

Jurors Picked For Robbery Trial

By ARTHUR EVERETT
DALLAS (AP)—A new judge took over the Jack Ruby murder trial after the jury was selected late last Friday for the shooting of Lee Harvey Oswald, President Kennedy's assassinated assassin. He pleads to the murder indictment today and will offer the defence of temporary insanity.

The last two jurors chosen after a gap in the selection since last Friday were both women. They are Mrs. Louise Malone, 58, a tiny, white-haired widow who is an accountant, an oil company, and Mrs. Allen Shields, 37, a divorcee who works for the telephone company.

Mr. Malone was the 162nd and final juror prospect examined since the trial began Feb. 18. Her name was called when the trial was recessed overnight.

HAVE WITNESSES READY
The state was to have its opening statement today when the trial resumed. They include policemen guarding Oswald, who they stopped from a crowd in the basement of Dallas police headquarters and put inside a fatal bullet into the accused assassin's abdomen.

Judge Joe B. Brown, 55, who has conducted the murder case against Ruby ever since his arrest, became ill with a bad cold, and Judge T. T. Tamm, chief and his doctor ordered him to be replaced.

Replacing him at Brown's request was Judge J. Frank Wilson, 62, a former U.S. representative from Texas.

MISCOUCHE RHES DEBATERS

A debate, resolved that science has benefited mankind more than literature, was held at the Miscouche Regional High School home and school meeting Monday night, in conjunction with education week.

The affirmative was upheld by Claudette DesRoches and Marie Arsenault, grade 11 students shown here at left. Seated at centre is Marie when he began speaking Monday afternoon.

Claire Richard, grade 12, the champion, and at right are Stephen McQuaid and Anne Marie Arsenault, grade 11 students who won the debate presenting the negative side.

Farmers are desirous of a market, he indicated. The farmer, in buying goods such as automobiles or clothing is almost forced to "buy Canadian" because of tariffs imposed by the government. However, such tariffs do not protect the goods the farmer sells. It was pointed out that American foodstuffs come from lower prices than those in Canada and the consumer is at liberty to buy these.

MISCOUCHE EDUCATION WEEK PROJECT

Special projects in all phases of school work made by the students of Miscouche Regional High School were on display in the school gymnasium during the regular meeting of the home and school association, Monday. Here a group of 10

Youth Migration Causes Concern

By NANCY WHITE
Concern over Prince Edward Island's contribution of its young people—1,700 to 1,800 a year—was expressed Monday in the Legislature by Prosper Arsenault (L. Isl. Prince) speaking in the draft address.

Mr. Arsenault estimated that number by subtracting the number of deaths here per year from the number of births (2,000), noting that the island's population has remained about 10,000 for many years.

He commented that if the population increase rate of the last century from 32,000 in 1820 to 100,000 in 1981 had continued, the island would have a population of about 175,000—100,000.

Each year 170-1800 people migrate to Ontario and Quebec, he said, pointing out that this group is made up of people aged 20-30, "our best brains and brains who leave—every year to become a complete loss to this province."

He termed the island a "wonderful nursing ground" which provides "the best in education," (here Dr. George Dewar, president of the United Christian houses), "good character," "good social character," which turns out individuals in the main, capable and especially responsible people, who become successful in other provinces.

Mr. Arsenault attributed the "migration" to the "limited number of jobs in industry."

He intimated that since P.E.I. is a "captive market" for the industrial products of larger provinces, that these provinces should be willing to give some financial aid to help return for her "export" to them.

"We are contributing something dollars and cents every year—1700-1800 valuable persons," he said.

ISLAND NEWS PAGE

2 The Guardian, Charlottetown, Wed. March 4, 1964.

W. Prince Fishermen Join Co-operative

At a meeting held in the O'Leary High School, 20 fishermen from West Point, Coleman and St. John's, joined the W. Prince Fishermen's Co-operative Association Limited, Abram's Village.

For the 10 West Point fishermen it was the annual meeting of their Marketing Club. A financial report of the 1963 operations was presented and was qualified as members of the Acadian Fishermen's Co-operative Association Limited, Abram's Village.

