

THE DAILY EXAMINER. JANUARY 23, 1892.

Amusements for Our Youth.

It is very pleasing to note the improvements which have recently been made by the Young Men's Christian Association of this city. The gymnasium will afford a means of many, healthful and wholesome recreation and amusement for our boys and a strong counter-attraction to the liquor saloons, and billiard halls and bowling alleys at which too many are apt to waste their time, their money, their bodily health and their good moral characters. Everything calculated to divert the attention of the youth of the town from the path which leads to destruction should be encouraged. We all know that it is as natural for young men and women to seek pleasure as it is for ducks to take to the water. If wholesome pleasure be not within reach, then we may be sure that they will, unless placed under a galling restraint, go to that which is unwholesome. Plenty of the latter is always at hand. It needs not advertisements in the newspapers to indicate where it may be found. The objects of parents and all who are interested in our youth should be to provide wholesome means of pleasure. There are, we believe, comparatively few who will naturally prefer the had to the good, though there are certainly many who will go the had if they cannot go to the good. If our homes were made more attractive, if music and innocent games and social parties were more frequent than they are in our own houses and the houses of our neighbors and friends, fewer of our youth would go abroad for their amusement, and those who do would not go so often. There would thus be provided the best recreation for girls as well as boys. But for those young men who have to go out in the evenings; it is well that attractive wholesome places, such as the Y. M. C. A. be provided. What can be more attractive to those who are engaged indoors all day, those who are healthy and full of life than the exercises of the gymnasium, —warming the blood, exciting the emulsion, making the body stronger and more supple, relieving the mind from the strain of the day of labor. The poet has said— "The wise for cure on exercise depend, God never made his work for man to mend." With quite as much truth it might be declared that the activities of the gymnasium and the skating pond, and the skating rink, are among the best means of preventing the need for cure of diseases of body, mind and spirit. It is to be noted, too, that the teachers of our public schools are about to make the Y. M. C. A. a means of mutual improvement for themselves and their pupils. This also is a move in the right direction. Altogether, the Y. M. C. A. is to be congratulated upon its new departure. It is now, we believe, upon the right footing. If the management be actuated by energy and controlled by prudence and tact, we believe that it will be a means of greater usefulness and more practical good than it has been in past years.

Western Farmer's Convention.

A large convention of farmers was held at New Glasgow on Friday afternoon and evening. The President, John C. Clarke, Esq., of Bay View, occupied the chair, and the live questions of a Provincial Experimental Farm, ensilage, and the dairy, the culture of rape and the fattening of lambs were discussed freely and at large. Prof. Harcourt delivered three excellent addresses and gave ready answers to a number of questions. Hon. David Laird, of Charlottetown, Wm. McNeill Simpson, of Hamilton, John C. Moore, of Crapaud, James Ramsay, of Hamilton, Heber Haslam, of Springfield, Donald Simpson, George Simpson, Walter Simpson and Arthur Simpson, of Bay View, Mr. Moffatt, of Cavendish Road, besides William Leard, George Smith, and other residents of New Glasgow took part in the somewhat discursive but very interesting debates. Mr. George Smith delivered the address of welcome. It was decided that the next convention shall be held at Crapaud Hall in July next. The reporter took some notes which will be extended and published in due time.

We learn that the teachers of the City Schools and others interested in educational matters will meet this evening at 8 o'clock in the Y. M. C. A. Parlor for the purpose of organizing themselves into an association for mutual improvement and for discussing matters pertaining to school work. The Y. M. C. A. Committee have agreed to furnish a room for meeting in, and to provide a number of educational papers, the teachers on their part agreeing to become members of the Y. M. C. A. en masse.

TEMPERANCE RALLY.—There was a grand temperance rally in Market Hall, Summerside, on Thursday evening. The meeting was under the auspices of St. Paul's League of the Cross. The building was crowded. Interesting addresses were made by Dr. J. H. McLellan, President of the League, Rev. D. J. G. Macdonald, spiritual director, Rev. H. Dickie, B. A., Rev. J. A. Macdonald, Miscouche; Rev. J. A. Cahill, Dr. McIntyre, Dr. McKay, and Hon. W. G. Strong. The Agriculturalists says these addresses were all forcible and right to the point, each speaker going at once into the subject without preliminary remarks or apology. The proceedings were interspersed with vocal and instrumental music by Miss Arsenault, Mr. W. P. McNally and the Summerside Brass Band.

The Y. M. C. A. Reception.

A SUCCESSFUL AFFAIR.

"WHERE did all the young men come from?" This was the question which many people asked last night at the reception held in the Y. M. C. A. building, and really it was surprising to find out that there are so many young men in Charlottetown, and very pleasant indeed to think that they testified their interest by attending the reception given for their benefit last evening. About 8 o'clock they began to arrive—old men and young men, and younger men still. Many of the latter would be better described by the title of "old boys," and there was such a number of them at the door that the committee were compelled to be allowed to enter. Arrangements are to be made, we believe, to hold a reception for these younger lads at a future date.

