douglas Fir. The floors are covered with green and cream tile. Full course meals and short orders will be served. The restaurant will open at eight o'clock in the morning and continue in operation until midnight. In addition to Mrs. Blacquiere and Mrs. Doiron there are seven members on the staff including a cook, assistant cook, cashier and four waitresses. The old restaurant was opened nine years ago and business has increased each year due to the fine meals and service provided by the management and staff. Both the owners are married with families. Mrs. Blacquiere has five children of which the oldest is eleven. All five attend school. Mrs. Doiron has two children, one of school-age and one below school-age. Mrs. Doiron and Mrs. Blacquiere are most appreciative for the business they have received and wish to thank their many old customers while extending a hearty invitation to new customers to visit their establishment.

It is now hay-making time—has been for some time—except for the fact that the weatherman has not been smiling upon the operator who values early cut hay. On farms where attention is paid to the hay crop it is good, ordinary or neglected fields have a very weedy appearance. Hay will be worth saving this year and will very likely command reasonable prices next spring.

From time to time we meet individuals who express the opinion that farm meetings are a waste of time and some may even go further to suggest that those who do attend are dangerous fellows and should be watched. What produced this belief—and a good many hold it—we are sure, but incline to the theory that there in the province those who see in any organization of farmers a danger to their own personal, private interest. Criticism, wise and unwise, and entering comments all have effect and may be enough to influence a person in staying away from a meeting when public affairs are being discussed.

Very rarely are farm meetings called for a frivolous reason. Success depends for the most part on the individual farmer who shows his interest by attending and taking part thus making available to his fellows the benefits of his own wisdom, and experience and receiving in return a broader knowledge of matters pertaining to agriculture.

OLEARY MEETING

Prince County support of the Federation of Agriculture has always been generous, in fact it shows up the other countries in the point of membership and participation in various Federation projects. Much of the early leadership for the Federation came from Prince County and the interest has been well maintained during the years.

The Monday night meeting will feature prominent speakers on education, plant diseases and the perennial question of how to make the farm pay.

Hay making fever will not have reached a pitch sufficiently high to discourage attendance at what should prove to be an evening well spent in the interest of Agriculture.

DAIRY PRODUCTION

In spite of very good pastures and freedom from extreme heat butter production is slightly behind the same period for last year. This decline may in part be offset by some increase in other products. The shortage of feed caused many cattle to be in poor condition going on the grass, this likely being reflected in the milk supply, however prospects are favorable and production might, during the summer, exceed that of 1955.

CHEAP SALE

Last week an acquaintance from out of the province remarked that generally Island farmers sold their products at a lower price than it was the case in other places. He mentioned that Ontario turnip growers gave the Island full credit for demoralizing the turnip market and further stated that on the Island the farmers got less for eggs and the consumer paid more.

It is not our intention to discuss at the moment the justice or otherwise of these allegations other than to state that the Island is charged quite frequently with this type of offense. In addition we have been told by persons at the national level that our famous little Island is, from a marketing standpoint, a backward area. Whether this statement is justified we are not sure but we do know that there is very little active interest in the problems of marketing—if any problems exist. Certainly we do not appear to have the type of interest or initiative which over forty years ago produced the egg and Poultry Association and rescued the industry from the doldrums. Certainly turnip marketing is something less than ideal and no one appears to be willing to brave the storm of public opinion which will likely develop should anything positive be done.

Marketing may not be the only farm problem but it is of sufficient importance to justify more attention than it is receiving at the moment.

WHERE IS THE KEY?

There is a general agreement on the point that the Maritimes are not as prosperous as the rest of Canada, in fact it is a long time since they have been. This statement is one that receives a great deal of attention with many reasons being advanced for it. The conditions can hardly be due to lack of brains or industry on the part of the Maritime people for they have no difficulty in excelling in many walks of life in other parts of the world.

The question arises as to whether there are inherent disabilities which prevent the region developing at a rate comparable to the rest of Canada. If these disabilities exist they should be catalogued in order that we would all know the nature of the monster which besets us. From our limited knowledge of the subject we learn that neurotic are often that way simply because they refuse to face up to their problems or may have deep rooted ones of which they may not be aware. Possibly the Maritime are simply economically neurotic and have become reconciled to living in economic bondage.

YELLOW SCOTCH

One of the worst weed pests is the one usually referred to as wild mustard but which is actually wild radish. Rarely is there a heavy infestation of this weed when it first appears, usually a scattered plant here and there in the grain field, but after a few years the tangle and the yellow monster takes over. Now is the season for the wild mustard or wild radish and nothing should interfere with pulling the occasional plant that appears in grain and root fields. No weed does more to lower the value of a farm, the wise farmer will protect his crop and his acre by making at least two trips through his grain field in search of this weed.
