Sees Improvement In Educational Problem

Due to the present remuneration the teaching profession can not be made anything but a stepping-stone to something greater, stated Hon. J. Wilfred Arsenault, Provincial Secretary, in the Legislature yesterday afternoon as he concluded the speeches on the Budget debate.
Mr. Arsenault, a teacher himself for twenty years, noted that both the Premier and the leader of the Opposition were former teachers. A rapid survey, he said, of the leading men in the Province will show that most of them are former teachers.
He was pleased by reports which showed that the teacher situation was improving. He lauded the work of the Vocational School, noting that there was a great scarcity of tradesmen in the Province. He also praised the work of the Physical Fitness Department.
He wished to clear up any misunderstanding that the Minister of Education's office had been "dangled before his nose." He stated that he had nothing but the greatest confidence in the future of education in this Province under the present Minister (Hon.
Mr. Large) and his staff.

Weather Officer
Speaks To Kinsmen

Mr. Arthur Lamont, chief meteorological officer of the Department of Transport at R. C. A. F.
Station, Summerside was the special speaker at the regular meeting of the Kinsmen Club of Summerside held in the Olympia Restaurant last evening which was presided over by Maurice Mill.
He sketched the history of weather forecasting in Canada and said that there are now 300 weather observing stations across the country. He pointed out that weather observation is international and a great deal of dependence must be placed on reports from other countries. These messages are coded in such a way that they can be understood by a properly trained person regardless of what language he speaks.
He explained that observation of upper air conditions are very important for proper forecasting and that by means of balloons filled with hydrogen and proper equipment attached to them observations are obtainable as high as 50 to 60 thousand feet. In concluding his talk, Mr. Lamont showed the weather forecast for today explaining how he arrived at it.
Jim Harris reported that the Kinsmen sponsored midget hockey team had won the Provincial championship and would play in Moncton today for the N. B.-P. E. I. crown. A further sum of $100 was voted to take care of expenditures in connection with youth hockey.
Alec MacRae gave a report on plans for the Kinsmen carnival being held in the curling rink during the week of April 28th.
Charlie Hogan gave report on the refrigerator lottery which will be concluded at the carnival. He also reported on the operation of the outdoor rink this winter and made certain recommendations for next year.
Burt Hunter performed the duties of lines-master. -S

Land Drainage
He felt that the southwestern section of the district he represents, 3rd Prince, could lay a strong claim for first use of the land drainage equipment which will be provided this year by the Department of Industry and Natural Resources.
The northwestern section of the district is a wealthy agricultural area, Mr. Arsenault said; and there are others in the section making their living from the sea.
The farmers in the southwestern section, however, are on low land and have been looking forward to some assistance from the Government for the past ten years.
He referred to the C. C. F. party as the "mushroom party" in the Province and stressed the dangers of Communism and socialism.
"Socialism," he said, "we have had in our midst and it sounds very pleasant on paper, but recent election results have shown that it does not have an effective appeal."
Those who put Socialism into action, when they have any power to do so, know that liberty must be destroyed. Liberty is the greatest enemy that socialism can encounter, Mr. Arsenault said; and all have the personal responsibility of maintaining the conditions we have enjoyed under democratic government.

Farmers And The Premier With regard to the "farmers' spanking" he recollected that the worst spanking they ever received was from the "tariff wallbusting outfit" of a few years ago.
Some, he said, were still feeling its effects.
He stated that he did not agree entirely with the Premier's remarks, but he did not anticipate that the results of the remarks would reach such a proportion.
He believed that the Premier meant to give advice rather than to chastise, and wondered if the language of the farmer had already been gentle.
He believed that the Government had reached the limit in granting security to the people.
He strongly endorsed the remarks of the Minister of Health and Welfare that they would have to provide relief for those not only in financial but also physical distress.
He noted that there was little discrimination used in the cutting down of forests and urged publicity to a reforestation program.

Constructive Policies
He did not believe the statement that the farmers were always the "first to take the rap". During the past three years the Government has enacted different legislation for their benefit, namely, mothers' allowances, workmen's compensation, increases in old age pensions, cold storage and a forest nursery.
He believed that the farmers and fishermen had done well and attributed their success not only to the Government but to a superior Being Who provides for all.
In referring to the Opposition he stated that the relations between the two parties had been most harmonious with the exception of the occasional "peeps" that had been ably dealt with.

"The Walls of Jericho" is a many-faceted story of intense emotional conflict set against the col-is the drama of three women and hate. It is the story of a beautiful but coldly scheming and ambitious woman who, in the name of love, a woman who dare to brave a
