THE DECORATIVE JAPANESE.

Home Ways of Summer Life Among the Mikado's People.

Gardens excepted, there are no out-ward manifestations of the old poetry of Japanese life so remarkable as those summer houses occupying all the picturesque sites of the country.

You will find summer houses clinging to sea cliffs over the thunder of breakers, nestling in shadows of gorges over the roaring of rapids, strutted out over the precipice fronts like eagles' nests at the verge of dead craters.

The summer house at which I am now staying is typical of the class, a skeleton structure of two stories, simply and strongly built after the manner of peasants' dwellings and at a cost of perhaps $60.

Timber is cheap here. On the other side of Japan such a building could not be put up for $300. It stands on the edge of a lofty cliff and overlooks a little bay near ancient Minoeski.

From ground floor to roof it is open on three sides, and on the seaward side shelter from the sun and wind is given by trees rooted in the cliff below, but towering far above the eaves—enormous pines, with branches many feet in girth.

Between the zigzags of those mighty limbs there are glimpses of the sea and fishing sails (canvas or straw) fitting like white or yellow butterflies, and the far pale thread line of the Hoki coast, and Diana's come thrusting into the clear sky like some prodigious blue crystal, or, looking directly down over the needle foliage of younger pines, you see the wimpling of the bay and bathers laughing among the rocks, and children playing with seaweed and shells.

You view the world as a fishhawk views it, though I presume with vastly different sensations.

After a swim it is delightful to sleep here, the sharp, sweet sea wind in your hair. You are furnished with a bathing dress, sandals, a big straw hat of curious shape to keep off the sun, barley tea and cakes, a smoking box and a pillow, and the price per day of this entertainment is—8 cents!

The guest is expected to bring his own food with him and to provide himself with towels.—Lafcadio Hearn in Atlantic Monthly.

A curious landslip occurred a few days ago in the village of Sattel, in Canton Schwyz. An inn situated by the side of a road which runs across the slope of a hill was carried, without sustaining any injury, thirty five feet down the hillside, stopping just short of being precipitated into the River Steinee.

LONDON, October 12.—Mr. Timothy Healy, anti-Parnellite member of Parliament for North Leath, who has just returned from a cycling tour in Ireland, says: "The potatoes are generally bad. All the crops have been saved where the farmers had the sense or the money to spray them."

Hay fever is unusually prevalent in Kansas City, and the chief cause is said to be the pollen of the rag weed which has been allowed to grow as it lied in the streets and door yards.

When you buy Sarsaparilla Ask for the best and you'll Get Ayer's. Ask for Ayer's and you'll get The Best.

A New Fashion Needed. Foreman—We need a few lines to complete a column. Rural Editor (wearily)—Well, say the Prince of Wales has begun wearing old clothes because they are more comfortable. Perhaps it will start a fashion that you and I can follow.—Punch.

False Prophets. "They told me," said he to himself, "that when I married her I would be spoken of as Mrs. Bingle's husband. But they lied." "So they did," said she, who had overheard. "You are not spoken of at all."—Indianapolis Journal.

Postponed. Employer—I thought you wanted to go to your grandmother's funeral this afternoon. Office Boy—Please, sir, it was postponed on account of wet grounds.—Truth.

Quite Probable. She—How do you account for the enormous increase of the English sparrows in America? He—They're too ugly to go on woman's hats!—Chicago Record.

Toronto, October 12.—The Baptist Ministers of Toronto yesterday at their regular fortnightly gathering, adopted a resolution, settling forth opposition to sectarian teaching in public schools, and advocating merely ethical teaching of religion.

THE KLONDYKE'S WEALTH Would be No Inducement to the Sufferer if it Stood Between Him and Perfect Health.

H. H. Little, Campbellford, writes: "About one year ago I had a severe attack of Typhoid fever and it left my system in a very weak and nervous condition, in fact, so badly that I despaired of recovery."

A Very United Family. The value attached by the poor, and even by those who are not in the depths of poverty, to decent surroundings in family life is a very variable quantity.

An instance was given before the commission of a family of seven persons—father, mother two grown up sons and three grown up daughters—all living in one room.

