Address.

To Rev. A. A. McLeod:

BELOVED BROTHER.—Words are but a shallow channel in which to convey any idea of the deep, fervent, heartfelt sorrow and regret we experience on the eve of your departure for a distant land, and the unavoidable severing of the ties which bind you as a member of our lodge.

In your absence we will not only deplore the loss of a brother, but a pillar in our ranks. One who has, since joining us always striven by example and counsels which breathed a pure and high-toned wisdom to promote the welfare of the Lodge, advance our noble order, and inculcate temperance principles throughout the community.

Your high character, integrity and zeal in discharging the various duties pertaining to your position in life have not only gained the confidence and esteem of your friends, but have brought into immediate contact with you, but have radiated far and wide, so that you have won a position which is not only a credit to yourself, but to the country at large.

In conclusion, rest assured that wherever your future lot may be cast, you will ever be remembered with feelings of love and gratitude in the homes of this community, where your many virtues are as household words, and also by the members of Great Eastern Lodge, whose chief desire and prayer to God will be that you may long be spared in the service which you so admirably adorn, and that if destined never more to meet on this side the line that separates time from eternity, we may all be so unspcakably blessed as to clasp hands in that upper and higher order before the throne of Him who is King of kings and Lord of lords.

REPLY.

To Messrs. Alexander Scott, Senr., Wm. McLean, T. S. Robertson, R. H. McNeill, and members of Great Eastern Lodge, No. 33, I. O. G. T.

DEAR BROTHERS.—The fact that simple attention to duty and the enjoyment of the privileges of a Good Templar, should call forth such a flattering address as that which I have now received from you, shows the esteem in which you hold the principles, for the maintenance of which our Institution exists.

In seeking and securing a place in your fraternal home, I have simply enjoyed a privilege, which I now, on the eve of my departure, reluctantly resign. In endeavoring to promote the cause of Temperance I have not attended to duty which, with your hearty co-operation, became a privilege of which I would not willingly be denied.

During my stay among you, my aim has been to fulfil the duties of a Christian minister and to enjoy the privileges of a Christian citizen. And now that my work leads me once more into the society of those who are total strangers to me, nothing could give me more real satisfaction than the knowledge that some of the friends of my former friends, who were strangers to me a few months ago, are now fast friends. Rest assured, dear brethren, that the cause for the promotion of which we are organized, will always be promoted by me, and that the Great Eastern Lodge, of which I have had the honor of being a member, will always receive my blessing, my sympathy, and my support.

In F. H. & C.,

A. A. McLeod.

The Queen's Jubilee.

A New York despatch says: Preparations for the celebration of the 50th anniversary of Queen Victoria's ascension to the throne, which occurs on Tuesday, June 21st, have been carried forward for some time with energy. A general committee was formed in February last, representing all the British national societies in the city. The Chairman, Erastus Wiman, President of the Canadian Club, announces the following programme for the celebration: On Sunday, June 19, at four p. m., religious services in the Metropolitan Opera House. In the afternoon, from one to six p. m., the working people, with their wives and children, have been invited to Erastusan, where games will be indulged in with prizes and lunch. In the evening there will be a display of fireworks at St. George by Messrs. Paines & Sons, of London, such as New York has never before had the opportunity of witnessing. It is the intention to light up the whole bay and the adjacent shores by means of 150 beacons of colored light. At St. Georges the seating capacity has been increased and 5,000 tickets have been issued for the members of the various societies, but the grand stand has been reserved for those who desire to purchase admission at 50 cents each. There are 33 distinct pieces in the pyrotechnic programme, of almost every device in the fireworks line, the cost of the whole being estimated at $5,000. The 7th Regiment Band, of 60 pieces, has also been engaged, and the arrangements for the occasion are just as perfect as possible.

Washing Made Easy.—I have on exhibition in my shop window a washing machine that does away with the old and laborious way of washing clothes; you can sit in your easy chair and rest while your washing is going on. It has been tried and proved genuine. Please call and examine this great Washer and Bleacher. Purchase one and thereby save labor and expense. They are sold for $2.00 each. G. G. Mr. Gladstone's Plan

FOR BRINGING ABOUT LORD SALISBURY'S DOWNFALL.

