

BETA SIGMA PHI

Alpha Chapter met at the home of Mrs. Gordon Rayner on Wednesday, March 19th, with fifteen members in attendance. A short business period was conducted by the president and the nominating committee brought in a new slate of officers as follows: President Mrs. Gordon Rayner (re-elected), Vice-President Mrs. Myron Bell, Recording Secretary Miss Jeanne MacRae, Corresponding Secretary Miss Audrey Gillis, Treasurer Miss Mary MacKenzie. The guest speaker for the evening was Miss Eleanor Lowe, Art teacher at Prince of Wales College and her subject was "Painting and Sculpture." The meeting was brought to a Watson, assisted by the hostess, close with refreshments served by Mrs. Jack Porter and Mrs. Ted. Instead of the regular meeting on March 12th, the Chapter had a White Elephant Sale into which members and guests entered with great enjoyment. Mrs. Jack Porter made a very capable auctioneer. Refreshments were served by Miss Marion Shaw, Miss Alice MacLeod, Mrs. Don MacLeod and Mrs. Bill Thompson.

Two Can Sing

by James M. Cain CHAPTER TWO Part One

"Were you the one in the hat?" Leonard asked. "Yes, of course," replied Cecil. "Well, I've got a little quarrel with you." "What for?" "For laughing at me. What was so funny?" "Why, you're quite mistaken. Mrs. Hertz and I were talking; you may have been laughing, but not at you. Why—" "All right, then. What is it?" "Nothing, only—well, I judged from what you said that you wanted a competent opinion on your wife's singing. I dropped in at that recital. Perhaps you'd like to know what I thought?" "I'd be delighted." "Then why not drop over and see me?" "I don't know any reason why not..." She had a suite up on the tenth floor with a grand piano in it and music scattered all over the place, and she let me in herself. She had good-looking, all right. She had a pale, ivory skin, but her hair was black, and so were her eyes. She had a drink ready, and asked me if I was a musician. I said no, I was a contractor, and next thing I knew I had had two drinks and was gabbling about myself like some drummer in a chair car. After a while, though, I pulled up, and said, "Well," and she switched off to Doris. "Your wife has a remarkable voice, and her tone is well produced. Of course..." "Go on. What else?" "I would criticize her style. But good style doesn't come in a day. If she works at it, that ought to come around." "Then you think she ought to go on?" "With such looks and such a voice, certainly." With that we dropped it. In spite of all she said, it added up to faint praise. A boy came in with a note. "Something wrong?" "I'm singing at some war veterans' thing in Brooklyn tonight and I promised to do a song they want, and I've forgotten to get the words to it; and the man who was to give them to me has gone out of town, and here's his note saying he'll give me a ring tomorrow—and no words." "What song?" "Oh, some song they sang in the Navy during the war. Something about a destroyer. Isn't that annoying?" "Oh, that song." "You know it?" "Sure. I was a kid in the war when I was a kid." "Well, for heavens sake sing it!" She sat down to the piano and started to play it. She already knew the tune. I sang. She got up, walked over to the sofa, and sat down, her face perfectly white. "Borland," she said, "your wife's no good." "Oh, she's not?" "I—what? You have a voice." "You have a voice." Her eyes weren't wide open any more. They were half closed to a couple of slits. Then she kissed me, and kissed hard. "What made you go to Hertz," she asked. "Didn't you know any better?" "Yes." "Then why did you do it?" "I had to." She twisted her head around, where it was on my shoulder, and looked at me. "You're crazy about her, aren't you?" "More or less." "I'm sorry I said she was no good. She really has a voice. She might improve... Maybe I was jealous of her." She started to laugh. "You could have knocked me over with a straw when I saw Hugo Lorentz coming out there to the piano." "To be continued."

