Plentiful Pork Chops Are Inexpensive Buy

By IDA BAILEY ALLEN
 "Fresh pork is plentiful and in the budget," observed the Chef. "However, in many areas, homemakers request only center-chops, which drives up their price."
 "Either 'blade' (shoulder) or loin chops have equal value, lean for lean and fat for fat, and both cost less.
BOW CHOPS LOOK
 "Blade chops have a flat bone located just under the outer rim of fat. Loin chops look like miniature T-bone or porterhouse beef-steaks.
 "These two types, like center chops, may be sautéed in their own fat, braised in beef broth or non-sweet tomato sauce, or they may be seasoned, breaded and bake-fried with almost no added fat. Or try them in our new pork chop-potato bake."
 Measurements are level; recipes for 6.
Pork Chop-Potato Bake: Trim visible fat from 6 good-sized pork chops. Brown them all over in their remaining fat.
 Dust with mixture of 2 tsp. flour, 1 1/2 tsp. salt, 1/4 tsp. pepper and 1 tsp. dried parsley flakes. Arrange in layer in large loaf casserole.

 Top chops with thick layer of 1 qt. thin-sliced raw potato mixed with 1 c. thin-sliced peeled raw onion.
 Pour in 3 c. heated skim milk and 1 c. water or enough to cover chops and potato. Cover.
 Bake 1 1/2 hrs. in mod. oven, 350 degrees F., or until chops and potato are fork-tender.
 Uncover and slip under broiler 2 or 3 min. to brown.
 Serve piping hot.

MR. AND MRS. JOHN PRESTON MURPHY
 St. Anne's Church, Lot 65
 Setting Of Pretty Wedding

St. Anne's Church, Lot 65, was the scene of a very pretty wedding on August 22, 1959, when Ann Lillian, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Simon Cavanagh, New Haven, exchanged marriage vows with John Preston, son of John A. Murphy and the late Mrs. Murphy of Kinkora.
 Very Rev. George McCormac, friend of the bride, performed the double ring ceremony and celebrated the nuptial mass which was served by Charles Cavanagh, nephew of the bride and Devin Griffin. Miss Mary E. McElroy was organist and accompanied Mrs. Amos Callaghan who sang appropriate hymns.
 The church was decorated with blue and white gladioli in honour of Our Lady's Feast Day. Rev. Charles McCarthy, P.P., Rev. Harold Croken, Rev. Louis Callaghan, Rev. Cecil Moreau, C.S.S.R., Rev. Reginald McDonald, Rev. Bennet McDonald, Rev. John Kelly, Rev. George McDonald and Rev. Ken McMillan occupied seats in the sanctuary.
 The bride, given in marriage by her father, was radiant in her beautiful gown of white organza over satin, featuring a fitted bodice, long sleeves and a bouffant, floor length skirt worn over hoops. Her chapel length veil was held by a coronet. She carried a white prayer book with blue and white flowers and satin streamers.
 Her attendants were Miss Margaret Cavanagh, sister of the bride, Miss Rita Murphy, sister of the groom, and Mrs. Gerard McCarthy, friend of the bride. They wore identical ballerina length gowns of organza in blue, yellow and pink respectively with headdress to match their gowns and they carried nosegays.
 Mr. Gerald Murphy was groomsmen while Mr. Walter McDonald, friend of the bride and Mr. Elmer Murphy, brother of the groom ushered the guests to the pews which were also decorated in white and blue.
 The bride's mother wore a blue sheer over taffeta dress, blue picture hat, with white accessories and wore a white carnation.
 Immediately after the nuptial mass the bride and groom knelt before the Shrine of Our Blessed Lady and repeated the Act of Consecration.
 The reception was held at the Clover Club where about one hundred guests enjoyed a turkey dinner. Mr. Frank Rooney acting as toastmaster called on Very Rev. George McCormac who proposed the toast to the bride to which the groom responded. Complimentary remarks were made by Rev. McCarthy, Rev. Croken, Rev. Callaghan, Rev. Moreau. Following the reception a buffet supper was held at the home of the bride.
 For travelling the bride donned a beige lace over taffeta dress with white accessories and a corsage of yellow carnations.
 Previous to her marriage the bride was the efficient housekeeper at the parochial house in St. Andrews.
 Many beautiful and useful gifts were received by the happy couple at showers held in their honour in St. Andrews, New Haven, Kinkora and Montreal.
 Following a motor trip through the Maritimes, Mr. and Mrs. Murphy will reside in Montreal.
