THE DAILY EXAMINER.

MAY 14, 1897.

The roads in the country continue to be very bad in many places, and the cold, damp weather prevalent in the early days of May retarded operations on the farm. The spring's work is ten days or a fortnight behind time. Some wheat was sown in time to get the benefit of the warm showers of yesterday, and some early potatoes and other things have been planted.

A reporter of the Montreal Gazette waited upon Mr. W. C. McDonald on Saturday evening in reference to the report that he had closed his factory, when the following short and decisive conversation took place:—

"Is it correct," Mr. McDonald was asked, "that your factory has been obliged to shut down owing to tariff changes?"

"Yes; the factory has been closed awaiting the action of the Government."

"Do you anticipate resuming operations again in the near future?"

"The factory will remain closed until the duties are adjusted. We cannot act with certainty until we know what the Government intend to do and see the tariff as it is finally passed."

In response to further questions, Mr. McDonald was not disposed to discuss the tariff items, saying that he had stated his position fully in the above announcement. The tariff bill, he said, had not yet passed its third reading, and modifications might be made in it.

SOME CYCLING RESOLUTIONS.

Resolved—To find the very green—Est youth upon the earth, To whom I'll sell my old machine For more than twice its worth.

Resolved—Invent a big surprise To beat all cycles made, And simply revolutionize (A good word that) the Trade,

Resolved—Upon the path to ride As often as I can. Resolved—To run if I am spied By "air a policeman."

Resolved—Most carefully to dust And oil my new machine, And keep away all chance of rust By means of vaseline.

Resolved—no betting on a race— The cycling cause it hurts. Resolved to waive this rule in case I'm tipped some "blooming certs."

Resolved—to use no needless swear, On chaff to waste no breath, But save up all my powers to scare The roadway swine to death.

Resolved—the pathway pig to kill, That arrogant young elf, Unless, of course, I chance to fill The role of "pig" myself.

Resolved—No tandem rides for me With maiden dark or fair, Unless I'm quite convinced that she Is fit to do her share.

—Irish Cyclist.

THE MARKETS.

Cheese—Advises from Liverpool state that there has been lately a little more enquiry for fancy goods, and holders are not so easy to deal with, as really fancy quality is getting into small compass. Market closes firm. Quotations are:—Extra fancy late makes, white, 56s to 57s; colored 57 to 58s; good to fine, 52s to 54s; some half meats, 45s to 48s.

In London, Ontario, on the 8th inst., there was a large attendance at the opening of the cheese market. Eight factories offered 588 boxes Aprils and Mays. Sales 270 at 9½; 55 at 9 5/8; 37 at 9 13/16.

Reports from Bristol state that there has been a very good business passing since last report, and several good sized blocks have changed hands at hardening rates. Choicest autumn goods are now held firm at 57s to 58s. Stocks here are narrowing down considerably.

Prices in Montreal are unchanged. Butter—English advices say that the demand has been fairly good, and prices are well maintained, with most houses about cleared.

WHERE TIMES ARE BAD.

The State of Kansas is said to display more ruined towns than any other state in the Union. Some of the eastern investors in the desert lands and builders of school and court houses and water works have lately been looking over their properties. An agent who has been riding through several counties in Western Kansas describes what he saw in the United States Investor. He found in the towns of Woodsdale, Moscow, Springfield and Fargo eighteen people, the entire population. In 1890 these towns had a population of 1,100. The departed inhabitants left villages with costly school buildings. The correspondent says of the situation in another town: "Hugoton has three families out of the 400 that used to live there. Nine children go to the $10,000 school house, and there is standing, like a monument of folly, a water works system that cost some eastern plutocrat $36,000. The town never paid a cent of principal or interest on all this and never will."

Experience Has Proved It.

A triumph in medicine was attained when experience proved that Scott's Emulsion would not only stop the progress of Pulmonary Consumption, but by its continued use health and vigor could be fully restored.

ITEMS OF INTEREST.

The workmen's hotel, which the Salvation Army has opened in Boston, charges 5, 10 and 15 cents for lodging, 3 cents for supper, 5 for breakfast and 5 for dinner. A bath is free, but not obligatory. The house will contain 100 beds.

Germany, by the last census, has 52,279,091 inhabitants, an increase in five years of 2,851,431. France's population has increased in the same time only 133,819, being now 38,228,969. Thirty-five years ago the population of the two countries was nearly equal.

An Edinburgh physician recently offered to send a copy of the "Confessions" of St. Augustine to any poor lad not able to buy one. Next day he got 14 postal cards taking him at his word. He told a professor about this, and the latter's remark was that only in Scotland could a thing like this happen.