Lectures For S.S. Teachers And Church Workers Continue

Despite the many activities taking place on Monday evening, a very enthusiastic group of Sunday School Teachers and Church Workers met with Dr. Shaw in St. Paul's Hall and listened with much interest to the third of his talks dealing with the different phases of Christian Education. For the benefit of those who had not attended the previous week there was a short review and Dr. Shaw stressed the point that the maturing child is not a little man or woman but must develop in various stages. He told his listeners they must bear in mind the difference between an adult and a child and if their method of teaching is to be worthwhile it must be of the type which will be effective before the machinery is installed to enable them to think and act as an adult. The main topic of the evening was the Subject Matter of the Sunday School. Just as one has learned the different stages of development of the Child so he must also study the method used in teaching, this will of course vary and depend upon what he is teaching. The period of worship preceding the lesson is important, the Children learn the conventions of Church behaviour and the important functions of worship which should show them how to act later. There are of course many different types of knowledge and while drill and memory work are tremendously important, and it is an excellent thing to have the children familiar with many of the Gems of the Bible, one must by all means have some understanding on the part of the child of that which he is attempting to teach. Many try to thrust upon a Child the understanding of an Adult, instead he should attempt to grasp what a particular Child or group of Children are capable of understanding. One of the aims of Sunday School Teachers is getting Children to know the Bible. Dr. Shaw pointed out that he did not know of any good method of teaching which Jesus did not use. The Bible should ever be the source of knowledge and guidance, and from it one will get something of the spirit which he is endeavouring to develop in the Child. One of the ways in which it is possible to build up attitudes of truth, kindness, honesty and goodness in a child is through stories of people who have these qualities. There are many thrilling characters in the Bible if only they can be brought alive. While teaching may be very much drill and habit, the best way to get an idea of God and the Christian way of Life into the minds of children is with building up their understanding, use the simple ideas at first and develop the more difficult ones later. The final talk will be held next Monday in the Central Christian Church at 7.30 and will be a review of what has been taken up together with a short talk on the "Assignment of the Lesson."

McLellan-Knight Wedding

An event of interest to a wide circle of friends in this province took place on March 1st, in St. Paul's Pro-Cathedral in Regina when Doris May Knight of Regina became the bride of Cst. A. Ira McLellan, R. C. M. P., formerly of Pleasant Valley, P. E. I., now stationed in Regina. Dean N. S. Noel officiated. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Knight of Estevan, Sask., and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William E. McLellan of Pleasant Valley, P. E. I. Given in marriage by her father the bride chose for her wedding a grey suit with navy accessories. She wore a rhinestone necklace and earrings, a gift of the groom. She carried a white prayer book decorated with sweetheart roses. The attendants were Miss Mary Crawford Todd of Regina and Mr. Cyril Knight, brother of the bride presiding at the organ was J. M. Lauback and the soloist was Jack Cook. Ushering were C. M. Brown and D. Callbeck. A reception was held at the Kitchener Hotel following the ceremony for 40 guests. Later the bride and groom left for a honeymoon trip to Minot, North Dakota, U. S. A. On their return they will reside in Regina.

The Volunteer

The following is particularly applicable at this time as a tribute to those who are presently collecting for the current Red Cross campaign: "BLESSSED IS THE VOLUNTEER" —Who has sought the high places, but who has been drafted into service because of his ability and willingness to serve. —Who knows where he is going, why he is going and how to get there. —Who knows no discouragement, who presents no alibi. —Who knows how to lead without being dictatorial: true volunteers are humble. —Who seeks for the best for those he serves. —Who volunteers for the good of the most concerned and not for the personal gratification of his own ideas. —Who develops volunteers while volunteering. —Who marches with the group, interprets correctly the signs on the pathway that leads to success. —Who has his head in the clouds but his feet on the ground. —Who considers volunteering an opportunity for service. —K. C. Bishop.

Coca-Cola AT YOUR PARTY CONTAINS B1 VITAMIN A1 TO MAKE YOU FEEL Tastes so good... children love it, too! YEAST-PHOS

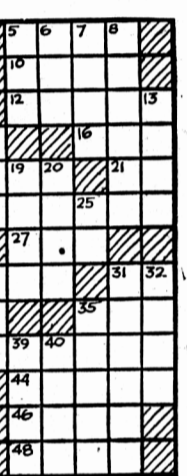

to NEWFOUNDLAND 3 flights daily from Moncton to St. John's 2 flights daily from Moncton to Gander Connections at Moncton with Maritime Central Airways. See Maritime Central Airways for connecting flight details. See your Travel Agent — W. K. Rogers Agencies Ltd., 181 Queen Street. TRANS-CANADA Air Lines