LONDON, October 12.—Mr. Timothy Healy, anti-Parnellite member of Parliament for North Leath, who has just returned from a cycling tour in Ireland, says: "The potatoes are generally bad. All the crops have been saved where the farmers had the sense or the money to spray them."

Remedy For Excess In Eating. A hint to those who may thoughtlessly at some time or other indulge in excess in eating. If this indiscretion is committed, especially in high seasoned things with rich sauces, a draught of cold water, acidulated with lemon juice, will take off the sense of weight at the stomach and assist the digestive process by moderating the alimentary fermentation.—New York Ledger.

ECONOMY in taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, because "100 doses one dollar" is peculiar to and true only of the One True BLOOD Purifier.

USE FOR SCRAPS OF TIN.

Employed Largely to Stop Rat Holes in Houses and Factories. A two horse load of tin clippings was being transferred to the rear basement of a prominent hotel. It had come from a can factory, and the narrow, curling strips had become so twisted and intertwined as to form a conglomerate mass that was moved with the greatest difficulty by two sturdy fellows with stable forks.

A bystander who was curious enough to inquire what use a swell hotel had for such trash was answered by an attaché of the house: "We use it for rats. I mean the big, gray fellows with whiskers. The hotel rat is bigger, bolder and wiser than any other rat. He laughs at traps, fattens on poison, and the killing or chasing of dogs, cats and ferrets is his pet diversion."

Stopped the Elopement. "How did they stop the elopement?" asked Maud. "By a detestable piece of trickery," replied Mammie. "Her father put his head out of the window and shouted that her hat was on crooked, and when she grabbed for it she upset the tandem."—Washington Star.

His Business. Judge—What is your occupation? Prisoner (who was caught in a gambling house raid)—I'm a locksmith. Judge—What were you doing in there when the officers entered? Prisoner—I was making a bolt for the door.—New York Sunday Journal.

A Tall Rat Story. The London Field tells this story: A rat was caught alive on board a British naval vessel in a trap, and the beast was thrown from the trap into the water without being killed. A large gull that was following in the wake of the ship to pick up scraps of food thrown overboard by the steward stopped several times, endeavoring to pick the rat up. Once the bird got too close to the rat's jaws and the beast grabbed it by the neck. After a short fight the rat succeeded in killing the bird.

A Wily Watchmaker. The following story is told of the late Sir John Bennett, the watchmaker: He was, with two friends, traveling up to town from an outlying place some 15 or 20 miles distant, when a little dispute arose as to the exact distance of the journey.

Yielding to Medical Advice. "Mabel, the doctor says you drink entirely too much coffee. It is not good for you."

"Why, mamma, it doesn't hurt me a particle, and I like it too well to quit using it. I just couldn't get along without my coffee."

"I guess I've been victimized." That's the guess of many a hard-working man, who, worn-out, nervous and sleepless, has been for months paying exorbitant bills to a high-priced doctor without a dollar's worth of benefit.

The business man or working man who gets run-down and in ill-health from overwork, needs the advice and treatment of a physician who is famous for the thousands of cases he has cured, and not for the thousands of dollars he has charged. In Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., he will find that kind of a physician.

He is the discoverer of a wonderful medicine known as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It is a marvelous medicine for broken-down men and women. It wets the appetite, purifies the blood, makes the digestion perfect and the liver active.

How She Appeared. Something whizzed by—a minglement of steel spokes and red bloomers. "What is that there?" asked Uncle Hiram, withdrawing his gaze from the high building to look after the vision. "That is the new woman," answered his nephew.

Stopped the Elopement. "How did they stop the elopement?" asked Maud. "By a detestable piece of trickery," replied Mammie. "Her father put his head out of the window and shouted that her hat was on crooked, and when she grabbed for it she upset the tandem."—Washington Star.

His Business. Judge—What is your occupation? Prisoner (who was caught in a gambling house raid)—I'm a locksmith. Judge—What were you doing in there when the officers entered? Prisoner—I was making a bolt for the door.—New York Sunday Journal.