Visitors as they arrived were shown into the reading room, which they had a good opportunity to inspect. The recreation room downstairs was also thrown open. At eight o'clock the gymnasium was opened and the crowd filed up stairs. The Artillery Band furnished lively selections, after which the President, Colonel Moore, in a short address extended a hearty welcome to the young men present. He stated that the building in which they were assembled was erected for the benefit of the young men of Charlottetown, and the Association had endeavored to interest the young men. He spoke of the objects which the Y. M. C. A. had in view—the physical, mental, moral and spiritual welfare of young men, and hoped the effort now being put forth would result in attracting the young men in large numbers and enlisting the sympathy of the community. One of the great needs of the Association is to carry on work. The expenses are now being largely increased and a large membership was necessary, together with generous contributions from friends of the Association. The reading room and the gymnasium were, said the President, equal to the best in the Maritime Province. He outlined the work for the year under the heads of a gymnasium and three educational classes. There was also the Bible study, and there will be Bible study and devotional meetings for young men, to all of whom he extended a cordial invitation to come.

A quartette was then sung by Messrs. Beer, Davison, Moore and Turner, after which R. E. Fitzgerald, Esq., delivered a rousing and very able speech. He said that Mr. Pope had asked him that afternoon to make a few remarks at the reception. He did not know what position Mr. Pope occupied in the institution but he appeared to be kept "in the trot" pretty well. He was very proud to have an opportunity to speak to so many young men, and prouder still to think that they took an interest in the association. He congratulated the management upon the splendid gymnasium which they were standing in and was glad to know that they had a clever and able instructor in Mr. Maftit, the general secretary. He had heard of an old man who had searched the bible for the proverb "Cleanliness is next to Godliness," and found it not. He would say that manliness is next to Godliness. He urged the young men to avail themselves of the benefits of physical training which were placed before them. It was developed muscles and a true spirit of manliness that enabled Stanley to penetrate into the centre of darkest Africa; and it was that which enabled Burnaby to perform his ride to Khiva; and it was the highest form of manliness which sustained the brave and heroic Gordon through all his successes and trials and difficulties. There was no truer maxim than Mens sana in corpore sano, "A sound mind in a sound body," and physical exercise made a sound mind. We could see how Carlyle, who was a puny, delicate, dyspeptic man, carried his spleen and roughness into his writings. Contrast them with the gentle and beautiful poems of Longfellow and we could see the advantage of a sound body accompanying a sound mind.

In conclusion Mr. Fitzgerald urged every one to give their utmost support to the association. All the young men in our town should be members of the gymnasium. For many of them the price of season tickets, five dollars, was too much for their pockets. Therefore let those who can afford it help the young men who cannot, and present with tickets those whom they know cannot afford to buy them for themselves. Mr. Fitzgerald's speech was received with applause.

A reading, "Ugly Sam," was capably given by Mr. C. B. Warren and was appreciated by his listeners who repaid him with prolonged applause. Then followed a solo by Mr. J. R. Davison, after which Mr. Maftit introduced a class of athletes, with a few appropriate remarks. The dumb-bell and bar-bell exercises which Secretary Maftit put the class through, were performed with precision and grace, and called forth the encomiums of the spectators. The "chopping" and "expansion" movements in the dumb-bell exercise were very amusing, with their rounds of proverbs. The bar-bell exercise was graceful and well executed. Considering the short time that the class has been under instruction their work speaks highly for the instructive ability of Mr. Maftit and also for the quickness in learning of the gymnasts.

Mr. Brewer made a practical and telling address, in which he recommended gymnastics as a cure for dyspepsia and other ills which affect the temper of mankind. He told the young men that they were the heirs of the 20th century, and advised them to go down into the century men. This he said could be accomplished by a full course of gymnastic instruction during their spare moments. He was guilty of coynessness he said. He coveted the young men's gymnasium, which he said he would like to have in connection with his church.

Mr. H. A. Tanton brought the proceedings upstairs to a close with an excellent song, after which everybody proceeded to the Parlor where refreshments were served by a committee of ladies. This feature of the proceedings was greatly enjoyed. Messrs. Miller Brothers very kindly loaned an excellent piano for the evening, and the services of the Artillery Band contributed not a little to the enjoyment of the affair. Between 400 and 500 young men were present. It can safely be said that the reception was without any qualification whatever, a great success. We congratulate the committee who managed the reception. The committee of ladies who had charge of the refreshments deserve the sincere thanks of the Y. M. C. A. Mrs. F. F.

Moore, Mrs. Percy Pope, Mrs. Wm. Heard, Mrs. George Bremner, Mrs. Donald McNeill, Mrs. Lemuel E. Prowse, Mrs. J. J. Davies and Mrs. S. C. Nash, composed the committee. Thanks are also due to the friends who contributed cake, etc.

