Tourist Group Urges Radio Communication

A committee set up to study the problem of directing tourists to accommodations during the tourist season, has made certain recommendations to the P.E.I. tourist department it was learned yesterday.

The committee recommended that a point- to-point radio communication system be established during the peak tourist season with units established in travel bureaus at Albany corner, Wood Islands, Charlottetown, Cavendish, and the Brackley - Stanhope- Dalvay areas. Many of these areas have been served in the past by party-line telephones only, and the delays occasioned by this system have been the cause of considerable annoyance both to the tourists, the innkeepers, and the Travel Bureau. The committee is of the opinion that a point- to- point radio communication system is the most adequate available means of facilitating and expediting tourists to suitable accommodation.

The committee also recommended that a list of "supplementary accommodation" in Prince Edward Island should be established and maintained by the Travel Bureau. This "supplementary accommodation" would be used to augment normal accommodation facilities in the event that all listed accommodation was filled. The list of supplementary accommodation will be built up for the Centennial Year with the co-operation of all branches of the Women's Institute, each branch of which has been requested to ensure that all such accommodation in their respective areas is listed with the Travel Bureau in Charlottetown.

The members of the committee are: Tourist Association of P.E.I.: Charles Linkletter, who acted as chairman, A.B. LePage, R. Gordon Shaw, Mayor A.W. Gaudet, Frank Pellerin; Centennial committee: Dr. Frank MacKinnon, Frank Storey, Alan Holman, Cmdr. K. Birtwhistle; P.E.I. Travel Bureau- George Fraser.

All Islanders Should Work For United Fund's Success

Utilizing the "audience participation" approach very effectively Oakah L. Jones of Toronto, national Red Cross campaign chairman, guest speaker of the dinner which formed the second session of yesterday's annual meeting of the P.E.I. Red Cross, challenged those in attendance to put forth every effort to get every single person in the province feeling responsible for the success of the United Fund.

He stressed the fact that canvassers must be really dedicated, as well as fired with enthusiasm, and capable of telling the story of the needs of the organizations represented in the United Fund.

Using a blackboard, with Mayor Gaudet doing the "chalk work", Mr. Jones showed that the Red Cross blood transfusion service alone in this province saved those who received transfusions at least $75,000 which represents 3,000 bottles of blood at $25 per bottle, the average cost in many hospitals before this Red Cross service came into being.

He asked those present to place a value on the lives saved as the result of first aid and water safety construction, not to mention all the other services being provided by Red Cross in this province.

He concluded by commenting that Prince Edward Island has a great deal to be proud of not only as the birthplace of Confederation, but also in its Red Cross accomplishments, and that as a Red Cross member he would like to share this pride with Prince Edward Islanders.

Mr. Jones referred to the top position in industry occupied by Miss Marjorie Chandler, a former resident of Charlottetown, who is the director of home services for the Canadian Consumers' Gas Co. of which he is the president and general manager.

Mr. Jones was thanked for his challenging address by Charles Linkletter, president of the Summerside Red Cross branch.

Complimentary remarks were made by Lieutenent - Governor W.J. MacDonald, Premier W.R. Shaw and Mayor A.W. Gaudet.

Red Cross Faces Changes Ahead

Miss Iphigenie Arsenault, provincial commissioner of the P.E.I. Division of the Canadian Red Cross said in her address to the annual meeting last night, "This annual meeting provides us with the opportunity to pay tribute to the untold number of faithful volunteers and staff members who have been responsible for keeping the flame of the Red Cross burning, making it the dynamic force it is today."

Miss Arsenault was referring to the theme of this year's annual meeting, which she said is looking back at the successful development of the Red Cross over 100 years as this province enters its centennial year.

The recently awarded Florence Nightingale medal to Miss Mona Wilson shows the outstanding work she did in this province in the field of public health under the auspices of the Red Cross and later with the P.E.I. department of health. This is the first time since the award was first made that it has been presented in Canada on a provincial level, she stated.

CHALLENGE AHEAD

Miss Arsenault pointed out that there is a challenge in the century ahead at home and abroad and that the Red Cross will have to continue to carry out its basic principles of "The promotion of health, the prevention of disease and the lessening of suffering."

She said that the challenge means the changing of many of the Red Cross programs and approaches. This change is already underway in the Junior Red Cross and the organizations with in the Red Cross itself.

IS PARTNER

Miss Arsenault said that now that the Red Cross is a partner of the United Fund one of its greatest challenges is to maintain its identity.

Town policeman Ernest MacLean was notified and is conducting an investigation.

Double Break In Parkdale

A St. Peters Road, Parkdale firm, S.R. Johnston Co., was broken into for the second time in less than a year. The latest break occurred early Wednesday morning.

This actually might be termed a double break. Thieves not only broke into the garage but also the service station adjacent to it.

Thieves gained entry through a window on the north side of the garage and took, from some new tires stored in the garage, tire irons with which they forced the door of the service station.

A small amount of money was taken from vending machines located in both buildings.

C.W. MacArthur Withdraws Nomination

Following Wednesday's surprise move by former chief of police Charles W. MacArthur, when he appeared at City Hall to pay the $50 deposit and file nomination papers to contest the civic election in Ward 6, he was the instigator of a second surprise move yesterday.

Mr. MacArthur early yesterday morning announced his withdrawal from the election battle. This now leaves the field in that ward open to three contestants, who are seeking the two seats.

The former chief, who retired on pension last year, told this paper he was withdrawing from the 12 election for purely personal reasons. While he did not state those reasons, it is known that final plans for their winter vacation in Florida were recently made by him and Mrs. MacArthur, and they were expecting to leave shortly for the south.

His withdrawal leaves three candidates in the field in that ward. They are present Councillor Lloyd MacRae and Edmond Arsenault, and a newcomer to the scene, Dr. Douglas MacDonald.

Dedications to the church, a review of the past year's activities and the election of officers highlighted the recent annual congregational meeting of St. John's Anglican Church, Milton.

The church received two memorial gifts, a bound prayer book for the holy table, donated by Miss Ethel L. Coles of Saint John, N.B., and an electric organ given by Mrs. C.R. A major repair job to the plain and stain glass windows was undertaken and completed during the year and the rectory grounds took fourth prize in Class A of the Provincial Rural Beautification contest.

The wardens, vestry board, vestry clerk, property committee, cemetery board, treasurer, organist, sexton and Bible society officers were all re-elected.
