

Happenings of The Week

A handsome young commoner has moved to the fore in Britain's favorite guessing game...

Wallace escorted the Princess during all tea days at the recent race meeting at Goodwood...

The presidency of the International Federation of Business and Professional Women...

On Sunday, August 20th Her Majesty the Queen will attend the 500th anniversary celebration...

Mrs. D. R. Bloom of Ottawa and son, George, have returned home from a vacation at Brackley Beach...

Capt. Sir Robert Stirling-Hamilton, who for two years was naval adviser to the U. K. High Commissioner at Ottawa...

The Hon. Shane Alexander, son of Viscount and Viscountess Alexander, and Master Roger Gibbs have arrived in Canada...

Mrs. Alex Renaud, Sr. returned to Montreal on Saturday from a holiday at Dalvey-by-the-Sea...

Among out-of-town guests at the Stronach-McCarthy wedding last Saturday afternoon in Westmont Park-Emmanuel Church...

Miss Barbara Ann Scott, former world skating champion, was a luncheon guest at Saint James Palace in London...

Most Reverend Philip Carrington, Archbishop of Toronto, and Mrs. Carrington stopped over for a brief visit in Charlottetown...

Commodore J. C. I. Edwards and Mrs. Edwards were recent house guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Buntain at Keppoch...

Mrs. W. R. Aitken entertained at afternoon tea on Thursday at her summer home at York Point...

Miss Norma Thompson of Charlottetown and Bozeman, Montana, is spending a month holidaying in Quilo, Ecuador...

Mrs. E. W. Campbell entertained at a trossouse tea for her daughter Eleanor on Wednesday afternoon...

Mrs. Ivan Horne entertained at bridge for friends on Tuesday...

Modern Etiquette

When a woman is a dinner hostess to a man and another woman at a restaurant...

It is much better to explain the circumstances to the caller and ask if you may call him back...

It is proper for a woman at her second marriage to have three or four bridesmaids?

Mrs. Beverly Owen, who has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Bell in Summerside...

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Dickie with their sons, Ross and Paul, of Toronto, are the guests of Mr. Dickie's mother, Mrs. C. C. Dickie...

Mr. and Mrs. H. Shapiro of Toronto arrived on Saturday to spend two weeks' vacation with Mrs. Shapiro's parents...

Rev. and Mrs. C. S. Linkletter of Atlanta, Iowa, arrived in Summerside on Tuesday evening...

Mr. and Mrs. Allison MacLean, their daughters, Carol and Judy, of Summerside...

Mr. and Mrs. Ferno Graves of Summerside, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bentley of Charlottetown...

Mr. and Mrs. Alan Holman and children, Alan and Harry of Summerside are spending the month of August at Stanley Bridge...

Mrs. Wendell Muttart and children, H.G. and Pauline arrived from Kentville, N.S. on Tuesday evening...

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Mills of Summerside are vacationing at Edgewater Cabins, North Bedouque...

Mrs. Wilfred Inman, Summerside, has had as her guests for several days recently, Mrs. V. Vaach of Florida and Mrs. (Dr.) Galvin of Providence, R.I. who have been visiting relatives and friends in the province...

Dr. and Mrs. Vincent Grant of Summerside have as their guest, Mrs. Grant's mother, Mrs. Millway of Montreal...

Mr. and Mrs. James MacDougall have returned to their home in Summerside after a pleasant vacation in Boston, Massachusetts...

Mrs. Ralph Somers and children, Gail and Garry, of Summerside returned on Tuesday from a two weeks' visit in Hampton, N.B. where they were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Reid...

Rey. J. A. Jardine, Mrs. Jardine, Patsy and David of Fredericton, N.B. arrived this week to spend their vacation on the Island...

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Silliphant, Summerside, have as their guests, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Mills of Chelmsford, Massachusetts...

Mrs. James Marshall of Ft. William, Ontario arrived in the province last evening to visit with her sisters, Mrs. B. C. Jardine of Wilmet Valley and Mrs. J. P. Marchbank of New Annan; also her brother, Mr. Elton Cairns of Freetown...

