Ceasefire Is Arranged In Dominican Republic

Johnson Sees Outside Threat

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson announced Friday that a formula has been reached for a ceasefire in the Dominican Republic but said it is not being respected by everyone on both sides.

Johnson went on radio and television to confirm an earlier announcement from the Organization of American States that a ceasefire had been arranged by the Papal Nuncio in Santo Domingo.

"The maintenance of the ceasefire is essential to the hopes of all for peace in the Dominican Republic," he said.

But Johnson said hopes for peace and democracy are being threatened by the activities of outsiders.

"There are signs that people trained outside the Dominican Republic are seeking to gain control," Johnson said.

LEAVES IMMEDIATELY
OAS Secretary-General Jose A. Mora was leaving immediately for the scene of the fighting to try to assure that the country can return to the constitutional process and free elections as soon as possible, Johnson said.

Johnson said more than 2,000 persons have been evacuated from the strife-torn country, and that thousands of Americans and others who remain still are in great danger because of a breakdown of law and order.

Johnson made his broadcast, not a noon as in advance, shortly after the OAS had disclosed the existence of a ceasefire formula.

The hemisphere organization said the ceasefire is contingent on the warring factions' acceptance of two conditions:

—A guarantee of the life of all participants, regardless of affiliations, with the guarantee to apply equally to prisoners and those who have taken asylum.

—Acceptance of an OAS committee to arbitrate the struggle.

The Papal Nuncio—the Vatican's diplomatic representative in Santo Domingo—discussed the proposed truce with the fighting factions' leaders Friday in response to an urgent request sent to him by the OAS Thursday.

The OAS announcement said he phoned to Mora an encouraging report after he had talked with Juan Bosch, deposed Dominican president now in San Juan, Puerto Rico. The attempt to return Bosch to power sparked the fighting which has brought virtual anarchy in the Santo Domingo area.

The Roman Catholic diplomat reported he was going to confer next with Gen. Elias Wessin y Wessin, leader of the anti-Bosch forces.

The Nuncio reported his talks with Bosch and with Wessin's lawyers and others "led me to assure you that I will get a favorable response" to the ceasefire proposal.

Body Is Found In Wooded Area

SHAWINIGAN, Que. (CP)—A human body was discovered Friday night in a wooded area being searched for the remains of Denise Therrien, Quebec Provincial Police said.

There was no positive identification but investigators believe the body is that of the 16-year-old girl who vanished four years ago, a police spokesman said in this community 90 miles northeast of Montreal said in a telephone interview.

The QPP have been digging in the area for the last two weeks following the spring thaw. The body was taken to the morgue in Shawinigan, police said.

Abel To Head Steel Union

PITTSBURGH (AP)—I. W. Abel was declared winner Friday of the United Steelworkers' bitter presidential election. But defeated incumbent David J. McDonald vowed to contest the result "to the fullest extent."

The union's three international leaders declared Abel winner 308,910 votes to 288,768. The election was Feb. 9.

Square K Has Lowest Bridge Bid

Square K Construction Limited, Charlottetown, submitted the lowest of five bids to the provincial department of highways for construction of Oyster Bed Bridge, a pressed concrete bridge across the Wheatley River near Rustico.

The firm's bid was $36,123.

Other firms and their bids were Maritime Dredging Company Limited, Charlottetown, $59,073; Curran and Briggs Limited, St. Eleanor's, $59,375; Morrison and MacRae Limited, Summerside, $63,659; and Island Excavators Limited, Cra-paud, $63,916.

Tenders were opened yesterday in the office of Highways Minister Philip Matheson.

Pope Calls For Talks To End Acts Of War

VATICAN CITY (AP)—In a clear plea against the stepping up of conflict in Viet Nam, Pope Paul called Friday for talks at all levels to end "ever-growing" acts of war.

The plea came in the second encyclical of Pope Paul's 22-month reign as head of the Roman Catholic Church.

Without mentioning Viet Nam by name, the Pope's words appeared directed at both sides in the struggle there. His encyclical condemned guerrilla warfare and terrorism as well as the "practice of holding hostages and of taking reprisals against unarmed civilians."

The Pontiff called the present international situation "darker and more uncertain than ever, now that grave new threats are endangering the supreme benefit of world peace."

—Titled 'Mense Maio (Month of May), the letter carried forward the personal peace campaign Pope Paul launched with his first encyclical last August, when he offered to mediate in world crisis.

