

Frank W. Peterson becomes editor of The Faction

by Adam Gallant

In a move that will go down as one of the most shocking events in the history of print journalism, Frank W. Peterson seized control of The Faction.

Previously writing 'Eskimo' jokes for Kicks, Peterson recently came aboard the Faction staff to give his bitter-sweet opinions on today's society.

He became editor-in-chief on Friday, September 29, after he got drunk at the Legion with some old army buddies. "I told them that I would put their picture on the cover if they would help me become editor, so those drunk monkeys got their hunting rifles and we went down to the Faction offices."

Asked whether any harm came to John Hanson, The Faction's previous editor, Peterson said, "Heck, no — but all those men with guns sure scared the pants off him. You should have seen him run! It was just like Christmas!"

As for Peterson's motiva-

Your editor, Frank W. Peterson

tion for taking over The Faction, he said, "It's about time somebody put this newspaper [The Faction] in order. This paper [The Faction] has so much potential, but it's wasted on lame jokes about bologna and Joe Piscopo."

Peterson went on to add that he would make sure there would be more jokes about piss and Snoop Doggy Dogg.

Seeming to have everything he could possibly want, Peterson is still not satisfied. "Let's face it, pal. The Faction is a two-bit laugh rag in the middle of a student newspaper.... Not only that, but you have to fold it [The Faction] backwards to put the pages in their correct order."

Peterson said some "big things" would be happening in the near future.

When asked to elaborate, Peterson cryptically answered, "Well for one thing, I wouldn't drink the water if I were you."

The former editor, John Hanson, as photographed three days before being ejected from The Faction.

Dear Coolbreeze:

My boyfriend wants to have sex with me, but I'm worried about getting pregnant. I asked Anne Landers if he should use condoms or if I should try birth control pills, but she said abstinence was the safest form of sex. I looked abstinence up on the Internet, and discovered that it's not a form of safe sex at all. In fact it means not even having sex. Why would Anne Landers lie to me like this?

-Chastity Cheryl

Dear Chuck:

A lot of people don't know this about Anne Landers, but she is the biggest slut in the newspaper industry (Roger Ebert is the second biggest slut). She tells people how they should live their lives by not having sex until they are ready for responsibility, but meanwhile she's getting more play than a Sega Genesis. The reason she doesn't want you to have sex is so she can move in on your man when you deprive him of naughty sauce. She's such a bitch. And if she ever gives you advice on other family issues like planning a dinner party, or dealing with the neighbors, tell Abigail Van Buren to go piss in a field of poison ivy, and ask her to wipe that smug grin of her 95 year old face.

Dear Coolbreeze:

*I had a major crush on this guy that works with me at Wendy's, and we started going out a month ago. Things were great at first, but once I got to know him, he turned out to be a total jerk. He looks cute, but he insists on playing the soundtrack to The Odd Couple while we're having sex, he makes bird feeders out of every used carton of milk, and he has a tattoo on his back that says "Your Gonna Die" despite the fact that "your" is possessive, and you're, the contraction of you are is what he intended. Every time I see that tattoo, I want to end this relationship, but I don't want to dump him and make him think I was just using him for sex. Is there a way I can save his self-esteem, and make him break up with me?*

-Dating-an-Idiot

Dear Dating:

*Most guys idealize women to the point that they refuse to believe that they have digestive systems. Women reinforce this notion by rarely, if ever, admitting to having bodily functions. Shatter your boyfriend's concept of women and let our huge fart the next time you're alone with him. If he does break up with you after that, force him to watch reruns of Boy Meets World with you.*

LL Coolbreeze will soon have his own show on WTN.

