Should Barry's Lions be in the next two ball games from Rollaway Aces, they would be in the finals of the City League playoffs. We are by no means calling this to happen but merely mentioning the consequences of two successive triumphs over Willis Hennessey and Company.

A good battery is just about as important part of a ball team as any that we can think of at the moment and the Lions have a pretty fair combination in pitcher Lorne Israel and catcher Forbie Kennedy. Yesterday we made mention of Lorne's transfer to Frederickton and today we add that Forbie takes off next week for the Detroit Red Wings' training camp. That means if the Lions make the finals, they will only be a shadow of the team that has performed in regular season play and in the semifinals.

Hockey and softball are not the only sports in which the rugged Kennedy excels. All summer long he has been doing an excellent job on the waterfront in Victoria Park, safeguarding young swimmers.

But that wasn't Forbie only task. Along with his lifeguard chores he was carrying on Red Cross swimming instructions for juniors, intermediates and seniors.

Red Cross officials are loud in their praise of Kennedy's work and are hoping that he will be in a position to come back again next summer.

Best of everything, Forbie. Belvedere's golf pro, Cecil 'Bubby' Dowling, recently crowned P. E. I. Open Champion and his brother Bobby are in Saint John tuning up for the Saint John Exhibition Open which is being held today and Saturday over the Riverside course.

Shamrocks Stay Alive; Bomb B.Y.C. Juniors, 10-5

B.I.S. Shamrocks kept their hopes alive by combining timely hitting with B.Y.C. errors to bounce the youth clubbers, 10-5 in a City Softball League semifinal game played at the Old Diamond before a big crowd last night.

The victory deadlocked the best-of-five series at 2-2. The final, and deciding tussle will be played Saturday afternoon.

The Juniors couldn't seem to find the handle on the ball in the second inning and made three damaging errors, all coming at critical times, to present the winners with a big 6-0 lead.

B.Y.C. picked away at the spread for two frames and had it narrowed down to 6-4 before pinch-hitter Joe Coyle's bases loaded double in the fourth that put the tilt on the ice for good.

B.E.A.G. HURLS B.I.S. Coach Ev Beagan nominated himself to keep his squad in the fight for the championship and he did just that in fine style.

He allowed B.Y.C. only four hits, although six walks and four errors kept him in a lot of hot water throughout.

Young Mike O'Brien went the route for the Juniors and hurled steady ball despite the 10 runs scored on him. Most of them could be attributed to lapses by his teammates, although he was tagged for eight hits, including two doubles, in six frames.

In a game that was noteworthy for defensive lapses, Irish shortstop Joe Revel put on a top display of stellar defensive ball.

Twice he raced to his left and behind second base to take away hits from Junior batters.

The hitting was well spread among Irish players. Joe Coyle, who came into the game in the fourth, had a pair of doubles and three RBIs in two trips.

Wally Shepherd, Roy McGonnell, Junior Dowling, Revell, Vern Blanchard and Ian MacLaine each had singles.

Jim Duffy had a pair for the Juniors, a double and single. Apps Arsenault had the other two safeties.

PRINCE CO. SEMI-FINALS Valley, Legion Deadlock, 5-5

The Tyne Valley Tigers and the Summerside Legion battled for seven innings to a 5-5 draw at Queen Elizabeth Park last evening, and so failed to break the 1-1 deadlock in games in their best-of-five semi-final series for the Prince County Softball League championship.

The game will be continued at a later date. The eventual winner of the series will play Cape Traverse for the league title.

Ira Campbell, Tyne Valley pitcher, allowed 10 hits including a home run by Des Roberts. Henry Gallant, making his debut as a softball flinger, was touched for eight safeties.

Gerry Morrison getting the only extra base blow to deep left field.

For Tyne Valley Harry Ramsay hit 2 for 3 and Gerry Morrison 2 for 4. Art Sonier had two safeties in four tries.

Clarence Gillis and Des Roberts 2 in 4. Owen Sonier's running catch of Elmer Gorrill's long fly to centre in the third was a fielding gem.

Don MacDougall covered a lot of ground to put two in, and a snappy double play—Roberts to Gillis to Callaghan, in the final inning was neatly executed.

