NATIONAL HYMN.

The following 'National Hymn' by F. A D., Ottawa is exceedingly sweet, and we trust it will be set to music equally good:—

I.

Thou whom we all adore,
Gathered from many a shore,
One heart, though many a tongue,
To Thee our prayer is sung;
Grant us prosperity,
Honor and liberty,
With true nobility;
Honor to Canada.

II

May race dissensions all
Fade as our leaves in fall;
May laws and manners grow
Pure as our ice and snow;
Last-born of nations we,
Our flag from sea to sea,
Inwove with mightier fold,
Shall yet, through all, uphold,
Honor to Canada.

AGRICULTURAL.

"Agriculture is the most Healthful, the most Useful, the most Noble Employment of Man."

THE WINTER'S STUDY.—Now that the season of active labor is over for 1875, the farmer has leisure before him that may be turned to good account. With the general spread of information, the farmer cannot afford to be behind his fellow citizens in the knowledge of common things. Every farmer should club with his neighbors to form a library of at least one-hundred well selected, standard, practical books, relating, first to his own profession, agriculture, and the sciences connected with it; there are now many excellent, plainly written manuals, upon all the collateral sciences, then there should be works on American and general history, on political economy, and lastly in general literature.

TOP-DRESSING MEADOWS.—The result of a single top-dressing on eight plots of nearly half an acre each of sandy warm soil of our State Agricultural College Farm exhibited the following facts at the end of three years: The top-dressing was applied in 1864, and the grass was cut twice each season in 1864 and 1865 and once in 1866. The produce of each cutting and of each lot was weighed separately and a perfect record kept. The results for the four seasons were as follows: On the plot to which no manure or fertilizer was applied the total weight of hay yielded per acre was 8,740 pounds. Where two bushels of plaster per acre was applied the yield per acre was 12,226 pounds, a gain of 4,484 pounds. Where five bushels of wood ashes were applied the yield per acre was 12,907 pounds, a gain of 4,165 pounds. Where three bushels of salt was sown per acre, the yield was 13,969 pounds, a gain per acre of 5,226 pounds. Where 20 loads of muck per acre was laid on, the yield per acre was 13,816 pounds, a gain of 5,074 pounds. Where 20 loads of horse manure was laid on, the yield was 14,686 pounds, a gain of 6,224 pounds. These are results which indicate that there are fertilizers which will produce as good results as plaster. For instance, the plaster yielded a gain of 51 per cent. while the horse manure gave an increase of 71 per cent., or nearly a ton more grass per acre in the three years.—Michigan Farmer.

EDUCATING HORSES.—Horses can be educated to the extent of their understandings as well as children, and can be as easily damaged or ruined by bad management. We believe that the great difference found in horses as to vicious habits or reliability comes more from the different management of men than from variance of natural disposition in the animals. Horses of high mettle are more easily educated than those of less or dull spirits, and are more susceptible to ill-training and consequently may be as good or bad, according to the treatment they receive. Horses with dull spirits are not by any means proof against bad management, for in them may often be found the most provoking obstinancy; vicious habits of different characters that render them almost entirely worthless. Could the coming generation of horses in this country be kept from their days of colthood to the age of five years in the hands of good, careful managers, there would be seen a vast difference in the general characters of the noble animals. If a colt is never allowed to get an advantage, it will never know that it possesses a power that man cannot control; and if made familiar with strange objects, it will not be skittish and nervous. If a horse is made accustomed from his early days to have objects hit him on the heels, back and hips, he will pay no attention to the giving out of a harness or of a wagon running against him at an unexpected moment. We once saw an aged lady drive a high spirited horse, attached to a carriage, down a steep hill, with no hold-back straps upon the harness, and she assured us that there was no danger, for her son accustomed his horses to all kinds of usages and sights that commonly drive the animal into a frenzy of fear and excitement. A gun can be fired from the back of a horse, an umbrella held over his head, a buffalo robe thrown over his back, a railroad engine pass close by, his heels bumped with sticks, and the animal take it all as a natural condition of things, if only taught by careful management that he will not be injured thereby. There is great need of improvement in the management of this noble animal; less beating wanted, and more of education.

