The letter box lobby in the Summerside Post Office is presently being extended to provide an additional 480 new letter boxes, and the new extension will add 10 feet in depth to the public area of the lobby.

The photo above, taken from inside the Post Office area on Thursday, illustrates the space which the new post office boxes will occupy, and last evening most of this area was already filled.

The effect of the new installations will relieve congestion at the main wicket in the lobby where general delivery and stamp sales are handled. It will also enable 480 resident and business box holders to pick up their mail at times convenient to them when the general delivery wicket in the lobby is closed.

Burglars Enter Grocery Store

A break at Jimmes Grocery Store, operated by Jimmie MacInnis on Water Street East, Summerside, was discovered early yesterday morning.

Entry to the store had been made by breaking a pane of glass in the front door and reaching in to open the lock. Some thirty packages of cigarettes were stolen along with about eight dollars in silver which was taken from the till. The shutter was also removed from the inside of a window in the back of the building through which it is believed the intruders fled.

Thousands Throng Services In Vatican City On Good Friday

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Christ's suffering and death on the cross nearly 2,000 years ago were commemorated in mournful Good Friday services here attended by pilgrims from many lands.

Thousands of them, speaking in hushed tones, streamed into St. Peter's Basilica throughout the day. Many of them also paid brief visits to Rome's other major basilicas and churches.

Friday morning, solemn tenebrae—darkness—services were held in St. Peter's, symbolical of Christ's death. Then, later, as the faithful hour of Calvary approached, thousands again gathered for vespers services that included adoration of the crucified Christ. These services were held in St. Peter's and in most of Rome's nearly 500 churches.

KISSED CHRIST'S FEET
Here in the Basilica—the world's biggest church—long lines of the faithful church—long lines of the then women and children, advanced in a deeply moving ceremony to kneel and kiss the crucified feet of Christ on a small cross, from which the purple linen covering cloth was temporarily lifted.

The vesper service included readings from the gospel according to St. John (chap. 18, 1-40 and Christ's betrayal by Judas, his chap. 19, 1-42) They recount Christ's betrayal by Judas, his scourging, crucifixion, death and burial.

The services of St. Peter's and also in Rome churches included prayers for the pontiff, for the church's hierarchy, rulers of people, for unity of the church and for the conversion of Jews and others to the Roman Catholic faith.

Thursday night, thousands of young members of Italian Catholic action gathered in a torch-lighted way of the cross on Rome's Palatine Hill, overlooking the ancient Roman forum and colosseum.

In St. Peter's Basilica, the vespers service was followed by brief exposition of the Roman Catholic Church's major relics.

They are the lance with which the Roman soldier Longinus is believed to have pierced Jesus' side, the veil with which Veronica wiped His face on the way to Calvary, and a piece of the cross on which He died.

Mr. Walter R. Shaw, chairman of the Potato Committee of the Canadian Horticultural Council spoke briefly and said with the presently expanding market in Canada the new treaty with the United States was a good one. He paid tribute to what he termed the "sympathetic attitude" of Finance Minister Harris to the potato tariff. He said the new quotas provided for 1,900,000 bushels of seed and 600,000 bushels table stock.

He was not unduly worried over the fact that early potatoes from the United States would still come in free of duty from January to June because he said they were in a price bracket several times higher and he did not expect them to interfere with sales of our late potatoes.

CANADIAN CONFERENCE
Mr. Shaw said the All Canadian Conference to be held this summer in Guelph, Ont., would be one of the most important potato meetings ever held in Canada and urged that wherever possible island growers attend. He mentioned the desirability of eliminating the bushel as a measure in order to make it a uniform 100 pound measure all over the continent.

Mr. E. W. Campbell, Manager of the P.E.I. Potato Marketing Board, stressed the desirability of putting potatoes up in smaller packs in order to reach the working couples or working girls who possibly only cooked dinner once or twice a week and were not interested in buying 15 or even 10 pounds at a time. He demonstrated several smaller packs with five or six potatoes in cellophane wrapping.