An encyclical is a circular letter sent by the Pope to his bishops around the world.

PM Charms Vermont Town During 5-Hour Visit Friday

BURLINGTON, Vt. (CP)—speech drew several bursts of applause in contrast to a more quiet reception to his formal speech earlier in the day.

In the earlier speech he called for mutual understanding between the U.S. and said it wasn't all inconsistent with a good neighbor policy if his country criticized American foreign policies.

"If we seem to be unduly concerned with your international policies, remember that their outcome may for us—as well as you—mean the difference between peace and war," he said.

TO SIT IN LORDS

Lady Churchill Made Life Peer

LONDON (Reuters) — Lady Clementine Churchill, 80-year-old widow of British wartime leader Sir Winston Churchill, was named a life peeress Friday with the right to sit in the House of Lords.

The announcement from 10 Downing Street, official residence of Prime Minister Wilson, means she is accepting an honor her husband always resisted for himself, preferring to remain a commoner.

Churchill, who was returned to office in October, 1951, after leading the Conservative party in opposition during the immediate post-war years, was knighted in 1953 when he was awarded the Order of the Garter.

However, she refused to accept a peerage entitling her to sit in the upper House of Parliament.

TO BE NEUTRAL
Lady Churchill was not expected to take a very active part in parliamentary affairs and was thought likely to sit on the cross-benches, indicating political neutrality.

She will make her first public appearance in London for some time Monday, when she will attend the premiere of a movie biography of the Duke of Windsor, A King's Story.

The announcement of her life peerage was separate from the list of 10 other life peers issued from 10 Downing Street Friday.

Argus Aircraft Grounded

HALIFAX (CP)—All Argus anti-submarine patrol planes with the RCAF have been grounded after discovery of corrosion in a fuselage on one of the aircraft, an air force spokesman said Friday.

The defect in the 74-ton giants of the Maritime Air Command was discovered during a routine maintenance check and "as a matter of normal safety practice all Argus were temporarily grounded," the statement said. Spokesmen would not speculate on the duration of the grounding.

There are 30 or more of the four-engine sub-killers based at Greenwood, in Nova Scotia's Annapolis Valley and at Summerside, P.E.I. Equipped with highly sophisticated detection and armament systems and able to remain aloft for 24 hours, the Argus became the successor to the Neptune in 1958 as the RCAF's first defence against submarines.

An air force spokesman said there was "no remote connection at all" between the grounding of the aircraft and the first fatal crash of a Maritime Air Command Argus which claimed 16 lives last month during Caribbean NATO exercises. He said the Argus aircraft have been grounded before for similar reasons.

Famed Island Pageant May Be Heading West

CAPITAL BUREAU OF THE GUARDIAN
OTTAWA — Prince Edward Island's famed historical pageant may be heading west this year, the Centennial Commission said Friday.

Mrs. Alfred MacNeill, convenor and organizer of the authentic period fashion pageant put on by the Junior Auxiliary of the Charlottetown Hospital, is visiting in Ottawa and has held discussions with officials of the commission on the possibility of taking the pageant to the four western provinces.

"No decision has yet been reached, but we expect a decision soon," a centennial spokesman said. "This is a terrific pageant and everyone who has seen it has been greatly impressed."

Seven of the principal Western cities would be visited by the P.E.I. group, which numbers 26, including musician and commentator. The women model the gowns that would have been worn by the wives of the principal figures of Canadian Confederation, mainly from the 1820 period, but up to and including the "new look" for 1949 when Newfoundland entered confederation.

Cities likely to be visited are Winnipeg, Brandon, Regina, Saskatoon, Calgary, Edmonton and Vancouver and the group would make the trip under the auspices of the Centennial Commission with the co-operation of the four provincial governments concerned.

"We feel this pageant would greatly stimulate interest in the centennial observances, and particularly among the younger people who have not seen the authentic women's costumes of the earlier years of Canadian history," a centennial spokesman said.

Close Watch Kept On Mr. Pearson

BURLINGTON, Vt. (CP)—Four secret service men from Washington arrived with a large number of Vermont state troopers kept a close watch on Prime Minister Pearson during his five-hour stay here Friday.

The secret service men were among the audiences at the University of Vermont where Mr. Pearson received an honorary degree. Before his arrival, basement lockers were checked for bombs.

State police roamed the campus along with the regular university police force. State police patrol cars popped up along the prime minister's route from Burlington Airport to the University of Vermont.

There was no Canadian security detail with the prime minister's party.

