Election Issues Discussed By Hon. B. Earle MacDonald

Following is the text of a radio address delivered on Saturday evening by the Hon. B. Earle MacDonald, Minister of Health and Welfare:

I know that the radio audience will bear with me if this brief talk is in some part devoted to my own constituency of Fifth Queen's which with its nineteen thousand people is the largest in the Province. Naturally, I can never forget that it is to the electors of Fifth Queen's that I owe my seat in the Legislature and my loyalty to these electors is always in my thoughts.

Last Wednesday's Patriot had an editorial on this provincial election campaign which I thought was very timely. It was entitled "sticks and stones" and, if I remember correctly, the gist of it was that all decent people of the radio audience, irrespective of party, disapproved of personal abuse in this campaign no matter from which side it came.

Ladies and gentlemen, I agree with those sentiments one hundred per cent. I have never made, nor do I make now, any pretensions to being any better than I am. I have my faults and weaknesses as we are told all men born of woman has them, but I challenge any man or any woman to deny that in all my years of public service, either as Councillor or Mayor of the City of Charlottetown, or as a Minister of the Liberal Government, I have ever turned a deaf ear to any cry of real distress. If I am re-elected on May 23rd next, that shall continue to be my policy.

Naturally, I want to be re-elected. If I did not, I should not be talking to you this evening. I want you to re-elect me and to also elect my colleague, Mr. McIsaac, for I believe the best interests of this Province have been served by the Liberal Party and that no other party can serve those interests so well. But, in pleading our cause to you, I have no intention of doing any mud-slinging in the direction of the opposition. If that were the only way I could be re-elected, I would consider the price of that re-election too high for me to pay.

PREVIOUS PROMISES

During the election of 1951, I made one radio broadcast and had a recording made of my remarks. Before preparing this fifteen minute talk I played the record of this speech, and would like to recall now some of the promises I made in that broadcast. I stated then that I would ask the Government to allot this constituency so much money so that we could use it on the most necessary projects of our own choosing. This promise has been kept, and I have obtained for Fifth Queen's a fair share of the available money.

I stated also that I would arrange to meet with the Water Commissioners of the City of Charlottetown and the Water Department to work out problems arising in Spring Park and Parkdale. These meetings have been held, but it will take time to arrive at an agreement, satisfactory to all.

I said in the 1951 speech that I would ask the Government to give the City of Charlottetown a better deal in respect to relief. This also has been done.

In that year too, many Charlottetownians were disturbed because it had been proposed that the Trans-Canada Highway would by-pass the City. I can tell you tonight that the Trans-Canada Highway will enter Charlottetown by the city. At my request the Government also agreed to pay taxes on all Government property bearing income. When the new High School was built the Government cooperated as far as possible to assist the School Board. All these financial lifts to our City have resulted in our taxes not being any higher than they are at present.

ALL TREATED ALIKE

We hear members of the Opposition frequently saying Liberal candidates are threatening persons who receive assistance through the Department of Welfare, and that it will be discontinued. I want you to know that this Department plays no party politics and we treat everyone alike after an investigation has been made and is taken before our committee. Sometimes due to our limited trained staff this investigation is a little late, but we always take care of this by making a payment to people to tide them over a difficult period. If we find it necessary, I can assure you we will continue to be fair and square after the election, as we have always been during the past. I do not think many of our people will consider the above charges as being authentic and they are intelligent enough to know the difference.

In the time I have left let us discuss the coming contest from a more personal standpoint. How many of my listeners have any doubt that the Matheson Government will be elected on May 23rd? I make bold to say that very few doubt that the Matheson Government will be elected on May 23rd. The odds are all in favour of the present Government and its many policies for the betterment of the province as a whole. So the electors of Fifth Queen's, that is Charlottetown and the Royalties must decide whether they want Mr. McIsaac and myself sitting in the Government doing and deciding, or two men on the outside able only to criticize what is being done. I ask you people who can do the most for you after the Matheson Government is returned? It is as simple as that.

Unassisted as I have been as your representative since 1951, I think I have accomplished much on your behalf. If you send my colleague to the Legislature to ask the question "After all our aim is to give the children of the area the best possible education under the conditions which will meet with the approval of the parents. We have appointed an independent commission which have held and will hold hearings for all the districts concerned and the information given them by the people, reach a solution which will be in line with the wishes of you all. We think this is the most efficient way of handling this educational question.

I believe you will agree with me when I say the condition of the roads in the Royalties were in a poor condition a few years ago, I do not think any fair-minded person will say that this is so today. I asked the good Minister of Highways to give us the money available and much has been done and much remains to be done. It is the intention of the Government to continue this policy in all villages in this Province. I am well aware of the requests that have been made by the people for this and it will be taken care of as soon as possible.

