On the voter entering the polling place, the presiding officer asks him his name, occupation, residence, etc., and his answers are entered by the clerk. If no objection is offered, the voter is given a ballot of which the above is a fac-simile, except that the cross will not be on it. The presiding officer has previously initialed the ballot and numbered the counterfoil attached, the voter is then directed to enter a compartment provided, where he will find a pencil.
If he desires to vote for the Liberal-Conservative candidates he will make a cross X to the right of the name as we have marked above. After marking it he will fold it up and return it to the presiding officer, who will look at the counterfoil to identify the ballot by it. After tearing off the counterfoil and destroying it, the presiding officer puts the ballot paper in the box. Should the voter be unable to read, he must take an oath to that effect.
Then he will be accompanied by the presiding officer to the compartment, and in the presence of the candidates' representatives (who are sworn to secrecy) the officer makes the cross alongside the names of the candidates for whom the elector desires to vote.

Under the present Government's plan, the total cost of the road is only $108,000, 000.
Thus it is clearly seen that the contract which Sir John A. McDonald's Government has made is far better than the one into which their predecessors were willing and anxious to have entered.

In speaking of the Fishery Award, Mr.
Davies is digging his own pitfall. He says: "I am not surprised at Sir John McDonald's Government rejecting it, when I remember that your late representatives never submitted the claim to the consideration and vote of the House of Commons."
Had Mr. Davies made the latter part of this quotation read thus: "When I remember that I was Attorney General for the Island and Council for Canada, before the Fishery Commission, held at Halifax, and I pocketed a large sum of money, and said not one word about the 'peculiar claims' of P. E. Island for a share of the Award." Then he would have spoken more truly. This would have been something like a true statement for Mr. Davies to have adopted. Every intelligent elector is aware, and so is Mr. Davies aware, that Mr. Brecken and other members from the Island urged the peculiar claims of the Island to its share of the Fishery Award.
Does Mr. Davies wish the people of this Province to believe that the Grit party will give the Island its share of the Fishery Award? It is impossible for him to do that; for we know that Mr. Mackenzie voted against the distribution of the Award, and other Grit members shirked the vote.
Mr. Davies says nothing about the improvement of communication between the Island and the mainland. He could not at all make any improvement in this matter, while he is connected with a party one of which said: "I think we have done very well by the Island, and we have carried out the terms of Union to the utmost possible extent."

The Card of L. H. Davies, Esq.

REVIEWED BY AN ELECTOR.

To the Editor of the Examiner.

DEAR SIR.—Having perused the election Card of Mr. L. H. Davies, I find it bristling with untrue statements. An analysis of these statements will help to exhibit Mr.
Davies in his true colors, and spread a ray of light among the intelligent electors of Queen's County.

In the third paragraph of his card he says: "I am a Free Trader, and believe the protective system now in operation in the Dominion to be oppressive and ruinous to the mass of the people."

Now, in refutation to this statement, I say the protective system has not proved oppressive and ruinous to the mass of the people. Your intelligent readers will find it proven in your issue of the 26th ult., that the National Policy has proved a positive gain to P. E. I.

That Grit organ, the Patriot had not the effrontery to deny that the N. P. proved an advantage to the other Provinces of Canada; and they contain the "mass of the people."

I trust the electors of Queen's County will see the absurdity of Mr. Davies' statement concerning Reciprocity. He would have the electors believe that, by returning the Grit party and himself to power, we would be nearing Reciprocity. I ask Mr.
Davies or any intelligent politician why should the United States ask for Reciprocity, if the Grits were in power, when they would have Canada for a slaughter-market?

The people remember well the state of the country under the Mackenzie administration. The country was on the verge of ruin. Deficit followed deficit; and if that administration had continued until now, the taxation would amount to $1.75 for every individual in this Province.

But Mr. Davies appears very much troubled about "the immense sums levied upon us." Does not this statement, Mr.
Editor, clearly demonstrate his Pharisae-ism? We remember how he guarded us from taxation, when he was at the helm of State in our Local House of Assembly!
At that time, when he had an opportunity of showing his ability as a politician, he imposed upon us a most infamous taxation Bill, which has passed into a museum where political abortions are stored for the instruction of mankind.

He now solicits the support of the electors of Queen's County, hoping that he may captive them by his attempts at oratorical display. I ask the free and independent electors to test Mr. Davies by the facts of his political career and to remember that "noise and emptiness often travel together."

I presume Mr. Davies imagines that the "mass of the people" understands nothing about the Pacific Railway contract, and that they will accept what he says concerning it as truth. It is somewhat amusing that Mr. MacKenzie and his party could not find out that other company, that offered to carry out the same contract for $3,000,000 cash and 3,000,000 acres of land less than are to be paid, and given to the Syndicate, when they gave to a person for building part of the road, an absolute land cash subsidy of $10,000 per mile, and an absolute land grant of 20,000 acres per mile, and a guarantee of 4 per cent. for 25 years on $7,500 per mile.

Taking that as the basis on which they would have gone on, if they had had the opportunity and constructed the whole road, the total cost of it would have been $162,627,500.

Under the present Government's plan,
the total cost of the road is only $108,000, 000.

Thus it is clearly seen that the contract
which Sir John A. McDonald's Government
has made is far better than the one into which their predecessors were willing and anxious
to have entered.