Church cars are a recent Russian improvement. They are intended for the Siberian railroad. The cars look like ordinary first class carriages, but the windows are shaped like those of Byzantine churches. One-third of the space, shut off by the holy gates, is devoted to the priests, the rest is for the congregation.

An Escaloped Fish.

An escaloped fish which Miss Parloa gives as an especial dainty at her cooking classes is made (the proportions are easily doubled for a larger quantity) from a pint of cooked fish, free from bones and skin, a teaspoonful of salt, one-quarter teaspoonful of pepper, a tablespoonful of butter, one-half teaspoonful of flour, 1½ gills of milk (this is a little less than a cupful) and 4 tablespoonfuls of grated bread crumbs. Season the fish with half the salt and pepper. Put a generous half of the butter in a small saucepan on the fire. When it is hot, add the flour and stir till the mixture is smooth and frothy. Boil up once and stir in the rest of the seasoning. Put a layer of the sauce in a small baking dish, alternating with the fish, having sauce on top. Sprinkle over with the bread crumbs and dot with the rest of the butter. Bake in a moderately hot oven 20 minutes. The caution was added that any dish made with sauce and crumbs needs that the heat should be moderate at the bottom and strong at the top. The difference between dried bread crumbs and stale bread grated was also accentuated. In this dish the latter is obligatory.—New York Post.

Gloom

Of ill health, despondency and despair, gives way to the sunshine of hope, happiness and health, upon taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, because it gives renewed life and vitality to the blood, and through that imparts gth, vigor and energy to the whole body. Read this letter: "Hood's Sarsaparilla helped me wonderfully, changed sickness to health, gloom to sunshine. No pen can describe what I suffered. I was deathly sick, had sick headaches every few days and those terrible tired, despondent feelings, with heart troubles so that I could not go up and down stairs without clasping my hand over my heart and resting. In fact, it would almost take my breath away. I suffered so I did not care to live, yet I had much to live for. There is no pleasure in life if deprived of health, for life becomes a burden. Hood's Sarsaparilla does far more than advertised. After taking one bottle, it is sufficient to recommend itself." MRS. J. E. SMITH, Beloit, Iowa.

A COSTLY PORTRAIT.

The Price Made Him Gasp, but He Paid and Said Nothing.

Some years ago, when Benjamin Constant came over to this country especially to paint the portrait of a well known New York woman, several other persons took advantage of his being here and gave him orders for their portraits. Among these was a well known man. Shortly after this latter likeness was completed a wealthy westerner who happened to be in this city was entertained at the house of the New Yorker. The westerner saw the portrait and much admired it. "My wife wants me to get my portrait painted," he said. "That's one reason why I'm in New York. I wonder if this French fellow wouldn't do mine too." His host assured him that in all probability the "French fellow" would be only too delighted. Before long the westerner was experiencing all the glory and honor of "sitting for his portrait."

One day some time after this, but before the picture was finished, the westerner was again entertained by his New York friend. The portrait was naturally referred to. "By the way," remarked the westerner, "how much did he charge for your picture?" "Forty-five hundred dollars," was the answer. "Why?" But the westerner was beyond speech. Pale and breathless, he leaned back in his chair, and when he did speak it was simply to gasp forth, "Forty-five hundred dollars!" "Forty-five hundred dollars!" over and over again.

It transpired later that he had made no inquiries as to terms, and that he had never dreamed that the portrait's price would be more than $150. What worried him most was what his wife would say. But the old fellow was game. He first bound the New Yorker over to temporary secrecy, after which he proceeded to go through those sittings to the bitter end without a murmur or a question as to the ultimate cost. Benjamin Constant never knew that the bill for $5,000 (the westerner's portrait was larger than the New Yorker's) that was presented later caused the slightest ripple upon the emotional surface of his patron. But in a certain western home there today hangs a painting the price of which has never yet been revealed to the mistress of the house.—New York Sun.

You Blooming Idiot!

Well, perhaps it was my fault, but never mind, I have a pot of "Quickcure" in my kit and it will cure our bruises before we get home. You never saw anything like the way it will heal a cut or a bruise of any kind, and for sprains and strains it is—well, it is just "out of sight."

HENRY LEVERS, L.D.S., Quebec, writes:

"One of my children sprained her ankle, which became much swollen and discoloured. Some 'Quickcure' was spread on linen, and applied; the pain ceased at once, the swelling was gone the next day, and on the fourth day she walked to school as usual. I have also proved it to be a wonderful remedy for cuts and bruises."
