ating at the top of his voice, "The Elective Franchise Bill is one of the greatest curses that has ever been given to our Colony; and," says he, "we have a fair specimen of the great prevalent evil here to-night, for who are my disturbers but a parcel of young vagabonds that neither know nor care though the Island was engulphed in irreparable ruin." After such breathing forth of slander and inconsistency, the audience thought it high time to arrest the pretended philantrophist in his mad career; and adopted the very polite method of doing so by singing a negro melody, at the conclusion of which Ephraim partly awoke out of his trance, and knowing that his entreaties to obtain a hearing were of no avail, begged leave to introduce Mr. Howatt as a fit candidate to represent Lot 19, which was as coolly received as his lecture. He was about to take his leave of the company, when one or two of those whom Ephraim styled "rabble" cordially offered to carry their worthy maligner on their shoulders, but it appears he declined. Not satisfied, however, with this token of respect, they signified their approbation of his remarks, by ridding the barn of his company, and applauding him with a good round of rotten eggs. I am, yours, with esteem,

(FOR THE EXAMINER.)

A small extract from a new poem, containing more rhyme than poetry, and more truth than either.

I've been at Court, and sat quite close
Beside it, 'mid the foremost rows,
When Charley P———r, Esquire, rose,
And stroked his curly head;
I've felt the throbbing at my—toes,
When I beheld his speechless woes,
And heard him sob in anguish's throes,
While underneath his cunning nose
His handkerchief he spread,
To hide the torrents, I suppose,
Of tears he did not shed,
When pleading the seducer's cause,
Who scorned his God and country's laws,
And, masked in friendship's treach'rous gauze,
Debauched his neighbour's bed;

I've heard the din of fools' applause,
When he has sneer'd at fancied flaws,
And garbled mystic, legal "saws"
From authors, live or dead;
As Rev'rend George and Lantern-jaws
Regale their readers' empty craws
With turgid phrase and vulgar clause,
The carrion of departed prose,
Selected smut from all that was
In Island journals read.
On which, when spiced with pious sauce,
These filth-devouring Esquimaux
And slander's hawks are fed.

God save the "fisher" and his cause
From Leslie's bloody tiger claws,
Free Churchman's flail, Josiah's taws,
And Duncan's sacrelegious paws.
And from the greedy hungry maws
Of Tyro and of Ned.

RAILROAD ACCIDENT AT UTICA.—EIGHT PERSONS KILLED AND OVER FORTY INJURED.—A frightful railroad accident occurred on Tuesday morning last, on the Central Railroad, by the falling of a bridge over the Saquoit Creek, 3½ miles west of Utica, N. Y., by which eight persons were killed outright, five or six others dangerously injured, and some forty others more or less hurt. The accident occurred to the Cincinnati express train, which was coming up at a high rate of speed, and was crossing the bridge at the same time as the Utica accommodation train for the West, each on its own track. The bridge being rotten, the weight was too heavy, and it fell just after the engine of the express train crossed the bridge, precipitating the freight cars of the accommodation train and the passenger cars of the express train into the creek, piling the passenger cars one above the other, and splintering the platform and seats to atoms as the cars struck the abutments. A despatch says:—

The bridge at which the accident occurred was entirely rotten, several of the main beams on which the track was laid being found decayed all the way through. There is no doubt but that the accident occurred through the voluntary breaking of these timbers by the weight of the two locomotives passing over the bridge at the same time. The greater portion of the heart of the wood is like so much punk, and the wonder is that the bridge had stood so long.

The smash is a most terrible one, and the scene conveys a vivid impression of the horrors of the disaster. Between the stone abutments of the bridge is a space of 32 feet. The ordinary length of a car is 35 feet; and the depth to the bottom of the creek is 9 feet. Three entire cars lay lengthways, crushed up like a telescope between the abutments of the bridge, thus occupying the space of but little more than the length of one car.

The first and second cars cannot be distinguished one from the other.

The third car is entirely demolished, except about one third of the rear.

On the sides of the cars and on the timbers of the bridge are frightful stains of human blood.

