Report Said Mean, Unjust

MONTREAL (CP) — Jean-Marie Laurence, a grammarian and former official of the Quebec department of public instruction, said Monday the recent report of a provincial royal commission on the textbook trade is "mean and unjust" because it tells only part of the story.

Professor Maurice Bouchard of the University of Montreal, a one-man royal commission, said in his report to the government last week that the authors of some school textbooks put on the boards or committees that approved them.

Mr. Laurence was among those whom the report named as being involved in a conflict of interest. It said he collected $199,236 in royalties on seven French grammar books.

Mr. Laurence said in a statement Monday "the conclusions of this report, in matters concerning me, are mean and unjust, they are of a nature harmful to my reputation.

"Besides they falsify the truth in short they are outrageous to me and my family."

LACKED AUTHORITY
He said he was a member of a subcommittee of specialists on French grammar and composition in the public school administration but his group did not have authority to approve textbooks.

At the royalties, he said "even if I have earned the sum of approximately $200,000 in seven years, it is no less true that this sum is only a gross amount, from which all sorts of costs must be deducted, such as transcription, proof reading and research.

"There must also be included in the expenses the taxes and the percentage of profits, 10 per cent of the gross amount, allocated to the authors' cooperative, Le Centre de Pédagogie et de Psychologie."

Msgr. McLellan Dies At Age 87

The death occurred Monday morning at the Charlottetown Hospital of the Right Rev. Gregory J. McLellan, P.A. DD, in his 88th year, following a long illness.

Father McLellan was one of seven children born to the late Donald McLellan and his wife, the former Annie MacIntyre, of St. George's, P.E.I. and was born April 24, 1876.

Starting his early education at St. George's school, he continued until his graduation from St. Dunstan's University in the class of 1899. The same year he entered the Grand Seminary in Quebec City, where he trained for the priesthood.

ORAINED IN 1903
He was ordained in Quebec City on May 17, 1903 and shortly after was appointed to the faculty of St. Dunstan's University in the class of 1903.

He was appointed to the St. Dunstan's Cathedral, Charlottetown, in 1911. The following year he was named rector of the cathedral parish, where he remained until 1915.

It was during his term of office that the cathedral was destroyed by fire, and following its rebuilding the new church was renamed St. Dunstan's Basilica.

Marsfield Wins Safety Award Repeat

National winners last year of the Carol Lane highway safety award and top prize of $1,000, the Marsfield Women's Institute is attempting to repeat its performance. It was learned last evening from Mrs. W.R. (Marguerite) Godfrey, who is executive committee chairman.

Deadline for entries is Feb. 15. The contest goes first this year to the provincial capital for judging on a provincial basis, then the 10 winners are sent to be judged for the national winner.

The prizes this year are $100 for first, $50 and $25 for second and third, in the provincial competition. The national awards are $250 for first, $150 for second and $75 for third. They are provided by the Shell Oil Company.

Categories this year in the safety competition cover street and highway, home and child on farm and recreation. The Marsfield entry covers all 11.

The entry form requires the entrant to state whether the safety promotion effort is local or provincial. The Marsfield entry paper is carrying "local and provincial" with a footnote to

Rocket Shot Is Delayed

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The scheduled launching of a Saturn I super-rocket intended to orbit the world's heaviest satellite Monday was postponed 48 hours until Wednesday, because someone forgot to remove a test device from a fuel line.

The failure, described by a U.S. space agency official as a "human error," left a metal plate blocking a line preventing liquid oxygen from flowing into the first stage.

Project official Rocco A. Petrone declined to place the blame on one or two individuals.

The Saturn I is scheduled to lift into orbit a 27,000-pound satellite and space probe for the United States the lead in the race for the moon.

Because of the test nature of the flight, there is no possibility of scientific gear aboard the satellite.

Maine Lady Will Seek Nomination

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senator Margaret Chase Smith of Maine announced Monday that she will seek nomination for the Republican presidential nomination.

"So, because of these very compelling reasons against my running, I have decided that I will also enter the primary in Illinois, will have no objection to my name being entered on the District of Columbia, and assumes it will be entered in Oregon next year."

In state primaries, registered supporters of political parties are eligible to vote for candidates in the U.S. wide election for president.

The launching pad for her candidacy will be her home state of the Women's National Press Club, and she built the announcement there.

"The people had cited grave reasons for not running," she said. "Lack of money, organization, and a husband who is not, in my own mind, the best man for the job."

Her testimony to the House of Representatives armed services committee was in effect a reply to questions raised about her military service by Senator Harry Goldwater, candidate for the Republican presidential nomination for the November U.S. election.

Fall Session Timing Will Be Important

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada in all likelihood will favor entry of Communist China to the United Nations at the UN General Assembly this fall, a source close to the cabinet said Monday.

The timing of the UN assembly is important to Canada, it was indicated, because the country wouldn't want to embarrass President Johnson in the middle of the November presidential election campaign.

It is expected here, however, that the UN will open after the election instead of in September as usual.