DAILY CROSSWORD

ACROSS 1. Chamber 5. Performs 9. River (Sp.) 10. Biblical character 11. Missile weapon 12. Relating to tone 14. U. S. president 16. Hall! 17. Beast o' burden 18. Cereal grain 21. Half an em 22. Baronet (abbr.) 23. Dealers 26. Sloths 27. Warm color 28. One who takes part in a conference 31. Barium (sym.) 33. Gold (Her.) 34. Young fish 35. Support 36. Poem 38. Whole 41. Danger 44. Projecting edges of a roof 45. Vedic fire god 46. Order under seal 47. Solitary 48. Covers with turf DOWN 1. A meal 2. Compiles 3. Verbal 4. Native Mohammedan (P. I.) 5. Emmet (stang) 6. Cry of a dove 7. African river 8. A lad (colloq.) 11. Pierce with 13. Part of a dagger 15. Decay 19. Measure of land 20. Formal use of "you" (Quaker) 23. Hit (stang) 24. Employer 25. Editor (abbr.) 26. Indefinite article 28. Enclosure 29. Trying experience 30. Alcoholic liquor 31. Caps 32. Periods of time 35. Black and blue 37. Therefore 39. Tidings 40. Edible rootstock (Polyn.) 42. Tavern 43. Falsehood

YESTERDAY'S ANSWER: RAGES, ELLIOT, AVAGIT, CALLOT, SEB, BIAS, ATIA, SE, RAISI, LI, CALL, AMEN, SLURS, AMASS, HOED, TREV, AS, SWEAR, ORE, BELLS, APORN, LIANA, TERSE, YANKS, TEST

YESTERDAY'S ANSWER: 37. Therefore 39. Tidings 40. Edible rootstock (Polyn.) 42. Tavern 43. Falsehood

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it: AXYDLBAAXR is LONGFELLOW One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different. A Cryptogram Quotation: ZXQ TQHF AXF TWAE TC. TNENT; W HNZ HFKNAOC FDWAOH, LQF W TCNA AX DNKT—KXDAHXA. Yesterday's Cryptoquote: SOME OF YOUR HURTS YOU HAVE CURED, AND THE SHARPEST YOU STILL HAVE SURVIVED—EMERSON.

3-way relief of COLD! Exposed to chill, dampness? Cramps? ... Feet a cold coming on? 1. One teaspoonful of PAINKILLER in sweetened warm water or milk—warms the whole system! 2. Massage chest with PAINKILLER—relieves the vital chest area! 3. Breathe in the soothing vapors of PAINKILLER—clears respiratory system—helps you breathe easier. COLD? GLE PERRY DAVIS' PAINKILLER Used by millions

OUT OUR WAY By J. R. Williams HUH! A CHUCK WRENCH LEFT IN ALL NIGHT! THEM DAY GUYS--SAY, DON'T THAT LOOK LIKE A DOOR KNOB? YES, VERY MUCH--LET'S STICK AROUND A WHILE! THEY'RE ONTO YOU, PERRY, MAKIN' FANCY DOOR-KNOBS FOR YOUR HOUSE WHILE YOU GOT A CUT GOIN'! YOU'RE IN FOR IT NOW, PERRY--THEY'LL BE HAVIN' YOU MAKE THEM SOME ON YOUR LOAFIN' TIME! HEROES ARE MADE--NOT BORN. J.R. WILLIAMS

Beyond Compare... Anywhere! 1952 Monarch it's HERE NOW the Breathtaking Monarch NEW 125-HP. V-8 ENGINE New high-compression design backed by Ford's experience in building more V-8 engines than all other makers combined. NEW all through! DIFFERENT every way! BEAUTIFUL Beyond compare! ARRANGE FOR A DEMONSTRATION DRIVE... SEE YOUR MONARCH DEALER McGowan Motors Montague Phone 53-21 FORD & MONARCH CARS S. R. Johnston Ltd. FORD-MONARCH DEALER St. Peter's Road Phone 3092 & 3093 MacLean Motors Ltd. FORD-MONARCH DEALER Summerside Dial 2929