

Charlie Goldman Thinks He Has Another Champ

MONTON, N.B. (CP)—T.ainer Charley Goldman, who helped guide Rocky Marciano to the heavyweight throne, thinks he has another champion in Yvon Durelle.

"Yvon had (Archie) Moore ready for the ice box in their first fight but he let him off the hook in the second round," said Goldman. "It won't happen again. This time once Yvon gets him it's going to be over quick."

Durelle, the burly Canadian and British Empire light heavyweight king, meets the 42-plus Moore, the world champion, in a return title fight at Montreal's Forum July 29.

In their first scrap, rated the fight of 1958, Durelle floored the aged ruler four times — three times in the first round. Yvon was dumped four times himself, the last time for the count in the 11th round, in their hectic brawl on Dec. 10.

Durelle became cautious in the second round and Moore recovered and actually won that round.

THE BIG MISTAKE

"That was the big mistake," said Goldman. "You've got to press Moore all the way. Never let up on him. One of these days he's bound to fall apart from old age. You've gotta press him."

That's what the tiny conditioner has been telling Durelle ever since he was hired on June 3 to

CLUB NEWS

The Lot 16 4-H Club met in the Central Lot 16 School on Thursday evening July 2, 1959. Twenty-two members and two visitors were present.

A letter was received explaining the Queen's visit to Prince Edward Island and 4-H Clubs are being represented all over the Island in Charlottetown, and it was hoped that eight or more members could represent the club.

For roll call next month members are to name a part of the cow and the person following tell where it is found.

Ways and Means Committee for the month of July is Grace Lyle, Leigh Winchester, Irene Farrell and Gordon MacLaren, who are planning to have a winter race in the near future. It was decided to have an Ice Cream Social in the Lot 16 Community Hall on Monday evening, July 13, under the supervision of the committee, Gloria MacLean, Allan Forbes and Donna MacLaren.

Members were given disinfectant and isolation to look up.

Kay Forbes and Gordon MacLaren gave brief but interesting speeches on our judging classes held this week.

Speeches are to be given next month by Norma Yeo who will tell about boy's judging at the Shorthorn Field Day and Dale Hutchinson who will tell about the girl's judging.

Questions were asked about Beef Characteristics by Club Leader, Eddie Clarke.

The East Baltic Calf Club held its meeting at the East Baltic School on June 8, 1959. There were ten members present and five absent. The meeting was called in order by requesting the club pledge. The minutes were read and approved.

A Judging Class was held on May 11 at Stewart MacGregor's. There were ten members present and five absent. It was moved and seconded that the next Judging Class be held at Stewart MacGregor's.

Match Race Is Called Off

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP)—prospects of a match race between Hillsdale and Round Table this summer collapsed Tuesday but the two might meet in the fall.

C. W. Smith of Detroit, owner of Hillsdale, announced that his 4-year-old colt will soon take a vacation.

Travis M. Kerr's Round Table, now in Chicago, and Hillsdale are among the nation's leaders for "horse of the year" honors.

Smith emphasized that he is not afraid of Round Table but he wants his horse in the best of condition if and when they meet.

"Hillsdale has had 10 tough races this year, winning eight of them and running second in the other two. Round Table has had only two races and is fresh," Smith explained.

Barry's Lions Nip Dodgers 3-1

The Dodgers scored their only run in the first frame, but the Lions tied it up in the second. They scored their other runs in the fourth and the seventh.

Top batters of the game were Buck Whitlock of the Lions and Keith Dalziel of the Dodgers, each hitting 2 for 3. Whitlock smashed a double and a single and Dalziel hit a pair of singles.

G. Coyle, centrefielder for the Dodgers made a couple of beautiful catches to rob Sammy Gregory and Angie Carroll of his and Angie Carroll of the Lions made a beautiful running catch on a long ball hit by Elmer Mahar to end the game.

Ivan 'Fats' Connors called the balls and strikes and Moe Goodwin handled the bases.

Basilio's home state—New York—still recognizes Sugar Ray Robinson as champion.

Fullmer and Basilio, the non-playboy types—family men, community leaders, rigid adherents to training. Both are dedicated to their religion. Basilio is a Catholic, Fullmer a Mormon.

"You ever see Fullmer be a nice guy in the ring," Basilio asked "when questioned on what would happen when two such gentlemen meet."

"We may be nice guys outside the ring, but when that bell sounds we're doing out professional. He's good," Basilio continued, "and it will take top condition to beat him. Condition is what counts."

At 27, Fullmer is five years younger than Basilio.

Former Star Will Coach

A number of local track and field enthusiasts have reorganized the Abegweit track team. A number of local well-known track people have begun workouts at Memorial Field and workout will be held this evening at 6 p.m. Anyone interested in participating is invited to attend.

Harry Hodge, physiotherapist with the Provincial government and a former English champion, will assist with the coaching.

Mr. Hodge still is a holder of the English National record for the 100 in 9.7. He competed in International competition from 1918 to 1933. During his long career Mr. Hodge has won hundreds of gold medals in European countries.