Tyne Valley missed a golden opportunity to win the ball game in the sixth inning. Jack Gorrill was called out for leaving the third sack too soon and seconds after Harold Miller came through with a single that would have driven him home.

Three-Way Tie For Lead In Centennial Tourney

By JACK SULLIVAN VANCOUVER (CP)—Two Canadians, a Japanese and an American piled into a first-round lead in the $42,000 British Columbia centennial golf tournament Thursday with four under-par 68s.

They paced a parade of par-busters, most of whom said that no one will "murder" the 6,505-yard Point Gray layout before the championship ends Monday.

Sharing the 18-hole honors were Toronto's Jerry Magee and Al Balding, Fred Hawkins of El Paso, Tex., and 39-year-old Koichi Ono from Yokohama, Japan.

Eleven players crowded the leaders with 69, another posted 70 and 12 managed one-under-par 71. Twelve got down in regulation figures.

One, unable to make a nickel on the big-time circuit so far this year, came in early with his 68 and it withstood the challenge of the established pros until the final threesome came home in a drizzle of rain.

Several other awards for amateurs and juniors. Any entrant is eligible for the exhibition trophy, put up by the local Exhibition Association for the top player among the amateurs, pros and juniors.

Leading professionals are to take part. The N.B.—P.E.I. Professional champion, Cecil Dowling of Charlottetown, who has just added the P. E. I. open title to his long string of golf titles, will head the list.

Other top amateurs include John Randies, formerly of Riverside and now of Moncton; Joe Stretcher, Bill Bishop, Bud Kennedy and Walter Gow of Riverside, Tommy Stewart of St. Croix and B. W. Isner of Moncton.

SPORTS ECHOES

We were surprised at pitcher Garth Harris's showing against the Nova Scotia Junior champs from Springhill. Garth gave the Cubs only three hits in six innings. He struck out their clean-up man, Knickel, twice. Garth has a pretty fair assortment of stuff and his control is improving.

With his work on the mound all season, we think he might be a real prospect for higher company. Every once in a while, however, he uncorks what must be the grand-daddy of all wild pitches.

You'd think he was trying to beat those Fort Canaveral boys to the moon. Fortunately, against Springhill, these wild tosses did not occur at crucial times.

We didn't think the Cubs had a leg to stand on in their dispute about umpire Phillips' decision on Grant Grady's steal of home in what turned out to be the last play of the game. Grant came tearing home with the pitcher's wind-up and Wood's delivery was a pitch, not a throw home to catch Grady.

Under such circumstances, we believe a catcher must stay in his box until he catches the ball. Grant made a beautiful slide and, from where we sat, looked to be home free. Anyway the catcher moved up to the plate before the ball reached him and Phillips was right, in our opinion, in calling interference.

On the other side of the ledger, Springhill's claim that Harris balked when Heathery was at first base was correct. You can't make a motion to throw to first base when the base is occupied without completing the throw.

Balks are about the hardest item for an umpire to remember. There are 12 different situations called a balk. It requires considerable home work on the part of umpires.

The balk miscall was not crucial, however, as the runner stole second on the next pitch. What was crucial, and what looked like another miscall was the decision when Grant stole second. The ground around second base resembles the bottom of a lake and Grant preferred not to slide but came tearing to the bag at full speed. He tripped over the sack and although we hate to second guess umpires it was the opinion of a lot of cash customers that the second sacker put the tag on Grant while he was sprawled in the mud. It could be that the spot where Grant was reclining was where the bag originally laid. It might have been lodged out of position in the scramble, in all fairness to the base judge we and others could have been wrong.

Anyway it was only an exhibition tilt and the really important thing was the fact that our boys held the N.S. champs to so close a contest. True, we had two intermediate replacements who played well, but Harris's pitching against a team of big strapping fellows, the team's steady fielding, and the hitting of Urie Gallant and Fidele DesRoches were all pleasant surprises. Guess we've been underrating our Pontiacs all along.

On September 9, Civic Stadium will be the site of what looks like an exciting boxing card. Tiger Steele and Gaudet, in the main event, are the principles in a main event.
