

THE DAILY EXAMINER.

JULY 4, 1887.

The City Schools.

So many young faces, happy in the prospect of the holidays,—so much of joy in the present, so much of hope for the future,—are seen in our City Schools, that an annual visit to them is pleasing and cheering.

The Guardian speaks of the discipline of Queen Square School as "exceptionally good, and the department all that could be desired."

Now, would it not be better if prizes generally were given for good conduct and the virtues rather than for rapid improvement in mere scholarship?

It was very pleasing to note that the entertainments given by the children breathed a wholesome patriotic and religious spirit.

Information Wanted.

The following letter, which is self-explanatory, has been received by Postmaster Brecken:

ANOKA, June 22, 1887. Postmaster, Charlottetown, Prince Edward Island.

MY DEAR SIR,—A young man by the name of John Ross, 26 years of age, of dark complexion, hair and whiskers almost black, and who has been here in Anoka for about five years, was accidentally shot and instantly killed about sixty miles north from here in the pine woods, where he was at work, and his body was brought here to-day, and I, as a clergyman of the English Church, buried it at 2 1/2 m. to-day.

Any person knowing anything about the young man referred to should communicate with Mr. Brecken or Rev. Mr. Stowe at once.

A FINE stock of Anglican Prayer Books, Bibles, Poems and Miscellaneous Works, &c., &c., opened to-day at the Diamond Bookstore and selling cheapest in the city.

The Illuminations.

THE illuminations on Thursday night were grand indeed. The whole city was one blaze of light.

The interest manifested in the celebration of the Queen's Jubilee by Mr. Unsworth, both in his official capacity and as a member of the general committee, was most commendable.

At V. McInygor, Water Street—Gas pipe full length of second story of house, with "1837" on west end and "1857" on east end, and crown in centre, all formed of gas jets.

The Bishop's Palace, Great George Street—Over the main entrance were displayed the royal arms, and the building was brilliantly illuminated with candles.

Reddin's Drug Store, Richmond Street—Store window decorated with amber, blue and green lights, Chinese lanterns, cone-shaped drug bottles, etc.

Thomas Handrahan had his grounds illuminated with Chinese lanterns, etc.

Telephone Office, Queen Street—Illuminated with electric lamps, and decorated with jubilee mottoes, etc.

London House, Queen Street—Windows draped and illuminated with fairy lamps.

Beer Bros., Queen Street—Decorated with flags and banners bearing jubilee mottoes, and a picture of the Queen wreathed with roses.

Messrs. Perkins & Stearns, A. L. Brown, Beer & Goff, Goff Bros., S. W. Crabbe and C. D. Rankin made a nice display of flags, Chinese lanterns, etc.

Judge Reddin had his house and grounds illuminated.

The new Post Office, Provincial Building, Law Courts, and Market Hall and Civic offices were brilliantly illuminated.

The Queen Square Schools, West Kent Street School and Upper Prince Street School were nicely illuminated.

The proprietor of the Diamond Bookstore opened his grand display before his premises at 9 o'clock sharp.

The Charlottetown Hospital and the two convents were illuminated.

Messrs. John McLeod and Strong Bros., the Rogers Block, were illuminated with lanterns.

P. Blake, King Street, illuminated with Chinese lanterns, etc.

Peake Bros., Hickey & Stewart, Telegraph Office, John Coombs, A. McNeill and others on Lower Queen Street, illuminated in various ways.

The office of F. T. Newbery, and the residences of M. Hickey and W. H. Batt, adjoining, were brilliantly illuminated and decorated with Jubilee mottoes.

Wm. Murray, Pownall Street, illuminated with Chinese lanterns, etc.

Messrs. George Peake and A. L. Brown, Eston Street; Joseph Unsworth, Upper Prince Street; W. A. Weeks, Rochford Square, John Ings, Esplanade and John McEachern, Water Street, had their residences and grounds brilliantly illuminated.

[Many others illuminated, to whom we would like to refer, but the printers' demand a stay of "copy" and we are obliged to cut short our report which, at best, would be somewhat incomplete.]

feelings of the nation's heart and life, and secured for the time being certain corrective and regenerating forces which should work out the accomplishment of the highest good.

The event of the current year was then dwelt upon, and the various aspects and lessons of the past fifty years of British life and history were briefly referred to.

The agencies which have produced these encouraging results were then briefly reviewed, and among those agencies were recognized the noble life and character of the Queen, and the fact that she had not only recognized the great impulses and plans of the century which are working for the uplifting and progress of the nation and the world, but that with her subjects she had made those plans her own.

Camp Notes.

WHEN parading for review on the 30th June, in honor of Her Majesty's Jubilee, Col. Worsley, the officer commanding, in the name of and on behalf of the officers and men in camp, forwarded a telegram as follows to the Queen:

From Penynnam Worsley, Officer commanding, to Her Majesty the Queen, Windsor:

Your Majesty's loyal Militia of Prince Edward Island, assembled in camp of exercise at Charlottetown, desire to add their small tribute to the burst of loyalty which greets your Jubilee.

