Denis Brings Experience, Humor To Upper House

By STUART LAKE
OTTAWA (CP)—When Azellia Denis takes his seat in the Senate for the first time at the next session he will find he has few in Canada's Parliament.

In the 102-seat Senate there are only two senators—Ralph Horner and Walter Austin—born in Saskatchewan men appointed in 1933 with more time on Parliament Hill.

But it will not only parliamentarianism, but the fact that he was first elected to the Commons, that he has been in the upper house. There will also be his keen sense of humor.

In fact, it was for his wit that he was best known—and liked—during his Commons days. He bubbled to prominence when he was the Liberal opposition's post office critic during the Diogenes administration.

And during his nine months as the first postmaster-general of the Dominion government he often showed he hadn't lost the knack of reducing the chamber to laughter, even when he was under heavy fire on charges of patronage.

Some of the brightest pages of Hansard, the official record of parliamentary debates, are taken up with the remarks between Mr. Denis and the then postmaster general, William Hamilton, between 1937 and 1962.

By DANIEL MARKER
HAVANA (AP)—Cubans are having another "revolution," this time a technical revolution. The Premier Fidel Castro has called it, and it is the government's chief hope to end chaotic conditions and bring order to the island.

Five years after Castro took over, Cubans lack enough food and consumer goods. Meat and sugar, Cuba's main exports, are in short supply.

He explained that this revolution is necessary to increase agricultural and industrial production so his government can overcome the economic crisis and put an end to rationing.

TECHNICIANS NEEDED
The program calls for a rapid increase in the number of engineers and other technicians. It also includes careful attention to development plans and the enforcing of strict workling norms.

years out of law school and on the school for more clients than the Liberal nomination in the Montreal riding of St. Denis in the 1933 federal election.

SUCCEEDED BROTHER
"His family and friends said I had no chance to get the nomination but that the speeches I would make could help me to become better known."

The nomination meeting turned out to be a stormy one. After almost nine hours, the delegates chose Mr. Denis over seven other candidates.

He won the 1933 election handily and was re-elected in the next eight general elections to share with External Affairs Minister Martin the honor of having the longest consecutive service among members of the present Commons.

Mr. Denis was only a few Commons three- and perhaps four-color stars.

At five-foot-two, Mr. Denis was one of the smallest members of the Commons but also one of the most energetic.

He served as president of the Commons Bowling League and when he became a cabinet minister was undisputed champion with an average close to 200 in fivepins.

His love of bowling prompted him to make a plea for allies to be installed during reconstruction of the West Block on Parliament Hill—so to speak.

In the 1963 debate on works department spending estimates, he recommended bowing to fellow MPs as "sound and healthy" without being too much of a strain for people of our age.

"One has only to look around to see the big bellies which are caused by lack of exercise," he said.

Technical Revolution Said Facile of those theoretical Marxists. They cost too much to the suffering of the revolution."

The Cuban leader hopes that the technical revolution along with the drastic steps made in 1963 in the aims of Cuban economic policy giving top priority to agriculture over industry, will solve the economic problems.

More hard and fast Cuban dreams of a quick industrialization cannot be learned from the picture of industrialization described by industries Minister Ernesto Guevara.

BLOCKADE BIG FACTOR
He says the "American blockade" is the main reason for the failure of the revolution. He mentions the "lack of technicians, too much bureaucracy, and disorganization which led to planning mistakes."

The first step taken to improve the situation, besides the shift of emphasis from industry to agriculture, was to develop a new concept on what the industrialization drive was to have.

The government has decided that the heavy industry will be built around agriculture, and light industry will be to satisfy the needs of the people.

SETS OBJECTIVE
The Canadian Red Cross Society's 1964 financial campaign will raise $5,448,000 or $89,330 more than in 1963.

facts are sometimes defeated because of an unlucky distribution of the defenders' cards, and bad contracts are made in the made because of a lucky lay of the cards. Nevertheless, good play will often be decisive in overcoming bad luck.

Take this hand where South is the declarer and West is the king of clubs. Declarer cannot tell at this point how well he will fare. The outcome is largely a matter of luck.

Thus if the hearts are divided 2-2 and either defender were dealt the singleton or doubleton of hearts he would have a look forward to making two tricks. If the cards are more normally divided he will make ten or eleven tricks, but if the cards are badly stacked against him he will make only one or two.