At a meeting held in the O'Leary High School, 20 fishermen from West Point, Coleman and St. John's, joined the W. Prince Fishermen's Co-operative Association Limited, Abram's Village.

The fishermen present expressed their satisfaction of the 1963 operations and were pleased to have the opportunity to join the ranks of the Acadian Fishermen's Co-operative membership.

Attending the meeting were Ulrich Porter, manager of the Acadian Fishermen's organization and Urbain Lobban, representative of United Maritime Fishermen Limited and the Extension Department of St. Dunstan's University.

Parliament At A Glance

By THE CANADIAN PRESS
TUESDAY March 3, 1964
Basic spending estimates totaling $7,583,508 for the 1964-65 fiscal year were introduced by Finance Minister James Duffin in the House of Commons.

The estimates were a record, up 6.6 per cent from last year's level, a major pruning of defence costs.

External Affairs Minister Martin opened debate on the Colombo River Treaty, calling it a milestone in Canada-U.S. relations.

A bill sponsored by Jean Chretien (L.-St. Maurice-Lac Beauport) to change Trans-Canada Air Lines to Air Canada was quickly approved.

NPD Leader Douglas said his party will vote everything in its power to block ratification of the Colombo River treaty.

"Order the creditor to repay any such excess if the same is not paid or allowed on account by the debtor;"

"Set aside either wholly or in part or revise or alter and securely given or agreement made in respect of the money lent, and, if the creditor has parted with the security, order him to identify the debtor."

The Act says that a debtor may apply for relief under the Act "in a justice of the peace court in which he resides and in the judge on the application may exercise any of the powers set forth in the Act."

PC Member From Prince Opposes Top Killer Ban

By DON MACLEOD
Taking part in the draft address, Keith Harrington (P.C. 3rd Prince) spoke out in the Legislature against the government's intention to introduce legislation restricting the use of poisonous potato top killers in the province.

Mr. Harrington stated he was against such legislation for two reasons.

"One reason," he said, "is philosophical." He said every one should have the utmost possible freedom so long as that freedom does not infringe on the rights of others. He said "if a user of poisonous chemicals follows directions, he will do no harm." He said he was for "utmost punishment" of the user.

Mr. Harrington said he was against restrictions, as it could affect the farmer economically. It had been suggested that the use of non-toxic top killers could add from $3 to $5 per acre to the cost of producing potatoes.

The speaker said he thought it was not within "the power of this Legislature to restrict something that is safe to use for the purpose it was intended." He suggested that many people are making comments about the poisonous chemicals when they really do not understand the implications of their comments.

SNOW PWC STATUS
Commenting on education, Mr. Harrington said the Legislature should give quick and serious consideration to requests that Prince of Wales College be made a university and to requests for financial assistance from St. Dunstan's University.

Expressing concern over the taxation structure of the province, Mr. Harrington said the money-raising system is outdated and should be based on earning power and not on real estate." He suggested that a commission be set up to study the tax structure of the province.

Dealing with agriculture, Mr. Harrington pointed out that the wheat pool in the west had been of great advantage in marketing grain. He suggested that more federal agencies should be set up to market such items as vegetables, livestock and dairy products. He said a potato marketing board set up on the federal level could do a great deal for orderly marketing, thus giving agriculture a greater share of the national income.

In other House business this morning, the Highway Traffic Act was taken back into a committee of the whole House for several amendments by Provincial Secretary J. David Stewart. It was found that the original bill conflicted with the Civil Service Act regarding the appointment of a motor vehicle inspector and an amendment cleared up this point.

FARM TRUCKS

Mr. Harrington advocated that the government "lower licence fees on farm trucks. Many farmers do not use the highways, yet they must pay high registration fees and tax," he said.

"I believe this is discrimination," he commented.

Speaking on cattle prices, he noted that, although prices paid to the farmer stand today at 15-17 cents, whereas last year they were 20-21 cents, the consumer pays the same price.

"This indicates that the farmer is getting the wool pulled over his eyes,"—and is losing $3 to $40 an animal," Mr. Harrington said.

During a discussion on marketing of potatoes, Mr. Harrington was asked by Harold Smith (L. 4th Queens) if he is in favour of "central selling" of the establishment of one marketing board.

