

King's College, Windsor.

THE ENCEMIA.

Special Correspondence of The Examiner.

LAST WEEK was the closing one of the academical year at King's College, Windsor. All work is finished always before this closing week begins, which is mostly a very gay and happy one for all. Old familiar faces come back to see Alma Mater, and all are merry together.

On Wednesday, the annual cricket match was played for the Cogswell prize. The team which contested with the College one for it, was one composed of old graduates. The game went to the students; and Mr. Calder, a native of Windsor, was presented with the bats.

In the morning of the same day, the annual meeting of the Alumni of the college (that is the general legislative body) was held. There were more members than usual present, and the meeting was a very satisfactory one. In the place of Ven. Archdeacon Gilpin and Hon. J. C. Hainberton, the two retiring governors, Rev. G. W. Hill, Rector of St. Paul's, Halifax, and Rev. Canon Dart, President of the college, were elected.

A full report of the finances was read, and ordered to be printed. A resolution was passed to report the affairs of the college to the next Synod of the diocese (which is now in session), and that the right of election of two governors, every second year, be given to that body. Also, that if the Synod of New Brunswick carried out its intention of making King's College its Divinity School, the Bishop of New Brunswick should be ex officio a Governor, and that that Synod should also have the right of electing two governors. Similar resolutions were carried in regard to the diocese of Newfoundland.

In the evening a conversation was given in the Convocation Hall, by the students, to their friends of Windsor and visitors. It was a brilliant assemblage, and the large hall was well filled. All seemed to thoroughly enjoy themselves, the fair ones, the Doctors, the Masters, the Bachelors and the happy undergraduates. The music afforded by the Quintette Club of Halifax, which, by the by, consists of ten secular musicians instead of five, was a great treat, and all were sorry when the time arrived for "God Save the Queen." At times, in the evening, the younger and gayer portion of the company seemed almost about to burst all restraint and trip the light fantastic; but the presence of grave-headed, and gorgeous-robed dignitaries proved too over awing.

Thursday morning ushered in a busy day for Kingsmen. At half-past seven, Holy Communion was celebrated in the College Chapel, the choir singing Marbeck's service. There was a good attendance of students and clergy at it. At a quarter of ten, a procession was formed in front of the college, the boys of the Collegiate School ahead, then the undergraduates in order of seniority, then Bachelors, Masters, Doctors and the Faculty, with a few of the Governors, the President in his surplice, and the Lord Bishop bringing up the rear. The procession moved down the elm-shaded avenue, and took its course to the old parish church, where, for years and years, Kingsmen have gathered for the Enceania service. Morning Prayer was sung by Rev. Prof. Wilson, the lesson was read by Rev. G. W. Hodgson, and Rev. Canon Dart preached. The text of his sermon was from 12th chapter of Job, 8th and 9th verses: "Speak to the earth, and it shall teach thee; and the fishes of the sea shall declare unto thee; who knoweth not in all these that the hand of the Lord hath wrought this?" It was a striking sermon, and an able defence against scientific and sceptical assailers of religion. He dwelt at length upon the necessity of distinguishing between scientific facts and hypotheses. The former we accept, the latter we must receive with care. The sermon we are glad to say, is to be printed in the Church Guardian. After service, all went back to the Convocation Hall. His Lordship the Bishop of Nova Scotia, the Doctors, Masters and Governors present and the Faculty now took their seats upon the platform. The President, as is customary, then mentioned those of the graduates who had been carried off by death in the past year, and then delivered a well-studied and eloquent speech. After speaking of the present condition of the College, he turned his remarks to the States there are post graduate courses, at the Colleges in the Maritime Provinces there is nothing of the kind, and it is much to be regretted. Young men on leaving College, should begin a regular methodical course of reading, and not depend on a merely desultory one, as seems to be too often the case. The ethics of reading must be studied, and reading made a study not a mere pastime. He then went carefully into the discussion of certain courses of reading.