Rev. Ezra B. Moore's Tribute to Prince and Cardinal.

In the course of his sermon on Sunday last, in Grafton St. Methodist Church, Halifax, Rev. E. B. Moore, one of Charlottetown's young men, made an eloquent and highly appreciated reference to the death record of the week. He spoke somewhat to the following effect: Leading off in the death roll of the current year were two illustrious names, than whom no greater probably would be added as the year rolled on. The one, touched the sympathies of the whole English speaking world because of the position he held, and the other by reason of his life and work. Albert Victor, heir presumptive of the British throne, ended his life before it was well begun. Of Cardinal Manning, the preacher spoke not as a religiousist, but as a social reformer. He was foremost in every movement for the elevation of the lower classes; had a good word to say for the Salvation Army; was to the front as a temperance worker, and in every other line of social reform, he was conspicuous as a leader. Cardinal Manning had a good word of praise for John Wesley—said Mr. Moore—and the humble follower of Wesley, I have word of praise for Cardinal Manning. The young Prince was struck down by death at the foot of the throne, ere his work was begun; the other closed his career with his life work finished and complete; the lesson from both lives a monition to work while it is day for the night cometh.

The handsome framed picture of one of the big ocean liners—presented by a club member—is a valuable acquisition to the well-appointed club room.

FACTS.—The initial number of "Facts," a little monthly magazine published by the Y. M. C. A. of this city, is to hand. It consists of eight pages, which contain matters of interest connected with the Association, the Gymnasium, Reading Room, etc. Local matters will also be briefly discussed. The magazine appears to be liberally patronized by advertisers, and boasts a circulation of 1,000 copies. Next month it will be enlarged to twelve pages, which certainly looks like success. The subscription price is 25 cents a year, which can be sent to the managing editor, Mr. C. A. Maftit, General Secretary of the Y. M. C. A., Charlottetown.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Scott Act.

Sir,—Any subject upon which Mr. F. Bain writes is embellished by the touch of his facile pen. While I cannot endorse without qualification his panegyric of the working of the Scott Act in this city, as given to the public by Mr. Bain in Thursday's EXAMINER, his letter is a terrible arraignment of the course pursued by the extreme temperance element in city and province in foisting free rum upon Charlottetown. "Liquor sold free and without restraint in every corner of Charlottetown, is a sight," says Mr. Bain, "to make the benevolent spectator weep tears of shame and anguish." Just so, but who, pray, are to be held justly responsible for the deplorable condition of affairs so ably depicted by your talented correspondent. The editor of the Guardian newspaper, and others of his ilk, who form an unholy combine to inflict upon this city free rum with its attendant consequences, because they could not coerce a majority of the citizens to further tolerate a law in operation which an experience of several years had completely demonstrated to have been a tremendous failure. To these "gentle people of Charlottetown who encourage the unrestricted sale of the 'cup of woe' in every corner of their fair city," I commend a careful perusal of Mr. Bain's letter.

An Answer Wanted.

Sir,—Why is it that certain young boys of fifteen years and thereabouts on presenting their tickets, were promptly refused admission to the Y. M. C. A. Reception last evening, although a favored few were allowed to pass. It is a matter of deep regret that now, when Mr. Maftit is striving to place the institution on a proper footing, his work should be hampered by members of the executive. An explanation should be forthcoming. A RESIDENT OF PRINCE STREET.

News Notes. Vatican officials declare that the report that the Pope is suffering from an attack of influenza is unfounded, and assert that His Holiness is enjoying good health. Competent military authorities declare that in the event of war, New York State could arm, equip and render ready for service 60,000 troops within forty-eight hours, and within fifty-four hours 100,000 of the 13,000 national guardsmen could be mobilized at Watertown.

Rev. Father Morin, of Joliette College, is promoting a scheme of Franco-Canadian settlement in the Northwest. In the Supreme Civil Court at Boston, in the suit of Mrs. Hannah Richardson, an infirm lady, against Mrs. Sarah P. Roberts for $7,000 for alleged inhuman treatment of plaintiff, the jury brought a verdict for $1,000.

The male inhabitants of Chelabinsk, Russia, are leaving by hundreds to avoid seeing their families starve to death. Unburied carcasses of horses and cattle lie in every direction together with human bodies. The only food left is dry mixed herbs. A traveller from that locality says hardly anybody appeared to have partaken of food for three days before his visit and all were expecting death. The whole village took the last sacrament together.

M. Delpech, republican, and M. Castelin, Boulangist members of the French chamber of deputies, fought a duel with swords. Delpech was wounded in the arm. The duel was the outcome of disgraceful scenes in the chamber in which Delpech cuffed Castelin's ears. Warren Springer, one of the wealthiest manufacturers in Chicago, has been held criminally responsible by a coroner's jury for the death of five of his workmen in the boiler explosion a week ago. The charge is gross carelessness and negligence.