"Yes, I am," he replied and the Liberal MLA's pointed their desks.

He said this was because it would prevent the present situation which generates competition between not only the various provinces, but between the marketing boards as well.

Mr. Harrington said that farm labor should be put on the same basis as that in other industry, with unemployment stamps being given to the workers.

Bill Gives Courts New Power In Proceedings By Creditors

Second reading—approval in principle—was given a bill in the Legislature yesterday that would allow the courts certain powers in actions or proceedings by a creditor for recovery of money lent.

Promoted by Attorney General Alvan Farmer, the bill is called The Unconscionable Transactions Relief Act.

The powers conferred to the courts by the act may also be exercised in an action or proceeding by the debtor notwithstanding and provision or agreement to the contrary, and notwithstanding that the time for repayment of the loan or money lent has not expired.

"And in an action or proceeding in which the amount due to or become due in respect of the money lent is in question."

According to the act, "where, in respect of money lent, the court finds that having regard to the risk and all the circumstances, the cost of the loan is excessive and that the transaction is harsh and unconscionable."

"Re-open the transaction and take an account between the creditor and debtor."

"Notwithstanding any statement or settlement of account or any agreement purporting to close previous dealings and to alter the cost of the money lent."

al manager for the Atlantic Provinces, who came over from Halifax for the occasion.

It was followed by the annual Brier banquet presided over by David Stewart, Premier of the province. MacDonald Tobacco Company, Macdonald Tobacco Company, guests at the long held table were: Premier of the province, Mr. Stewart then called on Lieutenant Governor W. J. MacDonald who found a relationship between curing and his illness and proposed a movement to draw together "the grandest force of sportsmen in the province."

The Scottish ancestry of the game was recalled as the first Grand table was set and then the members of the 11 rinks were invited to their places by Piper John Eves.

Speaking briefly Mr. Stewart noted it was the 30th Brier and thanked the Premier of Prince Edward Island for a wonderful reception of the warrrath of the province. He noted how the Brier itself had moved over the country from year to year and how many of the Brier had permitted curiers to see so many parts of the province.

Guest speaker for the dinner was Dr. Frank MacKinnon, principal of Prince of Wales College and chairman of the Fathers of Confederation Memorial Foundation, who led the 1964 Centennial as its theme.

Quarry Turns Saint John Fourn Sold At Auction

By PETER ARNETT
"AN CHUAU (AP)—Community spirit ripped into two South Vietnamese airborne battalions staking Viet Cong guerrillas in West Viet Nam Tuesday and dropped 100 men—15 dead and 85 wounded—as the quarry turned on the hunter.

Among the dead in an hour-long battle was a U.S. captain, an "adviser" to forward troops elements. Seventy miles away from the east, another American officer perished in a guerrilla attack on a South Vietnamese Ranger unit to which he was assigned.

Maritime Life Director

At the Annual General Meeting of The Maritime Life Assurance Company, Air Marshal Hugh Campbell was elected to the Board of Directors. A/M Campbell, who is a director of Canadian Aviation Electronics Ltd. and John Inglis Co. Ltd., retired last year as Chief of Air Staff.

DEATH NOTICES

(Received too late for Classified Death Notice column.)

MARTIN—At the Charlottetown Hospital, Monday, March 2, 1964, Mrs. Edna Gallant, 91, of the 91st year. Her remains are resting at the Charlottetown Funeral Home until Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at which time they will be forwarded to the home of her son, Edmond Martin, from where the funeral will be held Thursday morning leaving the home at 9:30 a.m. for Solernum Burial Home, O'Connell Avenue, Augustus, Church, South Rustico, at 10 o'clock. Interment in the church cemetery.

GALLANT—At the Charlottetown Hospital, Tuesday, March 3, 1964, Mrs. Agnes Gallant, 88, of Oyster Bed Bridge in her 88th year. Her remains are resting at the Memorial Funeral Home. Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

GILLIS—As the result of a car accident at Ellerslie, March 3, 1964, Cynthia Pearl Gillis in her 67th year. Her remains will be forwarded Wednesday evening from Jellies Funeral Home, 1000 Main Street, to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Gillis, Ellerslie, Funeral home, O'Connell Avenue, Augustus, Church, service commencing at 2 o'clock. Interment in the church cemetery.