The names of prizemen of the year were now announced: Cogswell Divinity Scholarship—Mr. W. J. Lockyer. Binney Exhibition—Mr. M. Rattenbury. President's Prize for English Rhyme Heroic Verse—Mr. B. W. Roger Taylor. Cogswell Cricket Prize—Mr. J. W. Calder. Almon Welford Prize—Mr. C. A. Saunders. Akin's Historical Prize—Rev. T. Draper, B. A. General Williams Prize (in Miscellany)—H. T. Farlee. General Williams Prize (in Mod. Languages)—Mr. H. P. Jones. Stevenson Scholarship—Mr. P. R. Dodwell. First Year Divinity Prize—Mr. A. T. Tucker.

After which the prizes of the collegiate school were awarded. Mr. Taylor was then called upon to read his prize poem, which was an excellent one. Mr. Cowie next read a valedictory, well worded, and full of tender feeling and zeal for the college. The President now arose, donning his mortar board, to open Convocation; and the Latin coming in solemn sentences spread awe over all. The degrees conferred were as follows: Rev. C. H. Willets, M.A. (Cantab.) Degree of D.C.L. (hon.) E. D. Hoar, M.A. (King's College) Degree of D.C.L. Rev. V. E. Harris, B.A. (King's College) Degree of M.A. Rev. G. Osborne Troop, B.A. (King's College) Degree of M.A. K. C. Hind, Esq. Degree of B.A. Rev. James Lowry, Degree of B.A. H. A. Hensley, Esq. Degree of B.A.

The graduating class of this year:

- F. W. Frith, St. John, N.B. E. A. Harris, Charlottetown. J. R. DeW. Cowie, St. John, N.B. H. T. Parlee, Florenceville, N.B. G. R. Martell, Main-a-dien, C.B. S. Wiggins, Windsor.

The matriculates for the year are:

- H. H. Beers, Georgetown. A. Dimock, Windsor. J. H. Hunt, Charlottetown. C. E. A. Simonds, Sussex, N.B. C. Swaby, Charlottetown. J. Weatherbie, Charlottetown.

The Rev. Canon Brigstocke, of St. John, N.B. was then called upon for a speech. He said that it was only since he had ascended the platform that he had been requested to speak; and that, therefore, such eloquence and thought as was shown in the President's speech, and such fine language as was given in Mr. Taylor's poem, were not to be expected. This was the first enceania at King's College, at which he had been present, and it took him back to his own college days at Oxford. Although he did not see about him the Sheldonian theatre with its galleries crowded with undergraduates, graduates, and the beauty of England, yet he saw in the shady beauty of the place, the arrangement, and even academical costumes, an exact imitation of Oxford. He was pleased to see such a good array of undergraduates, and said the work which the College was doing was indispensable to the Church people of this Province. King's College must not be let go down; and it should not go down, but was going to advance. The decided way in which he spoke cheered up every one, and called forth great applause.

His Lordship the Bishop then spoke, calling especial attention to the fine sermon of the President. He thought the prospect of the college was better now than last year, and was glad that New Brunswick and Newfoundland were going to co-operate with Nova Scotia in keeping the institution up. He proved clearly that the moral tone among the students was as good as could be found at the best colleges, and much superior to the generality. King's had gained a bad name once, but she now deserved a good name, and in spite of a few malicious enemies—some of them of her own household—she was winning that good name. "God Save the Queen" was sung, and the academical year ended. All friends were then entertained at a grand luncheon given by the governors.

Ladies' Land League.

The Charlottetown Branch of the Ladies' Land League held their regular meeting on Friday, June 30th. There was a very good attendance.

Mrs. M. A. Burke read a pastoral signed by Cardinal McCabe, Archbishop Croke, and all the Bishops of Ireland. It is the most remarkable Pastoral of the century. The following is a quotation from it: "It is true, on religious as well as political grounds, that it is an indisputable right of Irishmen to live on, and by their own fertile soil, and to be free to employ the resources of their country to their own profit. It is, moreover, the admitted right and often the duty of those who suffer oppression, either from individuals or from States, to seek redress by every lawful means, and to help in obtaining such redress is a noble work of justice and charity. It is on these grounds that the object of our national movement has had the approval and blessing, not only of your own priests and bishops, but of the Sovereign Pontiff himself, and has been applauded in our own and foreign countries by all men of just and generous minds without distinction of race or creed."

After listening to other readings of minor importance, the meeting adjourned, time of next meeting to be announced by the President.

Meeting of Synod.

PROGRAMME FOR THE WEEK.

