SITUATION IN THE TRANSVAAL

The Czar Declines to Interfere

SALISBURY PREFERRED TO MR. CHAMBERLAIN

Africander Leader Willing to Act as Intermediary.

[SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER.]

LONDON, Sept. 29.—A despatch to the Chronicle from Cape Town says that a friend of President Kruger has received a letter from the Boers President in which he says he prayed for three hours and the Lord told him to fight. He added that he was not afraid of Colonial Secretary Chamberlain.

The Chronicle correspondent also learns that Herr Hoffmiller, Afrikander leader in Cape Colony, is willing to act as intermediary between Great Britain and the Transvaal. The Boers will deal with him but refuse to negotiate with Milner.

LONDON, Sept. 29.—The Press Association issues the following statement:

"We learn that the centres of interest in the Transvaal crisis are in reality at Lisbon and Berlin and this consideration it is thought in some quarters may cause a further adjournment of the Cabinet. Future administration and financial control of Portuguese possessions in South Africa are held to be an integral part of the present difficulty. The friends of President Kruger urge that it would be manifestly unfair to insist upon a practical reduction of the forts at Pretoria and Johannesburg so long as Lorenzo Marques remains under the Portuguese Government. It is probable that the negotiations between London, Berlin and Lisbon may not be concluded until after the Cabinet council."

LONDON, Sept. 29.—The Pretoria correspondent of the Daily Telegraph says the Transvaal Government made an effort to deal with Lord Salisbury direct ignoring Mr. Chamberlain.

BERLIN, Sept. 29.—Germany has approached Russia with a view of mediation in the Transvaal, but the Czar declined to interfere.

PRETORIA, Sept. 29.—There is no doubt that Chamberlain's expected new demands will be the signal for an advance now that rain has fallen.

TRANSVAAL'S INDEPENDENCE.

LONDON, Sept. 28.—Sir William Vernon Harcourt writes to the Times denying that the controversy regarding suzerainty was introduced by the Transvaal government. He says it was originated by Mr. Chamberlain in his despatch of September 16th, 1897. "The Transvaal's Independence," says Sir William, "is complete. Even in foreign affairs the only thing reserved is the final approval of the queen to treaties negotiated. It is unfortunate that the suzerainty question was ever raised and the sooner the whole dispute is dismissed the better. Nothing but mischief can come from the employment of vague terms like "suzerainty" and "paramountcy." Beyond doubt the relations of Great Britain with the Transvaal rest upon the terms of the convention of 1884 and upon nothing else. What we have to do is to get the franchise question settled as quickly as possible, without the importation of extraneous matter. If, as the government is understood to desire, both parties can take a new departure there can be no obstacle to an amicable solution."

GERMAN OPINION WITH BOERS.

BERLIN, Sept. 28.—An outbreak of war in the Transvaal is regarded here as a question of a few days, or, at the most, of weeks. The whole press devotes considerable space to the matter. Experts are beginning to speculate on the probable outcome of the war and the losses on both sides. The Kreuz Zeitung says: "The British plan is an invasion on three sides simultaneously from Rhodesia, Natal and Mafeking or Kimberley. The best and most effective part of the English forces will probably be the volunteers raised in South Africa. There are 7,000 mounted men already in Rhodesia, who, with other volunteers, will be the real corps of the expedition." In the Frankfort Zeitung, General Von Boguslawski, a military writer of note, predicts that the British will sustain enormous losses in the Transvaal, owing, mainly, to the inferiority of their officers and their "inability to understand or apply modern tactics."

BOERS' PLAN OF ATTACK.

LONDON, Sept. 29.—The Johannesburg correspondent of the Morning Post says: "Twenty trucks filled with armed burghers and fifty horses left Johannesburg for the border yesterday by way of Elands Fontein. The plan of campaign drawn up at Pretoria propose to employ a command of 2000 men to defeat the slender force in Rhodesia and hand the territory over to the natives. It is hoped that a force of 10,000 burghers will be sufficient to rush the Natal border, capture the forts, hold them and prevent the landing of British reinforcements. The Boers rely upon having supplies enough to last them for a year. They expect that before a year has expired that Russia will intervene by creating a diversion in some part of the British dominions."

MORE TROOPS FOR THE CAPE.

LONDON, Sept. 28.—The Currie Line has just received an order from the admiralty to prepare the Braemar Castle, of that line, to sail for the Cape October 6th, with 1,400 officers and men. This is an entirely fresh batch of troops, and the composition of it is unknown. The Currie Line has been compelled to cancel its passenger list which is made up, and workmen have been sent to transform the Braemar Castle into a transport. In spite of these warlike preparations, South African circles in London believe there will be no war, and that the Boers will finally concede the British demands.

NEWS FROM THE SCOTSMAN

Is on a Ledge Close in Shore

PASSENGERS LANDED—NO PROVISIONS ON ISLAND.

Ship Said to be Lying Even With All Holds Full.

[SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER.]

MONTREAL, Sept. 29.—The agents of the Dominion Line have received a telegram from Capt. S. Krimshier through the operator at Charge Island, Newfoundland, reading:

"Scotsman on ledge close in shore five miles east of Belle Isle light. Passengers all landed, but no provision on Island stations. All holds of ship full. Ship lying even. Immediate assistance imperative."

Few think there are any chances of saving the cargo. The agents think however that the fact of the ship being in an upright position is a good sign and something may be done. The coast in that vicinity is very rocky. It is not known what day the ship went ashore, but in all probability it was about Friday.

The agents are in communication by cablegram with the owners of the vessel in England and have not yet decided what is to be done.