EDWARDS—At the Prince Edward Island Hospital on Monday, March 2, 1964, Mrs. Maude Edwards of 247 Grand Street in her 81st year, was released from the Macleod Memorial Home from where the funeral will be held Wednesday, March 4, 1964, with service commencing at 2:30 p.m. Remains will be placed in the Macleod Memorial Home, later to be interred in North Wilshire cemetery. Please omit flowers.

WHEEL OF FORTUNE

(Continued from page 1)
The more "Was Richardson, who was the first winner for Saskatchewan, spoke glowingly of the Island fortune, "I was a big winner," he said, "I prefer to keep it clear, but against them we had to do something when we fell behind."

Of Bob Dillon, second stone on the curque rink, "I was lavish in his praise and not the least of his words was that "fortune is a matter of necessity to curier."

The east side of the Forum was jammed solidly with fans to watch the battle of titans on the fourth lane.

Yesterday was a day for curing and Ron Ketch had a top sheet of ice in spite of the mild spring weather. Praline of his efforts was heard in many quarters.

BANK RECEPTION
The pace of entertainment—what, but it was compensated for in the evening when the bank was jammed solidly with a reception for a host of curiers and officiating officials at the Bank of Montreal, who held the bank.

Official hosts at the reception were Reg Boyce, manager of the bank, and his wife, and Thomas R. Francis, president of the bank.

WHEEL OF FORTUNE

(Continued from page 1)
The more "Was Richardson, who was the first winner for Saskatchewan, spoke glowingly of the Island fortune, "I was a big winner," he said, "I prefer to keep it clear, but against them we had to do something when we fell behind."

Of Bob Dillon, second stone on the curque rink, "I was lavish in his praise and not the least of his words was that "fortune is a matter of necessity to curier."

The east side of the Forum was jammed solidly with fans to watch the battle of titans on the fourth lane.

Yesterday was a day for curing and Ron Ketch had a top sheet of ice in spite of the mild spring weather. Praline of his efforts was heard in many quarters.

BANK RECEPTION
The pace of entertainment—what, but it was compensated for in the evening when the bank was jammed solidly with a reception for a host of curiers and officiating officials at the Bank of Montreal, who held the bank.

Official hosts at the reception were Reg Boyce, manager of the bank, and his wife, and Thomas R. Francis, president of the bank.

WHEEL OF FORTUNE

(Continued from page 1)
The more "Was Richardson, who was the first winner for Saskatchewan, spoke glowingly of the Island fortune, "I was a big winner," he said, "I prefer to keep it clear, but against them we had to do something when we fell behind."

Of Bob Dillon, second stone on the curque rink, "I was lavish in his praise and not the least of his words was that "fortune is a matter of necessity to curier."

The east side of the Forum was jammed solidly with fans to watch the battle of titans on the fourth lane.

Yesterday was a day for curing and Ron Ketch had a top sheet of ice in spite of the mild spring weather. Praline of his efforts was heard in many quarters.

BANK RECEPTION
The pace of entertainment—what, but it was compensated for in the evening when the bank was jammed solidly with a reception for a host of curiers and officiating officials at the Bank of Montreal, who held the bank.

Official hosts at the reception were Reg Boyce, manager of the bank, and his wife, and Thomas R. Francis, president of the bank.

WHEEL OF FORTUNE

(Continued from page 1)
The more "Was Richardson, who was the first winner for Saskatchewan, spoke glowingly of the Island fortune, "I was a big winner," he said, "I prefer to keep it clear, but against them we had to do something when we fell behind."

Of Bob Dillon, second stone on the curque rink, "I was lavish in his praise and not the least of his words was that "fortune is a matter of necessity to curier."

The east side of the Forum was jammed solidly with fans to watch the battle of titans on the fourth lane.

Yesterday was a day for curing and Ron Ketch had a top sheet of ice in spite of the mild spring weather. Praline of his efforts was heard in many quarters.

BANK RECEPTION
The pace of entertainment—what, but it was compensated for in the evening when the bank was jammed solidly with a reception for a host of curiers and officiating officials at the Bank of Montreal, who held the bank.