Mr. and Mrs. Alex Coughlan and daughter Anita Jean have returned to Toronto, Ont. recently after spending an enjoyable two weeks visiting on P.E.I. During their visit they were the guests of Mrs. Coughlan's sister, Mrs. Neil Diamond, Grafton St., Charlottetown. They also spent a few days visiting Mrs. Brenton Stead, Bay Fortune, another sister...

Mrs. D. W. Machum, Wolfville, and her daughter, Mrs. G. C. Gillespie, Montreal, were recent week-end visitors of Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Gillespie, Carleton Place...

Mrs. J. W. Sanders of Readville, Mass., arrived in Summerside by plane on Wednesday evening and is the guest of her sisters, the Misses Agnes and Bertha Ramsay...

The tea hostesses on Wednesday afternoon at the Summerside Golf Club were Mrs. D. C. Tompkins, Mrs. W. M. Borende, Mrs. Gerald Sheen, Miss Marion MacMurdo and Mrs. C. MacIntosh...

Mrs. F. F. Rutherford with her children, Nan and Ian, of Toronto arrived in Summerside on Saturday evening and are the guests of her parents, Dr. and Mrs. E. T. Tanton, Summer Street...

True Success Story

While almost everyone is familiar with the song, Home, Sweet Home, not all of us know the tragic story of its author, John Howard Payne...

Payne was an American actor and dramatist born in New York in 1791. He died at Tunis, Africa, in 1812...

When only thirteen, he proved his remarkable precocity by editing the Weekly Theopian, a small paper then published in New York City. His father's bankruptcy forced the youth to leave college after two years' attendance...

His lack of business ability and spendthrift ways kept him always poor. Mr. Payne served as a consul at Tunis from 1842 to 1846 and from 1851 until the time of his death. In 1853 his body was removed to Washington, D. C. His famous song, with music adopted from an old Italian melody, was first sung in his opera, Clari, at London in 1823...

But if John Howard Payne had written nothing but Home, Sweet Home, his name still would be recorded among the immortals...

Johann Frederick Cristoph von Schiller the handsome poet and dramatist was born in Germany, the son of a gardener attached to the residence of the Duke of Wurttemberg...

Young Schiller went for a time to a military academy, but later studied medicine. He published "The Robbers" (his first piece) at his own expense in 1781. The play attracted wide attention and while playing at Mannheim, Schiller was arrested by his father's boss for attending the performance without the Duke's permission...

While on a visit to Dresden he met Goethe and the two became great friends. Goethe secured for him a professorship at Jena University, where he taught history and later wrote "Historical Memorials" from the Twelfth Century to most recent times and a history of the Thirty Year's War...

Influenced by Goethe, he produced numerous high-class poems such as "The Glove" and "The Song of the Bell." "William Tell" was his greatest work...

In German literature, Schiller stands second to the great Goethe, and much of his writings are gems of purity...

The Stars Say

For Sunday, August 13. It is probable that some very astute and exceptional plan, irregular and intriguing, could be the means of attaining some singularly important objectives...

For the Birthday. Those whose birthday it is, may find themselves in a year enmeshed in glamor, intrigue, the unique and strange. This could lead into almost any sort of complication, entanglement, subtlety, with curious emotional and perilous urges, spelling danger, elation and strange lures...

For Monday, August 14. MONDAY'S astrological forecast is a conflicting one, with the prospect of unforeseen events or developments nullifying all plans. While the abrupt and sudden advent of a strange situation may be upsetting and may cause commotion in the long run, there may be surprising benefits...

If It Is Your Birthday. Those whose birthday it is, may be original, inventive, unconventional and fond of change, thus contributing to an exceptional adventure in life, having real support from high places. Unique talents may take them far in unusual experiences with honors and distinction...

MEYERS STUDIOS NOW PRESENT THEIR ANNUAL "MOST ATTRACTIVE CHILD CONTEST" Enter your child NOW for one of the Grand Prizes. The Rules of the Contest are Simple...

Morning Smile. A cub reporter asked for a job on a country newspaper. "Be brief!" the editor kept dimpling at him. "Always be brief!" The cub, back from his first assignment, looked down and wrote. "James Gillespie looked up the shaft at the Newfoundland Hotel today to see if the elevator was coming down. It was. Age 33."