DEATH OF HOGAN, THE SCULPTOR.—John Hogan, the Irish Sculptor, is dead. He expired in the city of Dublin on the 27th of March last, in his 57th year, and while engaged on the testimonial about to be erected to the Apostle of Temperance in Cork. "His latest hopes were," says a Dublin paper of the 3d April, "to live at least to see his son and namesake, John—who promises to rival his father as an artist, and imitate him as a man—and his faithful assistant and pupil, Mr. Cahill, complete the monument to Father Mathew, and the bas-relief for the Wellington testimonial. This hope, however, was fated to be unfulfilled. On Sunday week he visited his studio to take a last look at his great piece—his own favorite—Hibernia inspiring Brian Borombhe. He looked from his unfinished works to his son and pupil—'finish them well, boys,' said the artist, 'I am never to handle the chisel more.'" On the following Saturday morning he was dead.

Mr. Hogan was a native of Tallow, County Waterford. He leaves a widow and eleven children—seven daughters and four sons. In a notice of the artist, the N. Y. Tablet says:

"Originally a lawyer's clerk, Hogan showed so great an aptitude for the plastic arts, that at the age of twenty-three he was enabled, through the liberality of some friends, to visit Rome. Before his return to Ireland he had given evidence of a genius worthy to be ranked with that of Thorwaldsen, Gibson, or Danneker. His Drunken Faun, one of his most original conceptions, was pronounced by Thorwaldsen worthy an Athenian studio, and the same illustrious artist preferred his Dead Christ to Danneker's. His Eve, on her expulsion from Paradise, one of his earliest works, he never afterwards surpassed. His noble statues of O'Connell, and particularly the bronze monument in Limerick, excited great admiration throughout Ireland, and he would doubtless have been selected to perpetuate the memory of the great Agitator in other parts of the kingdom, had not death intervened."

We find it stated in one of our exchanges that the King of Prussia has become stark mad. He occasionally believes that he is a private soldier, who has just received his commission as ensign, but had since lost the parchment, and, therefore, he anxiously seeks it in all hidden corners of the palace and nooks of the garden. He dislikes to be watched by his aide-de-camp, whom he believes to be his commanding officer.

THE OUDE PROCLAMATION.—The evening papers publish the important despatches to which reference was made in both Houses of Parliament. The first is from Sir James Outram, who was the agent who carried the annexation of Oude into effect. He declares that the course pursued by us with regard to land settlement, subsequent to the annexation, was such as served necessarily to irritate the landowners, to palliate their insurrection; and, consequently, to place them in the relation to us of fair enemies rather than of rebels. Sir James protests against the proposed land confiscation partly on this account, and partly because, by driving the landowners to despair, it would embitter and prolong the war.

A second despatch is from the Governor-General in council. The restraining or mitigating clause was introduced in consequence of Sir James Outram's remonstrances. The third despatch is from the Governor-General to Sir James Outram, fully explaining the grounds on which the Governor-General defended his Oude proclamation. He notices the palliating circumstances in the case of the chieftains of Oude; accordingly, he says, punishment by death or imprisonment is at once put aside, and while confiscation of proprietary rights in the land is declared to be the general penalty, the means of obtaining more or less of exemption from it, and of establishing a claim to restitution of rights, have been pointed out, and are within the reach of all without injury to their honour. Nothing more is required for this than that they should promptly tender their adhesion and help to maintain peace and order. The Governor-General considers that the course thus taken is one consistent with the dignity of the Government and abundantly lenient. To have followed that which is suggested—that is, by Sir James Outram—would, in his lordship's opinion, have been to treat the rebels not only as honourable enemies but as enemies who had won the day.

SUICIDE.—Henry William Herbert, the well-known author, committed suicide on the 17th ult. at the Stevens House, New York. He had been laboring for some time under great depression of spirits, consequent on domestic difficulties. He left a long letter addressed to the press of the United States, and also one to the corner, giving the reasons for his act of self-destruction. Mr. H. was married threemonths ago to a lady in Newark, but had recently been separated from her.—Boston Advertiser.