He stated the day of 75-pound bags in the home was gone and they were only seen now in institutions. He emphasized the tremendous importance of potatoes to the economy of the province by pointing to annual returns from the industry of 6 to 10 million dollars which he said was approximately

LARGELY CLOUDY
Saskatchewan was largely cloudy at between 40 and 50 but skies over Manitoba cleared unexpectedly.

The mercury reached the high 60s at Ottawa, Quebec, the Maritimes and Newfoundland had sun for most of the day. But it got progressively cooler toward the Atlantic and Newfoundland communities registered temperatures in the 40s.

The domestic public weather office at Toronto said no sharp temperature changes were predicted at any point in Canada although showers and cloud might appear now and again during the weekend.

THOUSANDS Toured
Thousands of Canadians bought package-tour tickets at Montreal and Toronto and journeyed by train, plane and bus to the tourist attractions in New York, New England and Washington. Trans-Canada Air Lines introduced 21 additional flights to Bermuda, Cleveland, and Northern Ontario. American Airlines broadened weekend service to Florida and the Caribbean out of Toronto.

Altogether, the Canadian National Railways said it expected 30,000 people would use its trains to visit relatives in other cities or go sightseeing. The Canadian Pacific carried 2,500 from Toronto to New York for the Easter parade along Fifth Avenue.

Quebec and Ontario provincial police deployed extra patrols to stop weekend speeders and try to hold down the customary holiday death toll. The RCMP took similar precautions in the other eight provinces.

was no doubt they were island potatoes and no wonder the purchasers complained.

NO EXCUSE
He felt there was no excuse for anyone shipping poor quality but noted that it was impossible for inspectors to open every bag they came to. The Minister said those who were getting away with this were hurting all island producers and believed if the good farmers knew when it was happening it was in their own best interest to tip off the inspectors.

Mr. E.D. Reid filed a complaint against the carriers for supplying old type American refrigerators which could not protect the product against temperatures of 20 below zero. He said the carriers should have the new type cars which are capable of taking potatoes to market in any weather. Because of the cars several shippers had claims and Mr. Reid said too long a time elapsed before settlement. He felt that all claims should be settled fairly and speedily.

In this Mr. Mann fully agreed and suggested that any shippers having claims which they thought were unduly held up in settlement should communicate with his office for help.

BOARD CHAIRMAN SPEAKS
Mr. William MacLennan chairman of the P.E.I. Potato Marketing Board, said that his Board was the signatory to the agreed charge contract with the railway and pointed out that for this reason Island growers had an advantage over their fellows in New Brunswick where each grower had to sign the contract individually.

He said he hoped the Potato Field Day, which the Board instituted last year, would become an annual event and attract even greater attention. He mentioned the unusual circumstances surrounding the winning of the see and table stock championships at the Harvest Exhibition where the first title was won by twin brothers Fred and Frank Coffin and the table stock title by twin brothers Harold and Howard Dixon who are cousins of the Coffin Brothers. He thought it unlikely such a combination of relationship would not again be seen in the winners circle.

Mr. MacLennan concluded by stating we have approached our work with the conviction that Prince Edward Island is the ideal place to grow potatoes, and that our growers, packers and shippers will have the foresight to keep up with the times and keep P.E.I. on the map as the producer of the finest seed and table potatoes in the world.

Mr. Henry MacLaren, officer in charge of Seed Potato Certification, reported on the activity of his department and warned all potato growers against the dangers inherent in the incidence of bacterial ringrot. He told of several ways it could be transmitted from farm to farm.

NEW POTATO TARIFF

OBJECTIVES
Mr. J. Lincoln Dewar, secretary of the Federation of Agriculture and a member of the Atlantic Provinces Economic Council spoke briefly of the work of the latter. He said the old approach was for each Province to go to Ottawa alone to try to settle its problems, whereas now joint action was taken by all four Provinces. He said the members of the Council were to improve the Atlantic Provinces as a place to live and to do business and urged all groups to join in the work as it costs money to attract new capital and interest business in this area as a place to invest.

Mr. Howatt, the chairman, echoed the thought when he said "We have a good country - as good as any - all we have to do is get together and make it great."

Mr. Austin Leard, formerly of Cavendish, told