Before the review was over the following answer was received:—

Queen thanks you and your regiment for kind telegram:—

On Her Majesty's ship Canada leaving port this morning a parting salute of seven guns was given them from Fort Edward, and the whole camp being turned out, manned the river bank and battery sent out over the waters to their right hearty cheers, expressive of their appreciation of the great kindness and courtesy they had received at the hands of the officers and men of the ship, and pealing back was heard the hearty cheers of Britain's gallant tars.

The only accident in camp occurred some days ago when a young man named Bertram, belonging to No. 5 Co. 82nd Battalion, who was wrestling in play with a companion, unfortunately strained the ligaments of his shoulder, which will doubtless incapacitate him from work for some weeks.

The health of the camp has been splendid and the conduct of the men excellent.

The church parade yesterday afternoon was a very pleasing affair, and was attended by many of our citizens. The camp is much indebted to the choir of St. Paul's Church for their attendance.

From to-day out all the drills will be in extended order.

The Artillery Brigade Band relieved the Band of the 82nd Battalion this morning. When leaving camp the members of the band were complimented by Lieutenant-Colonel Worsley for their excellent music and general deportment.

Lieutenant-Colonel Worsley is delighted with the appearance of the camp, and is well pleased with the deportment of the men.

A large number of ladies and gentlemen visited the camp yesterday. They were all courteously received and shown round by the officers and men.

Jottings.

The display of fireworks by our merchants and others added greatly to the success of the celebration.

The small boy and the fire cracker made themselves exceedingly obnoxious on Thursday evening. A good many grown-up boys also took a hand in.

The policemen donned their jubilee suits on Thursday.

Considering the large number of people in the city during jubilee days there was very little drunkenness visible. What there was, however, was indulged in by local talent.

The photographer and refreshment saloon keepers were greeted with crowded houses during jubilee days.

The weather was fine, but, wasn't it warm.

Silaby hose reel was photographed by Mr. Lewis on Saturday.

The trowel with which Hon. John Yeo, M. W. G. M., A. F. & A. M., laid the corner stone of the new City Building, was presented to him by the City Council. It is of solid silver, handsomely chased and engraved, and was imported through Mr. W. W. Wellner, watchmaker and jeweler.

The Oddfellows in procession on Friday had as their guests about twenty-five of the crew of H. M. S. Canada, members of the Manchester Unity of England, the parent stem of the Order. Their appearance was very favorably commented upon. The popular traveler, John J. Fairbairn, arrived specially for the occasion, and looked even handsomer than ever in his brilliant Canton suit. The Masonic fraternity also had a number of guests.

On Thursday evening Messrs. Beer Bros., John Newson, Dodd & Rogers, Beer & Goff, Norton & Fennell, and others gave displays of fireworks from their respective buildings, adding greatly to the pleasure of the evening.

In Fredericton, N. B. on Thursday and Friday the heat was excessive; the thermometer on the first day registering 98 in the shade, and on the last day 97. There was no celebration on Friday owing to this fact; the weather being too hot even for driving.

Chief-Engineer Large was Marshall-General of the different processions. Mr. S. W. Crabbe marshaled the Masons, Mr. James R. McKie the Oddfellows, Mr. Isaac W. Wadman the Sons of Temperance, Mr. N. McLeod the Orangemen, and Mr. H. Anderson the tradesmen.

The weather in St. Andrew's, N. B., was gloriously fine, and the celebration on Friday was of the heartiest character. An immense number of people were in the city. The programme consisted of a Polymorphian procession, a review of the troops and a fireworks display and illumination in the evening.

Among the thousands who took part in the celebration were two old Scotchmen who witnessed the jubilee celebration in honor of King George the Third in their native land when they were young lads. One of those loyal men, Wm. Sanderson, Esquire, of Georgetown, is a member of the Caledonian Club of P. E. Island, and walked on Friday last in the procession with his fellow clansmen in honor of Queen Victoria's Jubilee.

Anherst, N. S., also celebrated on Friday. The weather was glorious, and an immense number of people were in town. The celebration included a polymorphian display, a bicycle parade, laying the corner stone of the Bank of Nova Scotia's new building, a procession of militia and school children, orations by Rev. Mr. Steel and Senator Dickie, a promenade concert and a fireworks display.

Moncton's celebration was eminently successful. The programme of proceedings was made up of polymorphians, firemen, trades and torchlight processions, illumination of houses, display of fireworks and a trotting match. Mr. W. B. Bowness (Summerside) Harry won the three minute race in three straight heats. Mr. James Tuplin of New Annapolis was one of the officers of the race.

At the General Meeting of "The Charlottetown Board of Trade," held on the 22nd June, pursuant to notice, to elect the officers, enact bye-laws, and transact other business, it was found that the objects of the meeting could not be accomplished, because a sufficient number of corporators were not present.

The law requires a majority of the corporators to be present at the meeting called to organize the Board; it was, therefore, resolved to adjourn the meeting until 7:30 p. m., on Monday, 4th July, then to meet in the City Council Chamber. Please attend.