If the latest interpretation of the political situation is correct, Mr. Gladstone and Mr. Parnell have laid a clever trap for Lord Salisbury and his Conservative ministry. It is now said that the change of front lately shown by Mr. Parnell in dropping filibustering tactics was due to his being convinced by Mr. Gladstone that more can be accomplished by taking advantage of the complications in which the Government have become involved by their foreign policy than by deferring for a short period the inevitable passage of the Coercion Bill. Mr. Gladstone reasoned thus: The very operation of the Coercion Bill after its enactment will of itself damage the Government. The law will be either ineffective, in which case the people will be disgusted that the Government should have wasted so much time and labor on a useless measure, or it will arouse opposition and criticism on account of the suffering and scandal caused by its enforcement. The Government will be under constant necessity of justifying themselves for a measure which is at best regarded popularly as a necessary evil. Meanwhile proper attention cannot be given to the foreign interests of the empire which have already been long and hazardedly neglected. A large number of public men, regardless of party, are convinced that Russia's aggressive course in regard to the Afghan and Indian boundaries and the bold opposition of France and other powers to England's arrangement with Turkey for the control of Egypt, have been encouraged by the belief that England is so harassed and weakened by her home troubles that she is compelled to ignore acts by other powers affecting her foreign interests which, under other circumstances, she would resent with threats of force. The country cannot much longer be kept patient under foreign insult. Britons are not willing to see their nation take the position of a third-rate power in order that the Government may devote their undivided energies to helping landlords collect rents which have been pronounced excessive even by a Tory Commission itself. Messrs. Gladstone and Parnell believe that by quietly allowing the Coercion Bill to pass and keeping the Government at the helm long enough to incur the effects of the unpopularity it causes, plenty of material will be furnished the Liberals for campaign purposes before the next meeting of Parliament. The cry will be at once raised by the Gladstonians that the empire is in danger. Parliament not being in session the Government will have no opportunity to introduce measures authorizing additions to the strength of the foreign military establishment, or sanctioning important retaliations against Russia or other insolence. They cannot with honor resign leaving the Afghan and Egyptian questions unsettled, but whatever they may finally propose they will labor under the disadvantage of being criticised and blamed for not taking action sooner. The proposal of the Gladstonians then to settle domestic disturbances by a tentative Home Rule measure, revocable in case it fails to prove effective, coupled with a promise to redeem the prestige of Great Britain by a vigorous foreign policy will, the Opposition leaders believe, arouse the country to enthusiasm and sweep them into power on that platform. The course thus outlined seems all the more feasible, because of the present determination of Lord Salisbury to abandon the proposed English protectorate of Egypt, on account of the objections raised by France and Russia. This is a source of great chagrin to the holders of Egyptian bonds, aside from being a humiliating national course. France is growing more imperative in her insistence upon a revival of the dual Anglo-French control of Egypt, and is also beginning to claim the right to extend and add to the importance of the French possessions in India. Lord Salisbury's decision to maintain the foreign status quo in the face of the growing complications, seems likely to result in proving the sagacity of Mr. Gladstone's advice to Mr. Parnell to keep hands off and let the stars fight in their courses for Liberal victory and Home Rule.

Astonishing Success.

It is the duty of every person who has used Boschee's German Syrup to let its wonderful qualities be known to their friends in curing Consumption, severe Coughs, Croup, Asthma, Pneumonia, and in fact all throat and lung diseases. No person can use it without immediate relief. Three doses will relieve any case, and we consider it the duty of all druggists to recommend it to the poor, dying consumptive, at least to try one bottle, as 80,000 dozen bottles were sold last year, and no one case where it failed was reported. Such a medicine as the German Syrup cannot be too widely known. Ask your druggist about it. Samples bottles to try, sold at 10 cents. Regular size, 75 cents. Sold by all Druggists and Dealers, in the United States and Canada.

AN IMPORTANT ARREST.—The arrest of a suspicious character upon his general appearance, movements or companionship, without waiting until he has robbed a traveller, fired a house, or murdered a fellow-man, is an important function of a shrewd detective. Even more important is the arrest of a disease, which, if not checked, will blight and destroy a human life. The frequent cough, loss of appetite, general languor or debility, pallid skin, and bodily aches and pains, announce the