A young Montrealer named Goodwin forged a cheque in the name of the Hon. P. Mitchell, for $2 600, and got it cashed at the Montreal Bank. The prisoner who admits the whole affair, was betrothed to a most respectable young lady who is in a terrible distress at the disgraceful act of her lover. A clerk of Mr. Mitchell's was arrested on a charge of complicity in the affair, but denies all knowledge of it.

THE FATHER OF A FAMILY.—A regular poser —a clincher— is the case of an Irishman named Dennis, if true; if not true the Annual Register must be held responsible. He died at Athenry in 1804, at the age of one hundred and and seventeen: he had been married seven times, the last time at the age of ninety three. He survived the births of forty eight children, two hundred and thirty six grand-children, four hundred and forty-four great-grand children, and twenty-five great-great grandchildren.—All the Year Round.

HOLDING FAST TO ITS OLD NAME which it has carried successfully through the long period of thirty-four years, the American Agriculturist swings out its banner for the Centennial Year with the vigor of the prime of life, and with well-founded promises of still greater achievements in its appropriate sphere—that of a plain, practical, highly-instructive, and trustworthy family journal. Its name, adapted at the start for a special field of work, has become almost a mis-nomer, because it is now equally useful to City, Village, and Country. The closing number of volume 34, now before us, like its usual issues, is full of good things, varied in contents, which are prepared with much labor, thought and care, and illustrated with over 60 well executed and well-printed original sketches and engravings. This journal is a marvel of cheapness, beauty and utility costing only $1 60 a year, postage included, for it is more than 500 double pages of useful information, and 500 to 600, or more, of fine engravings. Every family should have it. Orange Judd Company, Publishers, 245 Broadway New York City.

SWEARING A JEW.—One of the witnesses in a recent trial at St. John, was Mr. John Clark, tobacconist, and the 'News' says he objected to being sworn on the Gospels, but asked for the Old Testament. And this is what followed:—

A Bible was procured, the witness put his hand over the first five books, placed his cap on his head, said 'I swear' (in response to the usual injunction to 'tell the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth,') and kissed the open leaf with a hearty smack.

'Where did you come from?' asked Dr. Tuck.

'Holland,' replied the witness.

'Did you bear the same name there that you do here?

'Yes—no—not all the time. Am I (turning to the Judge) to answer that question?'

'Then you didn't bear the same name in Holland?

'Well you see,' replied Mr. Clarke, 'it is the custom of the Israelites, no matter what country they may be in, to change the names of their children when they are sick to death, to see if it will help them get well. I was very sick when a child, and my parents changed my name to John Clarke, had the name announced in the Synagogue, and I have kept it yet.'

A CURIOUS CASE OF DIPTHERIA.—Among the various freaks of that terrible disease, diptheria, which has made such ravages among the children in Philadelphia, within the past few months, is one lately developed in the case of a little daughter of Mr. James Scull, on West side avenue. The child is about five years of age, and was taken sick with diptheria about five weeks ago. A day or two previous to the attack she had broken the skin on the back of both her thumbs. Dr. E. W. Pyle, the attending physician, found the child had all the symptoms of diptheria, with the exception of the formation of the membrane in the throat. But this membrane was formed on the back of each thumb over the places where the skin had been abraded. The doctor, becoming interested in this strange freak of the disease, removed the distressed membrane from the thumbs, when others succeeded in the same places. He then examined the membrane as it appeared on the child's thumbs under the microscope, and found that it was in every particular like that which in this disease usually forms in the throat or in some of the air passages. He took a membrane from the throat of another little daughter of Mr. Scull, who was then sick, and has since died with diptheria, and comparing it with that taken from her sister's thumb, found them precisely alike. The little girl who had been the subject of this singular developement, as the disease advanced from one stage to another, still continued to show symptoms of diptheria, having paralysis of the palate and extremities, being unable either to move or speak for several days. She at length began to grow convalescent, however, and is now nearly recovered, being again able to walk and move about as before her sickness, while the sores of the backs of her thumbs are entirely healed up. Dr. Pyle is of the opinion that the course taken by the disease in this case is a strong argument in favor of the opinion which many medical man hold, that diptheria is not wholly, if it is indeed chiefly, a disease of the throat and organs of respiration.