THE LATE HENRY WILLIAM HERBERT.—We briefly chronicled in our telegraphic summary yesterday the death by suicide at New York of Henry William Herbert, known as "Frank Forrester," a man of unquestioned oulture and ability as a writer, but of irregular habits and ill-balanced mind. He left a letter addressed to the press of the United States in which he says "I implore silence;" "for justice sake, for charity's sake, for God's sake, let me rest."—Ib.

THE SUICIDE OF MR. HERBERT.—The Newark Advertiser narrates some interesting facts in regard to the marriage of Mr. Henry Herbert, alias "Frank Forrester."

"The incidents more immediately affecting the mind of Mr. Herbert, commenced with his second marriage, which occurred in this city, on the 16th of February, Rev. Mr. Shackleford, performing the ceremony. Some six weeks after, the reptile spirit of calumny crawled into his quiet home; it is alleged that some one, represented to be a lady, took occasion, probably without any idea of the tragic result, and poured into his wife's mind a recital of the worst features of his life, in the usual exaggerated gossip, and on his return he found her alone and melancholy. From that moment she determined to leave him, and did so during his absence in New York. He used every effort of his ingenuity to recover his wife, but she steadily refused to meet him.

The body of Mr. Herbert remained at the Stevens House in New York throughout Monday.

The Windsor Railway was opened yesterday for traffic. Perhaps in no other country in the world would a new line of Railway, and a first line, have been opened without some demonstration. A funeral procession would not have been observed more quietly. It is satisfactory to learn, however, that the grades and curves, so much talked about, offered no impediment to the train,—and that a number of persons availed themselves of the opportunity afforded of a rapid run to Windsor. We understand that a large quantity of freight was carried over the road yesterday, and that the down train brought a pretty full fare of passengers.—Halifax Sun, June 4

To the Free and Independent Electors of the Third Electoral District of Queen's County.

GENTLEMEN,—Having been twelve years a public servant, in which time I have had the honor of being elected five times by a generous constituency as a Representative of the people, I am encouraged to appeal to you for your suffrages at the ensuing general election. Into my political life I can invite the closest scrutiny; and if you believe that I have hitherto laboured assidiously to promote every measure tending to advance the best interests of the country generally, then I shall look with confidence for your independent and manly support, despite the machinations of secret and open foes. A base and discreditable manœuvre, calculated to impose upon your understandings, by depreciating me in your estimation, and depriving me of your confidence, will, I trust, prove abortive.

I am, gentlemen, your obedient servant.

A new, speedy, and most successful mode of treating Spermatorrhœa, Nervous Debility, and all Urino-Genital Diseases.

Seventy Engravings. Price 1s. through all Booksellers, or post free from the Author for 14 postage stamps.

THE MEDICAL ADVISER on decay, both mental and physical, arising from excesses, infection, climate, &c; remarks on the use of the Microscope, and the devices of certain quacks to alarm the too sensitive invalid; observations on Marriage, the prevention and removal of certain disqualifications; rules for self-treatment, &c. By WALTER DE ROOS, M D, of the Ecole de Medecine, Paris; Member of the Royal College of Surgeons, London; Licentiate in Midwifery, &c, &c, &c, 10, Berners-street, Oxford-street, London. Hours for personal consultation daily from 1 till 4, Sunday excepted.

Sold in Dublin by Berry, 162, Great Britain street; Edinburgh, Robinson, 11, Greenside-st; Glasgow, Love, Bookseller, and by all the Agents.

From long practical observation of the treatment pursued in the various Institutions of London and Paris for those diseases referred to in the above work, the Author has had somewhat unusual facilities for acquiring that accuracy of diagnosis, and uniform success, which have characterised his practice for so many years in this country, in which the lamentable neglect of these diseases by medical men generally, and their futile attempts to cure by mercury, copaiba, sarsaparilla, &c, have produced most distressing results. Lasting benefit in such cases can only be reasonably expected at the hands of the legally qualified medical man who devotes his chief attention to their removal; and to him only who can show his possession of the necessary qualifications, can confidence be safely extended. Dr. De R. refers with pride to the numbers he has been instrumental in restoring to health and happiness; and to those who may be in need of such aid, he offers every assurance of speedy restoration.