Commenting on France's diplomatic recognition of Communist China, the source said Canadian recognition would not necessarily follow automatically.

The cabinet had made no decision in either of these related matters, it would likely decide by November to favor entry of Communist China into the UN, and the source said supporting the continued membership of Nationalist China.

In recent years, Canadian policy has been not to recognize Communist China diplomatically as long as mainland China asserted a claim to Formosa, ruled by the Nationalist Government.

PARTY POLICY
The Liberal party at its policy conference in Toronto last week also stated: "We should stand in Windsor, Ont. External Affairs Minister Martin said Monday no nation should be isolated in this modern world.

"We intend to keep up communications with the recognition agreement, France, therefore, is not pledged to break with the Nationalists. Nor is it committed to any course in the future which I have proposed whether Red China or the Nationalists should be represented, the informants added.

Breakthrough Scored On Two-China Policy

PARIS (AP) — France and Red China announced simultaneously Monday they are establishing diplomatic relations and will exchange ambassadors.

This President de Gaulle's move is a breakthrough through with a "two-China" policy, a topic often discussed but not acted upon because of hostility to it from both Red China and Nationalist China.

Kan Shih-ming of the Nationalist Chinese embassy delivered a strong protest to the French foreign ministry, but the Nationalists did not break off diplomatic relations.

Unless there is a change of mind in Taipei, the French will soon announce that it is breaking off relations with the Nationalists while maintaining an embassy on Formosa, the Nationalist Chinese island.

OFFER NO OBJECTION
Peking is said to have offered to open an embassy in Peking. China always has insisted it will recognize only nations that have no official relations with the Chinese Nationalists.

By refraining from breaking off with France, at least for the time being, the Chinese Nationalists evidently sought to put the onus on Peking for accepting the two-China concept.

The press in Peking said the Chinese Nationalists are opposed to any "two-China" settlement of the diplomatic problem and said it will never modify its position.

French sources stressed that there were no strings attached to the move, and that the recognition agreement, France, therefore, is not pledged to break with the Nationalists. Nor is it committed to any course in the future which I have proposed whether Red China or the Nationalists should be represented, the informants added.

Bomarc Force In U.S. Set For Cutback
WASHINGTON (CP) — The U.S. Bomarc anti-aircraft missile force will be reduced by one-third in the next few weeks, it was announced by Defense Secretary Robert McNamara Sunday.

He said the number of Bomarc aircraft in the U.S. will be reduced from 100 to 66, leaving only 180 B-52 bombers on launchers at six U.S. bases. This will save the U.S. $100,000,000 a year in operating costs, he added.

1st Hats Tossed into Ring In 2 Federal By-elections
MONTREAL (CP) — The Montreal Canadiens and Quebec Aces will meet in the first of two federal by-elections in the Montreal ridings of St. Denis and Laurier.

Six candidates were nominated in St. Denis, five in Laurier.

Both ridings have always been considered safe for the Liberal Party in the past.

The by-elections were made necessary when two cabinet ministers resigned from the House of Commons last month.

Postmaster — General Axelius Denis, who had represented St. Denis since 1952, was named to the Senate, and Justice Minister Lionel Chevrier gave up his seat to become a high commissioner in Britain.

Denis next to become Liberal grip on the two adjacent ridings in the east-central section of Montreal will be Marcel Prud'homme, 26, a political scientist, in St. Denis and Fernand LeBlanc, 46, a chartered accountant, in Laurier.

COULBERT'S SON ENTERS
First Cousin's Retirement Credits will be represented by the late Senator's son, Paul Paquet, 34, an auto parts dealer, and in Laurier by Gilbert Coulburt, 34, an industrial designer and son of the former leader.

The same two men ran under the Social Credit banner in the April 1963, general election and finished second in the Liberal party in their respective ridings.

The Progressive Conservatives have nominated Rodolphe Sauve, 42, a haberdasher, in St. Denis and Rene Pausin, 47, a publicist, in Laurier.

The only woman seeking either seat is Mrs. Jeannette Delle, 43, who represented the New Democratic Party in St. Denis a member of two of the present House of Commons. Current party standings are: Liberals 127, Progressive Conservatives 95, NDP 17, Creditistes 13, Social Credit 11.

MULTIPLE SCLEROSIS CHAPTER NAMES OFFICERS

Mrs. Robert Norton, left, Canada at its annual meeting last night elected president of the P.E.I. Chapter, Multiple Sclerosis Society of right, was elected corresponding secretary, J. Merrill McLaughlin, center, in the past president. Mrs. Alvin Andrews, all are from Charlottetown.

Better Than 50-50 Chance Island To Get N.B. Power

By FARMER TISSINGTON
OTTAWA — There is a better than 50-50 chance that Prince Edward Island may be deriving some of its electric power supply from the big New Brunswick Macaigue project in the future, it was revealed here Monday following the first day of a two-day meeting of the Atlantic Development Board.

