

Carleton Residents Escape As Lightning Rips Up House

A Carleton woman, Mrs. John Stewart, and two grandchildren escaped injury when lightning ripped through her home during a storm on Friday.

Extensive damage from chimney to cellar was caused to the home located between Borden and Seven Mile Bay districts.

The lightning knocked off the top of the chimney, ripped a path through shingles on the roof, splintered a rafter, smashed out windows in one end of the house, raced through several rooms tearing paper and plaster from three, ripped the stove pipe from the chimney, tore a large hole in a fur coat and melted buttons on another coat hanging in the same closet, and gouged a hole in a hard wood floor at ground level.

Mrs. Stewart, together with a young grand-daughter and a baby grandson, were alone in the house, and while they momentarily appeared to be enveloped in a ball of fire when the lightning struck, they felt no heat from the blast, and escaped any injury apart from the shock of the experience.

Although they could scarcely see through the thick haze that was throughout the house immediately after, no fire resulted despite the extensive damage that was done by the lightning.

New R.C.A.F. Commander At S' Side Talks With Newsmen

Group Captain J. E. Creeper, who took over command of RCAF Station Summerside on Wednesday, held his first press conference with Island newsmen on Friday afternoon.

The new commanding officer, who with his wife and family have taken up residence in Slemon Park, expressed hope and pledged his co-operation in continuing the very excellent relationship between the RCAF station and the people of this province.

In informal discussion with newsmen, group captain Creeper declined to reveal when the first Allied Command (Atlantic) based aircraft would begin to be based at Summerside, but indicated that the need for new hangar construction planned for the Summerside air station is one of the factors that has to be considered.

According to previous announcements, tenders for the construction of new hangar facilities should be called for soon.

The geographical position of Summerside in the training role of Maritime reconnaissance, and the increasing position of the Summerside station in the role of Maritime operational training, has gained in importance as the threat from potential enemy submarines has increased, and the location of the Summerside station, together with the modern anti-submarine hunting improvements made in aircraft detection and destruction devices, gives the Summerside station the flexible ability to cover a wide area of the Atlantic Ocean in a possible wartime role of protecting shipping and destroying enemy submarines.

Group Captain Creeper who came here from Norfolk, Virginia where he served on the Supreme Allied Command (Atlantic), previously was stationed at Summerside from August 1954 to March 1955, and remarked with admiration on the progressive improvements that have since taken place in appearance, both at the Summerside air station and throughout P.E.I.

On the excellent record of flight safety in this operational training unit station which he now commands, Group Captain Creeper said that the outstanding calibre of RCAF personnel doing check-out and training, is reflected in the fact that there has never yet been a fatal crash of any kind since the O.T.U. has been at Summerside.

Steel Hike Might Have Big Effect On Economy

TORONTO (CP)—A major impact on the Canadian economy is likely to result if wage increases are won in a labor dispute at the Steel Company of Canada plant at nearby Hamilton.

How? The resulting effect on the recession is viewed differently from opposite sides of the fence.

The United Steelworkers of America (U.S.W.A.) argues that higher wages would mean increased spending power to ease the recession.

Stelco argues that higher wages would mean higher prices which in turn would mean reduced consumer spending.

Both appear to be standing firm.

With last-ditch talks scheduled for Monday by Ontario Labor Minister Charles Daley, the company has offered to extend the old two-year contract with its average wage of $2.30 an hour and the plant's 8,000 workers have set a strike deadline of 7 a.m. Tuesday to back their demands for a package 33-cent-an-hour increase.

duction of virtually everything used by modern society at all levels, the effect of a further wage-price spiral in the steel industry would be all-pervasive and highly inflationary.

"In a very real sense, therefore, the secondary industries of Canada together with all other Canadians, are looking over our shoulders in these proceedings."

Stelco argued that steel prices had risen 48 per cent since 1949 while wages rose 89 per cent. In the United States during the same period, prices had risen 61 per cent and wages 68 per cent.

EARNINGS LAGGED

The union countered by claiming that earnings have lagged behind output, with production per man-hour rising 228.5 per cent in a 10-year period while wages rose 135.5 per cent.

The union also contended that much of Stelco's big post-war expansion has been at the expense of labor and the consumer. Stelco's steel-making capacity has been increased by 1,240,000 tons; production last year was 2,178,215 tons at 92.6 per cent of capacity and during the first quarter of 1958 was 90 per cent of capacity. Stelco had sales of $275,000,000 last year. Its tax bill was $21,000,000 and employment costs $76,000,000. Cost of the wage increases proposed by the union would be nearly $6,000,000.

Stelco's last strike — its only major one — was in 1946 when a country-wide walkout by 36,000 workers ended after 81 days with a 13-cent-an-hour increase.

Arrest Is Made After Break At Feed Mill In Summerside

A break at the Canada Packers feed mill, formerly the P.L. Morris feed mill, in Summerside last evening resulted in the arrest of a young Summerside man who was taken into custody by Summerside Police and R.C.M.P. following information received from Summerside citizens who reported their suspicions of a break being made at this plant.

Prior to the arrival of police, the office had been entered and desks searched in an apparent hunt for money. Office records and equipment were strewn about, and the telephone receiver had been torn from the wall.

Police surrounded the building about 10 p.m. to prevent an escape, and officers who conducted the search found an intruder hiding behind feed bags in the plant.

Suggests Princess Has Made Final Break With Townsend

LONDON (Reuters)—Princess Margaret has finally broken with Group Capt. Peter Townsend over a forthcoming book written by one of his friends, the Sunday newspaper The People reports Sunday.

The newspaper says in a front-page story that "the princess has let it be known that any further approaches from him would be unwelcome."

It says the "cause of the final breach between them is a book that is to be published shortly telling the whole story of their love affair."

The People adds: "It has been written by a journalist named Norman Barrymaine; a close friend of Peter Townsend, and Princess Margaret naturally takes strong exception to the disclosures" that are promised.

The princess, now 27, renounced marriage to the divorced group captain, 16 years her senior, in October, 1955.

The People reports that the princess has reason to know what is in the book because Townsend showed her some extracts from it at their last meeting in Clarence House, London, 10 weeks ago.