TAIPEI, Formosa, Aug. 2—(Wednesday)—(AP)—Gen. Chiang Kai-shek asserted today he and Gen. MacArthur had laid the basis for Chinese-American "military cooperation" and the "joint defence" of Taiwan (Formosa).

ELLEN'S DIARY

"But it was too late then, Ellen" friend of the family smiled with a touch of sadness in the lines of it recently. We had been chatting over items of interest to farm-wives after this time. It is for this reason that those in this and other communities we knew, and we lingered over the passing of one of mutual interest, out of a spell of the long ago. The sun of day was then calling home its long shadows and a vague dimness was creeping into the depths of the valley where a window in the gray mill-gable catching a reflection of sky was brightly aglow...

"You can remember, Ellen, how kindly he was always, and sympathetic. . . how he would explain some problem, or difficulty over and over, when he was our instructor. And it's doubtful whether we ever gave him so much as a 'thank you'." Youngsters are like that. Out then "sh shrugged, 'It's the way of the world, I guess. We're too busy or maybe too lazy to give folks, who deserve them, any words of praise when they're living. And how regretful we are when they've passed, before we've had time to say these! Deary me!" she smiled "humans are funny creatures, aren't they?"

"But" we commented, recalling that we had flushed proudly at breakfast that day when James said: "There now, Ellen, I'd call this good bread!" We mean well. "Yes," she nodded, "we can take a little credit for that. Our intentions are good. . . though that's not much good to a dead man!" Then she went on "I wonder if you ever heard this verse, Ellen?" And she one she quoted to us was new and so expressive, we wrote it down in our scrap-book where scraps of old and new make it a book 'o' parls."

This was the week July went away from the farm-folks. And August stately of name entered, bringing shortening days for our endeavor, hints of cold in the breeze of the hills, signs of Fall in the clouds — and meadows. Emptying nests beneath the eaves and calling winged colonies to last councils. But putting a fresh leaf on the calendar of days unsullied yet by thought or deed, and un-lived. Setting the warmer hues of gold and orange in the flower-border, Nasturtium and Marigold and sunny golden glow. This week of hazy at this farm and took the days brought us the close of the farmers in a body today to "save" at Rob's. There Jamie withdrew his tentative offer to drive the mare in the lift, leaving a breach to be filled by his mother but he did other chores including the familiar one of fetching the cows from a far pasture there.

And this has been a checkered week for the folks at Alderlea — but good. There were the showery days and damp, when the hay-rig was suspended — the one when a much admired masculine friend of ours, a dapper humming bird set on the telephone wire in the dampness that saw the fat cattle leave the pastures and go out along the hill by truck to market. And there were those sunny and lovely which sent the workers happily to the fields. And now the peace and quiet of week's end enfolds the countryside . . . all machinery and work rested until the arrival of a new workday week. . . And the west is quaked by fires of ours and now in our scrap-book? It follows:

"Don't weep for me when I am dead, Be nice to me right now instead; Don't tell your friends I was a 'dear', And say kind things that I can't hear; Don't place a flower in my hand, To show how fine I was and grand; But let me know those things to-day. I think 'twould be a better way! Until Monday — Diary — Good-night. . . ."

ANEMIA Write today for Dr. Barton's leaflet on the two types of anemia. Send 5 cents, coin preferred, and a 3-cent stamp, to cover cost of handling and mailing, to The Bell Syndicate, Inc., Post Office Box 99 Station G, New York 19, N. Y., and ask for leaflet, "Anemia."

Cook's Corner SCONES Four cups flour, 1/2 cup sugar, 1 egg, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 cup shortening, 4 teaspoons baking powder, 1/2 cup milk. Sift flour, sugar, salt, baking powder. Blend in shortening, add gradually the beaten egg and milk. Roll out and cut in squares and bake on cookie sheet in hot oven until brown.