In speaking of the Fishery Award, Mr.
Davies is digging his own pitfall. He
says: "I am not surprised at Sir John McDonald's Government rejecting it, when I remember that your late representatives
never submitted the claim to the consideration and vote of the House of Commons."
Had Mr. Davies made the latter part of this quotation read thus: "When I remember that I was Attorney General for the Island and Council for Canada, before the Fishery Commission, held at Halifax, and I
pocketed a large sum of money, and said
not one word about the 'peculiar claims'
of P. E. Island for a share of the
more truly. This would have been something like a true statement for Mr. Davies
to have adopted. Every intelligent elector is aware, and so is Mr. Davies aware, that Mr. Brecken and other members from the Island urged the peculiar claims of the Island to its share of the Fishery Award.
Does Mr. Davies wish the people of this Province to believe that the Grit party
will give the Island its share of the Fishery Award? It is impossible for him to do that; for we know that Mr. Mackenzie
voted against the distribution of the Award,
and other Grit members shirked the vote.
Mr. Davies says nothing about the im-
Island and the mainland. He could not
at all make any improvement in this matter, while he is connected with a party
one of which said: "I think we have done
possible extent."

I will now conclude, trusting that the free and independent electors of Queen's County will cast a glance over the political career of Mr. Laird, and call to mind his perfidy and treachery; and, no doubt, when the electors of Queen's County will remember the inglorious career of Messrs.
Davies and Laird, they will, on election day, vote for Messrs. Brecken and Jenkins—the supporters of the great Liberal-Conservative party.

Yours truly,
Lot 36, June 6, '82. LIBERTAS.

Untruthful Reports.

A "PATRIOT" CORRESPONDENT UNMASKED.

To the Editor of the Examiner.
SIR.—In an issue of the Patriot of the 8th appears a report of a meeting held at Uigg Hall, on the 2nd instant, over the name D. McKinnon, Secretary. It begins by saying that Mr. Davies held the meeting spell-bound an hour and a half. When it is known that speakers were limited by a resolution to one half hour each, Mr.
McK. simply makes an exhibition of his untruthfulness, before his scholars—a goodly number of whom was present—as well as the rest of the audience. His report otherwise is so mixed up as regards what actually took place and was said, as to lead any one to suppose that he had the whole thing wrote out before the meeting actually took place, in order to have it in readiness for the Patriot.

It is not too much to say that even the Grits are disgusted with it.
The complexion of the meeting is easily ascertained, when it is known that the supporters of Messrs. Laird and Davies failed to elect a chairman of their party.
It is also well known that Messrs. Laird and Davies spoke with great reserve and diffidence, as they knew their audience too well. It was after midnight, when a good many left, and Mr. Brecken retired, that Mr. Davies slipped the knot of his gas bag. However, he calculated without his host, as Mr. Sullivan, who knew the tactics of Mr. Davies too well, remained to reply, and it only remains to be said that the midnight hallucination of Mr. Davies was knocked to "a cocked hat," by Mr.
Sullivan.

As regards the applause and reception of Messrs. Laird and Davies generally, it may as well be said that it was only by courtesy that the former was heard at all in Belfast, and election day will tell that the electors know how to reward his treachery.

It might hardly be worth while to call attention to the singularly one-sided and unfair notice of this meeting, were it not that it is well calculated to deceive the public, as the Secretary is supposed as a teacher of youth to be truthful, and it is only in the field of politics he puts on his one-sided spectacles.

ONE WHO WAS PRESENT.
Belfast, June 8, 1882.

The Redoubtable W. D.
To the Editor of the Examiner.
SIR.—If the redoubtable W. D. Stewart thinks he will add any influence to the Grit party by breaking the Sabbath day in Souris, and proclaiming to a fist full of Grits that he put Stephen G. Lawson (Presbyterian Minister and editor of the Charlottetown Presbyterian newspaper) in the criminal cell, he is mistaken. Such trash, venom and scurrility will go for what it is worth among electors of all denominations.

Yours truly,
Souris, June 12, 1882. CATHOLIC.

It will surely never do, To adopt Edward Blake's dreamy and illogical trade policy,
To open our markets to a flood of American-made goods,
To close our factories, To drive our people to seek homes elsewhere,
To deprive our property holders of tenants, To rob our farmers of the home market for their produce,
To destroy the fast increasing trade of our retailers,
To permit the paid patriots to get their mucilaginous fingers into the Dominion Treasury.

The death of Sir John Holker, one of the Lord Justices of Appeal of Great Britain, which took place on the 24th May, is the subject of general remark and conversation.
He was only fifty four years of age—quite young for a judge—and was appointed to his office last January. For several weeks it has been known among the medical profession that his case was hopeless, and all that could be hoped for in his case was a speedy termination to very great suffering.
His disease—known as Bright's disease—was attended with a great many and painful complications. Sir John was a good lawyer, remarkably successful with juries, not eloquent but fair, and among his friends most popular.

St. Paul's Cathedral, London, can now boast that it has within its clock tower the largest bell in the United Kingdom, and indeed the largest in the world that swings, that is, it is not rung by striking with a hammer. The bell was cast at Loughborough, in Leicestershire. Its weight is 117 tons; and it measures 30 feet in circumference. A great deal of excitement was caused by the arrival of "Great Paul," as it is called, in London. The bell came down by road, and the crowds that came to meet it were quite as large, if not larger, than those that a few months ago flocked to the Zoological Gardens to see the now-departed elephant Jumbo.

Franklin J. Moses, ex Governor of South Carolina, at a court in New York on the 6th, pleaded guilty of petit larceny, and was sentenced to the penitentiary for six months. He was indicted for obtaining by fraudulent representations $32 from Dr.
Nathan Bozeman.

The Duke of Grafton, who died on the 20th May, was a most worthy and highly respectable country gentleman, and was greatly respected by his tenantry and all who came in contact with him. He was a descendant of Charles II. by the Duchess of Chelmsford.