The Halifax Herald says:—The Anglican Synod of the diocese of Nova Scotia and P. E. Island will be in session this week. This (Monday) evening there will be a public missionary meeting in Freemasons' Hall, commencing at 8 o'clock, the Lord Bishop of the diocese presiding. Rev. Dr. Bullock, of England; Rev. George W. Hodgson, of Charlottetown, P. E. I.; Rev. F. R. Murray, Rector of St. Luke's, and Rev. Canon Patridge, Rector of St. George's, are among the speakers, and will address the meeting in the interests of home and foreign missions. A collection will be taken in aid of missionary funds on Tuesday morning prayers will be said at St. Luke's Cathedral at 10 a. m., and the Holy Communion will be celebrated at 2.30 p. m. The members of the Synod—clerical and lay—will meet in the same place for the transaction of business. Evensong will be said at 6 p. m. On all other days of the week Holy Communion will be at 7.30 p. m., and morning prayer at 9 a. m. The Synod will meet each day in St. Luke's Cathedral at 2.30 and 7 p. m. The galleries of the church will be open to any who wish to be present at these gatherings.

A London cablegram, through private sources, says:—There is an effort in official circles to veil the disquietude felt in consequence of the crisis in Egyptian affairs. In the event of war with Egypt, it is understood to be the intention of the leaders of the revolutionary party in Ireland to take advantage of England's embarrassed condition to precipitate a general rising. The news of a threatened revolution in Ireland causes considerable excitement. It is now believed the plans for such a movement were directly discussed after the recent Parnell dinner in London.

A Query from Murray Harbor.

To the Editor of the Examiner.

MR. EDITOR.—Can you inform the inhabitants of this place who represents them in the House of Assembly; for some think we have no representative now—one having resigned and the other cannot take his seat; for, when elected, he was holding offices under the Dominion and Local Governments, namely, Postmaster, Lighthouse Keeper, and Ferryman? If you can give the needed information it will be appreciated by a number of voters. Yours, etc., FAIR PLAY.

Egyptian Notes.

Several failures have taken place on the London Stock Exchange in connection with Egyptian securities.

There is some talk in England of a general rising in Ireland in the event of England becoming embarrassed by hostilities with Egypt.

It is understood in London that twenty-five thousand men of all arms have been selected for service in Egypt, and that arrangements have been perfected by which forty thousand can be embarked at an instant's notice.

Who was it bitterly condemned Lord Beaconsfield for transporting native troops from India to Malta when war was imminent in Turkey in Asia? Why, it was Mr. Gladstone. Yet he now advises her Majesty to summon the same troops for an Egyptian campaign. "Chickens come home to roost" in England as elsewhere.

Active military preparations at English dockyards will lead the public to recall the ominous words with which the Czar Nicholas, on the eve of the Crimean war, offered Egypt to England as her share of the spoils of Turkey. "If you will not take it at my hands, you must one day take it at your own."

Considerable uneasiness and excitement prevails in London in view of the possible conflict with Egypt. The latest news from Alexandria states that the troops there evidently intend to fight the British if the latter attempt to land.

Arabi Pasha threatens, in the event of the Porte abandoning him, to publish correspondence showing that every step he has taken since September 7th last has been at the direct instigation of the Sultan.

The news that England is going to land troops has created a great impression at Alexandria. European life ashore is in great danger. The French unarmored war ships are hanging chain cables outside. It is hourly expected that the pillaging will commence. The attitude of the soldiers is more menacing than hitherto. Arabi has sent two regiments to guard the Suez canal. This is the severest menace yet made.

Notwithstanding that the 25th was coronation day, Woolwich presented a busy aspect in consequence of war preparations upon a large scale and the despatch of munitions of war, including explosives. Arrangements have been perfected by which 40,000 men can be embarked on an instant. It is stated on reliable authority that 25,000 men of all arms have been selected for Egyptian service. Several commanding officers of volunteers have offered the services of their men for garrison duties. At Chatham on the 26th a complete return was ordered of marines available for foreign service.

Crops, about Kingston, Ont., look remarkably well, and the farmers anticipate an abundant harvest. The meadows have thrived amazingly and there will be a splendid hay crop. Of grains there will probably be an enormous yield. Roots are also prospering, and if the present weather continues the product will be the best for many years.