Man Injured On Highway At Vernon

Sidney Crane, 74, of Vernon Bridge was taken to the P.E.I. Hospital last night following an accident at Vernon Bridge at around 10 p.m. when he was struck by a car on the Millview highway.

RCMP said Mr. Crane had alighted from a half-ton truck in which he had been a passenger, and was attempting to cross the road. The accident occurred near the intersection of the Millview highway and the Trans-Canada Highway.

He was attended at the scene by Dr. John Gillis of Eidon and taken to hospital by the Jenkins Funeral Home Ambulance.

Name of the driver was not available.

City To Ask Extension In Damages Case

A notice of motion has been given that on May 4 in Supreme Court a request will be made of the Court for an extension of time in which to finish preparation of the defence in the case of John Henry Reid vs. the City of Charlottetown. Chief of Police Stens Webster and Charles Ready.

The plaintiff, owner of the restaurant "Johnny's Fish and Chips", is suing the defendants for approximately $148,530 for damages resulting from certain actions in City Police Court.

Representing the city in the case is Gerald R. Foster QC, while Allison Gillis is appearing for the plaintiff.

Drury Comments On Price Of Cars

OTTAWA (CP)—Industry Minister Drury said Friday as the cost of automobile production in Canada is reduced "one can be reasonably certain" that the consumer price will come down.

He was asked by Donald MacInnis (PC—Cape Breton South) to comment on a statement which, he said, came from union leaders in the United States and indicated the U.S. government had the right under the new auto trade agreement to insist Canadian car prices be reduced to consumers.

The minister said the union leaders had a right to make any observations they wanted. But the Canadian government had already made it clear that it expects the production costs of Canadian cars to be reduced and because of the industry's competitive position, it was reasonable to expect these savings would be passed on to buyers.

Mr. MacInnis also asked whether the $50,000,000 saved by the Canadian manufacturers in customs tariffs under the agreement would be used to pay the salaries of the 1,600 Ford workers to be laid off in Windsor, Ont.

Mr. Drury said reports that 1,600 would be laid off are premature. There would be some temporary layoffs but the extent of them is not yet known.

"The government will take the steps that may be necessary to see there are no undue hardships," he said.

FIRST FIREMAN ON SCENE

"It certainly is a fire!" That's what this representative of the city fire brigade could be saying as he peers into a shed on Clark Street which caught fire last night shortly after nine o'clock. He was first on the scene. The shed, owned by Floyd Drake, was vacant where the blaze occurred but houses "up" automobile shop at the other end. No serious damage was reported. The property was the site of another and larger fire Nov. 13.

Glowing Picture Of Economy Is Painted By Trade Minister

OTTAWA (CP)—Trade Minister Sharp entered the budget debate Friday with a glowing account of a growing Canadian economy and said the policies of the Liberal government have "helped substantially."

Canada is going through one of the greatest periods of expansion in its history, he said. "Our finances are in order and confidence has been restored."

He praised Finance Minister Gordon for the manner in which he has handled the country's finances and it is clear, he said, that the government enjoyed the confidence of Canadian business.

While opposition members had claimed the government's policies discouraged business, there had been a 16-per-cent increase in private investment last year and a predicted increase of 14 per cent this year.

"If that's discouragement, then I think that's the kind of discouragement we would like to see."

Mr. Sharp said the 1962 exchange crisis, when the Conservatives were in power, was the most unnecessary ever experienced in the country.

"That is nonsense," interjected Opposition Leader Diefenbaker.

The minister said that when the Liberals took office, Britain was "extremely disheartened" over the question of trade with Canada. This arose partly from Canada's attitude to Britain's proposed entry into the European Common Market, the fact that devaluation of the dollar had hurt British exports and surcharges which also damaged British exports.

Earlier Andrew Brewin (NDP Toronto Greenwood) asked the government to make "clear-cut arrangements" to deal with any dislocations arising from the Canada-U.S. auto trade agreement. There should be a council, with representatives of the government, management and the unions, to deal with problems arising from the pact.

MAKES CRITICISM

He criticized the opposition for its attitude on the new Canada-U.S. auto agreement, which had a primary objective of improving Canada's trade balance with the U.S. He wondered whether the opposition was really interested in the country's prosperity.

Mr. Sharp's speech, which some observers likened to a campaign address, included an optimistic look ahead. The national accounts were in their best state in many years and he was "quite possible" that the forecast $300,000,000 deficit would be wiped out completely.