Better English By B. C. Williams 1. What is wrong with this sentence? "We will finish up our work just as soon as possible." 2. What is the correct pronunciation of "apep"? 3. Which one of these words is misspelled? Multato, multiplication, mulberry, mercenary. 4. What does the word "incident" mean? 5. What is a word beginning with ge that means "to double"?

ANSWERS 1. Say, "We shall finish (omit up) our work." 2. Pronounce a-pep, as in ape, e as in pecks, accent first syllable. 3. Multato. 4. Liable to happen at a chance without design; casual. These trials are incidental to married life." 5. Geminate.

Household Scrapbook By Roberta Lee Milk Glasses Rinse glasses that have been used for milk in cold water before washing in hot water. Heat dries the milk into the glass, giving it a cloudy appearance.

Ants and Crickets To kill crickets, or drive out ants, put some cucumber peel, cut in thin strips, on the floor at night near their haunts.

No Pictures Do not hang pictures in a room whose walls are covered with scenic wall paper. It gives a cluttered, overdone effect.

How Can I!!! By Anne Ashley Q. How can I eliminate the necessity of handling both the salt and pepper shakers when seasoning food? A. Place a mixture of three parts salt to one part pepper in one large salt shaker. Keep the shaker close to the kitchen range and the seasoning can be done quickly.

Q. How can I remove spots from light kid shoes? A. Rub the spots with art gum.

That Body Of Yours

AMOUNT OF HEMOGLOBIN IN THE BLOOD During the age of puberty, 14 to 16 in boys, 12 to 14 in girls, there is a greater rate of increase in height and weight than before or after this time. It is for this reason that boys and girls at the puberty age have such a large appetite. They not only have to supply the body with a definite amount of food to keep the body processes in good working condition, but they must also eat extra food needed for growth in height and increase in weight at this time.

While from the standpoint of height and weight both boys and girls appear to reach "full" development at puberty, research workers are pointing out that while the hemoglobin (iron in the blood) does not greatly increase in volume or percentage after the age of 12 and 13 in girls, in boys it increases in volume or percentage up to the age of 22. The average quantity of hemoglobin is 1.16 per cent of the body weight in the adult man and 0.85 per cent in the adult woman. Even previous to the years of puberty, the sexes showed a difference in the total quantity of hemoglobin with relation to the body weight. The quantity of hemoglobin did not increase with the increase of weight after physical growth had stopped, but during growth the increase in hemoglobin was in proportion to growth.

Thus, the increase in hemoglobin is about the same in girls as in boys up to the age of 13, but in girls is considerably less from 13 up to the age of 20 after which there was no further increase, while in boys there is a continued high increase in percentage up to the age of 22. The cause of this is unknown.

While starch foods—sugar, bread, potatoes—are needed by teen-agers to give energy for play, proteins—meat, eggs, fish and cereals—are needed even more to build up rich red blood to continue the increase in hemoglobin needed at this time. Proteins build new tissue and repair worn tissue.

Q. How can I easily remove the skin of carrots? A. Try using a coarse grater with peeling carrots, instead of a knife. It will take the skins off much quicker and easier than any other method.

DOROTHY DIX SAYS - Married Strangers Many Couples Wed For Years Still Don't Know Each Other One of the most curious things about marriage is that a husband and wife can live together for forty years without ever really getting to know each other. They never have more than a speaking acquaintance and are as ignorant of what their mates really think and feel of the impulses that motivate them, of what lies deep down in each other's soul as if they were casual strangers who were meeting for the first time.

It seems impossible that two people could exist in the close intimacy of marriage even for a month without having penetrated the secret chambers of each other's heart and mind and having a good working diagram of each other's character. But it is not only done. It is a common happening. There are plenty of husbands and wives who never guess the answer to the human riddle to which they are married.

CAN'T BUY SUITABLE GIFTS A familiar illustration of this is to be found in the custom husbands have of thrusting checks into their wives' hands on Christmas and on anniversaries with the adjuration: "Buy something for yourself. I don't know what you want." Or worse still, of wasting good money on buying things for their wives that their wives especially loathe and abhor.