THE STORY-TELLER OUTDONE.—Those who are in the habit of telling prodigious stories ought to have good memories; but, fortunately, their memories are generally very short. Richard Brinsley Sheridan dealt with these medacious pests in a way peculiar to himself. He would never allow himself to be outdone by a verbal prodigy. Whenever a monstrous story was told in his presence, he would endeavor to outdo it by one of his own coinage, and consign the narrator to confusion by a falsehood more glaring than his own. Once in his hearing a sporting adventurer ran thus 'I was fishing one day say in a certain cold spring full of delicious trout, and soon caught a large mess. But what was really surprising, not a foot from the cold spring there was one of boiling water; so that when you wanted to cook your fish, all you had to do, after hooking them from the cold spring, was to pop them into the boiling.' The company all expressed astonishment and incredulaty at this monstrous assertion, with the exception of Sheridan. 'I know,' said he, 'of a phenomenon yet more surprising: I was fishing one day, when I came to a place where there were three springs. The first was a cold one stocked with fish, the second a boiling one, and the third a natural fountain of melted butter and parsley!' 'Melted butter and parsley!' exclaimed the first story-teller, 'impossible!'

The Chicago Tribune tells the following witty little story:—Solomons & Herschfeld were partners in the ready-made clothing business. Ferguson was one of their customers. Herschfeld fell sick and died. Ferguson came to Chicago to buy a bale of goods after the melancholy event, of which, however, he was unaware. Solomons met him at the door, draped in solemn sables, and wringing his hand in almost speechless anguish, thus addressed him:—'Ah, Mr. Ferguson, I'm glad to see you. We've had a loss, a serious loss; Mr. Herschfeld is dead. He was a fine man, Mr Ferguson, and he thought a great deal of you. Many and many a time, when he couldn't sit on his elbow and take his broth, he's said to me: 'Oh, if I could only see Mr. Ferguson again!' And the day he died, Mr. Ferguson, the last words he said to me were, 'Solomons, when Mr. Ferguson comes to Chicago after I'm dead and gone, be sure you sell him the goods at the very lowest bottom price.' And I will, too, Mr. Ferguson. What shall I show you?'

DIPTHERIA.—A Bridgeport physician sends the Standard the following: 'Our advice to parents is—for this is mostly a disease of childhood—protect the feet, legs and bodies of your children well, by suitable clothing. Give them plain, substantial food, plenty of rest, with fresh air and sunshine. Discard late hours and exciting amusements, and too hot rooms. If your child takes cold, keep it home in a pleasantly warmed room, and admit sunlight pretty freely. If with the cold there is some sore throat, use simple remedies to promote perspiration and a water compress about the throat. In the meantime keep a vigilant watch of the throat, and upon the first appearance of white or grey patches, send for your physician. Do not put it off to see if it will not get well of itself. Twelve hours may decide the fate of your child—prompt, thorough, efficient medication at this stage of the disease will rarely fail of success; later the system may be too depressed to respond to any remedies.

TRIED BY HIS PEERS.—Mr. Parsons, a lawyer in Chicago, was trying a case before a jury, being counsel for the prisoner. The judge was very hard on him, and the jury brought in a verdict of guilty. Mr. Parsons moved for a new trial. The judge denied the motion and remarked: 'The Court and jury think the prisoner a knave and a fool.' The counsel promptly replied: 'The prisoner wishes me to say he is perfectly satisfied—he has been tried by a Court and jury of his peers.'

A GREAT INJUSTICE.—A milk pedler, named Drew, was yesterday in the City Hall police station to secure aid in tracing the whereabouts of a family who had changed locations between two days, owing him three dollars.

'Well, I suppose there was twelve shillings' worth of water in that milk account,' remarked the Chief.