Official hosts at the reception were Reg Boyce, manager of the bank, and his wife, and Thomas R. Francis, president of the bank.

WHEEL OF FORTUNE

(Continued from page 1)
The more "Was Richardson, who was the first winner for Saskatchewan, spoke glowingly of the Island fortune, "I was a big winner," he said, "I prefer to keep it clear, but against them we had to do something when we fell behind."

Of Bob Dillon, second stone on the curque rink, "I was lavish in his praise and not the least of his words was that "fortune is a matter of necessity to curier."

The east side of the Forum was jammed solidly with fans to watch the battle of titans on the fourth lane.

Yesterday was a day for curing and Ron Ketch had a top sheet of ice in spite of the mild spring weather. Praline of his efforts was heard in many quarters.

BANK RECEPTION
The pace of entertainment—what, but it was compensated for in the evening when the bank was jammed solidly with a reception for a host of curiers and officiating officials at the Bank of Montreal, who held the bank.

Official hosts at the reception were Reg Boyce, manager of the bank, and his wife, and Thomas R. Francis, president of the bank.

WHEEL OF FORTUNE

(Continued from page 1)
The more "Was Richardson, who was the first winner for Saskatchewan, spoke glowingly of the Island fortune, "I was a big winner," he said, "I prefer to keep it clear, but against them we had to do something when we fell behind."

Of Bob Dillon, second stone on the curque rink, "I was lavish in his praise and not the least of his words was that "fortune is a matter of necessity to curier."

The east side of the Forum was jammed solidly with fans to watch the battle of titans on the fourth lane.

Yesterday was a day for curing and Ron Ketch had a top sheet of ice in spite of the mild spring weather. Praline of his efforts was heard in many quarters.

BANK RECEPTION
The pace of entertainment—what, but it was compensated for in the evening when the bank was jammed solidly with a reception for a host of curiers and officiating officials at the Bank of Montreal, who held the bank.

Official hosts at the reception were Reg Boyce, manager of the bank, and his wife, and Thomas R. Francis, president of the bank.

WHEEL OF FORTUNE

(Continued from page 1)
The more "Was Richardson, who was the first winner for Saskatchewan, spoke glowingly of the Island fortune, "I was a big winner," he said, "I prefer to keep it clear, but against them we had to do something when we fell behind."

Of Bob Dillon, second stone on the curque rink, "I was lavish in his praise and not the least of his words was that "fortune is a matter of necessity to curier."

The east side of the Forum was jammed solidly with fans to watch the battle of titans on the fourth lane.

Yesterday was a day for curing and Ron Ketch had a top sheet of ice in spite of the mild spring weather. Praline of his efforts was heard in many quarters.

BANK RECEPTION
The pace of entertainment—what, but it was compensated for in the evening when the bank was jammed solidly with a reception for a host of curiers and officiating officials at the Bank of Montreal, who held the bank.

Official hosts at the reception were Reg Boyce, manager of the bank, and his wife, and Thomas R. Francis, president of the bank.

WHEEL OF FORTUNE

(Continued from page 1)
The more "Was Richardson, who was the first winner for Saskatchewan, spoke glowingly of the Island fortune, "I was a big winner," he said, "I prefer to keep it clear, but against them we had to do something when we fell behind."

Of Bob Dillon, second stone on the curque rink, "I was lavish in his praise and not the least of his words was that "fortune is a matter of necessity to curier."

The east side of the Forum was jammed solidly with fans to watch the battle of titans on the fourth lane.

Yesterday was a day for curing and Ron Ketch had a top sheet of ice in spite of the mild spring weather. Praline of his efforts was heard in many quarters.

BANK RECEPTION
The pace of entertainment—what, but it was compensated for in the evening when the bank was jammed solidly with a reception for a host of curiers and officiating officials at the Bank of Montreal, who held the bank.

Official hosts at the reception were Reg Boyce, manager of the bank, and his wife, and Thomas R. Francis, president of the bank.

WHEEL OF FORTUNE

(Continued from page 1)
The more "Was Richardson, who was the first winner for Saskatchewan, spoke glowingly of the Island fortune, "I was a big winner," he said, "I prefer to keep it clear, but against them we had to do something when we fell behind."