It is incredible that a man should not know his wife's tastes when she talks about them continually and makes them the touchstone by which she lives. It is unbelievable that a man should not know what his wife wants when she spreads hints all over the place about how much she desires a new washing machine or a car or an emerald bracelet. And you can't imagine a man looking at his wife every day for years and years without discovering whether her complexion indicated green or black in a frock, and whether she could wear misses sizes or stylish sizes.

As a general thing women are much better acquainted with their husbands than their husbands are with them. Women have had to study masculine psychology, since every wife's well-being and her ability to get along with her husband depended upon her knowledge of his idiosyncrasies of temper and temperament, and generally what made the wheels go round. It was only by the possession of this inside information that she could manage him, as the phrase goes, and gently and insidiously lead him into doing those things that she wished done and leaving undone those things to which she objected.

Many women, however, are so abysmally stupid that they never learn even their husbands' taste in food or the subjects of conversation that are like a red flag to a mad bull to them or the fact that you can sell them an idea if you make the right approach. For it isn't what a wife says to her husband, but the way she says it. It isn't what she does, but the way she does it that makes him eat out of her hand. And any wife who really knows her husband can turn the trick.

THINK HUSBANDS COLD Half of the unhappiness of marriage, so far as wives are concerned is the direct result of their not being acquainted with their husbands. Take, for instance, the one thing that women shed more tears over than anything else, the one thing that makes marriage seem ashes and dust to them and that is their husbands' coldness to them. Their husbands taking them for granted. Ninety-nine women out of a hundred believe that this is proof that their husbands no longer love them.

They are not well enough acquainted with their husbands to see that they are the volcano-under-ice type. The men are dumb when it comes to expressing their feelings. Love-making is an agony to them. They don't know their husbands well enough to realize that they are saying it with pot roasts and cars instead of love talk and orchids, and that they feel that working themselves to death to make their wives comfortable ought to be proof enough of their devotion.

I know a woman who has been in a state of tears half of her married life because her husband likes to tease her and she takes all of his kidding as fault-finding, and she has never seen that it is really humorous and pleasing. And I know another woman who thinks her husband is a tightwad because he is always talking about her extravagance and she knows him so little that she doesn't understand that he wouldn't have her to spend less for the world, and is only calling attention to her finery.

And I know a couple who have been most unhappy together and whose marriage has been a failure, because they are so little acquainted that they do not know that what each desires is to be jollied and flattered and made much of by the other. The thing that we all crave more than anything else in life is to be understood. What a pity that husbands and wives so seldom really get acquainted.

DOBOTHY DIX cannot reply personally to readers, but will answer problems of general interest through her column.

Needlecraft

SMART SLEEVELESS STYLING 2164 SIZES 10-20 Here's the very newest sleeveless silhouette in a full skirted dress designed for daytime-date time versatility. An easy style to make and a pretty one for the season's popular sheers.

No. 2164 is cut in sizes 10, 12, 14, 16, 18, 20. Size 16, 3 1/2 yards 39-inch. Send 25c for each PATTERN which includes complete sewing guide. Print your Name, Address and Style Number plainly. Be sure to state size you want. Include postal note, or some number in your address. Address: Pattern Department, The Charlottetown Guardian, P.O. Box 1264.

Name _____ Address _____ City _____ Province _____

Q. How can I easily remove the skin of carrots? A. Try using a coarse grater with peeling carrots, instead of a knife. It will take the skins off much quicker and easier than any other method.

DOROTHY DIX SAYS - Married Strangers Many Couples Wed For Years Still Don't Know Each Other One of the most curious things about marriage is that a husband and wife can live together for forty years without ever really getting to know each other. They never have more than a speaking acquaintance and are as ignorant of what their mates really think and feel of the impulses that motivate them, of what lies deep down in each other's soul as if they were casual strangers who were meeting for the first time.

It seems impossible that two people could exist in the close intimacy of marriage even for a month without having penetrated the secret chambers of each other's heart and mind and having a good working diagram of each other's character. But it is not only done. It is a common happening. There are plenty of husbands and wives who never guess the answer to the human riddle to which they are married.