George Walters still the holder of numerous Maritime field event records, will also be available for coaching.

Jack Reedy will also assist with the coaching and organizing details.

Remember: Tonight at 6 p.m. at Memorial Field for anyone interested in track and field.

Robins, Indians Are Winners

Tuesday morning at Memorial Field the Robins downed the Gulls by a score of 9-4. Against Wayne McCabe was master of the situation as he scattered the Gulls' hits.

Billy Pouton allowed the Robins nine hits, pitching a steady game.

The Giants edged the Indians 3-2 in Little League action. Eddie McInnis was the winner although he was relieved by Willie McInnis in the final frame.

Moe Doyle, pitching his first Little League game had trouble with his control and was tagged for five hits.

BLACKLEG A THREAT

The sudden common deadly disease of Blackleg is a threat to every dairyman says Dr. George C. Fisher, Director of Veterinary Services.

The onset of Blackleg is so sudden that early death takes place before symptoms of sickness are usually seen. Most stricken animals die within twelve to thirty-six hours after symptoms first appear.

ATTACKS YOUNG STOCK:

Blackleg usually attacks young stock from six months to two years. Suckling calves under four months and cows older than two years are seldom troubled. Occasionally sheep, goats and hogs contract the disease. Fortunately, man, horses, dogs, cats and birds are immune to Blackleg.

Blackleg is usually too far along to save the animal when first noticed. In very early cases anti-biotic therapy can be helpful.

PROTECTION

Vaccination is the only reliable protective measure says Dr. Fisher. All calves should be vaccinated at weaning time. Some Veterinarians vaccinate for Brucellosis and Blackleg at the same time.

Blackleg is caused by a gas producing germ which multiplies by means of microscopic spores. The spores are resistant to heat and dryness and survive for years in the soil.

Infection probably occurs through wounds or other openings in the skin. Small punctures in the digestive tract and the like.

Direct spread from infected to healthy stock by mere contact does not occur.

Stricken animals may be found standing or lying away from the herd. They often are lame and have fever from 105 to 107 degrees. Gas-filled swellings form under the skin of the hind quarters, neck, chest, flank, rump or shoulder.

The early swellings are small, hot and painful. Later they grow larger, become cold and are painless.

If the swelling is pressed by hand it crackles like tissue paper due to gas beneath the skin.

The animal breathes rapidly, has no appetite and is severely depressed.

Soon the body temperature drops, violent convulsions occur and death ensues.

Blackleg can be confused with malignant edema, anthrax, shipping fever and certain plant poisonings. A Laboratory examination will make sure. This service is available through your Provincial Laboratory in Charlottetown. All that is necessary is to contact your district Veterinarian who can give you the details.

BURN DEAD ANIMALS

Any animal dead from Blackleg should be thoroughly burned or deeply buried in quick lime.

But most important see about vaccination. Your Veterinarian will advise you.

CAN BE PREVENTED

The estimated loss of Prince Edward Island's swine runs into several thousands of baby pigs. About seventy-five percent of these losses are experienced before weaning and 25 percent after weaning. In the large group which attained weaning age the losses are experienced while they're having been stillborn or died of weakness, overlying, exposure, starvation, cannibalism, gastro-enteritis, enema or a number of other causes. With each pig representing 144 pounds of feed at birth and 225 pounds at time of weaning this loss can be estimated by each individual owner.

Many of the losses could be prevented with good nutrition and good management. All of them practiced months in advance of the farrowing season. None of the countless feed additives now available would compensate for comings in any of these three important factors.

The ration fed to a two month old gilt may well be the decisive factor in the size and the condition of the litter it will farrow ten months later. A deficiency of essential vitamins may result in a weak or stillborn pig and a limited output of milk and the weak pigs, if not crushed by the sow are unequipped to combat the effects of exposure and gastro-intestinal disease.

The concrete pig pens and the acceleration of rates of growth have made the nutritional needs of swine more critical than in the past, as green forage and good pasture used to offset many of the nutritional deficiencies of grain rations. The rations of pigs raised on concrete must, therefore, be entirely adequate and only a trained nutritionist can insure that the ration covers every need.

It is suggested that when herd replacements are selected, roomy gifts with twelve or more functional nipples, sufficient to supply every pig simultaneously, should be sought.

Breeding animals must be free from disease. Farrowing crates should be standard equipment, and the temperature within the farrowing barn should be controlled to prevent losses from heat stroke in summer and to susceptibility to respiratory and gastro-intestinal diseases because of the exposure in winter. The installation of well placed fans will reduce the hazard of extreme warmth. It would also provide a

Basilio Opens Hard Training

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—Carmen Basilio opened hard training Tuesday for his middleweight title bout with Gene Fullmer and said they'll forget the "nice guy" labels when they meet next month.

"You can't be a nice guy and win, nice guys finish second, the craggy-faced Basilio said before going four sharp rounds with two quick - punching sparring partners.

Basilio and Fullmer will meet in San Francisco's Cow Palace Aug. 26 for the National Boxing Association version of the title.