Of Bob Dillon, second stone on the curque rink, "I was lavish in his praise and not the least of his words was that "fortune is a matter of necessity to curier."

The east side of the Forum was jammed solidly with fans to watch the battle of titans on the fourth lane.

Yesterday was a day for curing and Ron Ketch had a top sheet of ice in spite of the mild spring weather. Praline of his efforts was heard in many quarters.

BANK RECEPTION
The pace of entertainment—what, but it was compensated for in the evening when the bank was jammed solidly with a reception for a host of curiers and officiating officials at the Bank of Montreal, who held the bank.

Official hosts at the reception were Reg Boyce, manager of the bank, and his wife, and Thomas R. Francis, president of the bank.

WHEEL OF FORTUNE

(Continued from page 1)
The more "Was Richardson, who was the first winner for Saskatchewan, spoke glowingly of the Island fortune, "I was a big winner," he said, "I prefer to keep it clear, but against them we had to do something when we fell behind."

Of Bob Dillon, second stone on the curque rink, "I was lavish in his praise and not the least of his words was that "fortune is a matter of necessity to curier."

The east side of the Forum was jammed solidly with fans to watch the battle of titans on the fourth lane.

Yesterday was a day for curing and Ron Ketch had a top sheet of ice in spite of the mild spring weather. Praline of his efforts was heard in many quarters.

BANK RECEPTION
The pace of entertainment—what, but it was compensated for in the evening when the bank was jammed solidly with a reception for a host of curiers and officiating officials at the Bank of Montreal, who held the bank.

Official hosts at the reception were Reg Boyce, manager of the bank, and his wife, and Thomas R. Francis, president of the bank.

WHEEL OF FORTUNE

(Continued from page 1)
The more "Was Richardson, who was the first winner for Saskatchewan, spoke glowingly of the Island fortune, "I was a big winner," he said, "I prefer to keep it clear, but against them we had to do something when we fell behind."

Of Bob Dillon, second stone on the curque rink, "I was lavish in his praise and not the least of his words was that "fortune is a matter of necessity to curier."

The east side of the Forum was jammed solidly with fans to watch the battle of titans on the fourth lane.

Yesterday was a day for curing and Ron Ketch had a top sheet of ice in spite of the mild spring weather. Praline of his efforts was heard in many quarters.

BANK RECEPTION
The pace of entertainment—what, but it was compensated for in the evening when the bank was jammed solidly with a reception for a host of curiers and officiating officials at the Bank of Montreal, who held the bank.

Official hosts at the reception were Reg Boyce, manager of the bank, and his wife, and Thomas R. Francis, president of the bank.

WHEEL OF FORTUNE

(Continued from page 1)
The more "Was Richardson, who was the first winner for Saskatchewan, spoke glowingly of the Island fortune, "I was a big winner," he said, "I prefer to keep it clear, but against them we had to do something when we fell behind."

Of Bob Dillon, second stone on the curque rink, "I was lavish in his praise and not the least of his words was that "fortune is a matter of necessity to curier."

The east side of the Forum was jammed solidly with fans to watch the battle of titans on the fourth lane.

Yesterday was a day for curing and Ron Ketch had a top sheet of ice in spite of the mild spring weather. Praline of his efforts was heard in many quarters.

BANK RECEPTION
The pace of entertainment—what, but it was compensated for in the evening when the bank was jammed solidly with a reception for a host of curiers and officiating officials at the Bank of Montreal, who held the bank.

Official hosts at the reception were Reg Boyce, manager of the bank, and his wife, and Thomas R. Francis, president of the bank.

WHEEL OF FORTUNE

(Continued from page 1)
The more "Was Richardson, who was the first winner for Saskatchewan, spoke glowingly of the Island fortune, "I was a big winner," he said, "I prefer to keep it clear, but against them we had to do something when we fell behind."

Of Bob Dillon, second stone on the curque rink, "I was lavish in his praise and not the least of his words was that "fortune is a matter of necessity to curier."

The east side of the Forum was jammed solidly with fans to watch the battle of titans on the fourth lane.

Yesterday was a day for curing and Ron Ketch had a top sheet of ice in spite of the mild spring weather. Praline of his efforts was heard in many quarters.