CAN'T BUY SUITABLE GIFTS A familiar illustration of this is to be found in the custom husbands have of thrusting checks into their wives' hands on Christmas and on anniversaries with the adjuration: "Buy something for yourself. I don't know what you want." Or worse still, of wasting good money on buying things for their wives that their wives especially loathe and abhor.

It is incredible that a man should not know his wife's tastes when she talks about them continually and makes them the touchstone by which she lives. It is unbelievable that a man should not know what his wife wants when she spreads hints all over the place about how much she desires a new washing machine or a car or an emerald bracelet. And you can't imagine a man looking at his wife every day for years and years without discovering whether her complexion indicated green or black in a frock, and whether she could wear misses sizes or stylish sizes.

As a general thing women are much better acquainted with their husbands than their husbands are with them. Women have had to study masculine psychology, since every wife's well-being and her ability to get along with her husband depended upon her knowledge of his idiosyncrasies of temper and temperament, and generally what made the wheels go round. It was only by the possession of this inside information that she could manage him, as the phrase goes, and gently and insidiously lead him into doing those things that she wished done and leaving undone those things to which she objected.

Many women, however, are so abysmally stupid that they never learn even their husbands' taste in food or the subjects of conversation that are like a red flag to a mad bull to them or the fact that you can sell them an idea if you make the right approach. For it isn't what a wife says to her husband, but the way she says it. It isn't what she does, but the way she does it that makes him eat out of her hand. And any wife who really knows her husband can turn the trick.

THINK HUSBANDS COLD Half of the unhappiness of marriage, so far as wives are concerned is the direct result of their not being acquainted with their husbands. Take, for instance, the one thing that women shed more tears over than anything else, the one thing that makes marriage seem ashes and dust to them and that is their husbands' coldness to them. Their husbands taking them for granted. Ninety-nine women out of a hundred believe that this is proof that their husbands no longer love them.

They are not well enough acquainted with their husbands to see that they are the volcano-under-ice type. The men are dumb when it comes to expressing their feelings. Love-making is an agony to them. They don't know their husbands well enough to realize that they are saying it with pot roasts and cars instead of love talk and orchids, and that they feel that working themselves to death to make their wives comfortable ought to be proof enough of their devotion.

I know a woman who has been in a state of tears half of her married life because her husband likes to tease her and she takes all of his kidding as fault-finding, and she has never seen that it is really humorous and pleasing. And I know another woman who thinks her husband is a tightwad because he is always talking about her extravagance and she knows him so little that she doesn't understand that he wouldn't have her to spend less for the world, and is only calling attention to her finery.

And I know a couple who have been most unhappy together and whose marriage has been a failure, because they are so little acquainted that they do not know that what each desires is to be jollied and flattered and made much of by the other. The thing that we all crave more than anything else in life is to be understood. What a pity that husbands and wives so seldom really get acquainted.

DOBOTHY DIX cannot reply personally to readers, but will answer problems of general interest through her column.

ALL OF OUR SPRING STOCK WHICH IS REALLY VERY NICE YOU CAN BUY NOW ON SALE A THIRD OFF REGULAR PRICE BE SURE TO SEE THE DRESSES THAT RIGHT NOW WE HAVE ON SALE - A HOLMES AND BRADLEY BARGAIN. TO GET WHICH YOU SHOULD NOT FAIL THE MISSES HOLMES AND BRADLEY 150 QUEEN ST. PHONE 92

MEYERS STUDIOS NOW PRESENT THEIR ANNUAL "MOST ATTRACTIVE CHILD CONTEST" Enter your child NOW for one of the Grand Prizes. The Rules of the Contest are Simple. 1. An entrance fee of only $1.00 will be charged at the time of sitting for which you will receive a BEAUTIFUL 8 x 10 black and white unmounted photograph. Regular value, $3.50. 2. Age limit is 6 months to 12 years. 3. You choose from one of four proofs the pose you wish to enter. 4. Only one offer to each child. 5. The decision of the judges will be final. For your appointment: Phone 2490 or write MEYERS STUDIOS LTD. 128 Richmond St. Charlottetown, P.E.I. PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND'S LEADING PHOTOGRAPHERS.

Coca-Cola makes good food taste better