WEST INDIAN TRADE.

The St. John Telegraph publishes the following letter from a leading house in Havana, Cuba,—the letter is dated Aug. 28:—

The United States' Senate bill, which imposes a duty on Cuban sugars, having gone into effect at one minute past midnight yesterday, the home government at Madrid has notified all custom houses in Cuba and Porto Rico, that from to-day the highest tariff of duties shall be collected on all goods imported from the United States, the same being an act of retaliation, because a heavy duty is to be levied on Cuban sugars imported into the United States. In a word, this means the putting back on American goods of heavy import duties, and Nova Scotia is thus put on an equal or better footing than the United States.

Our market for potatoes is very excited, some buyers asking $4¾ per barrel for American, others asking $5, and others will not sell at even $6, but as soon as the smoke clears away we expect the market to settle down to a figure which will leave good margin for Nova Scotia tubers, and we advise shipments as soon as stock is well enough matured to stand up. We hope to hear from you as the season advances."

The Telegraph remarks that this letter sufficiently explains the situation in Cuba and Porto Rico, and shows what a fine field is now open for the products of Canada in that market.

METHODIST GENERAL CONFERENCE.

The meeting, yesterday, at London, of the General Conference of the Methodist Church of Canada, is an important event which takes place but once in four years. The General Conference is representative of the largest Protestant body in the country. It is the governing body of the 850,000 Methodists in the Dominion and Newfoundland, who will be represented by some two hundred and sixty clerical and lay delegates, including the most prominent men in the Church. Official representatives from Japan, Bermuda and Great Britain will also be present. The general superintendent, missionary superintendent and other officers to be elected will continue to hold office until 1898. It is expected that the pastoral term will be one of the matters discussed. For several years the propriety of extending, from three years to five years, the period during which a Methodist minister may remain in one circuit, has been under consideration. The conference decided against the proposition four years ago. But those who are in favor of the change are not without hope that a different decision may be arrived at this year. There will also be brought up the question of women's rights and privileges in the Methodist Church. May a lady sit as a lay delegate in the Provincial Conferences or in the General Conference? This question will be pressed. It is possible, too, that the system of superannuation may be reconsidered. Another fruitful source of discussion will be the proposition to lessen the number of conferences and alter their boundaries. These matters and the regular order of business will probably necessitate the sitting of the Conference for several weeks.

—St. John Sun: In a recent sojourn in England, Dr. Schurman, the president of Cornell, a Canadian by birth and training, had occasion to compare the House of Commons as it is now with the same body as he knew it a dozen or more year ago. He says that its tone has materially lowered in the interval, and that it now contains fewer men of marked ability than can be found in the United States' congress. President Schurman thinks that the British Legislature is not superior to that of the United States, while the national, state and municipal administration in his adopted country is infinitely better than in Great Britain. Allowance must be made for the United States' citizenship now claimed by the Cornell President. In some respects the British parliament and the United States' congress are rivals. They are both able to spend a great deal of time in discussion without getting much done. But it must be considered that the measures which are delayed in Great Britain involve sweeping changes in the constitution of the country, on which the nation is thought to have expressed no definite opinion. The British House of Commons still puts through a controversial budget in a week or two. Congress works a full year on a tariff bill.

NEWS NOTES.

At Point au Pic, near Murray Bay, Que., on Monday fire destroyed two hotels and a large number of summer cottages.

A despatch from Bradford, Pa., says forest fires are raging all along the line of the Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburg railroad, and that the flames are getting dangerously near the oil fields.

John L Redmond, M. P., speaking in Dublin on Wednesday, declared that that great political crime, the abandonment of Parnell, had resulted in the corruption of the real Irish party and the bending of it knee to England. This generation, he said, would not see the end of Ireland's sufferings. With the suppression of Mr. Parnell, Ireland ceased to have a national leader or a national organization.

Postponed.—Owing to the funeral of the late Councillor Robertson to-morrow, the shooting for the Cochen-Taylor gold medal, which was to have taken place to-morrow afternoon at Kensington range, has been postponed till the Saturday following.

