

Lost flesh lately?
Does your brain tire?
Losing control over your nerves?
Are your muscles becoming exhausted?
You certainly know the remedy. It is nothing new; just the same remedy that has been curing these cases of thinness and paleness for twenty-five years. Scott's Emulsion. The cod-liver oil in it is the food that makes the flesh, and the hypophosphites give tone to the nerves.

Why Amy Was Loved Best

"Which of my chums do I love best? It won't take me long to answer that question," said my little friend, in reply to a query; "I love Amy ever so much the best."

"I suspected as much," said I, for I have noticed that while I often see you three pass together, on your way to and from school, at other times Susie goes by herself and looks the reverse of happy."

"Yes, but it is all her own fault!" said Agnes, with rising color. I don't like to be a tell-tale, but seeing you want to know, I'll tell you why it so often happens that way. Susie is a lovely scholar, for a little girl. She goes way ahead of me in some things and she's the prettiest girl in our class. She's real sweet, and lovely, every way, sometimes, but—but."

"But what dear?" I asked out of no idle curiosity. "I have formed my own opinion from what I have seen of Susie, and I wish to know if it is correct. You know I make a study of little folks, and I like to know if I have judged wrongly."

"Well, it's like this; one day she's ready to eat me up, she loves me so. The next day she's clear off, and won't have a word to say to me. I used to think I'd done something awful, and would cry and feel dreadful; but soon learned that it was just her way."

"Not a very comfortable way, either for herself, or any who have to do with her, I should say," said I, as my wee friend paused for want of breath.

"I think not! It makes it hard all round. We never can count on having a good time until we see which way the wind blows. It is hard for her, too, for none of us love her like we would if she wasn't so fickle."

"But, Amy; how is it with her?" queried I, as if I had not already guessed.

"Oh she's always just Amy!" "Just Amy!" what am I to conclude by that?"

"Oh, that she's just the dearest girl in our room! She isn't as quick to learn as Susie; and folks don't think she's pretty till they know how good she is; but you always that when you say 'good-by,' one day, you will find her just as sweet when you see her next time."

Here, the child came to a pause, and with a look of regret written on her bright face, added with a sigh:

"Oh, dear! if Susie would only get to be true and sweet, always, like Amy, how much comfort we three could take together."

Just then Amy came bounding towards us, looking so sunny, that, as she put her arm about her waiting friend, and the two girls started for school, I did not wonder that one who is always "true and sweet," looked beautiful to those who knew her worth.

FEEDING THE BABY.

Mr. Jackson's Experience With the Cub of a Polar Bear.

The care of babies is never a sinecure, as many of our readers can testify, and the ordinary difficulties of the case sometimes assume extraordinary proportions.

An English lady in India was recently worried about the failing health of her infant. The milk was suspected, and the doctor ordered that the child be fed asses' milk. The lady spoke to a native officer of the district, and, receiving a satisfactory reply, drove with a man-servant to the station where the ass was to be waiting.

To her amazement, there, tied to a post, all ready to be milked, stood a huge she bear. It seems that in the native dialect, the words ass and bear are so nearly alike as to be scarcely distinguishable in the mouth of a European.

A variation of the milk problem was presented to Mr. F. G. Jackson, the Arctic explorer, when he found and adopted the infant cub of a polar bear. There seemed no way to feed the poor little beast until Mr. Jackson hit upon the following ingenious method.

Taking a bit of sponge, he covered it with chamois leather and fastened it to a rubber tube which had previously been inserted in a bottle. Fixed to the cork of this bottle was a piece of glass tubing through which air might be blown to make the milk run freely.

The cub took to the bottle like any other baby, and sucked away in most ravenous fashion, with a contented look upon her face, as if the last of her troubles were ended.

Truths For Girls.

Never mind about the dimples if there's sunshine in your smile. At least one little act of kindness a day and an easy pillow at night.

Vacation planning is all right, but don't let the summer dreams interfere with school duties.

Neatness of dress first, and style may come as an afterthought.

One frown a day when she's in her teens will wrinkle a girl's forehead like a crease by the time she is 20.

Try to make yourself agreeable to your brother as if he were some other girl's brother. It will pay to win his boyish confidence.

Suffering caused by Piles

Is Quickly Ended when Dr. A. W. Chase's Ointment is applied

Besides the intense agony caused by the itching, burning sensations of piles, there are other symptoms which produce restlessness and at times excruciating pains known only to the victim of piles.

What would one give to be free of this terrible disease? And yet there is a cure—a positive cure—which does not cost much and is not painful or difficult to apply.

Dr. A. W. Chase's Ointment is, so far as is known, the only absolute cure for blind, itching, bleeding and protruding piles. It gives relief at the first application and affords a perfect cure in the most aggravated cases.

Mr. Isaac Foster, Erieview, Ont., says: "I was troubled with itching piles for two years and could not sleep at night. I was half-crazed and tried everything. Finally seeing Dr. Chase's Ointment advertised I tried it and found it good. After a second application I found relief, and one large box cured me. Have never been bothered since, and I can recommend it to all suffering from the same trouble."

Dr. Chase's Ointment is for sale by all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto

Mr. W. H. Odell, of Brockville, Strong Believer in Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Brockville, Oct 2.—Nowhere in Ontario are Dodd's Kidney Pills more appreciated than among the St. Lawrence River, and the Great Lakes. Where there is water there is damp and danger from rheumatism and colds. The kidneys are the organs most susceptible to colds and the getting out of order therefrom causes rheumatism, backache, etc., Mr W H Odell, of Brockville, writes to an enquirer as follows:—

Brockville, Aug 23th.
Dear Sir,—I received your letter and intended to answer it before, but I am ashamed to say neglected to do so. Dodd's Kidney Pills have done me the world of good. They are a splendid cure for the kidneys and I am always ready to say so. I remain,
Yours truly, W. H. ODELL.