BANK RECEPTION
The pace of entertainment—what, but it was compensated for in the evening when the bank was jammed solidly with a reception for a host of curiers and officiating officials at the Bank of Montreal, who held the bank.

Official hosts at the reception were Reg Boyce, manager of the bank, and his wife, and Thomas R. Francis, president of the bank.

WHEEL OF FORTUNE

(Continued from page 1)
The more "Was Richardson, who was the first winner for Saskatchewan, spoke glowingly of the Island fortune, "I was a big winner," he said, "I prefer to keep it clear, but against them we had to do something when we fell behind."

Of Bob Dillon, second stone on the curque rink, "I was lavish in his praise and not the least of his words was that "fortune is a matter of necessity to curier."

The east side of the Forum was jammed solidly with fans to watch the battle of titans on the fourth lane.

Yesterday was a day for curing and Ron Ketch had a top sheet of ice in spite of the mild spring weather. Praline of his efforts was heard in many quarters.

BANK RECEPTION
The pace of entertainment—what, but it was compensated for in the evening when the bank was jammed solidly with a reception for a host of curiers and officiating officials at the Bank of Montreal, who held the bank.

Official hosts at the reception were Reg Boyce, manager of the bank, and his wife, and Thomas R. Francis, president of the bank.

WHEEL OF FORTUNE

(Continued from page 1)
The more "Was Richardson, who was the first winner for Saskatchewan, spoke glowingly of the Island fortune, "I was a big winner," he said, "I prefer to keep it clear, but against them we had to do something when we fell behind."

Of Bob Dillon, second stone on the curque rink, "I was lavish in his praise and not the least of his words was that "fortune is a matter of necessity to curier."

The east side of the Forum was jammed solidly with fans to watch the battle of titans on the fourth lane.

Yesterday was a day for curing and Ron Ketch had a top sheet of ice in spite of the mild spring weather. Praline of his efforts was heard in many quarters.

BANK RECEPTION
The pace of entertainment—what, but it was compensated for in the evening when the bank was jammed solidly with a reception for a host of curiers and officiating officials at the Bank of Montreal, who held the bank.

Official hosts at the reception were Reg Boyce, manager of the bank, and his wife, and Thomas R. Francis, president of the bank.

WHEEL OF FORTUNE

(Continued from page 1)
The more "Was Richardson, who was the first winner for Saskatchewan, spoke glowingly of the Island fortune, "I was a big winner," he said, "I prefer to keep it clear, but against them we had to do something when we fell behind."

Of Bob Dillon, second stone on the curque rink, "I was lavish in his praise and not the least of his words was that "fortune is a matter of necessity to curier."

The east side of the Forum was jammed solidly with fans to watch the battle of titans on the fourth lane.

Yesterday was a day for curing and Ron Ketch had a top sheet of ice in spite of the mild spring weather. Praline of his efforts was heard in many quarters.

BANK RECEPTION
The pace of entertainment—what, but it was compensated for in the evening when the bank was jammed solidly with a reception for a host of curiers and officiating officials at the Bank of Montreal, who held the bank.

Official hosts at the reception were Reg Boyce, manager of the bank, and his wife, and Thomas R. Francis, president of the bank.

WHEEL OF FORTUNE

(Continued from page 1)
The more "Was Richardson, who was the first winner for Saskatchewan, spoke glowingly of the Island fortune, "I was a big winner," he said, "I prefer to keep it clear, but against them we had to do something when we fell behind."

Of Bob Dillon, second stone on the curque rink, "I was lavish in his praise and not the least of his words was that "fortune is a matter of necessity to curier."

The east side of the Forum was jammed solidly with fans to watch the battle of titans on the fourth lane.

Yesterday was a day for curing and Ron Ketch had a top sheet of ice in spite of the mild spring weather. Praline of his efforts was heard in many quarters.

BANK RECEPTION
The pace of entertainment—what, but it was compensated for in the evening when the bank was jammed solidly with a reception for a host of curiers and officiating officials at the Bank of Montreal, who held the bank.

Official hosts at the reception were Reg Boyce, manager of the bank, and his wife, and Thomas R. Francis, president of the bank.