Suffered No Pain.—The doctors who attended the late Councillor Robertson inform us that he suffered little or no pain after the accident, and that he was conscious when they carried him to the hotel, and talked frequently.

Horses Wanted.—We will be on the Market Square on Tuesday, Sept. 11th, to buy a number of good "all round" horses, from 1050 to 1400 pounds. Parties with horses for sale, take note of this.—Hill & Fulton. Inquire at the Bazaar Store.

USE SKODA'S DISCOVERY, the great Blood and Nerve Remedy.

TRADE AND TRANSPORTATION

Opinions of Leading Men in Summerside.

A special correspondent of the Chignecto Post lately interviewed several of the leading men of Summerside, who are thus reported:

Mr. David Rogers, a prominent exporter, was interviewed by your correspondent and expressed himself in very decided terms as to the benefits to P. E. Island of the Chignecto Ship Railway if completed. He said: "If the work is a mechanical success, and will give our vessels ready and cheap access to the Bay of Fundy, direct shipments by vessels to Boston and other Atlantic ports south would be an enormous boon to our producers, would probably raise the price of potatoes and other products, and thereby tend to increase the land values in the future. Any Islander who opposed such a work was animated," he believed, "not by public, but political, considerations."

Mr. Richard Hunt stated that the public men of the Island, some years ago, took a very active interest in the short cut south by way of Chignecto, but the hostile tariffs established in the United States had of late years driven them to seek markets elsewhere wherever they could be found. Now that the United States had entered upon an era of tariff reduction, transportation facilities and rates south would again become a live question. He had no doubt that the Ship Railway, when it becomes an established fact and conveys vessels from bay to bay, will prove to be of very great importance and value to Prince Edward Island, and there is no interest there that would not feel, directly or indirectly its beneficial influence.

Mr. R. Holman, the largest merchant in and leading shipper from the western part of P. E. Island, expressed himself as a strong believer in closer trade relationship with the country south. The wealthy classes there were incessant travellers, making for themselves homes in the south in winter and along the Atlantic and in the mountains in summer. He expressed confidence that the salubrity of the climate and the beauty of the landscape here, would eventually attract a stream of American travel. A few large hotels filled with tourists from the states would be of more advantage to the Island than a cotton mill or a sugar refinery, because such classes are all liberal dispensers of money. His experience in trade led him to rate at a high value trade with United States. He had heard and was interested in Prof. Robertson's cheese and butter crusade. Cheese and butter were good, but they alone could not make the farmer prosperous. There was always danger of a specialty becoming a fad and a fad is not always to be encouraged. He favored mixed farming, for which the Island soil and climate was particularly adapted, and a better chance to sell our horses and sheep, potatoes, oats, wool and fish in the great markets south, where there are millions of consumers. This trade is at present handicapped by hostile tariffs, and also by the expense attending transportation. In this connection, referring to the Chignecto Ship Railway, he would say that if cheap and easy communication could be had with the Bay of Fundy for steamers and sailing craft, by which the distance to Boston could be shortened some 300 miles, it would be of very great advantage to the producers and shippers from this Island. At present there is very little direct trade; our products are transhipped at Point du Chene, or at Halifax. There is a direct steamer from Charlottetown. These routes are expensive, and a new route that will shorten the distance and cheapen the rate has the cordial support of the Island. This county shipped last year some 30,000 cases of lobsters, and over 200,000 bushels oats. The potato trade is at present paralyzed, but one year he alone shipped 500,000 bushels. The Island having given up lumber and shipbuilding, has turned its attention to farming. Its agricultural products are likely to increase year by year. The prosperity of the Island in the near future lies in securing good markets and ready access to them.

PERSONAL.

Count Mercier has had a bad turn, and is again dangerously ill.

Father McElmeel, of Kelly's Cross, is much improved in health.

At the Hotel Davies to-day were El Crosby, Cape Traverse; E H McLean, Boston.

The Chief Justice of Jamaica, who was burned to death a few days ago, received $12,500 a year.

Mr. P. H. Trainor, of Charlottetown, has the contract for painting the new Kelly's Cross church.