Persons residing abroad can be successfully treated by correspondence, on sending a full detail of their case, with a Bank note, or Bill on a London house for £5, in order to have a packet of medicines sufficient to meet the exigencies of the case sent out by next mail; thus avoiding unnecessary loss of valuable time, and much suffering which might otherwise occur.

THE GREAT EUROPEAN REMEDY FOR NERVOUSNESS, RELAXATION AND EXHAUSTION.

Protected by Royal Letters Patent of England, and sanctioned by all the great Continental Colleges of Medicine.

DR. DE ROOS' GUITÆ VITÆ, or LIFE DROPS, are the great remedy for Spermatorrhœa, Exhaustion, Nervousness, Debility, Aversion to and Incapacity for Society, Study or Business, Shaking of the Hands and Limbs, Indigestion, Flatulence, Shortness of Breath, Asthma, Consumptive Habits, Dimness of Sight, Dizziness, Pains in the Head, Eruptions, Sore Throat, Pains in the Bones, and all these diseases for which mercury, sarsaparilla, &c, are too often employed, to the utter destruction of health. Their almost marvellous powers must be felt to be believed. Hundreds of apparently hopeless cases have been cured, and thousands almost miraculously relieved, when every thing else had failed, and they must sooner or later supersede all those questionable remedies which have hitherto been the sole reliance of English medical men.

Price 11s, and four times the quantity at 33s. per bottle, of the Agents below. The £5 packages containing twelve 11s quantities, (by which £1 12s are saved,) will be sent from the establishment only, on receipt of the amount per draft on a London house or otherwise.

CAUTION.—Sufferers must guard against the recommendation of spurious or other medicines by unprincipled vendors, who thereby obtain a larger profit. The words "WALTER DE ROOS, LONDON," are printed in White letters on the Stamp affixed to the above, by order of Her Majesty's Honourable Commissioners, to protect the public against fraud, as without this none can be genuine, and to imitate which is felony.

PAINS IN THE BACK, GRAVEL, LUMBAGO, RHEUMATISM, GOUT, DISEASE OF THE KIDNEYS AND BLADDER, STRICTURE, &c.

DR. DE ROOS' COMPOUND RENAL PILLS are a well known safe and speedy remedy for the above dangerous complaints, Discharges and Diseases of the Kidneys and Urinary Organs generally. Possessing tonic properties, they agree with the most delicate stomach, improve the health, and in three days effect a cure when copaiba, cubebs, and all such dangerous medicines have utterly failed. 2s 9d, 4s 6d, 11s and 33s per box, of the Agents below, or post free on receipt of the amount by Dr. DE ROOS, 10, Berners-street, Oxford-street, London.

The superiority of these celebrated Pills over every thing of the kind is universally acknowledged, and the extraordinary demand for them without precedent.

Many there are who, from natural diffidence, or fear of discovery, would silently bear their afflictions rather than apply for aid to those from whom they may reasonably expect relief. With the above Pills, the sufferer may, without the knowledge of a second person, cure himself speedily, privately, and at the least possible expense.

Sold at Langley's Drug Store, Hollis-street, Nova Scotia; by Haszard, Charlottetown, Prince Edward Island; Ward, News Office, Sydney, Cape Breton; Ashton, Richardson & Co., Mount Road, Madras; Hulse & Nephew, Agra; Treacher & Co, Poonah and Kurachee; Smith & Co, Scinde; Dodsworth & Co, Clark, Romer & Co, and Gawin & Co, Colombo and Candy; Lyman & Co, Montreal; Pestonjee & Co, 1, Military Square, Bombay; R Ross, Laboratory, Falmouth, and Lawton, Advertiser Office, Antigua; Haylock, Belize, Honduras; West, Palmer & Co, Kingston, Canada; Strickland & Co, Mobile, Alabama; Stampa, Constantinople; Paisey & Fryer, 384, George-street Sydney, and Ford, Chemist, Swanston-street, Melbourne, Australia, of whom also may be had 'THE MEDICAL ADVISER," or should difficulty arise in procuring any of the above, enclose the amount by draft or otherwise to 10, Berners-street, Oxford-street, London, and they will be sent securely packed per return.