Engineers have submitted a report to the board on the feasibility of laying an underwater cable to carry power to the island. But board chairman Ian MacKeigan of Halifax said Monday that announcement of the Macaigue project, the first major project approved by the board, has thrown some light on the situation. Because of the direct bearing the power project has on the island's economy, the engineering firm has been asked to re-evaluate its report and come up with cost figures based on the new situation.

TORMENTED CABLE
But it is believed that the odds will favor the use of a cable run from the Nova Scotia power plant to the island. MacKeigan said he is hopeful that the new report will be available for the board's next meeting which will probably be held somewhere in the Atlantic Provinces in about six weeks.

The chairman said the board was spending the two-day meeting applying to the future. The meeting is the sixth the board has had since the Liberal government expanded its membership and the chairman said some progress is being made.

He said progress reports on a number of proposed projects have been received and studied, including exploring the effect of winter navigation on Atlantic ports, the Bay of Funday tidal power development plan, harbor development at Belvedere Point in New Brunswick and large hydro power project in Newfoundland.

Mr. MacKeigan said that the board is also studying the submission of an initiative from the government with respect to the development of an industrial complex at Georgetown but that some more recent developments require some written confirmation from the P.E.I. about certain aspects of the proposal.

Queen's Visit Plans Confirmed By Ottawa

OTTAWA (CP) The Queen and Prince Philip will visit Charlottetown and Quebec City in October to mark the 100th anniversary of the conferences held in 1864 leading to Confederation.

Announcing the Queen's arrival as an invitation from the federal government, Government House said the royal visit will be restricted to Prince Edward Island and Quebec capitals this year.

The Queen will arrive in Charlottetown on Oct. 6 and travel aboard the royal yacht Britannia to Quebec City, leaving there about Oct. 12.

The detailed program will be drafted and submitted for the Queen's approval. A letter that the Queen will arrive in Charlottetown on Oct. 6 and travel aboard the royal yacht Britannia to Quebec City, leaving there about Oct. 12.

Another Boost Scheduled For Coffee Price

TORONTO (CP) — General Foods Ltd. will increase its wholesale price for grocery pack ground coffee by four cents a pound effective immediately, a company spokesman said Monday.

He blamed the increase on steep rises recently in the price of green coffee, largely imported from Brazil, Colombia and Africa. The increase will be passed on to the consumer, the spokesman said.

J. P. Ghidella, president of J. Lyons and Co. (Canada) Ltd., said his firm would also increase its price by four cents a pound immediately.

Officials of other large manufacturers of coffee could not be reached for comment.

The price of coffee has risen 12 cents a pound during the last three months. This newest increase will place the retail price of coffee at more than a 1 pound.

Maritimes' Role To Be Discussed By City Native

SAINT JOHN, N.B. (CP) — The role of the Maritime Provinces in Confederation will be examined here tonight by Professor W. Stewart MacNutt of the University of New Brunswick.

Professor MacNutt will speak at a New Brunswick Historical Society meeting.

He is to evaluate the entry of the Maritime Provinces into Confederation; the nature of the agreement to join and conflict that followed.

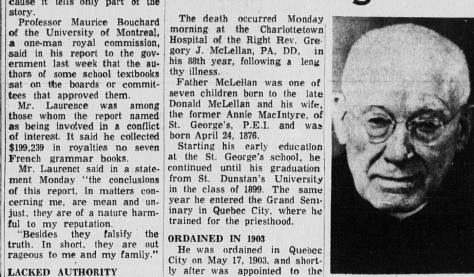

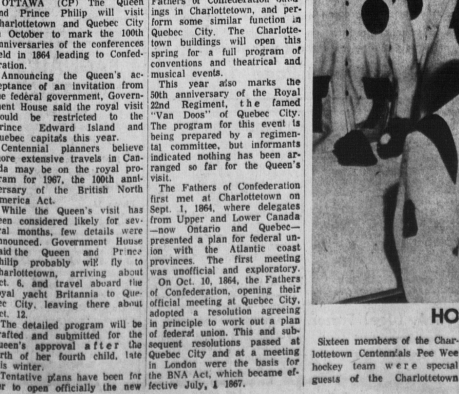

Professor MacNutt is the author of the historical work "New Brunswick — A History, 1784-1867." He is a native of Charlottetown.

HOCKEY TEAM IS GUEST OF ROTARY CLUB

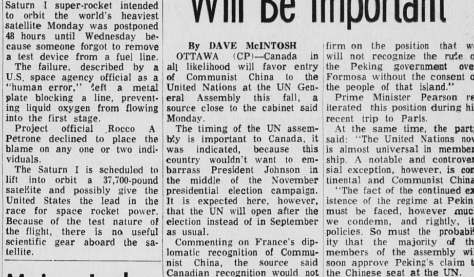

Twelve members of the Charlottetown Centennials Pee Wee hockey team were special guests of the Charlottetown Rotary Club at a luncheon meeting at the Charlottetown Hotel yesterday. Here team captain Bill Doherty presents club president W.R. Jenkins with a miniature hockey as a memento of the team's trip to the international championship next week. Mr. Jenkins told the boys he was looking forward to hosting some great games to their credit during the series in Quebec.