Mr. W. Reynolds, the great Sunday School worker, is in town, and is the guest of Rev. G. M. Campbell.

The Chief Justice and Miss Sullivan were among the passengers in the St. Lawrence yesterday morning.

Mr. John Gorman, insurance agent, and Dr. Dorsey, Charlottetown, lately spent a few days at Kelly's Cross, on business.

Mr. Sextus McLellan, having returned from Wyoming, has been re-engaged by Messrs. John McLeod & Co., of this city.

Henry Irving has cabled $500 for the relief of the sufferers by the terrible forest fires in the Western States.

Princess Bismarck is very sick, and her illustrious husband's condition is in consequence causing anxiety.

Messrs. D. W. Finlayson and Isaac Carter left this morning via the C. P. R., to attend the Toronto Exhibition, which is now going on.

At the Queen Hotel, yesterday, were Jas Robertson, Montreal; J Stewart, S'side; Rev W Dickey, do; W W Fraser and wife, Boston.

Mrs. John F. Hughes, who has been spending the summer with her parents—Mr. and Mrs. Owen McCardle, of Middleton—left by steamer Florida last week for Boston, en route to her home in Denver, Coloralo.

Albert Stordy, son of John Stordy, miller, of Crapaud, met with a serious accident last week by being struck in the mouth with a pole. He will probably be disfigured. Dr. Robertson is in attendance.

It is pleasing to learn that Mr. Unsworth is still better this morning. We insert Dr. Beer's letter, in another column, with pleasure. Mr. Unsworth authorizes the statement that the family has the fullest confidence in the skill of Dr. Beer and his consultant. Dr. Jenkins was called on as a result of the friendly offices of His Honor the Lieut. Governor.

It is stated that Victoria Hotel, Winsor, N. S., although it has undergone many improvements in the march of time, and especially within the past five years, has strong historic and literary interest as being the birthplace of Sam Slick. The very room in which he was born has been preserved, and may be entered by the traveller whether he has the proper feeling veneration or not.

ANOTHER UNFORTUNATE EXPEDITION.

Particulars of the Sinking of the Miranda.

Members of the Cook Expedition to the North Pole have arrived at North Sydney. They report that the party arrived at Sukkertoppen, Greenland, on August 7th, and left there again on August 9th with an Esquimaux pilot on board, who left them just outside the harbor, about seven miles northwest from Sukkertoppen. A short time afterwards the Miranda struck a reef and broke her bottom immediately under the ballast tanks. A heavy gale of wind was blowing at the time and the steamer returned to Sukkertoppen, being kept afloat by the pumps. On August 11th a party was sent north to Holsteinburg by a small boat, having heard that some United States fishing vessels were there. On August 20th the schooner Rigel, of Gloucester, Capt. Dixon, arrived at Sukkertoppen, and the passengers and provisions were transferred to the schooner. Some of the schooner's fishing tackle was thrown overboard to make room for the party, the vessel being only 99 feet keel, and having then on board 91 men. On the following morning, August 31st, the two vessels left, the schooner in tow of the Miranda. When 192 miles from Sukkertoppen, at midnight on the 22nd, the steamer began to settle, and it was decided to transfer the crew and their effects. At four o'clock in the morning the steamer's boats and the dories of the schooner were employed in transferring the effects to the schooner. On Thursday, 23rd of August, the Miranda was left to her fate, with no life on board except two small pigs. The first eleven days on board the schooner there was very little wind and dense fog. They arrived at Punch Bowl harbor eleven days out from Greenland. Five of the crew left the party at Punch Bowl.

On August 31st they arrived at Henly harbor. On Sept. 2nd (Sunday) they left Henly harbor and arrived at North Sydney on Wednesday morning, the 5th inst.

The party are staying at the Sydney hotel, when they gave a banquet in honor of Capt. Farrel, of the Miranda, and Capt. Dixon, of the Rigel. Some will go overland and some will take passage on the Rigel to Gloucester. The party are all well and in good spirits after their eventful trip to the frozen north. They slept in the hold of the schooner during their passage from Greenland and lived on fish two meals a day. All their instruments and clothes were lost except what they had on them at the time of the disaster.