As most of you know I was a member of the City Council for some years and I know their problems regarding finances. This was very valuable to me as a member of the Legislature. I know the needs of the city, to use a homely saying—inside out. I was able therefore to support the Council in any reasonable request that was made to the Government. With the complete approval of the City of Charlottetown, I received a large amount of money towards the repair of the streets leading to and

SCHOOL UNIT PLEBISCITE

Now, about School Unit No. 1. People living in this area said it was wrong. The Government heeded these complaints and called a plebiscite. Could anything be more democratic than to ask all the people concerned their opinions on the question? After all our aim is to give the children of the area the best possible education under the conditions which will meet with the approval of the parents. We have appointed an independent commission which have held and will hold hearings for all the districts concerned and the information given them by the people, reach a solution which will be in line with the wishes of you all. We think this is the most efficient way of handling this educational question.

In Memoriam

HARRY J. SWAN

The death occurred at his home in York on April 29th, of Mr. Harry J. Swan who after a year of declining health was stricken with his final illness on April 25th and passed peacefully away on Friday evening of the same week. He was 73 years of age a well-known and highly regarded citizen of this community. Born in York, he lived for many years in Stanhope and Covehead Roads, whence he moved to York and there has lived for the past nine years. He is survived by his wife the former Edith B. MacDonald, two sons, Allan, Charlottetown, Dewar, York, and one daughter, Janet, Mrs. Merrill Craswell, Charlottetown; seven grandchildren and three sisters, Emeline, Mrs. Arthur Jackson, Brackley; Jennie, Mrs. Abner Vessey, York; and Laura, Mrs. H. H. Brown, Charlottetown, besides a host of friends. Mr. Swan both loved and was loved by the little children and all greeted him affectionately as "Pop."

A large number of people thronged the church and church yard on Sunday afternoon, May 1st necessitating the use of a public address system to enable all to hear the service which was conducted by the pastor, Rev. J. M. Sproule, assisted by a former beloved pastor, Rev. T. A. Wilson. Besides the message on the Christian hope derived from the comfort of the Scriptures, favourite hymns of the deceased were feelingly rendered by the augmented choir; as was also the selection he especially loved "God Will Take Care of You," which was sung by Mrs. Roland MacDonald and her daughter, Miss Arlene MacDonald of Southport.

The pallbearers were: Messrs. Walter MacDonald, Walter MacLauchlan, Edison MacDonald, Peter Proud, Ira Lewis and Wendell Vessey.

For those we love within the veil Who once were comrades of our way We thank thee Lord for they have won To cloudless day.

Religion and Life

By Very Rev. George C. Fidgeon, D.D., LL.D. First Moderator of the United Church of Canada (Copyright)

GOD WHO CREATED ALL LINKS US WITH HIMSELF

Recently we considered the circumstances in which God enters human life and history; let us pause a moment to reflect on the amazing truth that God should want to come to men. Surely the most wonderful idea that ever entered the thought of man is that the Mind behind all that exists should desire fellowship with us.

When we think of our modern knowledge of the universe, its vastness on the one hand, and on the other the power latent in the tiniest atom, and then recall that the One who created and controls all seeks men out and links them with Himself in His creative activities, our souls are filled with adoring wonder. Yet this is what religion in its innermost essence means — the communication of God with men.

Is this not also the most sublime conception of man? He is not merely the creature of a day, enslaved by the needs and desires of his mortal flesh and subject to the influences of the material world; rather, man was made in the image of God and His capacity for God is developed by God's own coming.

FATHER'S WORDS

This communion between God and man came to a head in the life and ministry of Jesus Christ. He said that He said and did nothing of His own accord, but that He spoke the words which His Father gave Him to speak and did the things which His Father gave Him to do. Far more closely and continuously than with the prophets, the Son of God depended on His Father's will in everything and His sonship was perfect because He did in all things that pleased His Father. There was complete identity of will and purpose between the Father and Son.

Now all that Jesus attained and achieved was in our interests; He aimed to bring us into the same union with Himself in which He stood with the Father. This means that He chooses our way for us and that we may be aware of His companionship as we walk in it.

As the Father made known His will for His Son in every step He had to take, so Christ will make known His will for us day by day when we listen and obey. In this world the believer recognizes that he belongs to a higher order and that his life on earth is governed by its laws and directed by the personal will of its King.

They dread dishonor like a stain.

They belong to a spiritual community of which Christ is the centre. For them life has meaning and death no terrors because union with Him has no limitations of time or space. Now these are all unseen principles and ideals, what St. Paul calls the fruits of the Spirit.