'That's where it galls—that's where it hurts!' replied the dealer. 'They were new customers and I hadn't commenced to water the milk yet.'

PRUDENCE.—Over-caution and over-preparation not seldom defeat their own object. Washington Irving tells of a Dutchman who, having to leap a ditch, went back three miles that he might have a good run at it, and found himself so completely winded, when he arrived at it again that he was obliged to sit down on the wrong side to take his breath.

LIVER COMPLAINT.

The Liver is the great depurating (purifying) organ of the system, and has very appropriately been termed the housekeeper of our health. I have observed in the dissecting-room, and also in making post-mortem examinations of the bodies of those who have died of different diseases, that in a large proportion of cases, the liver has given evidence of having at some time been diseased. Liver affections are equally prevalent in beasts. Every butcher knows that the livers of cattle, sheep, and swine, are ten times as frequently diseased as any other organ. A healthy liver each day secretes about two and a half pounds of bile. When it becomes torpid, congested or if, from any cause, it be disabled in the performance of its duties, it is evident that the elements of the bile must remain in the blood, thus irritating, poisoning, and perverting, every vital process. Nature attempts to rid the system of these noxious materials by means of other organs as the kidneys, lungs, skin, etc., which become overtaxed in performing their additional labor, and are unable to withstand the pressure.

The brain, which is the great electrical center of all vitality, becomes overstimulated with unhealthy blood, and fails to normally perform its functions. Hence there is dullness, headache, impairment of the memory, dizziness, gloomy forebodings, and irritability of the temper. When the blood is diseased, the skin manifests discolored spots, pimples, blotches, boils, carbuncles, and scrofulous tumors. The stomach and bowels sooner or later, become affected, and constipation, piles, dropsy, dyspepsia, or diarrhœa, is the inevitable result.

SYMPTOMS OF LIVER COMPLAINT.

A sallow colour of the skin, or yellowish-brown spots on the face and other parts of the body; dullness and drowsiness, with frequent headache; dizziness, bitter or bad taste in the mouth, dryness of the throat, and internal heat; palpitation of the heart, a dry teasing cough, sore throat, unsteady appetite, sour stomach, raising of the food, and a choking sensation in the throat; sickness and vomiting, distres, heaviness, and a bloated, or full feeling about the stomach and sides; aggravating pains in the sides, back, or breast, and about the shoulders; colic pains and soreness through the bowels, constipation, alternating with diarrhœa piles, flatulence, nervousness, coldness of the extremeties, rush of blood to the head, with symptoms of apoplexy; numbness of the limbs especially at night, and chills, alternating with hot flashes; kidney and other urinary difficulties dullness, low spirits, and gloomy forebodings. Only a few of these symptoms will be likely to be present in any case at one time.

TREATMENT.—Take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, with small doses of his Pleasant Purgative Pellets, which act as an alterative on the liver. For Liver Complaint and the various affections caused by a diseased liver, these remedies are unsurpassed. The Golden Medical Discovery does not simply Palliate the disease, but it produces a lasting effect. By its use, the liver and stomach are changed to an active healthy state, the appetite is regulated, the blood purified and enriched, and the entire system renovated and restored to health.

The Discovery is sold by druggists. R. V. Pierce, M. D., Proprietor, World's Dispensary, Buffalo, N. Y.

HARPER'S MAGAZINE.

ILLUSTRATED.

Notices of the Press.

The ever-increasing circulation of this excellent monthly proves its continued adaptation to popular desires and needs. Indeed, when we think into how many homes it penetrates every month, we must consider it as one of the educators as well as entertainers of the public mind.—Boston Globe.

The character which this Magazine possesses for variety, enterprise, artistic wealth, and literary culture that has kept pace with, if it has not led the times, should cause its conductors to regard it with justifiable complacency. The Magazine has done good and not evil all the days of its life.—Brooklyn Eagle.

Some of the most popular of modern novels have first appeared as serials in this Magazine In all respects, it is an excellent periodical, and fully deserves its great success.—Philadelphia Ledger.