The Miranda had an unfortunate trip. She first struck an iceberg off Cape Charles and returned to St. John's, Nfld., for repairs. While at Sukkertoppen a fire occurred in the pantry, but was discovered before much damage was done.

GENERAL TELEGRAPHIC NEWS.

Aldershot, Eng., Sept. 5.—A strange accident occurred to-day during experiments with a military captive baloon in the presence of the Duke of Connaught. The weather was stormy and while the baloon was being hauled down from its elevation by means of a rope attached to a winch, it was struck by lightning, and the electric fluid running down the rope knocked down and seriously injured three members of the engineer corps who were at work at the winch. The three soldiers are not expected to live.

Montreal, Sept. 5.—Senator Washburn, of Minneapolis, who was here to-day, in conversation with the press, stated that he considered the Northwest Territories the finest wheat-growing country in the world. "You have a great country up there," was the concluding remark of the great Western miller.

Montreal, Sept. 5.—Both English and French Conservative clubs are very active with revising the federal lists in the different wards. There was a large caucus of the party to-day, Hon. J. A. Ouimet, Solicitor-General Curren, and other leaders, being present. Reports were heard from all parts of the Province, and everything indicates more than usual energy all along the line.

Chippewa Falls, Wis., Sept. 5.—The town of Bruce was completely enveloped by forest fires. The people saved their lives by running to a creek, covering themselves with wet blankets and allowing the flames to sweep over them.

Duluth, Sept. 5.—Reports coming in from towns to the southward reporting fresh fires springing up. Early this morning it was reported from the railway junction and saw mill town of Carlton, 20 miles south of here, that fire menaced the town. Later, after strenuous work, it was beaten back. Brief messages from surrounding towns are that clouds of smoke are so dense that it is impossible to see clearly 20 feet. Even buildings are indistinguishable across the street.

South Superior, September 5.—In this city the smoke is dense and pungent, showing it to be from fire near by. It is utterly impossible to distinguish even the faint outlines of buildings four hundred feet away. In all about six hundred refugees are now listed here by relief committees. The lists are not complete. Nearly 200 people have been already sent back to Hinckley and Sandstone. The temporary relief fund subscribed here now reaches over $10,000. It is estimated that not less than $350,000 to $400,000 will be required to keep the people until they can get some returns from their own labor on their farms next summer.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

LETTER FROM DR. BEER.

Sir,—In justice to Dr. McLeod, my consultant in the case, and myself, I wish to correct the statements in last night's Examiner in reference to Mr. Unsworth's case. As regards the treatment, Dr. Jenkins fully acquiesced in it, and proposed nothing that had not been already mooted. As to the effects of the bleeding, Dr. Jenkins, in a subsequent consultation, was the first to state that it had done the patient no good. Consciousness did not return until eleven hours afterwards.

You will please insert this, and oblige, yours, &c.,

Frank D. Beer, M. D.

LETTER FROM A TAXPAYER.

Sir,—In common with many others, I have lately received from the office of the Provincial Secretary-Treasurer a document in which I am accused of having received during the year ending 31st December, 1893, a certain specified income over and above the sum of $350, which the document makes out is all that a man is entitled to receive in any one year.

The document does not state the name of the informer who laid the above fearful accusation against me, nor yet does it state that the said accusation was made upon oath or declaration, or in any way supported by any evidence, sworn to or otherwise, upon the part of the informer; but proceeds to say that in consequence of my having been accused of said crime I am to be mulcted of a certain sum, to be paid by me to the said Provincial Secretary-Treasurer—unless I can clear myself of the aforesaid accusation by an oath or declaration to the contrary.

On the back of the document two forms are given, the first of which is in the form of an oath and the second is drawn in the form of a statutory declaration, but has an oath improperly placed at the end of it.

Now I want to ask you, Mr. Editor, whether you think it is fair for the Government to listen to any lies that any person may choose to tell about us, and then force us to contradict those statements by an oath, or else to suffer the consequences? Your faithful
